Now! '66 Chevelle Malibu by Chevrolet

Two racy new hardtops

A clean-sculptured new sport coupe with recessed rear window, and—for the first time—a 4-door Chevelle Sport Sedan. Pick from 12 racy-looking new Chevelles in all for '66.

Not only will you find more variety in the '66 Chevelle lineup, but even more of what makes a Chevelle a Chevelle.

Say you pick a new Malibu Sport Sedan and specify the new 220-hp V8. You've got yourself quite a machine.

Or pick a Malibu Sport Coupe, equip it with the new Strato-bucket front seats, and order the new 275-hp V8. You've got yourself even more machine.

Or maybe you'd like to pick a new black-grilled SS 396 Coupe or Convertible. (Standard engine is a Turbo-Jet 396 V8 with 325 hp. And there's also a 360-hp version you can specify.) Now you've got yourself the most.

Which '66 Chevelle for you? The answer to that covers a lot more ground than we can here. And that's where your Chevrolet dealer comes in.

Fixed Objects Figure In Traffic Accidents

Last year 2,362 drivers in Minnesota collided directly with fixed objects, and 32 of them were killed and 1,742 were injured, the Minnesota highway department reports.

Fixed objects also figured in 5,122 other traffic accidents where the object was the secondary point of impact; that is, the drivers collided with them after they had struck other vehicles. The total 7,484 fixed object collisions include the following:

Utility poles, 3,114; trees, 989; guard rails or posts, 839; bridge pier or viaduct, 510; traffic control device, 382; buildings, 363; embankment or ditch, 264; pedestrian island, curb or divider, 228; construction barrier, 186; and miscellaneous, 609.

Fixed objects as traffic hazards have come in for some close study in recent years, with road building authorities trying to determine in what ways the states can eliminate these hazards. While human error has long been recognized as the primary cause of accidents, it is only in recent years that states have placed a real emphasis on building safety into roads as much as possible within the financial capacity of the road builder.

The prime example of designing safety into roads is the 41,000-mile system of Interstate Highways now under construction. These highways have proven to be the safest highways in the nation.

This year the Minnesota highway department stepped-up its program of eliminating hazardous fixed objects along state highways, in addition to incorporating safety features into new construction.

The department reported earlier in the year that it had given priority to: making all signs less dangerous by making them higher so that in case of collision the sign would fly over the car instead of through the windshield; strengthening guard rails; and pulling down guard rail ends and anchoring them to eliminate the hazard fo the rail being driven into a car.

Elimination of hazardous fixed objects will continue through coming years. However, the department points out, not all fixed objects can be eliminated, as hazards because some drivers will collide with them no matter where or how they are placed. This last point is illustrated by the number of drivers who collided with buildings, construction barriers and pedestrain islands.

NEW MEMBERS of the Thief River Falls Jaycees received their membership kits at an orientation meeting held recently at the Elks club rooms. Silverton Club Wins Award for Beautification

Many 4-H clubs in Minnesota have responded to the challenge to conserve and develop the natural beauty of the nation and to tural beauty of the nation and to make community surroundings more attractive. Among 10 clubs in Minnesota receiving commendation was the Silverton club of Pennington county.

North St. Louis county 4-H clubs have been cited for having the most outstanding county-wide 4-H community beautification program and have won a $25 cash award.

Ten clubs in other counties in the state will receive certificates in commendation of their beautification programs. They are Lakeland 4-H club, Aitkin county; Glen Cary Gophers, Anoka county; Mission Creek 4-H club, Carlton county; Working Huskies, Dakota county; Silverton 4-H club, Pennington county; Ericson Enger Beavers, Renville county; Cherry Clinton and West Cherry 4-H clubs, North St. Louis county; Darfur North Star 4-H club, Watonwan county; and the Silver Hill Ramblers, Wright county.

Cleanup, constructing roadside picnic areas and planting flowers were among the projects of the North St. Louis county 4-H clubs to win the community beautification award. The Cherry Clinton and West Cherry 4-H clubs worked together to make a picnic area at the public approach on McQuade lake. They built a fireplace, set up a picnic table, cut wood, set out a trash container and maintained the area. The Embarrass Birchwood 4-H club worked for several years at creating a roadside picnic area between Embarrass and Tower on Highway 135. The Hibbing Busy Bees 4-H club, with assistance from the park and highway departments, cleaned up the triangle at the "Y" of a new beltline and then planted two large flower beds.

Keeping home lawns well groomed and beautifying yards with flowers kept many 4-H members of the winning clubs busy. But they also worked on such projects as cleaning up and planting trees and flowers in parks and on fair grounds, cleaning roadsides, keeping grass mowed by town halls and in cemeteries, painting fair buildings and securing oil barrels, cleaning, paointing them and setting them out as trash cans.

Langen Says District Residents Uncertain About New Programs

"There appears to be a vast uncertainty in rural America and a genuine concern over how the host of new assistance programs enacted by the Congress this year will affect the lives of the people living there," observed Congressman Odin Langen after completing the first week of a tour that will take him into all 23 counties that comprise the Seventh Congressional district of Minnesota.

In response to the concerns expressed to him by the people, Langen said that "our job when Congress returns to Washington in January will be to take a second look at the programs now on the books and to make sure these programs are administered properly in the best interests of all Americans. Rural America in particular must share equitably in the funds provided by Congress and the new programs designed to fight poverty, creat jobs and improve the econimic climate."

Langen noted that the people seemed unclear as to just how the new programs would work. "We in the Congress share that bewilderment," he said, "which is a natural feeling when you realize that so many were put into law in such a hurry that waste and duplication have already been noted by the news media of the nation."

Congressman Langen said that Congress now has a responsibility to make sure that the funds appropriated are used strictly for the purposes for which the programs were designed. "Poverty funds must be used to help the poor, not merely line the pockets of the rich. Foreign aid funds must be used to help needy nations improve their economies, not merely line the pockets of ungrateful dictators. Employment and economic assistance programs must be used to create new jobs, not merely transfer jobs from one part of the nation to another or compete with existing business enterprises. And retraining dollars must be used to equip a man with a usable new skill, not just teach him a trade for which there is already a surplus of qualified applicants.

Langen said that rural America has not always shared equitably in assistance funds. "In fact," he said, "the services to rural America have been under constant attack in recent years, as evidenced by the deteriorating postal services, attempts to close small post offices or curtail their operations, moves to close SBA and VA offices and customs stations, and attempts to deprive farmers of needed conservation funds and other services.

"New attacks on rural America will be continued next year", Langen said, "when attempts will be made to make unwise changes in minimum wage laws as they apply to farmers and small businessmen. Our job then, when Congress reconvenes, will be to pause and take stock of what has already been done and make sure the laws already on the books are being administered properly and equitably so that rural America, at long last, can become a full partner in the economic abundance of the nation."

Blind Youngsters Gain Experiences At Camp Courage

A hand reaches out to touch a flower. It fingers each part gently and then the hand draws the blossom up to its owner's face. "It's a lily!" the eager eight-year-old girl exclaims.

She is a blind youngster who has learned to identify and love everything through touch, smell or sound. At Camp Courage, each summer she has the chance to learn all about nature in her own very special way. She joins with the physically handicapped in all of their activities—nature treks through the woods, fishing and canoeing on the water, overnight camping and shore-side cookouts, or "ordinary" meals in the dining hall.

Everything she does gives her a chance to learn more keenly—because she wants to learn, and the staff at Camp Courage is attuned to her special needs. Just two extra-special spots for her are the fragrance garden and wild flower garden in the woods, where the blind youngster learns plants and flowers that have been specially chosen for their fragrance as well as their beauty.

Most of her learning comes from the chance Camp Courage gives her to be close to nature. She can learn special sounds like those of birds in the woods or special touches like those of the deer or the raccoon. What she can't see, she questions with her fingers. What she doesn't know, she asks "Nature Jim," who directs the nature program.

Each summer about 50 blind youngsters and adults attend Camp Courage, along with over 500 physically handicapped and a growing number of children with severe speech and hearing problems.

Owned and operated by the Minnesota Society for Crippled Children and Adults (MISCCA), Camp Courage is supported by the local United Fund drive or a Crippled Children's appeal in areas where MISCCA is not affiliated with United Funds.

INCREASE in herd average for 1964-65 in the Pennington County Dairy Herd Improvement association was the greatest of all herds in the Carl and Kermit Flastad herd southeast of Thief River Falls. Carl (left) and Kermit milk 32 Holstein cattle and last year increased their herd average by 66 pounds to 429 pounds of butterfat. Paul Stelmaschuk, county agricultural agent, is shown at right presenting the association award.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	Psalms	128	1-6
Monday	Isaiah	12	1-6
Tuesday	John	15	16-24
Wednesday	Acts	13	42-52
Thursday	Romans	15	7-13
Friday	II Timothy	1	3-7
Saturday	II Timothy	3	1-17

Grandma baked pies today and we had a good laugh together over the story she used to tell me as a little girl of a lady who baked pies and marked them to tell them apart. Half she marked T M for 'Tis Mince, the others T M for 'Tisn't Mince.

It's such fun having Grandma live in our house. Her stories of the old days, her understanding humor, and her joy in living spark our lives. She needs no label. That she's a Christian glows in everything she does. No matter what the circumstances, she meets people and situations with love and goodness. Full credit is hers, that none of the problems that we feared when she came to live with us have developed.

Yes, I'd say, Grandma has rubbed off on all of us. We all go to church now and we're much happier because of it. We've learned from Grandma that happiness comes from doing good and loving God.

Why don't you go to Church and take your family with you?

Legion Launches Plan To Show Americanism

The American Legion is launching immediately a simple, yet eloquent and meaningful counter measure to the loud anti-Viet Nam, anti-draft demonstrations. The project will be entitled: "Operation Show Your Colors", according to L. Eldon James, Hampton, Va., national commander.

The plan, as outlined by Commander James, involves the distribution of American flag lapel pins to be worn by all Americans who are in agreement with the policy of the United tates government in South Viet Nam. Each flag will be accompanied by a card carrying the message "Operation Show Your Colors—"Americans Are Serving the Cause of Freedom in Viet Nam. I Wear My Country's Flag to Show That I Support Their Efforts".

Production of the flag and card is under way and distribution will begin as soon as supplies are delivered to the various state headquarters, it was announced from the Legion's national headquarters.

Meanwhile, other organizations are being invited to adopt the program as a demonstration of support for the government's policy in South Viet Nam, and at the same time to indicate disapproval of the anti-Viet Nam and anti-draft displays being carried on by certain elements in the country.

Commander James has urged that the program will be under way by Veterans Day, and that the tempo be increased through November, aiming for maximum impact by November 27, the day that protesters are threatening to march on Washington.

"It is our hope", Comander James said, "that we will be able to distribute literally millions of these emblems over the next several weeks and that they will be worn by loyal Americans as a symbol of American might and unity in support of our men and women, military and civilian, in Viet Nam. We believe that this project will be a dignified means by which to provide visible evidence of the strength and determination of our country and the unity of our people."

Worry About Fire In Deer Season

Unless there is snow or rain just prior to the opening of the deer season Saturday state forestry officials are going to be worrying about fires. An estimated 275,000 deer hunters will be in the woods, on the opening weekend of the deer season. Fires will be built for warmth or cooking purposes, pipe ashes and cigars and cigarettes will be dropped in the woods.

These potential trouble causers are in addition to the usual hazards of grass fires and forest fires which occur in the fall.

Don Wilson, forest fire suppression chief for the division, warned that all leaves, needles or other inflammable material should be cleared away from around campfires or warming fires before they are started. Before leaving camp, water and earth should be deposited over the fire and mixed in the ashes to be sure all sparks are out.

All smokes should be thoroughly extinguished before being thrown away. "If hunters will exercise a little care," said Wilson, "the deer hunting season need not cause any undue forest fire problems."

Area Students on BSC Paper Staff

The Northern Student, Bemidji State college weekly newspaper, recently received a first class honor rating from the Associated Collegiate Press for its work during the second semester of the 1964-65 academic year. Judges commended the newspaper for its good reporting, news coverage and editorials. It was criticized for not having enough stories of the human side of life on the campus.

Clear Vision Necessary, Safety Council Reports

Several topics of current interest were discussed by members of the Pennington County Safety council at the regular meeting held last Monday in the Rex cafe.

It was noted that windshields and car windows coated with frost, snow or steam are one of the major hazards of winter driving since they restrict vision and lead to accidents. The council urged drivers to clear all car windows of such coatings before traveling on streets or highways.

Council members were also informed that signals had been programmed for the Eighth Street Soo Line railroad crossing and that a hearing had been held on signals for the First street crossing. Members were told that it appears favorable action on signals for the First street crossing will be taken on a cooperative basis by the city and the railroad company.

Traffic counts are now being conducted on Nora street to determine the amount of traffic and indicate what traffic controls might be required for intersecting avenues. Discussion was also held on participating in a safety billboard program in cooperation with the Outdoor Advertising council.

The safety council also went on record favoring reduced speed limits on streets running through city parks and will recommend that the city council initiate action to have these speed limits reduced.

Sidewalk snow removal was also discussed and it was noted that the city has snow removal equipment which attaches to the small tractors used for roatary lawn mowers during the summer months. Attempts will be made this winter to clear sidewalks of snow in the residential districts through use of the rotary vehicles.

It was also noted that the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post in Thief River Falls will post signs noting that river ice is unsafe as soon as there is sufficient ice to tempt youngsters to use the river for playing or walking.

Mrs. Ranum Named To Girl Scout Council Board

At the second annual meeting of the Pine to Prairie Girl Scout council recently, eight members at large were elected to the board of directors. Beginning their term of office this month will be Al Barth, Jamestown, N.D.; Col. Jack Davis, Grand Forks Air Force base; Mrs. Earl Hoffman, Grand Forks; Mrs. Robert Dodds, Red Lake Falls; Mrs. Harold Hamilton, Grand Forks Air Force base; Earl Kruschwitz, Valley City, N.D.; Clarence Offerdahl, Fosston; and Mrs. Stanley Ranum, Thief River Falls.

Donald Miller and Mrs. Wallace Nelson, both of Grand Forks, were elected to the nominating committee. Nine delegates and nine stand-by alternates were elected to attend the national council meeting as representatives of the Pine to Prairie council. The national council meeting of the Girl Scouts of the U.S.A. will be held in Detroit, Mich. in October of 1966. The delegates are: Mrs. Earl Benson, Stephen; Gordon Caldis, Grand Forks; Earl Kruschwitz, Vally City, N.D.; Mrs. Harvey Mills, Jamestown, N.D.; Mrs. James O'Connell, Valley City, N.D.; Mrs. Harold Delslager, Roseau; Mrs. W. A. Peterson, Grand Forks; Mrs. Roland Severson, Grand Forks; and Mrs. Peter Stumpf, Larimore.

Over 100 persons attended the meeting and saw a program that pointed out the many opportunities open to girls in senior girl scouting. Sixteen senior scouts from the two roundup patrols put on demonstrations of an Indian burial dance and the preparation of Norwegian krum kake. The alternate patrol also did an Indian dance. All of these demonstrations were originally performed at the roundup and encampment sites.

Those who attended the meeting from Thief River Falls were: Mrs. Joe Books, Mrs. Florian Kritz, Mrs. Donald D. Olson and Mrs. Stanley Ranum.

DFL Bean Feed Precedes Report On Legislature

DFL members in Pennington and Red Lake counties will hold a bean feed and rally together with hearing legislative reports on Saturday evening at the National Guard armory in Thief River Falls according to Mrs. Gladys Joringdal, Pennington county DFL chairwoman. The bean feed and rally will run from 6:30 to 8 p.m. and precede the legislative report.

Speakers at the report session will be state Senators Nicholas D. Coleman and Harold Kalina of the Twin Cities area, and Representatives L. G. Lee and George Mann. Tickets for the bean feed will be sold at one dollar each.

The legislative report will be one of 40 being held througout the state by Liberal legislators affiliated with the DFL party. Tax reform will be one of the topics discussed by the speakers.

"Minnesota residents could have tax reform by now if the Republican-controlled legislature had really wanted it," stated George Farr, state DFL chairman, in a news release on the report session. "Tax reform legislation was proposed by Governor Rolvaag and introduced by DFL legislators," Farr said, "but it had no chance with the Republican-controlled legislature."

The public is invited to the session where the legislators will discuss the happenings during the recent legislative session. The legislators will answer questions about the 1965 session at the meeting which is sponsored by the state DFL party.

Conferences at Public Schools

Thief River Falls public schools will dismiss students at 2 p.m. today through Wednesday due to parent and techer conferences being held this week, according to M. R. Hankerson, superintendent of schools. Buses will leave the schools at 2 p.m. to return rural students to their homes.

According to schools officials, conferences with parents have been scheduled but not all conferences will be held this week. Conferences not scheduled for this week will be scheduled later but there will be no school dismissal for future conferences.

ARC Will Show Film on Tuesday

Pennington-Red Lake Association for Retarded Children will meet in the Women's club room in the city auditorium in Thief River Falls Tuesday at 8 p.m. The film "A Class for Tommy" will be shown, which depicts an experimental training class for the teaching of mentally retarded children and explains the purposes of such a class, emphasizing activities developed specifically to aid in overcoming mental and physical handicaps.

Oklee Elevator Has Grain Sales Of $501,599.19

O. A. Bachand was reelected to the board of directors of the Oklee Farmers Cooperative Elevator company at the firm's annual meeting held in Oklee Friday, November 5. His term was the only one to expire this year. Other members of the board are Ralph Sorenson, Alvin Fore, Sam Gunstenson and Russell Norberg.

The company's statement of operations for fiscal 1965 revealed total grain sales of $501,599.19 and merchandise sales to $156,192.82. Other revenue (grinding, cleaning, storage etc.) totaled $27,936.01.

Net returns for the period were $24,185.29 of which 10 per cent went to allocated reserve, 20 per cent to patrons, $15,692.44 to equity reserve and $1,237.26 to employe bonuses. The company now has total assets of $361,715.61.

Sr. Girl Scouts Form Planning Board Recently

A new dimension has been added to the senior program in the Pine to Prairie Girl Scout council. Fifteen senior scouts, representing seven of the senior troops in the council, met for the first time as a senior planning board recently. The meeting was held at the Westward Ho motel in Grand Forks.

The senior planning board elected Janet Kalinowski of Devils Lake, N.D. as president. Gail Griffith, Grand Forks, was elected vice president and Katy Kroll, Warren, was named secretary. All three of these girls represented the Pine to Prairie council at the 1965 Girl Scout senior roundup in Farragut, Idaho. Jennette Kurtz, Grand Forks, is the adviser of the senior planning board.

The other girls who attended the first meeting of the planning board were Alice Sather and Bonnie Clemenison, Fosston; Carol Weston and Mary Bledsoe, Grand Forks Air Force base; Marcia Myrfield, Warren; SuAnn Wood, Linda Howard and Debbie Crawford, Devils Lake, N.D.; Carol Kelfenheim and Janet Pinsonneault, Red Lake Falls and Paula Bjornson and Peggy O'Connell, Valley City, N.D.

The girls adopted a service project of the American Friends Service committee as their first senior planning board activity. Each senior troop in the council will place a Christmas tree in a public building in the community. These "Treasure Trees" will be decorated by all the Girl Scout troops in the community with small gifts, such as sewing materials and school supplies. These gifts will be sent to the AFSC, which will distribute them to needy people in Algeria.

According to the by-laws which were presented at the senior planning board meeting, the purpose of the board is to ". . .strengthen the senior scout program through communication and co-ordination of the activities of the senior troops in (the) council."

Honor Swenson Agency for Sales

North Star Seeks Applicants for Gas Service Here

Three representatives of North Star Natural Gas company are in the city this week to sign applicants for natural gas service, according to George Carter, president of the company. They will be working in the area where gas lines were laid before the recent bad weather from Sixth to Thirteenth street between Arnold and Atlantic avenues.

Calling on home owners in this area of the city will be Bill Peterson, Frank Holmes and Norman Wassink. Work on installation of mains will be continued as weather permits, Carter said, with whatever work remains at freeze-up this fall to be completed as soon as possible in the spring.

In addition to the calls being made to homes in the northwest area of the city, the gas company has arranged for an automatic telephone answering service. People with questions about service or seeking information may dial 681-3222 and their questions will be recorded. Representatives of North Star will then contact them and provide the information requested.

German Native Visits Elevator In TRF Recently

Schmidt flew from New York to Duluth to witness the loading of one of his company's grain boats with barley at the Osborne McMillan terminal elevator in Superior, Wis., accompanied by two O & M officials.

Employed by A. C. Toepfer and company, Schmidt has spent the last year or so in their New York office where he has been assigned to the task of procuring grain for export to their foreign offices. Some time after the first of the year, he plans to return to his home office in Hamburg where he will be permanently located in the grain division.

It was Schmidt's desire, after watching his vessel load at the Head-of-the-Lakes, to drive to some interior Minnesota point to see a typical farming community and visit with the people there. During his brief stay in Thief River Falls he had an opportunity to spend some time at the Mehrkens farm and also at the Land-O'Lakes turkey processing plant.

John Wold, manager of the Osborne McMillan elevator at Thief River Falls, who conducted the tour, indicated that Schmidt appeared to be impressed with the town of Thief River and found the people here most sincere and friendly.

Memorials Given For Heart Fund

Heart Fund Memorials in the name of the late Mrs. Alma Senstud and Mrs. H. H. Kelly, former residents of Thief River Falls, were recently received by the Minnesota Heart association, according to David Drotts, Pennington county memorial chairman. The gifts will be used to further heart research, Drotts said.

CAREENING auto driven by Mark Longtin of Red Lake Falls was damaged to the extent of $1,000 after colliding with a tree and a parked car Thursday night. Police reported that at 9:05 p.m. Thursday the Longtin car was traveling north on Red Lake boulevard. The driver lost control of the vehicle, which climbed the curb, knocked down two garbage cans and a six-inch tree and went on to strike a parked car owned by Lester Aase of Minneapolis which was parked in front of 512 Red Lake boulevard. Minor damage was done to the Aase car. A passenger, Robert Berry of Red Lake Falls, received minor injuries; Longtin was not injured. Longtin was charged with careless driving, having an open bottle in a motor vehicle and possession of beer by a minor.

Gunman at Warren Has Shooting Spree Thur.

James Lannoye Is Captured After Holding Officers

Responding to a plea for help early Thursday morning, three Marshall county law enforcement officers had a narrow brush with death at a house in Warren. Held at gun point for more than an hour, they were narrowly missed several times as a trigger-happy gunman fired 11 shots from revolvers taken from the officers.

The gunman, James Lannoye, 40, Big Lake and formerly of this area, was captured in Crookston about three hours after the affair started. He appeared before C. Elnar Johnson in Warren justice court Friday afternoon and was charged with armed robbery and aggravated assault. He waived preliminary hearing and was bound over to district court.

Marshall county officers involved were John Sedlacek, Warren police patrolman; Ted Znajda, state game warden stationed in Warren; and Oscar Erickson, Marshall county sheriff. In a telephone interview with the Times, Znajda gave the following account of the evening's incident:

Znajda reported that he had stopped in at the police department about 1:30 a.m. after working on deer shining problems in the area. As he was about to leave the station, Sedlacek received a telephone call from a young girl who was crying and reported there was trouble at her house. Sedlacek asked Znajda to accompany him as he might need assistance. Sheriff Erickson was also alerted to the call for help.

When Sedlacek and Znajda arrived at the house—owned by Oscar Opsund and rented since August by a Mrs. Ely—a man answered the door. He said a man in the house was threatening to shoot a women in the house. Mrs. Ely then appeared and a second man who was later found to be Lannoye.

The officers asked what the trouble was, Znajda said, and the second man assured them there was no trouble. He then whipped out a pistol and pointed it directly at Sedlacek's stomach. He ordered the officers to lie down, took Sedlacek's .357 Magnum revolver and then Znajda's .38 revolver, striking the warden twice on the head with Sedlacek's weapon, inflicting scalp wounds.

Lannoye then ordered the men inside the house. When Sheriff Erickson appeared a few minutes later, Lannoye pressed a gun to Znajad's head and ordered him to tell the sheriff to come into the room. He then forced the sheriff to lie on the floor and took his revolver. He had handcuffed Sedlacek and Znajda and then marched Erickson to the sheriff's car, obtaining another set of handcuffs, with which he manacled the sheriff in the house.

During the time the officers were

SENIOR class of Goodridge high school will present "The Rainmaker" at the Grygla school gymnasium Thursday and at the Goodridge high school gymnasium Friday. Starting time for both showings is 8 p.m. The play takes place at the time of a paralyzing drought in the west. Central figure is a girl whose father and two brothers are worried about her becoming an old maid. The brothers try every possible scheme to marry her off, but without success. Soon there appears a character who promises to bring rain by banging on big bass drums to rattle the sky. He does bring rain, and ends up marrying the girl. Members of the cast are Royal Jorgenson, Dale Wilkens, Dale Johnson, Elain Askeland, Lynn Anderson, Ray Benson and Jack Sunsdahl. The play is directed by Mrs. Earl Halvorson and Curtis Gruhl.

N.C. Airlines Tops Existing Records

'North Central Airlines broke all existing marks for passengers and freight carried in any October, while at the same time it achieved a high performance record for that month," stated Frank N. Buttomer, vice president—traffic and sales.

In boarding 148,451 passengers, North Central showed a gain of 21 per cent over October of 1964. Passenger miles flown were 24,952,748, an increase of 20 per cent over the same month last year.

Some 193,500 freight ton miles were flown, for a 31 per cent increase. Air express was 16 per cent ahead of last October, with 81,670 ton miles flown.

North Central maintained performance record of operating 99.6 per cent of its 1,325,203 scheduled miles. Of the airline's 15,394 flight arrivals, 80 per cent were on time.

During the first 10 months of 1965, the company carried 1,316,468 passengers, an increase of 19 per cent over the same period in 1964. Freight volume rose sharply as 1,652,831 freight ton miles were flown, 33 per cent ahead of 1964. Some 815,958 express ton miles were carried for the first ten months—a gain of 29 per cent.

Since inaugurating service in 1948 the company has carried 11,408,000 passengers and flown 1,872,000,000 passenger miles without a single injury or fatality to passengers or crew members.

North Central serves 90 cities in 10 Midwest states and Canada over a 7,000-mile route system.

ELECTED president of the Minnesota Federation of Production Credit associations recently at Alexandria was Sam Genereux, board member of the Thief River Falls P.C.A. Also attending the meeting from Thief River Falls were Adolph Erickson, Grygla, member of the board of directors, and Hyrom (Jack) Sorenson, manager. Purpose of the federation is to find ways and means to better serve farm people with their credit needs.

Three Newfolden Business Places Are Burglarized

Three Newfolden business places were burglarized late Saturday night or early Sunday morning, Marshall County Sheriff Oscar C. Erickson reported. At a fourth place, the burglars tried and failed to gain entrance. An investigation is now under way.

Some cigarettes and $40 in cash were taken from the H & E cafe where the thieves gained entrance by breaking the hasp on the back door. Entrance was gained at the Gambles store by forcing a bar on the door. Here the burglars stole a new 12 gauge pump gun, a used autoloading rifle, a used lever action rifle, a quantity of shotgun shells and 12 cartridges of .308 caliber.

At the Citgo service station they gained entrance by forcing the door but nothing of consequence was taken. They also tried to break into the Newfolden Mercantile company store, now being liquidated, but were unable to enter.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilman Storlie of Golden Valley, Minneapolis, were weekend guests at the home of Mr. Storlie's brother and family, the Obert Morbens of Thief River Falls.

District Nurses Awarded Trophy

When District One of the Minnesota Nurses association met November 10 in Crookston, Mrs. Joy Suldahl, president, presented the group with the silver bowl trophy for the highest percentage increase in 1965 membership of the 13 Minnesota districts. The bowl had been presented to her at the annual meeting of the state association in Minneapolis. District One, which comprises eight counties in northwestern Minnesota, attained a 67 per cent membership increase this past year.

The bowl is a traveling trophy unless a district can hold it for three consecutive years. It then becomes permanent property of that district. During the coming year the trophy will be on display in all towns in the district represented by membership.

Guest speaker at the Crookston meeting was Miss Betty Heldstab, R.N., faculty member of the University of North Dakota school of nursing. She stated that among trends in nursing education are higher education for R.N.s and a family and community centered approach to nursing care. She also brought out that the goal in education of professional nurses is to prepare them to meet nursing needs of the patient and the community.

Action Against Milk Producers Dropped by LO'L

Due to expiration of contracts under provisions contained in the a court case of Land O'Lakes Creameries, Inc., against four Thief River Falls milk producers has been dropped. The case was scheduled for trial at the fall term of Pennington county district court.

Merle and Darrow Lundeen of Trail and Olaf and Orlan Stolaas of Oklee had been issued a temporary injunction earlier this year, requiring them to market milk produced on their farms in compliance with terms stated in a contract with Land O'Lakes. The producers had attempted to market milk through other outlets.

Under terms of the contract, either the producer or Land O'Lakes could cancel the contract on 180 days after giving written notice. Land O'Lakes was provided this notice by the producers and the contracts expired November 6. Since the case would not come to trial before that date, there was deemed to be no reason for the court action and the case was dropped.

Anderson and Engelstad Marriage Vows Spoken

Baskets of bronze mums and white gladioli graced the chancel at the Eklund Lutheran church, Goodridge, for the marriage of Miss Linda Anderson and Ronald Engelstad. The Rev. A. B. Helttie officiated at the double ring ceremony attended by 160 guests.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orvin Anderson of Goodridge and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Engelstad of Gatzke.

Mrs. Dick Marquis, organist, played "Green Cathedral" as the attendants assembled at the chancel and "The Wedding March" as the bride was escorted to the altar by her father. Soloist, Mrs. Vernon Becker, sister of the bride, sang "O Perfect Love" and "The Lord's Prayer."

For her wedding, the bride wore a white satin floor-length gown of regal simplicity designed and fashioned by her mother. Styled with empire waistline and long sleeves, that tapered to a point over the wrists, the gown featured a watteau train. Secured at the neckline, the train extended into a full length court train. An open pillbox headpiece of lace over satin, embellished with crystal teardrops and seed pearls etching the lace design, held the veil of silk illusion. She carried a bridal bouquet of three large white mums, trailing ivy and feathered carnations and bronze mums.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Larry Forsberg of Thief River Falls, sister of the bride. She wore a gown of gold satin fashioned with a scooped neckline. The floor-length sheath skirt flowing from the empire waistline was styled with a split overskirt.

Mrs. Mark (Barbara) Carlin of Bemidji, friend of the bride, and Mrs. Richard (Darlene) Halvorson of Middle River, sister of the bride, were bridesmatrons. They were dresses similar to the matron of honor and all wore matching circular headpieces and gold circular jeweled pins, gifts from the bride. Each carried a long-stemmed white rose. The gowns worn by the attendants were also designed and fashioned by the mother of the bride.

Flower girl, Kristi Becker of Cavalier, N.D., niece of the bride, was attired like the other attendants and carried a basket of feathered bronze and white mums. Timothy Anderson of Goodridge, brother of the bride, was ring-bearer.

The groom chose his brother, Richard Engelstad of Gatzke as best man. Groomsmen were Orrin Aune, Maple Plain and Daniel Bagley of Minneapolis. Ushers were Roger Loven, Minneapolis and Larry Hagen of Gatzke. The men of the wedding party and the ring bearer all wore black tuxedos and white rose boutonnieres.

The mother of the bride was attired in a deep rose textured woolen dress with black accessories. The groom's mother wore a light brown ribbon net dress with dark brown accessories. Both mothers wore identical corsages of bronze mums and feathered carnations.

A reception was given in the church parlors by the parents of the bride with Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Anderson as host and hostess. Centering the serving table was a four-tiered, pillared, square wedding cake, all in white, baked and decorated by the mother of the bride. Mrs. Ronald Bucholz and Mrs. Gordon Olson cut and served the cake while Mrs. Clifford Engelstad and Mrs. George Hovet poured. Marion Pearson served the punch and Julie Anderson registered the guests. Waitresses were Diane Lovly, Lorine Anderson and Audrey Huland. Those in charge of arranging the gifts were Lynette Paulson, Kathy Fischer and Dianne Arvidson.

For the wedding trip to Winnipeg, Canada, the bride wore a green two-piece mohair suit with pattern accessories.

A graduate of Goodridge high school, the bride attended Bemidji State college and is employed by Northrup King and company, Minneapolis. The groom is a graduate of the Crookston agricultural college and is employed by Justus Lumber company at Hopkins. They are at home at 1307 West 25th Street, Minneapolis.

Wedding Shower Given Here For Ralph Tandbergs

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Tandberg, who were married June 19, at Biloxi, Miss., were guests of honor at a reception given Sunday, October 24, at Our Savior's Lutheran church in Thief River Falls. Mrs. Tandberg, the former Judy Hagen, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Hagen of Thief River Falls and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Tandberg of Newfolden.

For the event, two baskets of autumn flowers graced the chancel. Upon her arrival, the bride was presented with a corsage of red roses. The groom was in his airforce uniform.

Mrs. Ronald Moe was in charge of the program. She also welcomed the assembled guests and read an original poem written by Mrs. Harlan Halvorson and Mrs. Irvin Schmitke. The Rev. Marius Hankenstad led in devotions, Lloyd Hjelle sang "Bless This House" and Mrs. Kenneth Peterson read the poem," Inventory of Last Year's Bride".

A reception was given in the church parlors by the parents of the bride and served by members of the Rindall Ladies aid with Marie Anderson in charge. Hostesses were Mrs. Harlan Halvorson, Mrs. Ronald Moe and Mrs. Kenneth Peterson. The three-tiered wedding cake, decorated with yellow roses and topped with wedding bells, was cut and served by Mrs. Olaf Hagen, aunt of the bride and Alma Mathson. Mrs. Durrell Qualey of Grand Forks, N.D., sister of the bride, poured. Mrs. Harlan Halvorson registered the guests who attended from Grand Forks, N.D., Little Fork, Viking, Newfolden, Strandquist and surrounding areas.

Mrs. Tandberg, a graduate of the Thief River Falls area vocational-technical school, department of practical nursing, is employed in a hospital at Biloxi, Miss. The groom, a member of the United States Air Force is stationed at Biloxi where he is attending school.

Dennis Johnsons Feted at Wedding Reception Here

A reception was given in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Johnson of Minneapolis on Sunday afternoon, November 7, at the Seventh-day Adventist church school by Mrs. Johnson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Molskness of rural Thief River Falls. Mrs. Johnson is the former Muriel Molskness. Married recently in Minneapolis, the bride, a 1962 graduate of Lincoln high school of this city, is presently employed by LeVander, Zimpfer and Tierney, attorneys-at-law in Minneapolis and Mr. Johnson is employed as an electrician in that city.

Decorations were in white and gold as was the three-tiered wedding cake baked and decorated by Mrs. Clarence Molskness, an aunt of the bride. Corsages were of white roses and yellow carnations.

The Rev. Gerhard Schwarz gave a short devotional meditation and served as master of ceremonies at the program presented prior to the reception.

The grandmother of the bride, Mrs. Sina Molskness, read an original poem that she had composed in honor of the couple and Mrs. Darlyle Glass gave a monologue. Musical numbers included songs by Mr. and Mrs. Donald Molskness, their four-year-old daughter, Tammy, and Rhoda Molskness, all cousins of the bride.

At the reception Mrs. Clarence Molskness cut and served the wedding cake, Mrs. Leo Herber ladled the punch and Bonnie Knight registered the guests. Gifts were arranged by Faye Anderson, step-sister of the bride and Mrs. Larry Ness. Those in charge of serving the lunch were Mrs. Chalmer Irvin and Mrs. Raymond Molskness, both aunts of the bride, Susan Molskness, cousin of the bride, Mrs. Ray Nelson and Pauline Johnson.

There were nearly 100 guests in attendance.

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

Features from the Kitchen of

MRS. WILLIAM VANDERPOL
NORCO, CALIF.

It is encouraging to have someone come into the office and request a back issue of the Times because of a specific recipe in Kitchen Karnival or to have someone remark that they had enjoyed a certain recipe. To find an unsolicited recipe in the mail is a godsend.

Today's recipe came from a subscriber, Mrs. William Vanderpol of Norco, Calif. She writes, "I am in the process of trying a casserole recipe submitted to your paper by Mrs. Daryl Lewis and decided to mail you one of my favorites".

CHERRY CHA-CHA DESSERT

1 cups graham cracker crumbs
¼ cup melted butter
2 tablespoons sugar

Mix well; reserve 2 tablespoons of mixture and press the remaining crumbs into a pie pan. Chill. Whip ½ pint cream until stiff and add 4 cups miniature marshmallows. Carefully spread half of mixture on chilled crust. Add a layer of sweetened cherry pie mix; cover with remaining cream and marshmallow mixture and top with pie mix. Sprinkle with crumbs. Refrigerate overnight.

Mrs. Vanderpol stated that the recipe could be varied by using blueberry, peach, boysenberry or strawberry pie fillings.

Mrs. Vanderpol, the former Bonnie Thompson, is a 1955 graduate of Lincoln high school and lived in rural Thief River Falls, route 5 for nine years. She was married in California and has three sons, Brent, age six, Bobby, five, and Bryan, two.

Her husband is employed by International Furniture in Corona, manufacturers of upholstered furniture. Their hobby is growing flowers and both attend school. Mr. Vanderpol is taking a college course and Mrs. Vanderpol stated that she thoroughly enjoyed the nurses training course offered at night school. During the day, in addition to baby sitting for a four-year-old boy and a two-month-old girl, she distributes cosmetics.

The Vanderpols are looking forward to a trip to Thief River Falls in the not-to-distant future.

State Hospital Seeks Gifts for Many Patients

Organizations in this area have been asked by the state hospital volunteer council to participate in the 1965 state hospital Christmas gift project by contributing gifts to the council to be distributed to state hospital patients. Mrs. Marjori LeBrun, volunteer services director, reported that over a thousand gifts were sorted, wrapped and delivered last year to nearly 500 such patients.

Target date this year for all gifts to be at the hospital ready to wrap has been set for December 13. Mrs. LeBrun said gifts of money are especially welcome, as they enable volunteer to shop and fill personal requests for specific patients. All gifts of money should be made payable to FFSH Volunteer Council, Inc. and should be mailed to Volunteer Services, Box 157, Fergus Falls.

Gifts should not be wrapped and may be brought or sent directly to the hospital. Donors are asked to print their name and address clearly on each box of gifts so that each may be acknowledged.

Gift suggestions for men include medium or large bedroom slippers, caps, sweaters, T-shirts, heavy white athletic socks and cotton stockings. Also welcome are snuff, shaving lotion and cream, pipes, pipe tobacco and cigaretts. Cuff links, mittens, hair brushes, narrow ties, tie clasps and belts with western buckles are also often included on gift lists.

Gift ideas for women may include cosmetics, toiletries, perfume, fancy soap, medium and large bedroom slippers, aprons, sewing supplies, sweaters (medium and large), gloves, panties, slips and jewelry. Hair brushes, nail polish, clippies, rollers, roller caps, night hair nets, hair cream, hair rinse, face powder and bath powder are also popular items.

Possible gifts for either a man or women may include cigarettes, playing cards, checkers, jigsaw puzzles, ball point pens, hobby articles, hard candy or deodorant. Other suggestions are small writing tablets, toothpaste, note paper, song books, shampoo, cribbage sets, pocket combs, newspaper subscriptions, adult games, stamps, dark glasses, or artificial flowers to decorate wards.

Claudia Melvie In Singing Group

Claudia Melvie, daughter of Mrs. Olga Melvie of Thief River Falls, has been selected to sing with the Cantorians, an all-girl singing group at Augsburg college in Minneapolis. The Cantorians are directed by Mayo Savold. Miss Melvie, a freshman, is a graduate of Newfolden high school.

In December the girls will make two appearances in Minneapolis—on December 13 at the Midland National Bank and on December 16 at Apache Plaza. Their annual tour through the midwest will begin March 3 and continue through March 7.

Two New Fruits Are Developed at State University

Two new fruits have been developed by University of Minnesota horticulturists and will be available for planting next spring. They are a hybrid cherry plum called Deep Purple and a red raspberry named Itasca.

Deep Purple received its name from the dark purple color of both the flesh and the medium thick, tender skin which at times appears almost black. The fruits are large for cherry plums, averaging 1¼ to 1½ inches in cross section. They ripen about mid-August and may remain mature on the tree in good condition for up to two weeks.

The fruit is best used for jams, jellies or syrups. It does not have much appeal as fresh fruit.

Deep Purple has been very precocious, the horticulturists report, often fruiting the year after planting. It requires cross-pollination for satisfactory fruiting. The plant performs best when grown as a wide-spreading bush but can be trained to produce a small tree.

Deep Purple resulted from a cross between Sioux and cherry and the Elephant Heart plum. The cross was made in 1942 at the University of Minnesota fruit breeding farm. In 1947, the first year it fruited, it was selected and propagated for more extensive trial as Minnesota No. 440. It has been tested in many Minnesota locations and found consistently hardy and productive.

Itasca red raspberry is being introduced for use mainly in the central and northern lakes area of Minnesota where conditions are cool and rather humid. It has been widely tested under the selection number 399.

Fruits are medium to large and a glossy orange-red. Picking is facilitated by the fact that canes are almost spinefree and the fruits develop close together, with many ripening at the same time. Because the berry is rather soft, its main value probably will be as a home or pick-your-own commercial variety.

More detailed descriptions of the two new fruits are given in Miscellaneous Report 65, "Two New Fruits for 1966", available from Bulletin Room, Institute of Agriculture, University of Minnesota, St. Paul, Minnesota 55101.

Elect Directors For Roseau Fair

At the annual meeting held Tuesday, the Roseau County Agricultural society which operates the Roseau county fair, reelected directors L. A. (Barney) Ross, Lenus Landby, Earl Gilthvedt and Andy Erickson to the board for the 1965-66 fair period. All officers were also reelected. They are L. A. Ross, president; Ben Christianson, vice president; Charles Christianson, secretary; and C. B. Dahlquist, treasurer.

Demonstrators Break Faith With Military Veterans

Draft-card burners and "retreat to peace" demonstrators demanding withdrawal of United States forces in Viet Nam were accused of breaking faith with the nearly 1,000,000 Americans who have died in the service of their country. The charge was leveled by William J. Driver, administrator of Veterans Affairs, and chairman of the President's Veterans Day national committee, as the nation observed Veterans Day on November 11.

Driver pointed out that more than 30,000,000 Americans have donned uniforms to insure the survival of freedom and liberty in the course of nine wars during the nation's history, and that approximately 1,000,000 of these patriots met death in service. "If those who now refuse to serve, and those who preach peace at any price were to prevail," he declared, "it would make a shameful mockery of the sacrifices and deeds of valor contributed by all our veterans, living and dead."

He called for record turnouts at Veterans Day ceremonies throughout the nation as a tangible demonstration of support for our fighting men in Viet Nam, and the causes for which they fight.

The VA chief, a veteran of World War II and the Korean conflict, said he supported fully the right of so-called peace demonstrators to assemble and protest, for "such a right is a vital part of the heritage for which our veterans fought and died. But those who would evade service, and yield Asia to the Communists should pause to consider how long such freedom to criticize would be tolerated in Peking or Hanoi, or any Communist-controlled country.

"The supreme irony of the misguided actions of this vocal minority," he declared, "is their failure to realize that mere wishful thinking and docility in the face of aggression is no road to peace. If our country and its veterans had pursued this policy in the past there would today be no free America in which to demonstrate.

"These people must realize that the pursuit of a just and honorable peace is the very reason we are in Viet Nam."

Care Required For Storage of Garden Chemicals

Do you expect to use leftover insecticides, fungicides or other garden chemicals again next year? If so, University of Minnesota extension horticulturist Neil W. Miles urges precaution in storing them. Proper storage of these leftovers chemicals will keep them from deteriorating and, more important, will prevent accidents, he said.

Miles gives these precautions in storing leftover garden chemicals:

Store all garden chemicals in a place where children cannot get into them, preferably under lock and key.

Keep them dry and in sealed containers so oxidation of the chemicals will be minimal.

Store liquids where they will not be subjected to freezing. Freezing may cause breakage of the container, allowing the chemical to leak out, and may also change the characteristics of the emulsion. Many emulsions cannot be applied uniformly after they have been frozen.

Be aware of the hazards and use common sense in disposing of old or unwanted garden chemicals. One way to dispose of them is to dig a hole several feet deep, empty the chemical in the hole and fill the hole with soil.

Never reuse empty pesticide containers for any purpose. Destroy them.

Rinse out glass containers, break them and discard in the trash barrel. Puncture and flatten metal containers so they are unusable; then discard. Burn paper containers if they are empty but be careful not to inhale any possible fumes.

Always remember, warns Miles, that leftover garden chemicals and empty containers are potential hazards.

Langen Delivers D. L. Veterans Day Address

"On this Veterans Day in 1965 we are gathered to pay high tribute to the American fighting men and women who made such great sacrifices in winning and protecting our freedoms, and to firmly resolve that their efforts will spare present and future generations from having to repeat their sacrifices," declared Congress Odin Langen before a Veterans Day audience in Detroit Lakes.

In praising the courageous fighting men and women of America's history, Congressman Langen said that "the tradition of courage and valor of the U.S. fighting men is well known to the world and your actions in the past are what deter nations today from again engaging us in world-wide mortal combat.

"I certainly have a much greater faith in the veterans of America, including our young men on the front lines in Viet Nam and the vast majority of young men and women of America who stand united behind them than I have in the handful of malcontents who arrogantly stand on public stages burning their draft cards," said Langen. "Those young people are burning their heritage," he declared, "and are trading their birthright for a coward's cause."

"The stated purpose of our soldiers in Viet Nam today," he said, "is to conduct such an action that will contain the dread communist expansion into the affairs of a small nation that wants independence and to prevent the type of war that forces us to mobilize all of our men for battle. The real choice in Viet Nam, however, is not so much whether or now we should be there at all but whether or not we are proceeding on a course that will realize our objective with a minimum cost of human life, economic sacrifice and time."

Congressman Langen said that serious questions arise when the United States conducts the action in Viet Nam with very little assistance from the other nations of the world, many that have received generous amounts of American aid. "We see our allies sail their trading ships around our 7th fleet into the harbors of North Viet Nam, even though it's their hides as well as ours we are trying to protect."

On the subject of U.S. objectives in the Viet Nam struggle, Langen noted that "some of our Defense Department people are talking about a five-year or a ten-year war, which naturally leads to the question of whether we are really out to win or are giving the enemy the questionable impression that we're willing to prolong the conflict for years. The American people should expect a more realistic objective when you consider that our troop commitments are expected to increase from the present 150,000 to 280,000 by next summer and that over 50,000 missions have been flown against the enemy. The question naturally arises over whether we are using our force to best advantage or have accelerated our effort too slowly."

Congressman Langen noted that Korea provides a good example of the difference clear-cut objectives can make in such a limited struggle. "Korea was divided between communist and freedom by a narrow strip of land similar to the 17th parallel that separates North and South Viet Nam, which is equal to a distance no greater than from Detroit Lakes to Moorhead.

"The war in Korea went on and on, back and forth, with our troops pushed almost into the sea at times. But when General Eisenhower traveled to that war-torn strip of land and made his purpose and the American people's resolve abundantly clear, the fighting stopped.

"The similarity to the Korean war and the fighting going on today on the banana-shaped terrian of Viet Nam is most striking. We are again helping another nation become independent, even as we were helped in our own struggle for independence. The question, then, is not one of over-all objective but it certainly is one of methods used in gaining that objective, an area of proper debate for all Americans."

Langen concluded that America must always stand firm in the defense of freedom, wherever it exists or attempts to take root. "But the limited actions we take around the world in defense of freedom must be firm and swift so that the principles for which our past veterans fought may never again have to be defended by massive global efforts."

Gunman Caught After Shooting Spree in Warren

held captive, Lannoye fired 11 shots from the officers' guns around the room, one reportedly missing Znajda's ear by two inches and another missing Sedlacek's foot by about an inch. The officers credited Lannoye with being an excellent shot, noting that he placed two bullet holes touching each other when shooting from across the room. Znajda said he was counting the shots fired—since he knew how many cartridges each officer carried in his gun—in the hope that Lannoye would run out of ammunition. He never did.

After tearing the radio equipment out of the police car and sheriff's car and taking $20 from the sheriff, he stole the seriff's car and left town. The officers managed to reach the handcuff keys which had been thrown on the floor, freed themselves and went to the sheriff's office to alert other law enforcement agencies by radio.

Alerted by the radio call, Crookston police contacted service stations in that city with a description of the car and man. When Lannoye stopped for gas at a service station at East Fourth street in Crookston, attendant Sherman Bakke called the police. Patrolmen Roy Rowley, James Duckworth and Gary Lufkin made the apprehension at 4:51 a.m.

At the time he was taken into custody, Lannoye had a gun in each coat pocket, another in a trousers pocket and a fourth on the seat of the car, according to Harry Dillabaugh, Crookston police chief. He offered no resistence, Dillabough said.

It was later noted that Mrs. Ely's six children were upstairs in the house during the entire incident but none were injured in the shooting. The first man who appeared when the officers called disappeared from the scene and by Friday afternoon had not been identified.

The only injuries arising out of the incident were scalp wounds which Znajda received when struck by Lannoye with Sedlacek's gun and powder burns when shots at close range were first past his head. Crookston police made the apprehension on the Marshall county complaint of auto theft and assault with a deadly weapon.

Kotaska, Panek Will Attend FU GTA Convention

Charles Kotaska and Henry Panek of the Thief River Falls Farmers Co-op, Grain & Seed association and R. L. Nelson and Richard Mosbeck of the St. Hilaire Co-op. Elevator, together with their wives, will leave for St. Paul today (Monday) to attend the 28th annual meeting of the Farmers Union Grain Terminal association in St. Paul Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Heading the list of convention speakers is Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey. He will address the traditional "farm dinner" audience at 8 p.m. Thursday to climax the three-day convention in St. Paul's municipal auditorium. Five senators also headline the program. They are Senators Eugene J. McCarthy and Walter Mondale of Minnesota, Senators Milton R. Young and Quentin N. Burdick of North Dakota and Senator George McGovern of South Dakota.

Several thousand men and women from the farms of Minnesota, Montana, North and South Dakota and portions of Iowa and Nebraska will attend the meeting. They will be representing more than 600 local grain cooperatives that market cooperatively at the regional level through GTA.

During the convention business sessions delegates and patrons will take part in deliberations and actions designed to make their regional grain cooperative a more effective tool in representing them in the market place. They will also hear reports from GTA managers and department heads outlining the cooperative's continuing growth.

Former Employee In City Scores Protest Marchers

Army Specialist 4th Class Kenneth L. Greenwalt, Brainerd, who was employed by Northwestern Bell Telephone company in Thief River Falls before entering the army in March of 1964, has strong words for demonstrators protesting the United States involvement in Viet Nam. Greenwalt, who is serving in Viet Nam, wrote the following in a letter to his parents:

"The thing that makes me mad is the people back in the states who are protesting our being here. If they had any sense at all, they'd know we can't pull out.

"If we did, we might as well say goodbye to Southeast Asia. Saigon has more than two million refugees, yet those "students" want us to get out and let them all to communism.

"These so called 'students' are going to some mighty fine schools but they don't know as much about communism as a 10-year-old Vietnamese boy.

"I'm right at Saigon university and it is being used as a grade school. The college age boys are fighting to give their brothers a chance to someday go to the U.

"Do you know that the Vietnamese people are being taxed by the Viet Cong to fight a war against themselves, and at a rate of 10 to 40 per cent?

"I wish some of the U.S. 'students' could see an eight-year-old boy selling his mother or sister on the street, or riding a garbage truck and throwing the trash to other kinds to take home. Or a mother taking a Hershey away from her girl.

"If anyone in Brainerd thinks I'm wasting my time here, tell them this, and tell them I think they are wasting their time being Americans. Hypocrites would be a better word for them."

Car Damaged in Mishap in City

Approximately $185 damage was done to a car driven by Mrs. S. A. Honebrink, city, when it was struck by a semi-trailer truck in Thief River Falls about 9:05 a.m. Wednesday. Driver of the truck was Calvin Armstrong, Ames, Ia.

According to the police report, Mrs. Honebrink's car was stopped facing north on Horace avenue while the truck was attempting a left turn on to Horace after traveling west on Third street. The left rear tire rim of the truck struck the bumper of the Honebrink car. No damage was done to the truck and the accident is under investigation.

QUESTIONS Answered for VETERANS

Q I receive disability pension from VA and if my income exceeds $1,000 per year, my pension payments will be reduced. I have been offered a chance to sell my house at a profit. If I do so, and use the money to buy another home, will it cause my pension payments to be reduced?

A—No, the sale of property by a person receiving disability pension is not considered income even though a profit is realized. The exception to this rule would be the case of a person who buys and sells property as a business.

Q I read somewhere that the President has signed a bill increasing compensation payments to veterans. When will I receive my increase?

A Such legislation is being considered but has not been enacted into law.

Q Is it necessary to get from the Veterans Administration a Certificate of Eligibility to participate in the Housing Act of 1965?

It's a Fine Event

In the three years that have passed since Vern Nelson, Bob Carlson, Dick LeMoine and Evonne Olson, along with head coach Bill Herzog and athletic director Ralph Skay, organized the first father-and-son football banquet, the affair has the potential of becoming a tradition. It gets better year by year, and Tuesday's gathering was the best yet.

It was not the intention of Vern and Bob and Dick and Ole that this football banquet should encroach upon the annual athletic banquet. That's the year's big event, and it is sponsored by the city's service clubs. The father-and-son football banquet does give the footballers an opportunity to announce the captain or co-captains for the next season, and to pay recognition for noteworthy performances of certain Prowlers.

And not the least of its attractions is that it is a bona fide father-and-son banquet. I am sure that the fathers and grandfathers, too, appreciate the opportunity of meeting their son's or grandson's teammates.

Coach Bill Herzog, in his comments to the gathering, stated that he hoped the time would soon come when the Prowlers would celebrate an unbeaten season. This season the Prowlers posted a two wins- six losses, and one tie mark, but the Prowlers did close out their season with a convincing win over Crookston Central. And Rev. R. A. Wangberg, who gave the main address of the evening, emphasized the fact the Prowlers were able to come back and win decisively in their final game.

Pastor Wangberg enlarged upon this theme by quoting from Paul's Second Epistle to the Corinthians, verses eight and nine of chapter four: "We are troubled on every side, yet not distressed; we are perplexed, but not in despair. Persecuted, but not forsaken; cast down, but not destroyed."

Words to Live By

And to continue in the inspirational vein of the father-and-son football banquet, I'll cite a few words from Vern Law's "Words to Live By." Law was a star pitcher with the world's champion Pirates of 1960, but was then stricken by arm trouble and became so discouraged that he finally went on the retired list in 1963. But Law has come back, and this past season he was named the "comeback" player of the National League. This past season he posted a mark of 7 victories and nine losses, and a splendid earned-run average of 2.16.

Law is a devout Mormon and he carries out the principles of his church and is a practicing member of that religion. He also serves as an elder of the church.

But it's from a little red book that he keeps that I wish to quote, and some of his "words-to-live-by" are: "I have never met a man who is not my superior at something."

"A good timber never grows with ease, it needs a strong wind and storms to give it strength."

"A discouraged man is not a strong man."

"There is nothing wrong with youth. Actually only ten per cent of the youths are bad and these ten per cent get all the publicity."

"I shall never criticize my superiors. I will never uphold my opinion to the extent of angering another."

"I will never forget that I am one of God's marked men. I will always remember that I am made of the same stuff as the worst sinner, and without God's help I would be worse than he."

Says sports writer Les Biederman: "I've known Vern Law ever since he first reported to the Pirates in 1950 and he's become one of my all-time favorite players. And I've seen hundreds of them in Pirate uniforms in the past 28 years. In success and in adversity, Law always has had compassion for his fellow man. He never has belittled an opponent or embarrassed anybody."

An Early Fill

Virgil, Alvin and Bennie Wold, all brothers, and Bill Erickson, had their deer tagged by ten o'clock on Saturday morning.

The party, well-acquainted in the area, hunted southwest of town—not out as far as the Goose Lake area or the Pembina ridge, and they had three bucks and a doe dressed out before noon.

Virgil, a former resident here, proved to be the party's ablest marksman. Using a scope-mounted .308 caliber rifle, Virg bagged three of the deer.

So it was a quick and easy season for the Wolds, and Billy Erickson. Billy, who was the baseball Prowlers team manager a year ago, is one of the more successful of the city's young hunters. Billy had a couple of limit shoots on geese this year.

Duck Migration Termed Gradual During October

Ducks in western Canada lingered through Indian summer and there was no spectacular migration. There was an early migration at the end of September, prompted by wet and cold weather, but October temperature levels were well above normal and ducks gradually drifted south until the only remnant was composed of scaup and mallard.

The foregoing is the analysis of the waterfowl migration picture contained in the November issue of the Ducks Unlimited "Duckological" prepared by General Manager Angus Gavin.

Report points up the fact that migratory pace increased when a minor cold front hit Manitoba and eastern Saskatchewan October 26-27. This was followed by "a more severe outbreak of polar air" over the entire prairie region November 3. At this time, light snow fell on northern parklands and the temperature fell to 10 degrees.

Gavin stresses the point that "at no time was there a grand passage"; the birds arrived and departed over several days, moving during the hours of darkness. The report terms it "a difficult migration to evaluate since the birds moved southward over a long period of time." The analysis rates mallards as at least equal to 1964 and an increase for redheads and canvasbacks.

Considering lesser scaup (bluebill), the report states this species appeared to by-pass traditional stop-over points on big marshes of lakes Winnipeg and Manitoba. Generally, bluebill flights in Saskatchewan and Manitoba were below average.

Ruffed Grouse Season Results Just as Expected

With the close of the ruffed grouse season on October 31, reports from Minnesota game and fish division fieldmen show hunting results were pretty much as expected, the conservation department announced this week.

Drumming counts conducted last spring on some 50 routes scattered through the grouse range showed birds, primarily as a result of sufficient snow last winter to provide safe and warm roosting sites.

It was predicted then that more birds would show up in the hunters' bags this fall, but that hunting would be spotty.

Opening weekend checks showed a 25 per cent increase over last year in the number of birds bagged per hunter in the northeast, while hunting success remained about the same in the northwest.

As usual several "hot spots" showed up where limits were taken easily. In other areas there were few birds and very little hunting.

Generally, the hunting success was considerably improved over 1964, said department game officials. Two individual hunters reported taking 44 birds in Itasca county and 21 in Beltrami county during the season.

Hunting pressure state-wide remained light and the total take had little or no effect on the number of birds that will be present added that another year of good winter roosting conditions coupled with nesting success in the spring should bring another increase in the ruffed grouse population by fall of 1966.

CO-CAPTAINS for 1966, Dave Halvorson, left, and Ross Hanson, right, are being congratulated by retiring captain Gary Olson as he presents the two juniors with the plaque emblematic of the captaincy. Halvorson is a halfback, and Hanson is a tackle.

NAMED as the Prowlers' best defensive player for the 1965 season was Ken Ose. Ose, a junior, played at a linebacker spot on defense and also took a turn or two at center on offense.

MOST Valuable Player Award, autographed football, was presented to quarterback Tom Cummings at the annual father-and-son football banquet held Tuesday evening. Cummings had been honored earlier by being named to the Northwest Conference all-senior football squad.

To Restore Marsh Area Next Year On Reservation

Congressman Odin Langen announced today that he has been advised the Corps of Army Engineers will begin work on marsh restoration on the Red Lake River in Clearwater county about April 15, 1966, and complete the project in October. Location of the project, according to information received by Langen, is on the Red Lake River from Lower Red Lake outlet to a point about three and one-third miles downstream, within the Red Lake Indian reservation.

"The St. Paul district of the Corps of Engineers," said Langen, "has announced that bids will be opened December 9. They have also advised that this procurement is set aside for small business concerns.

Work will consist of constructing two inlets from Red Lake to marsh areas, each consisting of a concrete headwall, concrete pipe conduit under Highway 1 and a gate well with sluice gate; excavating the approach and discharge channels for inlets; grading top surface of existing spoil banks on each side of the river; excavating a four-foot core trench with about a seven-foot average depth in intermittent reaches on marsh side of spoil banks; and backfilling with impervious material.

Two marsh outlets will also be constructed, each consisting of corrugated metal pipe conduit and concrete headwall with sluice gate; and three cut-off dikes will be built in the marsh area, involving about 11,600 cubic yards of earth fill."

4-H NEWS

Black River

Regular meeting of the Black River 4-H club was held October 13 at the Bray town hall. Flag pledges were said and roll call taken with twenty-five responding to parents first name.

President Robin Naplin discussed the new members of the junior leader council. Newly elected secretary was Jan Grundhaus with Ross Hanson elected as junior leader reporter for the leaders council. Another item discussed was the addition of inside gardening to horticulture.—Then the president gave details of the 4-H banquet, held November 3 at the armory. Tickets were mailed to those 4-H'ers completing all their records. Tickets for the organizational leaders were purchased by the club. Election of project leaders was postponed until the next meeting.

A demonstration was given by Mrs. Hallstrom on beds. Mrs. B. Sorvig read about the origin of Halloween. Group singing was enjoyed and a T & F session was held by Mrs. Kenny Swanson. A musical number was presented by Paulette and Kenny Swanson. Lunch was pot luck.

Lou Ann Johnson, reporter.

Pennington Quads

Meeting of the Pennington Quads was called to order by Eunice Wold October 25 at the Pennington county court house. A Halloween party was held at this meeting. Debbie Penning and Cathy Barron had a spook house. Eunice Wold and Loralee Isaacson ran a fish pond. Different games were led by families. Each family brought a pizza for the lunch. Popcorn balls and apple cider were also served.

New Solum

New Solum 4-H club met October 22 with President Douglas Johnson calling the meeting to order. Roll call was answered by each naming his favorite sport.

It was voted that the meeting night should be changed to Wed-

New members were admitted to the club. They are Tim Bulger; and Steve, Danny and Gary Walker.

Demonstrations were given by Mrs. Anseby and Harold Lambert. Lunch was served by the James Jarshaw and Melvin Kaushagen families.

Garret Reierson, reporter.

Mavie 4-H

Mavie 4-H met November 10 at the Grand Plain town hall, with President Gary Aandal calling the meeting to order. Judy Oski gave a committee report on the Christmas party.

Local leaders handed out awards for the past year's work. Beverly Tvelto, home agent, spoke on the new projects for next year and the responsibilities of the officers. Brad Nelson gave a project talk on purebred holsteins.

Ben and Mary Szymanski were in charge of the program and Brad Nelson and Larry Panek were in charge of recreation. Lunch was served by Mrs. Roy Nelson and Mrs. Richard Nelson.

Leland Nelson, reporter.

Christianson Has A. F. Promotion

Larry R. Christianson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Selmer Christianson of rt. 1, Oklee, has been promoted to airman second class in the U.S. Air Force.

Minnesota Leads Nation in Many Wild Fur Sales

Although the days of the voyageur and fur trading post are long gone, Minnesota still leads the nation of many kinds of wild furs, according to Ted Shields, director of the division of game and fish.

Latest nation-wide figures for fur catch show Minnesota's 12,000 trappers to rank first in production of beaver, mink, skunk and weasel pelts and to rank close on the top for muskrat and fox. Trapping is annually a million dollar industry in Minnesota, Shields said.

Over 550,000 pelts were taken in Minnesota during fiscal year 1963-64, according to figures released by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife service. Of these, 427,000 were muskrats, 40,000 mink, 33,000 fox, 21,000 beaver, 12,000 weasels, 10,000 sum, otter, wolves, lynx, bobcats, coyotes and badger were taken in lesser numbers.

Mink continued to have the greatest dollar value to Minnesota trappers. At an average price of $12.25 each, the total value was about one-half million dollars. Muskrats averaged 9 cents each and had a total value of about $385,000.

This year's trapping season for mink and muskrat began November 6 and ends December 19, Shield said.

Kokanee Salmon On Spawning Run Netted This Year

First spawning run of kokanee salmon was recorded in Minnesota this fall when conservation department fisheries crews netted 112 adult fish from the shallows of Caribou lake, Itasca county.

The fish were stocked as fry in 1962. Purpose of the stocking was to provide a game fish as a replacement for the common tullibee. Both tullibee and salmon feed on microscopic organisms in the water, however the salmon can be taken on hook and line and has superior table qualities.

When netted for spawn taking purposes this fall the Caribou Kokanee were 16-18 inches in length and weighed between two and one-half and three and one-half pounds. State fisheries supervisor Hjalmer Swenson said the fish showed a good growth rate and apparently found Caribou lake very much to their liking.

The Kokanee lives four years, spawns and dies. Spawning fish are various shades of red and pink, develop a hump and bear little resemblance to their normal appearance.

Swenson said 27,000 eggs were taken from 17 spawning females, the lake will be observed closely for signs of young kokanee that may have hatched naturally in the lake as a result of this fall's spawning run.

Although it is believed that Caribou lake and the other lakes where kokanee have been stocked experimentally have a good population of fish, anglers report that so far they have had little success in catching them.

Swenson said fishermen will have to experiment until they find the best method of taking the fish. In the west where kokanee have been fished extensively for years, one of the favorite means is to troll with a small spinner baited with a grub or a kernel of corn. Kokanee are usually found closer to the surface during the day and retire into the depths of the lake after sunset.

Kokanee have been stocked for the past several years in several other lakes including Leo and Greenwood lakes in Cook county, Chase and Larson in Itasca county and Grindstone lake in Pine county.

Wind, Snow, Cold Greet Hunters For Deer Season

Opening weekend deer hunters shivered in wintry cold Saturday and Sunday as an arctic cold front brought snow, strong winds and near-zero temperatures. The nimrods were glad to have a "tracking snow" on the ground, but the high winds that blew through the woods were highly unconducive to successful hunting. Deer tend to "stay put" when the wind blows.

A total of 4.3 inches of snow blanketed the ground by the end of the Saturday snowstorm, and the overnight low Sunday at the airport was 3 degrees. Southerly winds have moderated temperatures, and this morning's low was only 24. Forecast, however, calls for clearing tonight and colder tomorrow. Highs today will be in the 30's; lows tonight in the low 30's.

Temperature and precipitation readings recorded by North Central Airlines since Wednesday at the municipal airport are as follows: 37 and 18 on Wednesday; 36, 21 and two inches of snow with .07 inch water content on Thursday; 36, 21 and one inch of snow with .07 inch water content on Friday: 23, 9 and 1.3 inches of snow with .05 inch water content on Saturday; 28 and 3 on Sunday; and a low this morning of 24.

Home Economist Offers Tips on Cooking Venison

Many wives of enthusiastic deer hunters may be confronted this month with the problem of preparing venison for the first time. Good advice to follow, if that's the case, is to cook it as you would low-quality beef, says Verna Mikesh, extension nutritionist at the University of Minnesota.

Because most deer meat is lean, its quality will correspond to that of beef with little or no external fat. She recomends the braising or pot-roasting method for cooking venison from older deer and for the less tender cuts from younger animals. Tender cuts like the loin and rib may be broiled or oven roasted.

Because you may have trouble finding different ways of preparing the various venison cuts in your locker this winter, you may want the local meat market to grind some of the less tender cuts for "deerburger." A fourth part pork shoulder or pork butt added when grinding venison will improve the flavor.

If the gamey flavor is objectionable or very strong, soaking the meat may make it more palatable the family. Soak the venison for an hour before cooking in a solution of two tablespoons of vinegar to a quart of water. Or, before cooking, let the meat stand in the refrigerator for a day or two in a favorite marinade, which will both tenderize and flavor the venison.

Miss Mikesh gives these further tips on preparing venison:

Remove all venison fat before cooking. The gamey flavor is most pronounced in the fat. Because venison fat becomes rancid quickly, be sure to trim fat closely on venison to be frozen.

Don't overcook venison. Deer meat has short fibers that toughen quickly when overcooked or cooked at too high a temperature.

Use a 300-degree oven when roasting venison. Cook venison to the medium to well done stage—never rare or overdone.

Add a moistener, since venison is a dry meat. Chunks of beef fat or salt pork may be added for self-basting or the surface covered with strips of bacon or a fat-soaked cheesecloth.

Always serve venison very hot on hot plates. Like lamb fat, the venison fat hardens quickly when it starts to cool and is unpleasant to eat at that stage.

Berg Appointed By President to U. S. Commisson

Sherwood O. Berg, dean of the University of Minnesota Institute of Agriculture, has been named chairman of the newly-established 30-member National Advisory Commission on Food and Fiber by President Lyndon B. Johnson. The appointment will not affect Berg's present duties as dean. It will require his services in Washington, D.C., a few days each month.

The commission will assist the newly-formed President's Committee on Food and Fiber made up of Orville Freeman, secretary of agriculture, chairman, and the secretaries of state commerce and labor. The comission has been asked to transmit to this cabinet committee its independent analysis, evaluation, and recommendations within 18 months.

The Commission will:

1. Make a comprehensive study and appraisal of the current economic situation and trends in American farming, including productivity, costs, prices, incomes, farm employment, labor standards, foreign trade and related matters;

2. Evaluate current farm policies of the federal government as they bear upon the welfare of farmers, workers, consumers and taxpayers; upon the stability, growth, and efficiency of the American economy; and upon our foreign relations;

3. Explore and evaluate alternative policies available to American agriculture and to the federal government; and

4. Develop such recommendations for action by government or private enterprise as it deems appropriate.

Roger Gallington In AFIT Program

First Lieutenant Rober W. Gallington, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph O. Gallington of Carbondale, Ill., is studying at the University of Illinois under the Air Force Institute of Technology (AFIT) education program. His wife, Alice, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis O. Moreau of Plummer.

Lt. Gallingtno is working toward a Ph.D. degree in aeronautical engineering. A graduate of State College (Pa.) high school, he earned B.S. and M.S. degrees in mechanical engineering at the university where he was commissioned through the Air Force Reserve Officer Training orps program.

Abandoned Cars Cause Problems On State Roads

During the ensuing winter months there will be a number of vehicles left on the highways for long periods of time due to snow storms, mechanical failures or other reasons. These vehicles constitute a hazard for other motorists and pose an irritating problem for the Minnesota highway department maintenance crews.

In the event of a severe snow storm, vehicles left on highway shoulders cannot be seen by others, particularly if the lights are not left on. On occasion serious accidents have resulted from situations of this sort which might have been avoided by some precautionary steps.

The Minnesota highway department recommends the following procedures in case of a stalled vehicle; (1) Leave parking lights or, if possible, emergency flashing lights on before leaving the car; (2) contact the nearest garage and give the exact location of the vehicle (citing a geographic landmark will aid the service station if you are in an unfamiliar area) (3) contact the Minnesota highway patrol.

Highway patrol officers are alerted to note vehicles parked on the highways unattended and to provide for their removal to the nearest accessible garage if the vehicles are judged to constitute a traffic hazard or to be in violation of a traffic law. On the Interstate highway system parking is prohibited except in emergency situations. Vehicles parked in excess of four hours will be towed to the nearest accessible garage. Tow-in charges will be at the vehicle owner's expense.

Writing Contest Part of U of M Artist Program

Amateur writers from rural Minnesota are invited to enter a short-short story competition included as a special feature of the University of Minnesota's Town and Country Art show.

The contest is open to amateur writers of high school age or over who are residents of Minnesota communities of 25,000 population or less. Entries in the writing competition will be limited to original, unpublished short-short stories of not more than 2,000 words.

Manuscripts will be accepted between December 1 and January 10. They should be typed double space on standard 8½ x 11 inch paper. All manuscripts should be addressed to Minnesota Town and Country Art Show Crative Writing Competition, Department of Agricultural Short Courses, University of Minnesota, St. Paul, Minn. 55101. An addressed, stamped envelope should be enclosed for return of the manuscript.

Ten stories selected by the judges from entries submitted will be printed in a limited edition and offered to the public during the show of the University's St. Paul campus next spring.

Entry rules for the short-short story competition are available from the Department of Agricultural short Courses, Institute of Agriculture, University of Minnesota, St. Paul, Minnesota 55101.

Kristi Carlson Gets Scholarship

Miss Kristi Carlson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alton Carlson of Newfolden, has been accepted by the admissions committee of Concordia college, Moorhead, with a Concordia College merit scholarship of $100 to $800, according to J. L. Rendahl, dean of admissions at the college. The scholarship is awarded on merit of high academic standing.

Proper Freezing Helps Game Birds Retain Quality

Planning to freeze some of the ducks or pheasants your husband brings home? Then wrap them well to preserve both flavor and quality is the advice from extension nutritionists at the University of Minnesota.

As long as considerable expense has gone into bagging the game, it's certainly worth packnging it well for the freezer. Good packaging may mean the difference between a bird you will enjoy and one the family won't eat.

The first rule to remember in preparing game birds for the freezer is to clean them well so they're ready for the oven, the nutritionists emphasize. Then use a good freezer wrap such as heavy duty aluminum foil to package them. After moulding the heavy foil closely around each bird, protect the foil from puncturing by slipping the packaged bird into a polyethylene bag. Twist the top of the bag and close with a rubber band or twist-em.

When game birds are well wrapped, they will keep satisfactorily in the freezer for nine months at zero degrees Fahrenheit.

Ornamentals Need Protection from Winter Weather

Recent frosts with heavier ones to come should be cues to gardeners that many ornamentals may not survive the rugged Minnesota winter without some protection.

A mulch to protect the perennial flower border can be applied now, according to C. G. Hard, extension horticulturist at the University of Minnesota. After cutting down all dead flower stalks, cover the border with dry leaves or marsh hay to a depth of six to eight inches. Do not pack the mulch. Evergreen boughs also make a good mulch, especially because they trap snow, one of the best materials for winter protection. Spring-blooming blubs need the same type of protection. Chrysanthemums will usually overwinter if they are mulched in the same way as the flower border.

The mulch serves the purpose of insulating the flower border against extreme cold and helps control the temperature in spring when alternate freezing and thawing would damage plants, Hard says.

Leaf cover is also a satisfactory mulch for roses. Dig a shallow trench into which the rose bush can be bent, bend the bush over gently, holding it down by covering the tops with soil or tying the bush to a stake. Then apply leaves over the bushes to a depth of at least three feet. Be sure to get leaves under the arch formed by the bent bush to eliminate air pockets. Pack leaves in the center of the bed higher to make drainage possible to the outer edge. Low fencing around the rose garden helps to hold the mulch in place.

Thoroughly soak the top layer to prevent surface leaves from blowing away and to eliminate fire hazards. Place tree branches on top to hold the leaves down. Before mulching roses, apply a good fungicide to control diseases.

Protect ornamental shrubs against rodent damage by setting a cylinder of ¼-inch hardware cloth an inch or two into the ground around the shrubs.

VA Pensioners Asked to Report Income Changes

Veterans who receive pensions may save themselves inconvenience by notifying the Veterans administration immediately when there is an increase inn their annual income.

John R. Parrish, center director, at Fargo, N.D., said that the amount of a veteran's pension is based on his income and the number of people in his family. If any of these factors change, his pension may change. Therefore, if the veteran receives any additional income, this should be reported at once to the VA.

Parrish said that for the same reason, the VA should be advised immediately should a veteran's family status change, such as divorce or death of his wife, the marriage, death or birth of a child, or the marriage of the veteran.

Failure to report income above the legal limits may result in VA overpayments and the veteran may be required to return some or all pension payments, Parrish said.

Cleaning Sprayer Saves Corrosion, And Prolongs Use

Don't forget to clean the sprayer when you're doing the last-of-the season garden jobs!

Neil Miles, extension horticulturist at the University of Minnesota, says if spray residues are left in the tank, they can corrode the sprayer, making it unusable next year. On the other hand, a sprayer that's cleaned properly will serve your garden needs for many years.

First step in cleaning the sprayer is to wash out the inside of the tank with hot water to which a little detergent has been added. Next, remove as many working parts as possible and wash them separately. Clean hoses and the spraying mechanism by running water through them. Then put a solution of household ammonia and water—a teaspoonful of ammonia to a pint of water—in the sprayer and let it stand overnight. In the morning empty the sprayer, rinse it and let it drip dry.

After cleaning the sprayer, oil the working parts and the pump leather, to help keep it in working order. Then place a label on the sprayer indicating the purpose for which it was used during the gardening season—whether for insecticides, fungicides or herbicides.

"There are but two roads that lead to the important goal and to the doing of great things; strength and perseverance. Strength is the lot of but a few privileged men; but austere perseverance, harsh and continuous, may be employed by the smallest of us and rarely fails of its purpose, for its silent power grows irresistably greater with time."

Exporting Trouble

When Fidel Castro announced that Cuba who didn't like it at home would be free to go to the United States if they so chose, eyebrows were raised. Shortly afterward, he said he would not only allow them to go, but would aid in their emigration. What, the common question was, could the Cuban dictator have up his sleeve?

That cannot be finally answered now. The Castro mind is subtle and devious, and there may be some surprises coming. But one answer seems to contain considerable logic. It is that those Cubans who hate Castro's brand of communism and what it has done to their island are a needless burden on his distressed economy and that the intelligent course is to be rid of them. Castro would like to add them to the problems of our country.

Whether that is true or false, Cuba and her economy are in woeful shape. A recent issue of Time magazine devoted a long feature article to the current situation there under the revealing title, "Cuba: The Decaying Revolution". One passage reads: "What has happened to Castro is disappointment, disillusion and decay. After nearly seven years of power, the grandiose dreams are ended. Gone is the hope of a swift socialist transportation to make agricultural Cuba a Caribbean industrial colossus; the Cuban economy is in tatters, back where it started as a one-crop sugar producer. . .Cuba today is populated by a sullen, lifeless people. . ."

All that is presently keeping Cuba alive economically, Times goes on, is a Russian dole which runs to about a million dollars a day. In return for that, the Kremlin demands and gets the kind of political rule it wants which, of course, is largely political rule Soviet style.

The magazine recounts the changes, all dismal, that have taken place. Havana was once among the gayest of the world's cities and a tourist mecca. Now all is drabness. Prices in many instances are sky high. The massive effort at industrialization that Castro inaugurated seems to have been an absolute failure. To make matters worse, in some years the sugar crop has been small and now world sugar prices are at a fraction of former levels.

The rot is apparent throughout the economy. The state of the nation's railroad system has been described as "desperate". Breakdowns of equipment of all kinds are frequent and lengthy, due mainly to a lack of replacement parts. As an example, Time says that Cubana Airlines has three British-made four-engine planes. Often just one of them flies; the other two have to be used to supply parts. And what automobiles are still in operation are "rolling junk heaps". On top of all this, price inflation has drastically reduced the peso's buying power.

Modern Economics

The following editorial was clipped from the Truman Tribune:

Although the elected government continually advocates and practices deficit financing, it doesn't work so well for the folks who ARE the government. Here's the diary of an installment buyer which has come to our attention after being clipped and reprinted from a long line of sources.

January 2. Bought an automobile today. Very easy terms. Fine car. Ought to finish payment in eighteen months.

February 2. Paid installment due on car. Bought a TV set on easy terms. Fine set, and payments will be small and monthly.

March 10. A little late with payment on car this month. Have to let TV payment go until April, as I bought a set of books and paid $10 down. Very fine books. Everybody should have this set of books.

April 12. Borrowed $50 from the boss to meet payment on car. TV man came to take away the set, but we put out the lights and weren't home. The chump hung around all evening, so couldn't read the books.

May 1. Borrowed $100.00 from Uncle Adolph to pay the $50 I borrowed from the boss, and meet payment on car. Got behind a little on the book payments because I bought a piece of land in new real estate development. This land ought to jump in value. Paid $50 down.

June 15. Somehow I don't miss the TV set very much. And you can get all the books you want from the public library. The thing that hurts is that Uncle Adolph should be so hard-boiled with his own nephew. If course, I told him I'd pay the $100 on July 1st, but one can't do the impossible. Trying to arrange a character loan from the bank. If I can borrow $250, I can square up everything and have clear sailing.

July 16. Bank says I have no character. What a gang of pirates.

August 25. The garage man is holding the car for that repair bill. What right have they to hold the car? It doesn't belong to me. September 1. It wasn't any use. Had to let the car go. Anyway, I'd rather have that piece of land. They've given me a month's grace on that. Real estate people have more heart, after all.

November 1. Well, they can have their old land. Good riddance. If I know where I could get $35 to meet the payment on the record player, I'd be all right. Bought a new car today on the "pay-out-of income" basis.

November 15. Income stopped. Got the gate at the office. One has to look well when it's a job you're after so I bought a new suit this afternoon. Only five dollars down."

It Also Takes Away

What the federal government gives it can also take away. Therein lies the danger of placing too much faith in the supports and aids offered by the federal bureaucracy. Dependency is a dangerous thing.

We are reminded of the story of a man with a crippling defect who was able to move about but not without effort. He resorted to a cane as an aid and later to a crutch because it made it easier for him to move around. Later he borrowed a wheelchair which he used for some time. When the owner of the wheelchair reclaimed it, the man found he had become so dependent upon it that he was unable to move without it.

Just as the man in the story found that his increasing dependency on other things than himself destroyed his abilities, the people of our nation will discover that leaning on a government crutch must soon mean an end to independence. What the government gives it can also take away.

An example of this was the recent situation when federal aid to Chicago schools was withdrawn. A few years ago, when there was no federal aid or only a very little, the schools could operate as they pleased. In recent years they had become dependent on the federal dole—certainly not entirely, but enough so that they missed it badly when it was withdrawn.

There are those who have pooh-poohed the warning that federal control would come with federal aid to education. The Chicago incident proves that the government not only has the power of control but is not adverse to using it. Control of the purse strings is a mighty tight hold to break, and dependency is a weakening of our democratic system.

Valuable lessons are to be learned from the withdrawal of federal education aid to Chicago. The American people would do well to exercise the study of a little homework.

They'd Be Surprised

If Congressmen could get the real reaction of the people to some of their lofty legislative plans, they would be in for more than a few surprises. They would find that their "popular" programs aren't so popular after all and that the taxpayers, rather than demanding services, are pleading for relief from the oppressive tax load already being imposed by existing programs.

Should some of the welfare legislation of the 89th session of Congress be made public without the frosting added by Whitehouse news sources, the nation's people would be able to see quite a few holes in the cake. If congress was brutally honest—revealing cost in relation to proposed benefits and the percentage of taxes for these benefits bound up by administrative overhead—there would be more new faces in Congress after the next election than the politicians would care to think about.

In a democracy such as our United States, elected representatives in government are supposed to represent the best interests of the people they serve. This is not to say they are supposed to get as much federal money as they can for their areas or that they are supposed to eliminate all poverty in their area regardless of method or consequence. Too many of our politicians are too eager to say "I got this for you" and not enough are willing to say "I saved you from this".

So while elected officials are supposed to be doing the will of the people, these people find themselves given programs which they neither want nor need. Perhaps we should permit a nation-wide referendum on major legislation which Congress is considering and give the taxpayer a chance to say "No" to some of this ridiculous federal spending. It might help restore sanity to Congress.

Even the Gallup Poll—which is about as reliable as a weak battery in 30 degree below zero weather has shown the public to be opposed to a number of Washington-originated schemes. What the federal government needs is a little more realism and a little less optimism which results in trying to give away too much to too many too often.

To Letter Writers

We recently received a letter from "An Interested By-Stander" which is of local interest and should well appear in our "public opinion" column. This letter is unsigned, however, and therefore will not be used unless the writer stops by to sign it or identifies himself or herself by mail.

As we have stated before, letters intended for public opinion use must be signed by the writer. Names of the writers will be withheld on request but the signatures must be received. The public opinion column is always open to letters written in good taste; we would encourage more of them.

Borrowed Nonsense . . .

"Things expand in heat and contract in cold," the student answered brightly.

"Give an example."

"In summer the days are long and in winter they are short," said the student.

Side Line Observations

BY BILL DAHLQUIST

This year's auto production in our country has already surpassed last year's annual total of new cars and trucks. According to the Wall Street Journal, last week's booming production boosted the 7,770,400 cars, up 22 per cent from this time last year and more than the total number of automobiles built in all of 1964.

The automobile industry is booming, and how long it will be able to keep on booming is anybody's guess. It is reasonable to assume that at some point there will be a leveling off in sales and production and we then will experience what is referred to as a recession.

President Johnson seems to think that with continued pump-priming there will be no recessions, but there appears to be a reasonable question as to how long the pump-priming can be continued. Pump-priming can be continued only by increased taxation or by that we now are diinitely headed merrily-merrily down the inflation path to certain recession and possible a bust.

"It's good to have money and the things that money can buy, but it's good too, to check up once in a while and make sure you haven't lost the things that money can't buy."

—George Lorimer

Representative John Lindsay's victory in the New York city election has given the Republican party new hope for a substantial gain in the coming national election. The spirit of hopefulness is understandable. For a long time the Republicans have had little cause for rejoicing.

Lindsay classifies as a liberal Republican, whatever that may mean. I would assume that it means that the Republican ranks he does not classify as a reactionary. I would also take for granted that in his liberalism he does not classify as a radical but would align himself with the moderates who still believe that progress, permanent progress, can come only with moderation in the management of our public affairs.

Our system of government calls for two political parties, one of them liberal and the other conservative. At the right of the conservatives are the reactionaries, and at the left of the liberals are the radicals. The radicals and the reactionaries are the extremists, and we do not want government by extremists. Our reasonable choice therefore is limited to those who are either liberal or conservative.

I am satisfied that we have already had too much of the type of liberal government that borders on the radical, and that is it time for a shift to the right—to a more conservative government than we have had. And I am hopeful that Lindsay and his followers, along with his running mates, will speak up for the type of liberalism that is constructive and not radical.

"Ideals are like stars; you will not succeed in touching them with your hands, but like the seafaring man on the desert of waters, you choose them as your guides, and, following them, you reach your destiny."

Appearing in newspapers of the Minnesota Editorial Association through the cooperation of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service and the University of Minnesota Institute of Agriculture

How do you best find out what ails a poor crop—by testing the soil or by diagnosing the problems of the plant itself?

Soil testing has been the most popular diagnostic technique and will certainly continue to be important. It is quite inexpensive, and is readily available to farmers, florists and home owners.

It works for corn, for lawn grass, for shrubs and flowers. Many a corn farmer can tell how a soil test pinpointed needs for nitrogen, phosphorus, potassium and lime.

But—and this is what scientists are asking today—is the soil test enough? Soil scientist John Grava at the University of Minnesota says soil tests do run into some diagnostic problems for fruit trees and quality crops, such as vegetables, potatoes and sugar beets. Soil tests for secondary and trace elements often are not reliable or take too long.

It seems quite logical to look to plant analysis as another indicator. Mainly, this means chemical determination of nutrient elements in plants or certain parts of them. Concentrations of these elements within a plant reflect what it has taken up from the soil. Then, by comparing these concentrations with what is already known about nutrient needs for growth and yield, the nutrient status of the plant can be evaluated.

Plant analysis, however, is not new. Scientists have used it in a wide range of studies—some which have been used to check soil-test methods. In Minnesota, plant analysis helped point to zinc deficiencies in corn on various soils a few years ago.

Research men found, for example, that when zinc concentration fell below 15 to 17 parts per million in a corn leaf, the plant showed zinc deficiency symptoms. In another case, leaf analysis helped identify nutritional problems in Minnesota apple orchards.

What is the future for plant analysis? It will probably be used more intensively in fundamental research, but a plant analysis service for farmers in general may be quite premature at present. Grava lists four reasons for this:

1. Sampling of corn and other field crops must be done at a late stage, thus making it impossible to use the analysis as a basis for treatment the same year.

2. Proper sampling procedures must be developed and standardized. Concentrations of nutrients will vary according to the part of the plant analyzed and the development stage when samples are collected.

3. Currently, information on adequate levels of nutrient elements in various farm crops is either spotty, or the suggested ranges of adequacy are too wide. This is particularly true of trace elements.

4. Finally, there are questions of how a plant analysis service would be established and maintained. Who would do the testing, what instruments would they use, and how would the service be financed?

In summing up, Grava says plant analysis is a valuable tool for diagnosing nutrient deficiencies and can be made more valuable than it is at present. It needs to be expanded in agricultural research, add can fill some of the gaps on current soils testing procedures. Ultimately, supplemented by soil tests, plant analysis might eliminate much of the guess work in crop fertilization.

REMEMBER THE "GOOD OLD DAYS"?

If grandpa tells you he worked like a horse when he was a boy, it was probably true. Imagine hauling water for all your household needs! Dependable rural electricity as generated by Minnkota Power Cooperative and supplied by local electric cooperatives brought running water to the farms. This is just one of the many changes wrought by rural electricity during the past twenty-five years.

GULLY . . .

Osmund Fritte, long time resident of the Erskine area, passed away Sunday morning at the Fosston hospital. He had been hospitalized for a week. He was 87 years old. Mr. and Mrs. Fritte have been making their home with their daughter Mrs. Hilda Kvaale of Gully. Funeral services will be held at the Saron Lutheran church at Erskine on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock with Rev. O. E. Onstad and Rev. Earl Martell officiating and Petterson Funeral home in charge of arrangements. Complete obituary next week.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Christianson of St. Paul visited Wednesday with Mrs. Aletta Nyland.

Mrs. Tillie Forsberg visited last week at the Reuben Rydeen home in Clearbrook.

Judy and Sharol Strande employed in Minneapolis spent the weekend at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sid Strande.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Paulson and Margaret Ann, Nancy Thompson of Bemidji were Sunday dinner guests also at the Nylands were Mrs. Anne Nyland and Knute Nyland and Mr. and Mrs. Martin Watnemo of Fosston.

Luncheon guests of Mrs. Claude Knudson on Wednesday afternoon were Selma Erie, Esther Barne, Laura Herberg of Gonvick, Agnes Marklund, Emma Bergh and Mildred Sollen.

Lauren Fore, and Jerry Reed, students at B.S.T.C. spent the weekend at their parental homes. Cheryle Brekke spent the weekend at the Malvig Bros. home.

The Library Corner

by Virginia Gjernes

What does your library mean to you? This is one question you just can't ask yourself often enough nor answer yourself honestly enough. Think about it awhile. Is your library, to you, a building in which books are kept so they won't get wet from rain, soggy from snow or crisp from the heat of the sun's rays? Is that what the word "library" means to you? Is your library a source for information, inspiration, education and recreation? If it isn't, it should be, for your library is not just a building. It is instead a way of live . . . it represents the years of progress of civilization.

Residents of Pennington county are among the fortunate, for they have a brary for their use. Red Lake Falls county does not support one, therefore children and teachers from the Red Lake Falls city schools visited your library during National Education Week. Many of the children entered a public library for the very first time in their lives.

Speaking of books and libraries, which we generally do in this column, there are lots of new ones to borrow so that you may sharpen your wits, or take a trip or learn how the other half lives! Whatever your desires you are certain to find a volume to please you. It may be a best seller, it may be one little known and little read . . . but it will be your kind of reading material. It is available to you because of you and your desire to support the library, because it represents your American, democratic way of life.

Here are some from which you may choose. Some are true, some are fairy-tales-for-grown-ups.

Would you prefer "The Waters Under the Earth" by John Moore? This is a novel about England and the people who reside there; about the trials and triumphs of Susan Seldons, the heroine.

A lot of people's favorite author has a new short novel on the stands entitled "The Man Who Looked Like the Prince of Wales". This is the story of a man and the falls he takes and the pitfalls he stumbles into and his climbing out again . . . never to be quite the same—never really wanting to be quite the same.

"The Deep and the Past" by David B. Ericson and Goesta Wollin. This non-fiction volume relates the problems which plagued scientists since it was revealed that portions of the earth had once been covered by ice sheets. The answers form the suspence-filled story. The reader will also learn the obstacles which stand between scientists and their goals. There are photographs, charts and graphs which aid the reader's comprehension.

If you like your novels long and your authors the imaginative-beyond-words, you'll want to take home "Miss MacIntosh, My Darling" by Marguerite Young. Acclaimed a "genius" by critics, Miss Young has received award after award and has taught creative writing at several universities and schools. She took 17 years to write this novel. . .it won't take you that long to read it but you'll feel as though you've lived several lifetimes before you finish it!

"The Honey Badger" by Robert Ruark is on everybody's "must" list. Maureen Howard's newest is "Bridgeport Bus" which you'll probably enjoy. Alan Sillitoe is the author of "The Death of William Posters", a distinctively different novel about a man and his search for himself. The route he takes is a bit off the beaten path. . . which is what makes this "different".

Non-fiction followers will relish Walt Sheldon's "The Honorable Conquerors"—the story of the occupation of Japan from 1945-1952. "The Legacy of Nehru" is a memorial tribute to India's great man. The volume, published by The John Day Company, contains the recollections, eulogies and analyses of the leader by 16 international figures. You mustn't miss "Who Gets the Drumstick?" by Helen Beardsley for sheer joy is contained between its covers. It is "sadder and gladder" than any book you've ever read.

So there you are! A little bit about a number of new books. Come in, borrow one. . .or ten. . . but borrow. Then you'll know what your library does mean to you.

Numedal . . .

Odean Osness, Rt. 1, City, [illegible]

Numedal homemakers will meet Thursday afternoon November 18 at 1:30 p.m. at the Raymond Olson home. Pot luck lunch.

Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Hanson of Thief River Falls visited Sunday afternoon at the Winton Knutson home.

Mrs. Ray Molskness and girls were dinner guests Tuesday at the Esther Hagen home at Thief River Falls.

The Oak Ridge LCW Bible study group met at the Olaf Pederson home Thursday afternoon. The lesson was prepared by the group. Devotions and prayer by Rev. T. J. Weltzin. A short business meeting was also conducted. Those present were Rev. T. J. Weltzin, Mmes: Clyde Swenson and children, Ernest Helgeneset, Frank Hible, Ted Halbasch, Laverne Filpula and son, Duane Olson and children, Winton Knutson, Lester Larson, Norval Johnson, Ben Vatsaas, Raymond Olson, Duane Vatsaas and O. Pederson. Lunch was served by the hostesses.

Mrs. Janet Hible, Dawn and Michele were dinner guests Sunday at the Julius Alby home. Other afternoon visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Gene Sevre, Lester Taggart and Rodney of Norden, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Trickle and children and Lt. Harold Shelby of Thief River Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. George Jorgenson and David of Iron visited Saturday afternoon at the Harold Kalsnes home. Sunday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Kalsnes and children were coffee guests at the Alec Jagol home at Angus.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Molskness, Carol and Connie attended a wedding reception honoring Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Johnson (nee Muriel Molskness) which was held at the Seven-day Adventist school at Thief River Falls on Sunday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson were married at Minneapolis September 18th. Congratulations. Later in the afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Molskness and girls were supper guests at the Harold Hjlmaland home at Thief River Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Erickson of Plummer called at the C. M. Knudsen home Sunday evening.

Mrs. Agnes Markland returned to her home at Detroit, Mich. after spending the summer at the Joe Brekke home.

GULLY . . .

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Myers of Lancaster, Penn. arrived Saturday home and with other relatives.

Your Minnesota Hostess
Beer, according to a recent report, is bringing riches to some Vietnamese, and possible ideas of desertion to certain ideas Cong members who see their relatives making beer profits. American servicemen, who earn more per week than the average Viet Nam civilian earns per year, relax with beer in off-duty hours. Result: a burst of economy for the community, as beer dollars are used by recipients to purchase local goods. And what item ranks next to beer in American expenditures at Viet Nam?—Laundry!
Beerography
Certain California oceanographers now use new fliptop beer cans to date undersea deposits! As fliptoppers have been available in lower California just one year and divers now turn up such cans under two inches of sediment, scientists reason sediment increases at a rate of at least 2 inches annually.
Steak Beergers
½ bottle (6 oz.) beer
2 lbs. ground sirloin
2 Tbsp. butter
6 thin slices bacon
Salt and Pepper
Lightly mix meat, seasoning and beer. Shape into six patties. Spread tops and bottoms with butter. Wrap bacon strip around each; secure with toothpick. Broil 3" from flame, turning once. Remove as soon as bacon is done. Serve with cold beer and send for my free recipe book. Write "Minnesota Hostess," 333 WCCO Bldg., Minneapolis 55402.

Jehovah Witness Assembly Slated Here in December

Thief River Falls congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses will host a threeday assembly of the group the second wekend in December, according to R. H. Wetenkamp, local presiding minister, who is assisting in making assembly arrangements.

Clifford R. Hooten, circuit supervisor of Jehovah's Witnesses for northern Minnesota, and C. H. Weining, district supervisor representing the world headquarters of Jehovah's Witnesses in Brooklyn, N.Y., are coming to Thief River Falls for the assembly. Slated for December 10-12, the convention is expected to draw more than 600 ministers delegates to Thief River Falls, according to convention officials.

Purpose of the assembly, according to Wetenkamp, is to provide detailed training for Jehovah's Witnesses to aid them in their Bible teaching.

"The method of instruction to be used at the coming convention will be the same as that employed in Kingdom halls of Jehovah's Witnesses all over the world," Wetenkamp said. "Such meetings are educational and consist of advanced Bible instruction for Jehovah's Witnesses and other attending to enable them to apply Bible principles more fully to their everyday lives.

"An additional feature of our assemblies, "Wetenkamp said, "is the encouragement received from a period of Christian association."

Watch it, OTTER TAIL!

ABOUT THIS TIME OF YEAR, likely as not, some of you will be stopping Otter Tail employees on the street with a reproachful, "See ya raised your electric rates again!"

This kinda hurts when, as a matter of fact, Otter Tail rates are headed down. Just two months ago, we announced voluntary electric rate reductions and modifications that resulted in net annual savings of more than $300,000 for Otter Tail customers..and, since mid-1963, Otter Tail rate adjustments have produced net annual savings of nearly $840,000 for customers of the company. But that Otter Tail customer who meets us on the street knows one thing for sure—his electric service bill is higher, not lower. Watch it, Otter Tail!

We'll be the first to agree. His bill (ours, too, by gosh) IS larger than it has been for several months. But not because the rates went up. The cold facts are a thing called "winter." Shorter days mean more lighting. There are more and heavier clothes to wash and dry (electrically). More hot water heating, more tasty, hot-cooked meals, snug comfort under the electric blanket—and don't forget the furnace motor.

We could go on and on. But what we do is look that customer right in the eye and say, "Yup, your bill is larger now—but only because you're living more, electrically." Then we try and drop a gentle hint that we'd like to compare his electric bill from last July—or next July. It doesn't change the figures on this month's bill, but it makes him feel a whole lot better.

Region One ADA Meeting Is Scheduled Here Tuesday

Dairy Promotion For Coming Year To Be Presented

Dairy producers and processors from 11 northwest Minnesota counties will convene here Tuesday for the annual business meeting of American Dairy association (ADA) Region I. Sheldon Erickson of Badger, ADA Region I chairman, will preside.

The session to begin at 11 a.m., in the Thief River Falls American Legion club rooms, is open to all persons interested in the dairy industry of Beltrami, Clearwater, Kittson, Lake of the Woods, Mahnomen, Norman, Pennington, Polk, Red Lake, Roseau and Marshall counties.

Regional officers—including a director and alternate to the ADA of Minnesota state board of directors—will be elected. National, state and regional dairy promotion plans for the coming year will be previewed.

What steps should be taken to achieve full, equal and total financial participation in ADA by dairy farmers and uniform cooperation from all dairy plant managers, operators and owners also will be discussed.

ADA's programs of dairy advertising, research and public relations are financed by a voluntary "set-aside" of two cents per hundredweight of milk as it is marketed by dairy farmers. Cooperating plants do the necessary bookwork and forward the farmers' promotion, investment to ADA.

Princess Kay of the Milky Way XII, Mary Ann Titrud of Clarissa, will attend. Other participants from the ADA state staff will include Cliff Markuson, manager; Tom Johnson, area representative; and Howard Ryan, public relations director.

COMPLETED recently was the new city dog pound, located on Oakland Park road near the sewage treatment plant. In view of the deteriorated condition of the old dog pound building at the city dump, and the fact that the building was without heat, light or water, the city council authorized purchase of the garage now being used for a price of $250. After the purchase, a water source, concrete floor and an electric light and heating system were installed. The heating system keeps the temperature at 45 to 50 degrees — warm enough even for house pets. The building contains six pens measuring 3x6 feet. Unidentified dogs running at large are generally kept in the pound for up to seven days. If, in this time, they are not claimed by their owners, they are destroyed.

Natural Gas Is Reviewed Monday For Rotary Club

Review of the natural gas situation in Thief River Falls was presented by George Carter, president of North Star Natural Gas company, at the noon meeting of the Thief River Falls Rotary club on Monday. He was accompanied by Joe Morris, regional representative for Midwestern Gas Transmission company, from which North Star will receive its gas supply for this city.

In addition to showing a film on natural gas, Carter told of the progress of his company and its plans for Thief River Falls. North Star was granted a franchise to serve this city in 1964 and was delayed by the Federal Power Commission which did not grant an allocation of gas for the city until late this fall.

Immediately upon receipt of a gas allocation from the FPC, North Star let contracts for construction of the gas system in Thief River Falls. At present lines have been laid between Arnold and Atlantic avenues from Sixth and Thirteenth streets.

The main transmission line from the pipeline west of Warren to Thief River Falls is now under construction. A huge trenching machine is being used to dig the trench for pipe and four expert welders are welding the pipe which has been strung along the line. The line will follow a gravel road west from the "Y" about seven miles west of Thief River Falls and then follow highway 1 the remainder of the distance into Thief River Falls.

Carter said that his company is hopeful of providing natural gas service to part of the community this year. Should bad weather call a complete halt to the construction program, the construction firm will return early in the spring to complete its work.

LHS Christmas Concert Date Set

Lincoln senior high school's annual Christmas concert has been scheduled for Sunday, December 19, at 2:30 p.m., according to Bryant Ulseth, vocal music instructor at the school. Ulseth requests that the public make a note of the date so that attendance at the concert may be planned.

Lincoln Senior Class To Present "Miracle Worker"

Senior class of Lincoln high school will present the play, "The Miracle Worker" by William Gibson December 6 and 7. Starting time both nights is 8 p.m. The play portrays the story of Helen Keller and her struggle through the early years of her life. Annie Sullivan, 'the miracle worker,' teaches Helen how to live in a world of deafness and blindness.

TRF To Receive AAA Award for Pedestrian Safety

City of Thief River Falls will be presented a pedestrian safety award by the American Automobile Association (AAA) at a travel party for AAA members and their guests today at 8 p.m., in the Lincoln high school auditorium.

Thief River Falls will be cited by the AAA for four years of no pedestrian deaths and for its overall pedestrian safety program.

The award will be made by a representative of the Minnesota Safety council and by O. M. Mattson of Warren, a state director of the Minnesota AAA, to Mayor Orin Green.

Thief River Falls city officials have been invited to be special guests at the party at which travel and safety movies will be shown. About 1,000 are expected to attend.

In charge will be Leon Carson of the AAA travel department and Wes Meyer of the AAA public affairs department.

Music Group at First Baptist

The King's Messengers, featuring the King's Choralaires, varied vocal arrangements, instrumental numbers and Rev. Bob Dierking, will present a sacred concert at the First Baptist church in Thief River Falls Sunday at 7:30 p.m. The free will offering will go entirely to the King's Messengers. The public is invited.

Governor Rolvaag Comments on Area Crop Disaster

"Disaster has struck Minnesota in many forms this year," states Governor Karl F. Rolvaag. First came the devastating spring floods. Then tornadoes hit several areas. Now a series of a less dramatic natural disasters has created further hardships for many of our farmers, especially in northwestern Minnesota. Heavy rains during the normal harvest season and an early frost have caused severe crop damage in some sections.

"Last week I toured parts of northwest Minnesota to see for myself how badly the crops have been damaged. A group of state and federal agricultural officials came with me on the trip. We started at Thief River Falls and then flew over a wide area before landing at Park Rapids.

"There cane be no question but that the situation is rather grim for many farmers. Our group met with members of the county disaster comitees of 11 counties while we were at Thief River Falls and committees of another 19 counties at Park Rapids. These county committees are now sending detailed reports this week on the situation in their counties to B. M. Wichterman, state chairman of the Agricultural Stabilizaton and Conservation committee. Wichterman was among the federal officials on our trip last week.

"These county reports will provide the information needed for determining which areas are eligible for federal aid. We hope to obtain emergency credit from the for the most seriously affected counties. We also are seeking emergency livestock feed to enable farmers to carry their foundation herds throught the winter," Gov. Rolvaag said.

"Although the crop damage which we saw last week is less dramatic than the floods and tornadoes, it nevertheless represents serious hardships for many of our citizens. Small town businessmen as well as the farmers suffer from the economic losses. We can only hope that federal aid and the cooperative efforts of our community, state and federal officials can succeed in keeping the hardship to a minimum.

"This year has certainly provided a frightening reminder, if one was needed, that mankind, despite our scientific progress, is still ats the mercy of the forces of nature which rule God's Earth."

1st Convocation Set Nov. 24 at Junior College

First convocation of the Thief River Falls junior college will be held Wednesday, November 24, at 11 a.m. in the Lincoln senior high school auditorium. Congressman Odin Langen will be the speaker and will answer questions asked by junior college students in attendance.

Dean Charles White of the junior college noted that convocations will be held whenever possible as national personalities are in the area. Congressman Langen's talk on the Washington political world is expected to be of particular interest to students enrolled in political science classes.

Dean White stated that classes will be dismissed for the convocation and that any interested persons may feel free to attend.

United Fund Is Making Progress To $17,795 Goal

Good progress is reported in the employee solicitation for the 1965 Pennington County United Fund, reports L. B. Hartz, chairman of the board of directors of the organization.

"The reason for this fine response," Hartz said, "lies in an obvious fairness in the approach to United Fund giving by employees. Instead of asking employees to give one day's pay as in most cities, it has been found that a much lower level of giving, with all employed persons participating, will satisfy needs for the United Fund. It is found that a gift of just two or three hours work a year is all that is needed, if every employed person will help. This means that a gift of from $5 to $10 for most employees will be sufficient. A few lower income categories will give a somewhat smaller sum."

"Employers are showing their usual fine cooperation, both in helping the solicitation with their employees and in making their gifts as employers." Hartz said. "Thief River Falls employers have always been generous toward the United Fund, which is largely the reason that employees gifts can be held to a very low average. Employers' gifts range from $25 to $250 each."

There will be no general residential drive this year, as all employed persons will be reached at the place where they work. For others, including rural Pennington county, a mail campaign will be launched a little later.

Employers and employees are urged to cooperate with the United Fund workers to minimize the work of conducting this year's United Fund appeal. The objective is $17,795, more than two-thirds of which is expended in Pennington county. Persons living in the county also participate in benefits from the remainder of the funds collected, as their families and friends receive the various helps provided by the Unitd Fund participants. None of the organizations helped have access to any tax revenues, and are dependent on free-will giving for their financial support.

Council Approves Bldg. Permits of $366,020

Twelve Nominated For Directorship On C of C Board

Twelve names were placed in nomination for directorship of the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce when the nominating committee reported to the board of directors Tuesday afternoon. Six of the nominees will be elected in mail balloting to be conducted later this month.

Nominated were K. E. Gigstad, Justus Larson, Roy Lee, Sid Lieberman, Robert Mattson, Rudy Mehloff, Jon Metusalem, Donovan Narverud, Kenneth Onken, Phil Prichard, Harold Rasmussen, and S. E. Sinding. Narverud, Metusalem and Sinding are currently serving their first two-year terms and are eligible for reelection.

Ballots will be mailed to Chamber of Commerce members later this month and the election will be completed by November 30, according to Richard Hamilton, executive secretary of the organization. Randall Noper, chairman of the nominating committee, presented the report and slate of candidates at the Tuesday board meeting.

The board also approved Chamber of Commerce sponsorship for the appearance of the First Minneapolis Console Piano Quartet which will present a concert in Thief River Falls on February 16. Arrangements for the concert were made by a subcommittee of the education committee headed by Justus Larson and including Dr. George Martin, Dr. J. W. Ewing and Dr. Roland K. Anderson with Bryant Ulseth as an ex-officio member.

The concert will be staged as a result of Chamber of Commerce efforts to provide cultural events for the community. A general meeting of interested persons in a cultural concert series has been planned for next Monday. Further announcement will be made in the Monday edition of the Times.

Name Area People to Mental Health Board

Mrs. Robert Race of Thief River Falls and Marc Parenteau of Brooks were reelected to the board of directors of the Minnesota Association for Mental Helth, Inc., at the annual meeting of the board held Friday in the Pick-Nicollet hotel in Minneapolis. All incumbent officers of the organization were reelected, as were all but six of the directors.

Weekend guests at the Ed Christensen home were the Rev. William Copham and Nancy of Crookston and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Wedul of International Falls.

DIRECTING student government at the new Thief River Falls junior college will be these members of the recently-elected student council. Council members were elected from a slate of 20 candidates by members of the student body and then organized by electing their own officers. Seated in the above photo are Mary Jo Walker, Oklee, vice president; and Dennis Kreibich, Crookston, council member. Standing left to right are David Gustafson, president; Neil Jenson, secretary; and John Swenson, treasurer. All are from Thief River Falls. It will be the duty of the council, which meets weekly, to form a constitution for the council, direct student extra-curricular activities such as social events, newspaper and yearbook, and serve as the student voice in discussing problems with the faculty and administration.

Thief River Falls city council approved seven building permits in the amount of $366,020 and was informed that the mammoth 1965 city street improvement program had been completed at its regular monthly meeting Tuesday night. The meeting was held before a large audience of ninth-grade social studies from Franklin junior high school and a small delegation of the Business and Professional Women's organization.

Building permits granted are as follows: Roger Anda, 600 block on State street, apartment house, $90,000; Home Lumber company, building addition, $2,500; Clarence Benston, 512 Markley av. S., domestic garage, $400; Redeemer Lutheran church, new church building, $250,000; Poppler's Furniture company, addition to warehouse at Pennington av. and Nora st., $2,500; Eldon Harbott, 1024 Main av. N., addition to dwelling and garage, $2,770; and Land O'Lakes, feed blending plant at Davis av. and Ninth st., $17,850.

Alderman Dr. A. E. Jacobson announced that the city's entire street improvement project for 1965 has been completed, except for some minor back-filling of curbs. Jacobson urged the councilmen to give thought to the 1966 street program, and suggested that First street and Atlantic avenue be included in the project.

The council also approved four progression raises to city employees. Harold Blazek, police patrolman, was granted a $10 monthly raise after having completed 12 months of service; Roy Peterson was granted his final monthly raise of $5 for 18 months service; Harlan Rude, power plant operator, was granted a six-month progression raise of 10 per month; and Catherine Simon, bookkeeper, was granted her final $10 monthly progression raise.

A notice of personal injury in a fall on a city street from Lela Johnson was read and filed. Also read was a letter of thanks from the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen for this city's share in the recent ICC hearings concerning the proposed withdrawal from service of two Soo Line trains. The letter gave special thanks to Alderman Robert Carlson.

First reading was held in an ordinance annexing to the city the area north of Sixth street, south to Eighth street west of State avenue and east of the Great Northern tracks. This area is the site of Roger Anda's apartment house, now under construction.

Guard Unit Here Undergoes Change

Members of the Thief River Falls National Guard citizen's committee were presented with information regarding current status of the local unit at a special meeting held Monday afternoon. Reviewing the existing situation was Capt. Richard Edlund, commanding officer of the local unit.

Capt. Edlund told committee members that the inclusion of Company B in the 'super ready' forces would mean a number of changes for the company. Among these will be increased drills, cancelation of the Alaska exercise in which the unit was to participate this winter, return to summer camp this summer, need for additional area for training exercises and increased cooperation by the public.

A special meeting for the National Guard members, their families and employers has been scheduled for Sunday, November 28, at which time the situation will be explained in full and questions answered. Any interested persons are encouraged to attend this meeting.

Capt. Edlund told the citizen's committee that the intensified training program is being conducted in lieu of mobilization of the unit. Company B will be supplemented by a platoon from the National Guard unit at Crookston which will train with the Thief River Falls company. The unit has been instructed to make preparations to leave if needed because of the international situation with seven days notice.

The commander also explained the procedure used in filling vacancies which occur in the local unit. Applicants for membership are placed on a list in order of their request for joining the unit. Replacements are made from this list in the order in which they appear, regardless of their location in the Thief River Falls geographic area. Although the unit is located in Thief River Falls, no preference will be given to Thief River Falls residents, Capt. Edlund said.

Winter Quarter Applications at College Accepted

Applications for the winter quarter at the Thief River Falls junior college are now being received, according to Dean Charles White. Application forms may be received from the college office or from high school principals or counselors in the area.

The winter quarter will begin January 3, 1966. Registration will take place from December 17—the close of the fall quarter following final tests—until classes re-open for the winter term in January. Further information is available from the junior college office, phone 681-2181.

Land O'Lakes To Expand Its Bulk Fertilizer Plant

"Land O'Lakes Creameries, Inc., is expanding its bulk fertilizer facilities at Thief River Falls, so that not only the farmers in the Thief River Falls active trade area but also Land O'Lakes patrons in the entire Red River Valley area may be served on bulk fertilizers and bagged fertilizers from this expanded operation," states Harry Peterson, manager of the local plant.

"Our basic policy and objective is to serve the farmer and the local cooperative in such a way that we may be of real economic service to them," Peterson said.

"Land O'Lakes will encourage ther local cooperatives in the Red River Valley area to make available a complete service on fertilizers and agricultural chemicals to their farmers. The farmers today wants a dependable source of supply of agricultural products; he wants these products at sensible prices; and he also wants convience and courteous attention as a customer in procuring these products.

"The farmer has also expressed his views indicating that he wants full knowledge of what he pays for. He also wants field service that preserves his independence. Certainly all local cooperatives can meet these demands requirements very easily by a continuous formal, long-range program.

"The expansion program at Thief River Falls should be completed shortly after January 1, 1966," Peterson concluded.

APPLYING a special varnish to his second violin is James Solsten, orchestra director and instrumental music instructor in the Thief River Falls public schools. Solsten became interested in making violins about eight years ago and has done a great deal of research on the subject. Violins require special woods, special shaping and special finishes to produce high quality sound and are greatly affected by humidity. Solsten now pursues his hobby in the basement of the new Larson Music company store where he also does repair work on string instruments. (Story on page 6.)

Lafrenz-Nelson Marriage Vows Spoken At Trinity

Trinity Lutheran church of this city was the scene of a candlelight wedding ceremony when Miss Kathyrn Irene Lafrenz became the bride of Richard W. Nelson on Saturday, November 6, at 8 p. m. The Rev. Reuben A. Wangberg officiated at the double ring ceremony in the presence of approximately 200 guests.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lafrenz of this city and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Seymore Nelson of rural Thief River Falls.

Bouquets of white gladioli with emerald and lemon leaves graced the candlelit altar which together with the lighted candelabra in the chancel, formed the background for the ceremony. Pews along the aisle were marked by lighted tapers and white bows.

Mrs. A. L. Hamilton, a piano teacher of the bride, played an organ program of nuptial music as the guests were ushered to their seats. Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. Bryant Ulseth sang "Song of Ruth". She also sang "O Perfect Love" as the bridal couple met at the altar and "The Lord's Prayer" as they knelt at the altar. "Trumpet Voluntary" by Purcell was played by the organist as the processional and "Now Thank We All Our God" by Karg-Elert as the recessional.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of chantilly lace fashioned with a scoop neckline trimed with a border enhanced with irridescent sequins. The gown featured long, pointed Mary Stuart sleeves and a sheath front skirt with bouffant back and detachable train. Her headpiece, attached to a nylon illusion bouffant veil, was a petal half-hat with a pearlized seed pearl centering the star on each petal. She carried a cascade designed bouquet of white roses, frenched white carnations and lemon leaves. She also carried out the tradition of something old, new, borrowed and blue and for sentiment shore her maternal grandmother's golden wedding bland. Her only jewelry was a rhinestone pendant, a gift from the groom.

Miss Ruth Lafrenz attended her sister as maid of honor, and the Misses Linda Disse of this city, and Linda Blackorby of Warroad were bridesmaids. All wore identical floor-length Empire gowns, featuring chantilly lace bodices with long sleeves, and satepeau sheath skirts with self trim and a bow at the waist back. They wore matching shortveiled headpieces of aqua net centered by a large aqua net rose, and aqua satin shoes. The attendants carried colonial-style bouquets of aqua-tinted carnations centered by white feathered carnations and net. They all wore pearl necklaces, gifts from the bride.

The groom chose his brother, Vernon Nelson, as best Man. The groomsmen were Larry Joppru a friend and his brother, Glenn Nelson. Ushers were Jerry Forsberg and Wayne Pracek, friends of the groom. The men of the wedding party wore black tuxedos and white carnation boutonnieres.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Lafrenz chose a two-piece turquoise brocade dress with matching hat of turquoise orses and nay blue accessoreis. Her corsage was of tropicana roses with white feathered carnations. The mother of the groom was attired in a dark green dress with black accessories. She wore a corsage of pink sweetheart roses with white feathered carnations.

Following the ceremony, a reception was given in the church parlors for the bride and groom by the bride's parents, with Mrs. Stanton Dahlen as hostess. Mrs. Dahlen wore a corsage of tropicana roses and feathered carnations.

The service table was decorated ina aqua blue and white net featuring aqua net roses secured in large white bows. Aqua ruching draped the front of the white net skirt. Centering the table was a fivetired square wedding cake, decorated in aqua and white, and topped with three wedding bells, backed by a heart and white net. Encircling the cake was a wreath of smilax.

Cutting and serving the cake were Miss Magdalen Lafrenz, Hankinson, N. D., aunt and godmother of the bride, and Mrs. Harold Smsatad of Vergas, friend of the bride. Misses Linda Wik and Judy Wanderweg of St. Hilaire, friends of the bride, poured, while Beverly Nelson, sister of the groom presided at the guest book.

Miriam Circle of Trinity church served the reception with the following members assisting: Misses Helen Horgen, Betsy Legvold, Olga Bloomsness, Gladys Johnson, and Mesdames Alvin Christofferson, Orville Helgren and Millard Peterson. Gifts were opened and displayed by Mrs. Melvin Ernest, a friend of the bride, assisted by Mary Wood, Janet Myhrer, and Janice Kauppila as gift bearers. Those assisting with the reception wore corsages of aqua-tinted carnations. Waitresses were friends of the bride, Mrs. Del Johnston of Grand Forks, N. D., Janice Flattum, Sherry Mostue, and Lorna Inman. They wore white nylon and lace aprons, gifts from the bride.

The bride and groom are both recent graduates of Lincoln high school Since graduation, the groom has been employed by the Thief River Co-op Creamery. Mr. and Mrs. Nelson are at home at 503½ E. 1st Street, Thief River Falls.

Ronald Kvikstad returned to his studies at the University of Minnesota after spending the weekend here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Kvikstad, and doing some deer hunting.

Mrs. G. Biddick Honored By The Tuesday Club

At a meeting of the Tuesday club held recently at the home of Mrs. Claude Davidson, president Dorothy Buck reported a complete sell-out of the stationery, a project sponsored annually by the club. Proceeds will be used for some local project.

Plans for sponsoring the Christmas mitten tree again this year were discussed with the time and location of the tree to be announced at a later date. Anyone interested is invited to donate mittens which will be distributed to the needy children at the Indian Reservation.

Members voted to have the club secretary write letters to the United States Senators and Postmaster General urging the consideration of a commemorative stamp in honor of the General Federation of Women's club Diamond jubilee celebration to be held in June 1966.

Members honored Mrs. Gorge L. Biddick by selecting her name to be submitted to the state office honor roll. This honor given Mrs. Biddick for having been a continuous member of the club for the longest period of time, and in observance of the Diamond Jubilee.

Members spent the evening working on various Christmas projects.

The next meeting of the Tuesday club will be held at the home of Mrs. Fred Mittelstadt.

Memorial Given To Heart Fund

Heart Fund memorials in the name of the late Olaf Larson of Thief River Falls were recently received by the Minnesota Heart association, according to David Drotts, Thief River Falls, Pennington county memorial chairman. Full amount of these gifts will be used for heart research Drotts said.

During the pat year, more Americans died from heart disease (approximately 1,000,000) than the total number killed in all the wars in our country's history (602,339). In Pennington county, for example, there were 146 deaths last year, and of this number, 82 were from heart disease.

Farm-City Week To Show Results Of Cooperation

Observance of National Farm-City Week November 19-25 in Minnesota will have increased significance this year as a result of the cooperation between sportsmen's clubs, the Future Farmers of America, the department of conservation and the U. S. Fish and Wildlife service.

The conservation department pointed out today that through the joint efforts of the four groups nearly 10,000 mallard ducks and 12,000 pheasants were raised and released into the wild during the past year.

Over 110 sportsmen's club, civic, fraternal and business organization have worked with farm youngsters and their parents on these programs, according to W. J. Kortesmaki, state executive secretary of the FFA.

Members of civic and sportsmen's club provided funds to purchase the ducklings and often the feed necessary to sustain them until the day of their release. Mallard ducklings were purchased from private game farms which cooperated with the conservation department and the Fish and Wildlife service in raising top quality birds. Pheasant chicks were obtained from the conservation department game and fish division. Over 50 local business firms handling feed and seed cooperated with local FFA chapters by providing all or part of the feed for the birds. Kortesmake suggested that FFA chapters have joint meetings this fall with sponsors of their local ducklings programs.

Purpose of Farm-City Week is to point up the important contributions that the farmer makes to the welfare of urban people and the city worker to the welfare of the people living on farms.

Luther League To Hold Convention In Fergus Falls

Council Approves Building Permits At Meet Tuesday

Also given its first reading was an amendment to Section 21.101 of the Municipal Code (liquor section) to make it conform with a statute which permits bona fide private clubs to-be-licensed to dispense liquor in this city.

City Attorney Robert Wurst said he received a letter from the Minnesota Department of Aeronautics announcing a LASAC meeting to be held in Minneapolis November 24. The council authorized City Clerk William Fahey to attend the meeting on behalf of the city.

City Engineer D. H. Stewart presented a proposed resolution authorizing the mayor and city clerk to sign necessary documents to enter into an agreement with the state in which the state would pay half of the $550 cost of marking the center strip on the runway at the municipal airport. The center strip was repainted following the recent resurfacing of the runway. The resolution was offered and approved.

Stewart was directed by the council to draw up assessment rolls for street projects in the city starting with the 1965 street program.

Police Chief Elton Cummings made two requests concerning wintertime safety in city parks, particularly Riverside park, where the road was recently blacktopped. He advised that speed limits on park streets be lowered and that the park streets be closed to traffic during the winter months to provide safety to children who use the parks for sliding. No action was taken on the proposals.

Alderman Carlson reported that individuals and businesses whose property borders on the Chief's coulee have organized a coulee cleaning project. The Harry Dahl construction company was hired for excavation and culvert installation, Carlson said.

Six bills from companies involved in street construction were presented, and it was moved to pay them. They included Three Way Construction, $6,068.21; Kasson Sewer & Water, $10,776; Black Top Surfacing, $63,580.63; C. L. Stodolka company, seal coating, $9,801.68; Elk River Concrete Products, materials, $786.07; and Construction Bulletin, Duluth advertisement, $14.20.

Bills for airport construction were submitted by Red Lake Electric, meter deposit, $5; Komatz Construction, $52,920.28; and Edling Electric, $6,552.79. Bills for construction of the new vocational school shop building addition were submitted by Construction Bulletin, shop advertisement, $13.20 Bulletin, shop advertisement, $13.20 and Prichard Bros. Construction, $5,570.88.

General fund bills were submitted by Construction Bulletin, library advertisement, $30.80; and General Safety Equipment, fire truck body, $8,839. It was moved to pay the bills.

Final item of business was a plumbing permit issued to William Moser of Red Lake Falls.

Turkey Growers To Vote Soon on Promotion Order

Russel G. Schwandt, Minnesota Commissioner of agriculture, signed Minnesota's first turkey promotional order Tuesday and directed that a referendum be held on the order among Minnesota's turkey growers.

The promotional order, drafted by an advisory committee of turkey growers under a law passed by the 1965 Legislature, would provide for a comprehensive program of turkey research and market development through advertising, development and promotion of new markets, participation in national turkey promotion campaigns, research on new turkey raising methods and similar programs.

The cost of the research and promotional programs would be borne by turkey producers and growers. "This program is a major step forward for Minnesota's world famous turkey industry", Schwandt said.

Schwandt noted that the order will go into effect upon approval by a referendum vote of Minnesota turkey growers, to be held in early December. Sixty-five per cent of the turkey growers voting in the referendum must approve the order, and also, the "yes" voter must represent at least 51 per cent of the state's turkey production for last year.

Ballots for the referendum will be mailed to all Minnesota turkey growers known to the department of agriculture on December 3. Ballots will also be available from county extension agents, members of the Minnesota Turkey Research and Market Development Advisory board, and from the Minnesota Department of Agriculture.

Every person who produced and marketed 200 or more turkeys for human consumption during the marketing year which ended Feb. 28, 1965, is eligible to vote. Ballots must be marked and returned to Schwandt's office on or before December 13.

Schwandt urged that every Minnesota turkey grower obtain a ballot and make his views known in the referendum.

ARC Camp Completed First Year Operation

The new 75-acre Minnesota Association for Retarded Children camp located on Clearwater Lake near Annandale completed its first year of operation this past summer with 514 mentally retarded children and adults in attendance, including three from Pennington county.

"An organized program for recreation," says Minnesota ARC President Raymond W. Doyle Rochester, "is probably more necessary for retarded persons than for individuals without a mental handicap. Most people are capable of planning their own recreation, but the retarded person, in addition to having difficulty learning to read and write, often does not know how to play or to make use of leisure time."

"For this reason," Doyle declared, "The camp is a valuable new resource of training and experience for the retarded in Minnesota and one that complements other education and training programs."

Intensive individual guidance is given to campers to help them learn while having a good time. The high staff ratio—one counselor to every three or four campers—makes this kind of guidance possible.

Recreational activities are many and varied, including swimming, boating, fishing, volleyball, softball, arts and crafts, hiking, nature study and campfire powwows.

Campers stay for one or two weeks, living in cabins in groups of six to 10 with two adult counselors. Along with recreation, there is opportunity to gain considerable experience and improved skill in socializing and getting along with others, Doyle noted. Campers are also encouraged to become more independent in the tasks of daily living. Director of the camp is Ralph J. Larson, a University of Minnesota graduate with a master's degree in recreation administration.

Cost of attending the camp is paid by parents of the campers. Camperships donated by individuals and organizations are available for those who need financial assistance. Remainder of the camp's income for operation comes from ARC Friendship Campaign funds. All retarded persons who can benefit from an active outdoor program are eligible to attend the camp, whether or not they have parents who are ARC members.

Two-Car Mishap Causes Damage South of City

Pennington county sheriff's department reports a two-car accident which happened Friday about 9 p.m. at the intersection of county highway 17 (Airport road) and county road 7 about three miles south of Thief River Falls.

A car driven south by Stanley Wayne Olson, rt. 4, TRF, was traveling south on county highway 17 and attempting a left turn on to county road 7. A second car, driven south by Thomas A. Olson, Grand Forks, was attempting to pass as the first car began its turn.

Damage was estimated at $300 to the Stanley Olson car and $500 to the Thomas Olson car, according to the sheriff's department which investigated the accident. There were no injuries and the accident is under investigation.

Schools Can Not Guarantee Jobs In Civil Service

A. H. Sonntag, director of the St. Louis Civil Service region, reports an increase in complaints from persons being asked to sign contracts for training to pass civil service tests.

Despite efforts to warn people about so-called "civil service schools," people continue to sign contracts for correspondence courses costing up to $200 or more. Frequently the schools make exaggerated claims about getting government jobs for persons who take the course.

Sonntag pointed out that these schools are not operated by the government. They have no endorsement from any federal agency, including the civil service commission, and their courses are not necessary for getting a government job. Sonntag stated no school can guarantee federal employment.

He strongly recommends that people get the facts about federal employment from the civil service commission. The nearest post office can usually tell where civil service information can be obtained or persons can contact the Civil Service Regional Office, 1520 Market Street, St. Louis, Missouri 63103.

IN THE VIKING HUDDLE

By Coach Norm Van Brocklin

From a playing and coaching viewpoint, we have to take each game one at a time, and I suppose you may get tired of hearing it.

But fans don't look at it that way, so I'm sure Metropolitan stadium will really be hopping this Sunday for our game with the Packers. Ever since we started back in 1961, this is the one that sells out far in advance—I think it was June this year.

Sometimes you hear people ask if the pros have as much spirit as college football players. As one who played both, I can tell you that they do. In fact, if you took a poll of the players in the league, and asked their opinions, I'm sure that a strong majority would agree.

It's a quiet, but strong, spirit. There is a lot at stake for a pro football player, and I don't mean just in terms of money. As I've said many times this is a tough way to make an easy buck. In other words, for the pro football player, there is good money, great opportunity and a solid future—but not many would be willing to make the sacrifices necessary to become a great pro, even if they had the talent.

Pride plays a big part in a team's spirit, and thus its success. Earlier in the season, when we were getting beat on defense, I was sure that our defensive team had enough pride to bounce back, and they did. In recent games, as you know, they've done an outstanding job. Their pride, both individually and collectively, was stung.

We've prided ourselves on having this kind of football team. In my book, it's the only kind that you can win with.

In Green Bay, we meet a team that was Western conference champions three years in a row, and NFL champs in two of those three seasons. To stay on top that way, they had to have great pride and spirit. Even though they haven't been in the driver's seat for the last two years, you notice they're still regarded as the team to beat by other coaches—because of their talent, and because of their pride.

They don't beat themselves—you have to beat them.

This is our job Sunday. We have to go after them the same way they'll be coming after us, and I'll be surprised if it isn't the darnedest head-knocker at the Met that we've had yet.

I'm sure that for every one of you who is lucky enough to have a ticket, there are dozens who don't, because the 47,426 seats long since have been sold.

But those who won't get to see Sunday's game have to wait only two weeks, because we go to Green Bay on December 5 for the rematch, and that one is on television.

Also given its first reading was an amendment to Section 21.101 of the Municipal Code (liquor section) to make it conform with a statute which permits bona fide private clubs to be licensed to dispense liquor in this city.

City Attorney Robert Wurst said he received a letter from the Minnesota Department of Aeronautics announcing a LASAC meeting to be held in Minneapolis November 24. The council authorized City Clerk William Fahey to attend the meeting on behalf of the city.

City Engineer D. H. Stewart presented a proposed resolution authorizing the mayor and city clerk to sign necessary documents to enter into an agreement with the state in which the state would pay half of the $550 cost of marking the center strip on the runway at the municipal airport. The center strip was repainted following the recent resurfacing of the runway. The resolution was offered and approved.

Stewart was directed by the council to draw up assessment rolls for street projects in the city starting with the 1965 street program.

Police Chief Elton Cummings made two requests concerning wintertime safety in city parks, particularly Riverside park, where the road was recently blacktopped. He advised that speed limits on park streets be lowered and that the park streets be closed to traffic during the winter months to provide safety to children who use the parks for sliding. No action was taken on the proposals.

Alderman Carlson reported that individuals and businesses whose property borders on the Chief's coulee have organized a coulee cleaning project. The Harry Dahl construction company was hired for excavation and culvert installation, Carlson said.

Six bills from companies involved in street construction were presented, and it was moved to pay them. They included Three Way Construction, $8,068.21; Kasson Sewer & Water, $10,776; Black Top Surfacing, $63,580.63; C. L. Stodolka company, seal coating, $9,801.68; Elk River Concrete Products, materials, $785.07; and Construction Bulletin, Duluth advertisement, $14.20.

Bills for airport construction were submitted by Red Lake Electric, meter deposit, $5; Komatz Construction $52,920.28; and Edling Electric, $6,552.79. Bills for construction of the new vocational school shop building addition were submitted by Construction Bulletin, shop advertisement, $13.20 Bulletin, shop advertisement, $13.20 and Prichard Bros. Construction, $5,570.88.

General fund bills were submitted by Construction Bulletin, library advertisement, $30.80; and General Safety Equipment, fire truck body, $8,839. It was moved to pay the bills.

Final item of business was a plumbing permit issued to William Moser of Red Lake Falls.

Turkey Growers To Vote Soon on Promotion Order

Russel G. Schwandt, Minnesota Commissioner of agriculture, signed Minnesota's first turkey promotional order Tuesday and directed that a referendum be held on the order among Minnesota's turkey growers.

The promotional order, drafted by an advisory committee of turkey growers under a law passed by the 1965 Legislature would provide for a comprehensive program of turkey research and market development through advertising, development and promotion of new markets, participation in national turkey promotion campaigns, research on new turkey raising methods and similar programs.

The cost of the research and promotional programs would be borne by turkey producers and growers. "This program is a major step forward for Minnesota's world famous turkey industry", Schwandt said.

Schwandt noted that the order will go into effect upon approval by a referendum vote of Minnesota turkey growers, to be held in eraly December. Sixty-five per cent of the turkey growers voting in the referendum must approve the order, and also, the "yes" voter must represent at least 51 per cent of the state's turkey production for last year.

Ballots for the referendum will be mailed to all Minnesota turkey growers known to the department of agriculture on December 3. Ballots will also be available from county extension agents, members of the Minnesota Turkey Research and Market Development Advisory board, and from the Minnesota Department of Agriculture.

Every person who produced and marketed 200 or more turkeys for human consumption during the marketing year which ended Feb. 28, 1965, is eligible to vote. Ballots must be marked and returned to Schwandt's office on or before December 13.

Schwandt urged that every Minnesota turkey grower obtain a ballot and make his views known in the referendum.

ARC Camp Completed First Year Operation

The new 75-acre Minnesota Association for Retarded Children camp located on Clearwater Lake near Annandale completed its first year of operation this past summer with 514 mentally retarded children and adults in attendance, including three from Pennington county.

"An organized program for recreation," says Minnesota ARC President Raymond W. Doyle Rochester, "is probably more necessary for retarded persons than for individuals without a mental handicap. Most people are capable of planning their own recreation, but the retarded person, in addition to having difficulty learning, to read and write, often does not know how to play or to make use of leisure time."

"For this reason," Doyle declared, "The camp is a valuable new resource of training and experience for the retarded in Minnesota and one that complements other education and training programs."

Intensive individual guidance is given to campers to help them learn while having a good time. The high staff ratio—one counselor to every three or four campers—makes this kind of guidance possible.

Recreational activities are many and varied, including swimming, boating, fishing, volleyball, softarts and crafts, hiking, nature study and campfire powwows.

Campers stay for one or two weeks, living in cabins in groups of six to 10 with two adult counselors. Along with recreation, there is opportunity to gain considerable experience and improved skill in socializing and getting along with others, Doyle noted. Campers are also encouraged to become more independent in the tasks of daily living. Director of the camp is Ralph J. Larson, a University of Minnesota graduate with a master's degree in recreation administration.

Cost of attending the camp is paid by parents of the campers. Camperships donated by individuals and organizations are available for those who need financial assistance. Remainder of the camp's income for operation comes from ARC Friendship Campaign funds. All retarded persons who can benefit from an active outdoor program are eligible to attend the camp, whether or not they have parents who are ARC members.

Two-Car Mishap Causes Damage South of City

Pennington county sheriff's department reports a two-car accident which happened Friday about 9 p.m. at the intersection of county highway 17 (Airport road) and county road 7 about three miles south of Thief River Falls.

A car driven south by Stanley Wayne Olson, rt. 4, TRF, was traveling south on county highway 17 and attempting a left turn on to county road 7. A second car, driven south by Thomas A. Olson, Grand Forks, was attempting to pass as the first car began its turn.

Damage was estimated at $300 to the Stanley Olson car and $500 to the Thomas Olson car, according to the sheriff's department which investigated the accident. There were no injuries and the accident is under investigation.

Schools Can Not Guarantee Jobs In Civil Service

A. H. Sonmag, director of the St. Louis Civil Service region, reports an increase in complaints from persons being asked to sign contracts for training to pass civil service tests.

Despite efforts to warn people about so-called "civil service schools," people continue to sign contracts for correspondence courses costing up to $200 or more. Frequently the schools make exaggerated claims about getting government jobs for persons who take the course.

Sonntag pointed out that these schools are not operated by the government. They have no endorsement from any federal agency, including the civil service commission, and their courses are not necessary for getting a government job. Sonntag stated no school can guarantee federal employment.

He strongly recommends that people get the facts about federal employment from the civil service commission. The nearest post office can usually tell where civil service information can be obtained or persons can contact the Civil Service Regional Office, 1520 Market Street, St. Louis, Missouri 63103.

Newfolden Nordic Cage Team Called

IN THE VIKING HUDDLE

By Coach Norm Van Brocklin

From a playing and coaching viewpoint, we have to take each game one at a time, and I suppose you may get tired of hearing it.

But fans don't look at it that way, so I'm sure Metropolitan stadium will really be hopping this Sunday for our game with the Packers. Ever since we started back in 1961, this is the one that sells out far in advance—I think it was June this year.

Sometimes you hear people ask if the pros have as much spirit as college football players. As one who played both, I can tell you that they do. In fact, if you took a poll of the players in the league, and asked their opinions, I'm sure that a strong majority would agree.

It's a quiet, but strong, spirit. There is a lot at stake for a pro football player, and I don't mean just in terms of money. As I've said many times this is a tough way to make an easy buck. In other words, for the pro football player, there is good money, great opportunity and a solid future—but not many would be willing to make the sacrifices necessary to become a great pro, even if they had the talent.

Pride plays a big part in a team's spirit, and thus its success. Earlier in the season, when we were getting beat on defense, I was sure that our defensive team had enough pride to bounce back, and they did. In recent games, as you know, they've done an outstanding job. Their pride, both individually and collectively, was stung.

We've prided ourselves on having this kind of football team. In my book, it's the only kind that you can win with.

In Green Bay, we meet a team that was Western conference champions three years in a row, and NFL champs in two of those three seasons. To stay on top that way, they had to have great pride and spirit. Even though they haven't been in the driver's seat for the last two years, you notice they're still regarded as the team to beat by other coaches—because of their talent, and because of their pride.

They don't beat themselves—you have to beat them.

This is our job Sunday. We have to go after them the same way they'll be coming after us, and I'll be surprised if it isn't the darnedest head-knocker at the Met that we've had yet.

I'm sure that for every one of you who is lucky enough to have a ticket, there are dozens who don't, because the 47,426 seats long since have been sold.

But those who won't get to see Sunday's game have to wait only two weeks because we go to Green Bay on December 5 for the rematch, and that one is on television.

Orchestra Director Has Hobby of Making Violins

by Marvin Lundin
Times Editor

When James Solsten isn't fiddling with fiddlers he fiddles with fiddles. As director of the orchestras at elementary, junior and senior high schools in Thief River Falls he works with about 90 students during the day—about two-thirds of them aspiring violinists. For evening diversion, he turns to the fine art of violin making—a wood-working challenge which would try the patience of the sphinx.

While many of the people of this community—particularly the parents of his students—are familiar with Solsten's artistry as a director, many are not aware that he is also an artisan in violin construction. The final shape of the violin in the musical world was established 400 years ago. Solsten has the experience gained by violin makers during that time to draw upon—except for the jealously-guarded secrets of famous makers which may never be disclosed.

Solsten's first violin was three years in the making as he did the work in bits of spare time when the mood moved him. He learned as he worked and as he studied about the many aspects of making violins. The pattern was of the famed Stradivarius violins—about 500 of which were produced by the famous Italian craftsman and now sell for fabulous sums of money.

His second violin, now going into the finishing stages, is also a Stradivarius model. The next instrument he plans to make will be a Guiranarius model, patterened after the violins made by a second famous maker. While the basic shape of the violin is somewhat standard, the fine points are what make violin making a real challange. Not until the instrument is finished does the maker know whether it is good or bad, for the only measure of quality is the sound which the violin will produce.

Started in 1957

Solsten started repairing string instruments in 1957. While studying violin in Fargo, he used to visit Gunnar Helland, a violin maker in that community who had gained area recognition. Yielding to the temptation of make his own violin, Solsten began the project in 1957 and finished his first instrument in 1960. This violin has often been used by his students when their own instruments are being repaired.

Repairing of instruments was started by Solsten as a service to his students. He felt that sending instruments away for repair took too long and was too costly. In a small shop located in the basement of the new Larson Music company store, he now repairs instruments and satisfies his obsession to make violins.

Many Factors Contribute

One need only visit with Solsten for a few minutes to find out that there is much more to a violin than meets the uneducated eye. Such things as the variety of wood, position of the bridge, position of the sound post, thickness of the wood, types of finish, length of string and many other items all contribute to the final result—how the violin sounds when a bow is drawn across its strings.

There are more than 80 parts to a violin. Modern day violin makers usually confine their efforts to making only the back, top, neck and ribs, preferring to purchase the other components and fit them to the instrument.

Violin backs made in the United States are made of maple—the only wood with the proper cell structure to produce the proper sound. European makers are said to use sycamore, Solsten said, but he believes the two woods to be very closely related. The top is made of spruce, the neck is made of maple and the ribs (sides) are also made of maple.

Carved, Not Warped

The casual observer would say that the top and back of a violin appear to be warped. Actually, they are carved to the final shape from a straight block of wood. Starting with a maple block about five-eighths inch thick, Solsten traces the back pattern and cuts it out with a coping saw. He then begins the painstaking task of shaping the outside and hollowing the inside with chisels, planes and gouges. The finished back will taper from about 7-64 inch thick in the center to one-eighth inch at the edge and must be uniform in degree of taper from the center to the edge in both direction.

For this exacting work, he uses a calipers to measure the thickness of the wood. The top is slightly thicker than the back but the same degree of care must be used in its shaping. Solsten prefers to use a knife to cut the "F" holes—the modified scroll-shaped apertures on the top of the violin which permit sound resonance. A saw would leave too much chance for damage on the thin and delicate wood.

The "F" holes are slightly notched on the edges to locate the position of the bridge—a flat piece of wood, placed on edge and curved at the top to form the bend in the violin strings. Position of the bridge is important—in fact, critical. String length must be from 12 and seven-eighths to 13 inches from the fingerboard nut to the bridge. This is a standardization in violin making so that a violinist can play any individual instrument. There are no "frets" on a violin like there are on a guitar—touch must be developed with experience, and longer strings would destroy this touch.

Shaping the Ribs

Ribs or sides of the violin are also made of maple and are about one-twentieth inch thick. They are shaped by wetting and bending around a heated iron and retain their shape when dry. Wetting the wood not only makes the fibers flexible but prevents the wood from burning when in contact with the hot iron. The rib sections are cut with excess length and trimmed to fit as the violin is assembled.

Top and back of the violin are grooved on the outside surface about one-eighth inch from the edge around the entire outline to accept an inlay of "purfling". This is maple plywood one-sixteenth inch thick which adds strength to the instrument as well as being decorative.

Final assembly is made with the use of glue. Back, top and ribs are joined with the use of four corner blocks and two end blocks of spruce which are glued inside the violin. The neck end block is mortised to receive the neck of the violin which is also glued in place.

Final finishing is accomplished with special stain and special varnish made especially for that purpose. Each violin has four to seven coats of varnish with each previous coat hand-rubbed with pumice and oil. After the finishing work is completed, the fingerboard, bridge, sound post, tail piece, pegs, strings and other necessary parts are attached.

Then the maker can tighten his bow and find out how the instrument sounds.

Right now Solsten is looking for a maple tree of sufficient size that he can cut down and allow to "air dry" so that he can make a violin back, ribs and neck from the natural product of known origin. He calculates it will take from four to seven years for the wood to cure, but he's in no hurry.

When a man makes violins, patience is his greatest virtue.

Pursuant to receipt of Certificate of Performance from County Engineer Seidel the Contract with Mervin Prestebak, Project CSAH 5-65 in the total amount of $11,175.00 was accepted as complete and final payment in the amount of $2,093.63 ordered paid. Motion Hanson seconded by Anderson and declared carried.

Pursuant to letter requesting additional time to complete contract, it was moved by Hanson seconded by Tasa that McLaughlin & Schulz, Inc. be granted additional time to complete their Contract SAP 57-627-05 because of the inclement weather and pursuant to Certificate of Performance from Engineer Seidel said Contract SAP 57-627-05 be accepted as complete and recommendation made to the Department of Highways, State of Minnesota, that final acceptance be made and payment completed. Motion carried.

Moved by Tasa seconded by Anderson that expansion of the gravel contract with Mahnomen Constr. Co. to $22,313.74 be approved because of emergency problems arising from September rains and the inclement weather in October which required gravel where the need did not exist in June when the Contract was entered into. Motion carried.

Moved by Olson seconded by Hanson that Engineer Seidel be authorized to attend the Association of Minnesota Counties Convention in December, the Land Surveyor's Conference, The Engineer's Institute and the Highway Engineers Conference and to recover his expenses upon presentation of properly executed claims. Motion carried.

Pursuant to filing of the Viewers report in the process of construction of County Ditch No. 77, the Final Hearing was set to be heard at 3:00 p.m., December 14, 1965 upon motion by Olson seconded by Hanson and declared carried.

Moved by Hanson seconded by Olson that pursuant to receipt of Certificate of Performance from Engineer Seidel, the Contract for graveling with the Mahnomen Construction Co. be accepted as complete in the amount of $22,313.74 and final payment in the amount of $13,046.94 be paid. Motion carried.

Mr. H. O. Berve who had represented Pennington County earlier in the year as Pennington County's Senior Citizen appeared and displayed a book he had received from the State Committee in recognition of his participation. Chairman Lindberg then presented Mr. Berve a Certificate of recognition from Governor Rolvaag.

At 1:30 p.m. the Board proceeded to open bids for Bridge materials as duly advertised and called for, with the following bids being opened and read aloud: For Piling and Lumber:

The Board then interviewed F. Robert Edman of the Consulting Services Corporation of St. Paul and discussed County Planning. Mr. Edman then agreed to submit a proposal to develop a feasibility or work program for the County to assist in determining whether a planning program should be undertaken. The matter was taken under advisement.

The Auditor presented the estimated figure of $2,829.56 as submitted by the School Administrator as the amount needed for School Transportation and the Auditor upon motion by Olson seconded by Hanson was instructed to spread said amount on the tax records payable in 1966 against the school district values that do not have a high school, as determined by the new version of School Transportation Tax set forth by the 1965 Legislature. Motion carried.

The Auditor presented the estimated figure of $46,069.64 as submitted by the County School Administrator as the amount needed for the County School Tax Fund for the year 1965 payable in 1966 and to be spread on the tax records against property in school districts that do not have a high school. The Board approved the proposed levy upon motion by Anderson seconded by Tasa, and declared carried.

Commissioner Olson introduced the following resolution and moved its adoption:

WHEREAS, The Counties of Pennington and Marshall have agreed to continue the operation of the Oakland Park Nursing Home pursuant to the 1965 Session Laws of the State of Minnesota, and

WHEREAS, The Counties of Pennington and Marshall have agreed to purchase the proprietary interest of the Counties of Red Lake and Roseau and the County Boards of Red Lake, Roseau, Marshall and Pennington have filed resolutions required by Law.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That the Board of the Oakland Park Nursing Home as constituted by the Counties of Red Lake, Roseau, Marshall and Pennington be and it is hereby, in all respects dissolved, and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That the Welfare Board of Pennington County is hereby designated (along with the Welfare Board of Marshall County) as the County Nursing Home Board of the new entity to be operated by the Counties of Pennington and Marshall, and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That there is hereby appropriated and the County Auditor is instructed to pay the County of Red Lake, the sum of $1,000.00 as a part payment upon the agreed amount of $1,699.26 due the County of Red Lake for their proprietary interest, and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That there is hereby appropriated and the County Auditor is instructed to pay to the County of Roseau, the sum of $1,000.00, as a part payment upon the agreed amount of $4,346.82 due the County of Roseau for their proprietary interest, and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That the balance of $699.26 be paid to the County of Red Lake and the balance of $3,346.82 be paid to the County of Roseau by December 15, 1965.

The foregoing resolution was duly seconded by Commissioner Tasa and declared carried.

Loving Memories

Loving memories of Carl Christianson who passed away a year ago.

Your gentle face and patient smile
With sadness we recall
You had a kindly word for each
And died beloved by all.
The voice is mute and stilled the heart,
That loved us well and true,
Ah, bitter was the trial to part
From one so good as you.
You are not forgotten loved one
Nor will you ever be,
As long as life and memory last
We will remember thee.
We miss you now, our hearts are sore,
As time goes by we miss you more,
Your loving smile, your gentle face

Mrs. Carl Christianson. 1t92c

Card of Thanks

Our heartfelt thanks are extended to our friends and neighbors for their many kindnesses shown us in our recent loss of our husband, father and grandfather. To Rev. Merrill Harris for his words of comfort, Mrs. Ilse for her songs, Green funeral home, those who sent floral offerings and memorials, the pallbearers and the Ladies aux. to R. R. Trainmen for serving lunch. The family of Richard O. Battleson 1t92p

Prowlers Cagers Will Open Season Saturday

The 1965-66 Prowler basketball squad will open its season on Saturday evening, November 20, when at 7 p.m. in the East Grand Forks Central gymnasium, they play the Oslo Bobcats in a 16-minute segment of the four-game jamboree being held there. Following the Thief River Falls vs. Oslo game, Crookston Central will meet the Fisher Flyers at 7:45 p.m., the Warren Ponies will play the Goodridge Huskies at 8:30 p.m., and the East Grand Forks team will play the Red Lake Falls Eagles at 9:15 p.m.

Playing time for each game will be 16 minutes—consisting of two eight-minute quarters. The total score of the four games will determine the winner, district or sub-district.

In last season's jamboree, the Prowlers scored a 36 to 26 win over the Goodridge Huskies, the team that went on to win the District 31 title. In a District 31 semi-finals game, the Goodridge team defeated the Prowlers, 58 to 49.

Of last year's squad, which won 11 games and lost 10, and gained the semi-finals of the district tourney, tri-captains Rich Nelson, Mike Benke and Mark Steen have been lost through graduation.

Coach Whitey Olson, along with Lee Swanson as his assistant, will be handling the Prowler basketball squad this season. Olson, who posted a remarkable record at Littlefork the past several seasons, is replacing Jack Junker who resigned his position on the local faculty to accept a position at Bloomington.

Prowler veterans who will be in action in the jamboree will undoubtedly be Mark Stromberg, a center; Tommy Cummings, a guard or forward; Karl Poppenhagen a forward; Bob Brodin, a guard; Bruce Snustad, a forward; and perhaps several players up from last season's 'B' squad.

The 1965-66 Prowler basketball schedule:

Friday, Nov. 26, Grafton, here.
Friday, Dec. 3, Sacred Heart, there
Friday, Dec. 10, Warren, here.
Friday, Dec. 17, Crookston Central there.
Wednesday, Dec. 22, Ada, here.
Friday Jan. 7, Bemidji, here.
Saturday, Jan. 8, Fosston, there.
Saturday, Jan. 15, Bagley, here.
Friday, Jan. 21, East Grand Forks, here.
Saturday, Jan. 22, Ada, there.
Friday, Jan. 28, Grand Rapids, there.
Friday, Feb. 4, Crookston Central, here.
Saturday, Feb. 5, Grand Forks Central, there.
Friday, Feb. 11, Bemidji, there.
Friday, Feb. 18, East Grand Forks, there.
Saturday, Feb. 19, Halstad, here.
Saturday, Feb. 26, Climax, here.
Friday, March, 4, Warren, there.

PRIZED trophy of one deer hunting party in this area last weekend was this large black bear shot by Ervin Heaton of Thief River Falls. Heaton shot the bear in the back of the head with a 30-30 rifle while hunting deer in the Randen Ridge area. The big black field dressed at 240 pounds when weighed on the city scale, but members of the party said that six men had great difficulty in moving the animal.

The Big Saturday

Except for the odd game or two, and the various bowl games later on, college football will reach its climactic Saturday this week.

Much of the interest in the east will be focused on Princeton's Palmer stadium where the Ivy League title will be at stake as unbeaten and untied Dartmouth plays unbeaten and untied Princeton. Local fans, of course, will follow this game with interest as Prowler graduate Paul Klungness is a member of the Dartmouth squad. Paul, a junior, has been playing at right halfback, and carrying the ball about 12 or 13 times a game. Paul, who is called by coach Bob Blackman as one of the most underrated players on the Big Green squad, has been especially effective in running counter plays.

The game, though, will find the Princeton Tigers being rated as the favorites. It will be an eastern television network feature.

Football in the mid-west will be centered on the struggle at South Bend, in which the Rose Bowl-bound Spartans of Michigan State play Notre Dame. I have made a modest wager that Notre Dame, which saw its hopes of being rated as the nation's number one team last year go glimmering when Southern California scored an upset, will be primed for the number one ranked Spartans. This is the game that Notre Dame could win in memory of the legendary Knute Rockne.

It would perhaps be an inspirational play if the Notre Dame coach had the Irish squad pay a visit to Rockne's grave a day or two before the game. The game will be a regional televised contest, and don't be surprised if your set gives off a spark or two. So hotly-contested will be the game.

Filling the Freezers

Another successful deer-hunting expedition, into the Moosomin and Fleming area of Saskatchewan was enjoyed by Klem Gigstad, Bob Thompson, Orv Gillespie, Wes Thompson, Bob Hirst, Len Brekke and Gunsten Skomedal.

This area is about one hundred and twenty miles north of Minot, or two hundred and ten miles west of Winnipeg. The party brought back fourteen deer. And can you imagine that they were in a hurry to get back here, arriving on Friday, so that they could participate in the Minnesota deer-hunting season. Gunsten Skomedal, of course, is one of the elder "statesmen" of the Skomedal-Rupprecht hunting party. This party, which varies from a dozen to twenty or so, has been hunting as a unit for perhaps twenty or thirty years, and for Gunsten it is a "must".

Talking to some of the hunters who were in Saskatchewan, it is evident that a good time was had, and that the hunting, along the Pipestone river bottoms, and the knolls and thickets, was exceptional. The group headquartered at a motel and had all the comforts of home.

Big Fish

I have been saving the following item for a considerable time, and I think now's the occasion to tell the members of the V. F. W. Venison-Sauger-Burbot club, that they don't catch all the big fish in the Lake of the Woods.

A fellow doesn't have to be with such boys as Moure and Am or Squire or Les or Harland Kelley very long before they will exhibit a "quick draw" and bring out a certificate attesting that have a Manitoba Master Anglers award, and that they have caught a walleyed pike or a northern pike weighing so and so many pounds. And that the rest of us can continue to feed food flakes to our gold fish!

Well, it was last June that two elderly Indian women, pulling in a net, brought in a fish that paid for their grocery money for many days. The two women labored mightily and when they had brought the fish into the boat they found that a 234-pound sturgeon had become entagneld in their net.

This surgeon is perhaps a record for the Lake of the Woods, and it measured 90 inches in length and had a girth of 40 inches. Prior to this catch, the largest sturgeon was a 215-pound fish caught in 1953. The fish, the 215-pounder, recorded from Lake of the Woods was estimated at having reached an age of 152 years.

The two Indian fisherwomen received credit at a grocery near Witefish Bay of $1.10 per pound for the dressed fish.

Saddle Club Sets Christmas Party

Plans for a Christmas party to be held December 12 at the Roman Radniecki home were made at a meeting of the Bit and Bridle Saddle club held Sunday at the Ernest Swanson home. Elvon Hamilton presided at the meeting. The Christmas party will begin with a pot-luck supper and entertainment will include cards for the adults and movies for the young people.

Sportsmen Club To Meet Tonight

Regular meeting of the Pennington County Sportsmen club will be held tonight, (Wednesday) at 7:30 p.m. in the Thief River Falls city audit. basement meeting room. Movies will be shown, reports given, general business conducted an lunch served. All members and other interested persons are urged to attend.

Questions on Taxes Are Answered by IRS

Q—I've heard that a check made out to cash or to yourself is not sufficient to establish a deductible expense. Is that right?

A—Generally speaking, that is correct. To substantiate a deductible expense your records must indicate, among other things, the purpose of the expense, and to whom paid, as well as the amount.

A check made out to cash or to yourself gives no indication by itself of the nature of the expense. This kind of check must be supported by other records, such as receipts, to be useful in supporting any deductions you claim.

A check made out to a specific organization or person, like a charity or a doctor for example, may well be sufficient to establish that a deductible expenditure has been made.

Q—I just got my hunting license. Will this be deductible?

A—No, hunting licenses are not deductible.

S—I'm partially disabled and find it difficult to get around. I have a notice to come into your office for an audit of my return. Would it be possible to mail my records in or to have your agent come here?

A Contact your local IRS office and explain your situation. Most likely you will be able to send the necessary records to your district office. If that is not feasible, other arrangements can be made that will be mutally convenient.

Q I've got a dispute going with my local Internal Revenue office over last year's return. A friend told me that the taxpayer gets a better break in these disputes if he waits until the case gets into the courts. Is that true?

A—The fact that a dispute gets into the courts does not alter the position of the Internal Revenue Service. What may happen, however, is that a taxpayer waits until he gets to court before he produces all pertinent information on his tax matters and the final outcome may give the appearance that a better settlement is reached. The truth of the matter is that if this information had been presented during the initial audit of the return the matter could have been settled at that stage.

The Internal Revenue Service bases its position on the facts of the case and the applicable law. The fact that a taxpayer is willing to take a case to court will not affect the appraisal of these facts and the law.

Q How can I get a copy of the 1965 tax rates? I want to do a rough calculation on what I will owe this year.

A—As usual, a copy of the 1965 tax rates and the necessary forms will be mailed to taxpayers around the first of the year. However, you may obtain a copy of these tax rates now by writing your local IRS office.

Christmas Seals Sent This Week To Minnesotans

When you use Christmas Seals on your holiday mail, you help to eradicate tuberculosis—still a stubborn and dangerous disease, said Judge Herman Kjos of Thief River Falls, president of the Pennington County Tuberculosis and Health council. "You also help to control other respiratory diseases ranging from the comon cold to influenza, bronchitis, asthma and emphysema—diseases that cause more absences from work and school than any other group of illnesses."

Frede T. Salomonsen, St. Paul, artist, is the first Minnesotan to have ever had his design chosen for the Christmas Seal. He won over hundreds of other artists in nationwide competition.

"In my Christmas Seal for 1965, I tried to depict man's inherent desire as well as his moral obligation to help his stricken fellowman," said Salomonsen. "This is symbolized by the child mercifully feeding the birds at wintertime when the need for it is so great—when even a tiny kernel of grain can mean the difference between life and death in the struggle for survival."

The control of respiratory diseases can also mean the difference between life and death. You and your family benefit from the year-around efforts of the Christmas Seal organization to control man's principal health complaint—respiratory disease.

In seeking to control these diseases, your Christmas Seal organization conducts case-finding projects. Last year, the association helped pay for 381,025 tuberculin tests to check for tuberculosis. It also gave nearly 155,000 chest X-rays to check the lungs for evidence of tuberculosis, emphysema, bronchial diseases, tumors or any other chest abnormality.

The organization seeks to control the spread of respiratory diseases through education. It does this by distributing free pamphlets and through free film service, newspaper articles, radio and television broadcasts. It does it through educational short courses for school administrators, physicians, teachers and nurses; through press and radio speaking health projects for school students.

To finance the fight against these diseases, the Christmas Seal organization mailed 912,398 letters containing Christmas Seals to every resident of the state.

Urge Persons Over 65 To Enroll for Medical Benefits

Persons 65 and older wanting to enroll for medical insurance benefits should apply now, advises Clifford Kittelson, district manager for Social Security. This program is voluntary and costs the insured three dollars a month. The government matches this with a like amount.

Starting next July, this will help pay the cost of physicians' services such as surgery and examinations. It will also pay for other medical services such as tests, therapy, rental of medical equipment, prosthetic devices, ambulance, etc. Another part of the program will provide home health services. Premium payments will not start before next July.

In each calendar year the insured will pay the first $50 of his medical costs. Of the remaining costs, the program will pay 80 per cent; the insured, 20 per cent.

Most applicants apply for medical insurance benefits in connection with their applications for hospital benefits. It is possible to apply for only the medical benefit. If a person is unable to apply by himself, a relative or friend should apply on his behalf.

Proof of the claimant's age is required. A foreign-born person not eligible for monthly benefits under social security should also bring with him evidence of his citizenship if he has it. If not, he should come in anyway.

Individuals getting welfare payments need not apply now. They will be contacted later. All that those getting monthly social security benefits need do is to complete and return the card recently mailed to them to elect whether or not to come under this voluntary program.

"A man who has never had religion before, no more grows religious when he is sick, than a man who has never learned figures can count when he has need of calculation." —Samuel Johnson

High-Rise Economy

The following editorial first appeared in San Diego "Union":

A news item the other day reported that the school lunch program is expected to become a billion-dollar enterprise next year. How the acorns of good deeds grow!

The way things are going, however, nobody will even notice it. The Great Society, with all its talk of tax cuts and reducing payrolls, is spending at the rate of $120 billion a year . . .

The taxpayer's money and the congressional votes which he can command have given President Johnson more power than other peace-time Presidents—and perhaps even any wartime President.

The new programs initiated by Mr. Johnson, some of which had been pigeonholed in Congress without proving their justification, have committed the American people to tax burdens at present beyond accurate estimates.

The anti-poverty bill with a life of three years has received $1.9 billion.

The first-year cost of the elementary school aid bill will be $1.1 billion and probably will cost $4.7 billion over the next five years.

Public works under the Economic Development Act required $760 million this year and will need $3.2 billion over five years.

The housing bill calls for spending of $8.5 billion over five years.

Medicare, with its mixture of individual, employee and government funds, will present a $6.5 billion cost each year.

These are samples. Total present spending for education alone is estimated at perhaps $15 billion a year by Sen. Jennings Randolph, D.-W. Va. This makes education the largest single item in the budget outside defense.

Under the Administration's new economics program, what the government can and should do is supposed to determine not only the federal income but the people's as well.

A committee of government experts, however, concedes that changes in federal fiscal policies will be necessary to assure the Great Society.

It estimates that the gross national product, or the total income of the country, can reach $870 billion by 1970 and this would produce government revenues of $165 billion.

This would be more than enough to support the programs to which the Johnson Administration has committed the Congress but, the committee says that to reach this desirable situation and to assure full pay employment and payrolls, the government will have to spend $40 billion more a year or give it back to the taxpayers in the form of tax cuts.

At the rate Congress is going, under the prodding of a welfare-minded President, that $40 billion also will be expended. Thus the country is being committed not just to future spending but a new economy dependent on government manipulation. But wiser than its citizens or that it can guarantee the economy will always go up.

War on Poverty

Congressman Gerald Ford has some down-to-earth thoughts on the anti-poverty program. While they are likely prompted by the expected opposing view of a politician to the party in power, they do make sense and they do reveal a couple of things which the general public ought to know. He states the following:

"There are several glaring weaknesses in the anti-poverty program. The administration of the program is chaotic. It is headed by a part-time director and a top staff of temporary personnel who simultaneously decided to desert as the first skirmishes of the war on poverty were hardly under way. The Office of Economic Opportunity is top heavy with high salaried executives. In this agency, one out of every 18 employees receives a salary in excess of $19,000. In the Defense Department, by contrast, one of 1,000 employees is paid more than $19,000.

"The program as administered treats elected State and local officials with cavalier disdain. Though Republican protest in the Congress salavaged some resemblance of influence in the operation of the program for state governors, neither state nor local officials have an effective voice in the program today. This weakening of the federal system, on top of other centralizing programs of the current administration, is a dangerous trend.

"Disregard of state and local governments and their elected officials has made the term "war" an apt title for the poverty program. In too many places it has become a war waged by local officials and competing private groups with each other for control of federal funds and for partisan and personal advantage. The poor are treated as the spoils in this conflict. They do not participate in decisions on what is to be done for them or to them.

"Enough evidence has come to light to raise serious doubts about the Job Corps program. Instances of criminal and immoral behavior suggest inadequate selection processes for trainees and a break-down of discipline.

"The poverty program needs basic reform and a tightening of administrative practices. Whatever benefits that can be realized from this program can be attained less wastefully by clearer definition of objectives, by more careful structuring of programs, by cooperation with state and local governments, and by elimination of considerations of partisan political advantage."

It's All Comparative

How high is high? How much is too much? How do you measure worth? These are questions which may well be applied to the agricultural situation today. The following article from the "Drovers Telegram" was reprinted in the "NFO Reporter" and provides about as concise a picture of the situation as we have seen anywhere:

"Are livestock market prices high? How about meat—is it high priced? Consumers, some restaurant operators and others in the food business might think and say so. But informed livestock and meat producers are quick to point out that, while prices are higher than they were for many months, values cannot rightly be called high by any stretch of the imagination. In fact, they are still low by most standards.

"Stockmen have taken exception to various comments about "high" animal and meat prices voiced here and there, feeling that such remarks do an injustice to the industry and only add to public misunderstanding of the meat producer's role. They point out that this is the first real break producers have had in years, and that the spring upturn in prices came on the heels of a series of unfavorable seasons, capped by disastrous cattle feeder losses last year.

"In testimony at the National Food commission hearings in Omaha earlier this year, the Kansas Livestock Association apparently foresaw this fuss about so-called high meat prices and did a good job of laying the groundwork for straightening out the thinking of such critics.

"The association's statement pointed out that the year 1948 is used by economists as the base from which to measure trends, because each segment of the economy was considered as being in balance with the other. At that time (1948) corn was $1.50 per bu wheat was $2.35, hogs $20 per cwt and stock cattle averaged around $26 per cwt.

"In the 15 years following 1948," the association said, "the basic interest rate on government debentures increased 150 per cent and added another 50 per cent in fringe benefits. Industrial prices have increased from 50 to 100 per cent depending on the particular item involved. The automobile worker can retire at 60 years of age making more than the average farmer made in Kansas ($3,746) in 1964 working full time.

"Had agricultural prices kept up with the rest of the economy, the average price of stock cattle today would be 65 cents a pound, hogs would be 50 cents a pound, corn would be $3.75 per bushel and wheat would bring $5.75 per bushel. . .From these figures it is easy to see that. . .our prices have remained the same or in many cases, have actually decreased while labor, interest and industrial prices more than doubled in many areas. . .We have seen recent improvement (in stock cattle prices, for instance) but this is a far cry from the 65 cents that would have been necessary to keep us on a parity with other segments of the economy in the last 15 years. .

"Let consumers understand that meat prices have not "skyrocketed" in the sense that they have risen out of all reason. Meat, in fact, is still a good buy—one of the best—and producers are not making a killing in the market place. Yes, they are making some money for a change, and it was long past time for them to do so if they were to stay in this business of producing meat. Prices are up, but "high" is a complete misnomer in this case."

Would You Believe It?

In the American system of competiton and efficient operation, the story of an incident in Britain seems almost unbelievable. The New York Herald Tribune reported the following:

"In Britain, a disgruntled customer complained the other day about what happened when he asked to have his electric meter (the electric industry is nationalized) moved 15 inches. Seems that, first, an inspector from the electricity board inspected his meter; six weeks later five workmen arrived, two of whom moved the meter, two of whom watched and did nothing while the fifth set up a portable stove on which he made tea. Then two more men arrived, one to inspect the job and one to put a seal on the moved meter."

Under full socialization or nationalization is not to difficult to imagine what could well happen here in the United States. Rampant waste in government programs is not at all unknown here now. Under nationalization, political decisions would govern and political managers would to the administering. The customer would be without effective recourse. We'll take private enterprise any day.

Carl Gustafson's Return From Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Gustafson returned Thursday of last week after spending the past several weeks touring the western states. They had the opportunity to visit with relatives in Cutbank, Montana, Seattle, Tacoma and Olumpia, Washington and also at Vancouver, Washington. Among the highlights of the trip were visits to many scenic places including the Bad Lands of North Dakota, Garrison Dam, Fort Pick Reservation and Dam. Journeying on to Washington, they toured the state operated fish hatchery at Issaquah near Seattle and the Experiment Station at Vancouver, where many beautiful blowers were in bloom. A drive along the Columbia River in Oregon gave them much enjoyment as they viewed the Bridal Veil Falls and the natural stone wonder called Bridge of the Gods, as well as Bonneville Dam. A drive from Portland to Tillamok, Oregon along the Pacific Ocean as far as New Port, Oregon provided many scenic views also. They reported very favorable weather during most of the trip. During their stay in Seattle they had the opportunity to visit with the following former local residents: Steve Boe, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Anderson, the Fred Ranums, Mrs. Paul Engen, Mrs. Peterson (the former Lorraine Gustafson) and with Mrs. David Gustafson. In Tacoma they visited with a cousin, Mrs. Tollefson, and at Olympia they spent some time with the Donald Thorkikdson family. Strandquist . . .

Mrs. Ed Stromoe, Strandquist, 587-2445

Last Saturday as he was returning from his work Mr. A. Sturlock rolled his car over by the Oscar Rokke farm. He is a patient in the Warren hospital with broken ribs. The car was badly demolished.

Laurel Lefrooth of St. Paul and three other hunters were also lucky to escape serious injuries when his car slid into the state ditch over by Kittelson's bridge. The car was badly dented, one head light broken and a big hole in the windshield as though the passengers head had hit it. These icy roads are pretty treacherous.

Among those who are here for hunting and visiting are Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Wayne of St. Paul, Laurel Lefrooth, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Bernhardson of Mankato, Helmar Sjoquist and Robert of Minneapolis, Ralph Johnson of Minneapolis, Mr. Inger Gustafson and Robert of Ashby.

Mrs. Ernest Lofstrom and children left on Saturday by plane for Germany to join her husband who is stationed there.

Mr. and Mrs. Korl Myhrer of Newfolden, Mrs. Douglas Thun and girls, Mrs. Ella Thun, Pastor and Mrs. Jackson and Linda and Mrs. Clarence Borsvold were luncheon guests at the Wm. Hansen home Sunday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Hansen's birthday.

Mrs. Ella Thun accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Ed Carlson last Tuesday to visit relatives and friends at Duluth, Cloquet, Superior, Wis. and with Mrs. Evelyn Whiting at Sturgeon Lake where she also had a good visit with Mrs. Carl Aakhus of Willow River. Mrs. Aakhus is still teaching but Mr. Aakhus, our former superintendent of school has retired due to ill health but is feeling much better at the present time. They came home on Friday as the weather was so unpredictable.

Mr. and Mrs. Miles Lundstrom of Greely, Col. are the proud parents of a 6 lb. 3 oz. baby girl, Nov. 13. Congratulations.

Several members of the American Legion Auxiliary served lunch to the faculty members and their ladies that attended were Mrs. Wm. Rose, Mrs. Chester Boen and Mrs. Douglas Thun, who had been a substitute for Mr. Holland that day.

Mrs. Laurel Kline won a choice of meats in the Johnson's Hartz Store Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Jonas Stromlund visited at the Harry Schmidt home Monday afternoon.

Rev. Wesley Swedberg of Karlstad visited at Jonas Stromlunds Tuesday afternoon. In the evening Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Pederson and Marion of Karlstad were supper and evening guests at Stromlunds.

Mrs. Walter Nelson of Angle Inlet and Mr. and Mrs. Victor Ames of Strathcona were Sunday afternoon visitors at Jonas Stromlunds.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hope of Stephen, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Stennes of Hopkins, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kranz, Mr. Gilbert Kranz, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Stennes and girls, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Stennes were dinner guests at the Gilman Stennes home on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Alton Henrickson and Shari spent Sunday evening at the Gotfred Berggren home. A week ago Saturday Mrs. Steve Chwialowski and family visited there.

Mr. and Mrs. Art Anderson, Miss Agnes Kittelson and brothers spent Tuesday evening, Nov. 2 at the Willard Renstrom home in honor of Mrs. Renstrom's birthday.

Mrs. Emmanuel Nelson and Mrs. Clarence Borsvold visited with Ann and Bill Hansen at the coop store in Viking Monday forenoon.

WITH DOUBLE-STRONG CONSTRUCTION
Chevy pickups for '66 are built strong to stand up to tough jobs. Cabs, for example, have double-wall roof construction, a rigid double-wall cowl and husky framing around door openings. Lower side panels of Fleetside models are also double-walled. Chassis, too, is designed for extra strength. You can get a 6½-, 8-, or 9-ft. body and a big new 250-cu.-in. Six. Or specify a rugged 327-cu.-in. V8. Get a double-strong pickup that's a glutton for work!

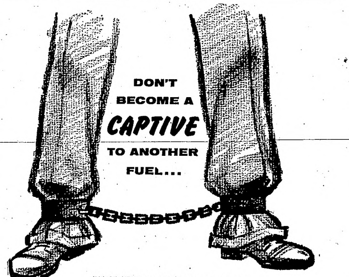
DON'T BECOME A CAPTIVE TO ANOTHER FUEL....



With OIL HEAT you are free from monopolistic price increases . . . free to buy from any one of many area suppliers at a competitive price. This assures you of a better product and better service now . . . and in the future. In Minneapolis, home owners using natural gas have faced 8 price increases since 1951 amounting to a staggering 90.9% increase in their annual heating bill. In many Eastern areas, natural gas is close to pricing itself out of the market. Protect your family and future property value by heating with safe, comfortable, economical OIL HEAT.

Equitable Reserve Association Helps Educate Our Youth

Among other extras provided by this 68 YEAR OLD LIFE AND HEALTH INSURANCE ASSOCIATION this is a special "extra" provided by the local Thief River Falls Assembly.

The local ERA representatives will gladly explain all the benefits to you.

Side Line Observations

BY BILL DAHLQUIST

"U. S. Throws Big Curve at Airlines' Insurance." So reads a headline in the Financial Post, Canada's leading financial weekly.

It seems that our government has insisted on a new higher limit on death liability for international airline passengers to $75,000. The present limit, by international agreement under the terms of what is referred to as the Warsaw Convention, is $50,000. And, according to the Financial Post, here is what would happen if the U. S. demands are generally approved:

"For passengers this could mean their estates could collect a great deal more if they are killed while flying on an international route—provided they are "fortunate" enough to have the accident in the right country.

"For airlines it threatens a heavy increase in operating costs whatever happens, and the dreaded prospect of a competitive insurance situation in which coverage offered would become an important sales point.

"For the courts there is the threat of tangled lawsuits that will please nobody but the lawyers.

"For insurance companies there is the prospect of a lot of new business."

Fortunately it is a problem about which only a comparatively few people would have an interest. It does raise an interesting question, however, as to the liability problem in general insofar as it pertains to travel risks. I cannot see that there is justification for much of a spread between what should be paid for a loss of life to the heirs of a passenger who loses his life in one form of common carrier or another. A life is a life and whether it is lost in a street car collision, a train crash or an airline failure, it seems to me that the compensation should be about the same.

If one form of transportation is more hazardous than another then the traveler can take on added protection in the form of insurance as he sees fit.

The Financial Post resents the proposed increase because it believes American airlines would be the main beneficiaries if the U. S. proposal were forced upon the airlines of other nations. It is interesting to get the Canadian point-of-view which generally is very fair to us.

"Industry, economy, honesty and kindness form a quartette of virtues that will never be improved upon."—James Oliver.

All of a sudden President Johnson has decided that inflation is wrong. The aluminum industry thought that wage increases encouraged by the government justified a slight increase in the market value of aluminum. Anti-inflation Johnson declared war immediately and was ready to call out the armed forces to protect the interests of aluminum buyers, including the taxpayers. It is nice to know that our great President is now definitely opposed to price increases, and presumably will be opposed to wage increases that might make price increases necessary.

From now on we may expect that there will be no more increases in postage costs. The post cards that once cost us a penny now cost us four cents. A stamped envelope now costs seven cents. No more of this sort of thing. Good old Lyndon is against price increases and, in order to be consistent, he of course will be opposed to any wage increases that could result in price increases.

"Make yourself an honest man, and then you may be sure that there is one rascall less in the world".
—Carlyle

According to a Wall Street Journal news roundup, the electric power failure that plunged northeastern United States and a part of Canada into darkness may be only the beginning. According to the Journal:

"It could happen again, say at least some electric utility executives. And if the utilities continue to tie their lines together into bigger and bigger power networks, or pools, it could happen on an even greater scale. One Boston power executive goes so far as to raise the possibility of all the lights in the entire Unites States going out in less than a second sometime in the future if all the utilities tie their systems into a single network operated by automatic controls that act almost instantaneously—as was actually suggested by the Federal Government a year ago."

Considering all of the possibilities, maybe it was fortunate for our nation that the blackout that did so little real damage came as it did. It might have caused tremendous damage. Let us look upon it as a warning of a danger we must be prepared for. To the extent that we prepare ourselves for the worst we probably will be able to survive the greatest danger with a minimum of losses.

"Next to knowing when to seize an opportunity, the most important thing in life is to know when to forego an advantage."
—Disraeli.

Says State Has Money For Highway Program

"The State of Minnesota can match all of its federal highway allocations for the next several years, take care of its highway department operating expenses and still have almost $15 million a year left over to spend on state roads not participating in federal financing," states Robert T. Thornburg, executive secretary of the Minnesota Petroleum council.

He took sharp issue with a recent bulletin of the Minnesota Good Roads organization, which claimed that the state will not have enough funds, under present financing, to meet its road needs.

Thornburg called the bulletin "an inaccurate, distorted and misleading picture of the state's highway finances." "Error has been compounded upon error," Thornburg charged, "as the bulletin overstates federal highway allocations, overestimates the state matching requirements for federal money and neglects altogether to provide for any normal incremental growth of highway user revenues."

The "Good Roads" bulletin claimed that state matching requirements for federal aid highway projects would average $32 million annually and non-federal work would average $53 million annually, with a total annual cost to the state of $85 million. Against this, the bulletin estimated highway revenues of only $78.7 million annually, for a deficit of more than $6 million per year.

Thornburg, on the other hand, said that an up-to-date analysis of all highway - connected finances shows this picture for the years 1966 through 1972 (the end of the current federal highway program): Annual average federal aid matching requirements, $26.5 million and annual non-construction expenditures, including maintenance and administration, $49.7 million, for a total annual cost to the state of $76.2 million.

And, against this, Thornburg stated, the analysis shows anticipated state revenue from highway user levies and other sources of more than $91 million annually. This would leave the state approximately $15 million per year which could be used either on state construction projects not on the federal system, or to meet possible increases in construction, maintenance or administrative costs.

Thornburg said his association's analysis was made from official government documents and that revenue estimates were made from official state figures, projected at a conservative rate of growth.

He said the "Good Roads" bulletin badly overestimated annual construction requirements, partially "perhaps by separating right-of-way expenses from construction expenses, whereas right-of-way costs are already included in federal construction figures."

Another major error, he continued, was made by the bulletin when it considered revenue would remain static, ignoring normal growth rates. Further, the bulletin failed to take into account the approximate $5 million annually which comes to the highway budget from miscellaneous non-highway-user sources.

"In all," Thornburg concluded, "the bulletin gave a seriously distorted view of the state's financial capacity to continue its highway program. The truth of the matter is that the program is in good financial shape, and certainly not in need of any kind of 'doctoring' which could only mean higher taxes."

Honor Bennes for Insurance Sales

L. N. Bennes, Thief River Falls representative of the Lincoln National Life Insurance company, has been named a winner in the company's recent nation-wide Minute Man sales contest, according to an announcement by Henry W. Persons, senior vice president and director of agencies.

The competition, which continued for three months, called for a substantial amount of sales and service to clients as a means toward qualification. Bennes' efforts placed him in the highest qualifying category.

SLOW DOWN AND LIVE

November Most Dangerous Month For Pedesetrians

November, with its sudden changes from mild to cold, snowy or icy weather is one of our most dangerous months for walking, according to Chief Elton Cummings of the Thief River Falls police department.

In bad weather, people hurry at the expense of caution. Footing is often poor and pedestrains are usvision is blocked by a turned-up collar, scarf or pulled-down cap, he said.

Last November, 11 pedestrains were killed in traffic. Over the past five years, 61 pedestrains have been killed in traffic during November. The fall over the years has proven to be the most dangerous period for the pedestrain and the danger can be at its worst in November.

"Everyone knows the rules of safe walking and there is no need to repeat them here," he said. recognize the danger for what it is, he will follow those rules."

He pointed out that drivers have a special responsibility to watch for those classes of pedestrains who need extra protection. They are the young, the elderly and the blind.

"All of them—not only the blind—are impaired to a degree. The young often don't think about the danger and the elderly often are impaired in sight and hearing," he said. "All that it requires on the driver's part to protect them is a little extra patience."

Norse fishermen inspired this all-season
Thermal Underwear by Munsingwear.

Norse and other Scandinavian fishermen traditionally threw their fish nets over their backs for warmth after a day's fishing.

From this practice came Munsingwear's THERMAL UNDERWEAR for the outdoor worker and sportsman . . . made with a knit waffle pattern that traps the air . . . and prevents evaporation by lateral body movement.

Finished with Munsingwear's accustomed care, this underwear gives full coverage; has (1) elastic waistband, (2) stretchy seat which stretches when you bend, (3) taped shoulders and (4) double cuffs.

BIG BOOK

The atlas is quite an armful. Chip had a time lugging it down off the shelf, but he wanted, once again, to look at some of the fascinating pictures.

He's a small boy for such a big book. Maybe he doesn't understand all of it. But it whets his curiosity, and the curiosity of a small boy is truly insatiable.

Even as Chip glances at the pictures, questions are racing through his mind. And to whom will he address these questions? To you!

When youngsters ask questions, it is up to us, supposedly "grownup" and therefore wiser, to try to give them the right answers. In this day of sometimes dubious and changing values, that isn't always easy. We must first make sure that we have the true basic answers ourselves. There is no surer way of doing this than by arming ourselves with the faith and wisdom found in the Holy Scriptures and in our churches.

Thanks a million, from the big, new-generation Comet

The secret of Comet's success? Simple: start with lots of smart drivers, then wave a good thing in front of them. See the example below, one of 13 big, new-generation '66 Comets. Wider, up to 8 inches longer than ever. Longer on luxury, too. And action: ranging up to a big, new Cyclone GT 390 V-8. Why not drive the car in a million? It's at your Mercury dealer's now!

Brush with Cranberry-Orange Butter Glaze . . . fill with Butter-Mushroom Stuffing

Your feast of feasts deserves the special flavor of Land O'Lakes Butter . . . made from the sweetest-of-all cream, churned before noon.

See and taste what it does! Adds holiday sparkle to the turkey glaze. Makes every spoonful of stuffing a delicious buttery discovery. Save the recipes. Then hurry and get the turkey and Land O'Lakes Butter. The compliments come later.

Cranberry-Orange Butter Glaze. It glows. It sparkles. Butter blends beautifully with cranberry to give your turkey a tantalizing new holiday accent.

- 1 lb. can cranberry jelly
- 6 oz. can frozen orange juice concentrate (thawed)
- ½ cup (1 stick) Land O'Lakes Butter

Mash cranberry jelly well in a saucepan. Mix in orange juice concentrate and butter. Heat together until jelly is melted mixture and is smooth. Brush or spoon over turkey during last 30 minutes of roasting time. Serve remaining glaze hot with turkey.

Butter-Mushroom Stuffing. Dig for riches! Every spoonful a delicious buttery discovery.

- 2 cups (1 lb.) Land O'Lakes Butter
- 2 cups chopped celery stalks and leaves
- 1 cup minced onion
- ½ lb. (about 3 cups) fresh sliced mushrooms
- 14 cups dry bread cubes*
- ¼ cup chopped parsley
- 1 tbsp. sage
- 1 tbsp. salt
- 1 tsp. pepper
- 1 tsp. poultry seasoning

Melt butter in large heavy skillet. Add celery, onion and mushrooms; cook until onion is yellow, stirring occasionally. Stir in some of bread cubes; heat, stirring to prevent browning. Combine with remaining ingredients in large bowl. Toss lightly. Cook and pack loosely into turkey. Follow your favorite recipe or cookbook directions for trussing and roasting turkey. Before roasting, brush skin with melted Land O'Lakes Butter. Cover with a loose tent of aluminum foil, pinched together at ends. During roasting, baste occasionally with melted butter.

*2-4 day old bread is best for stuffing. Makes enough for a 14 lb. turkey. Extra stuffing may be baked in a covered casserole during last 30-45 minutes of turkey roasting time.

TRENCH for the burial of miles of gas pipe is being dug west of Thief River Falls by this ponderous Cleveland ditching machine employed by the North Star Natural Gas company. At the time the hoto was taken Wednesday afternoon, the ditching crew was working about 20 miles west of the city, or about one mile north of Angus. Much of the pipe has already been laid; at the other end of the pipe, about 15 miles further east, the welding crew was working. The work is being done on the gravel road that joins Highway 1 at the "Y" about five miles west of town. A member of the ditching crew sai dthat since the ground is frozen to a depth of about 10 inches, progress is slow, and the ditcher is expected to reach the highway in about two weeks.

Wool Sewing Contest Scheduled on Friday

Women and girls from 11 northwestern Minnesota counties will compete in four divisions for honors in the Make-It-Yourself with Wool contest to be held Friday at the city auditorium in Thief River Falls. Contestants will register for judging at 8 a.m., according to Mrs. G. Milford Peterson, Crookston, district director.

The dress revue and awarding of prizes will begin at 1:30 p.m. and will be open to the public. Entrants will model garments of 100 per cent American-loomed wool which they have made in 1965. Entries have been received from Beltrami, Clearwater, Kittson, Lake of the Woods, Mahnomen, Marshall, Norman, Pennington, Red Lake and Roseau counties. Polk, Red Lake and Roseau counties.

Girls from 10 to 13 years of age will compete in the sub-deb division which is conducted on a district basis only. Winners in the junior division (age 14 to 16), senior group (age 17 to 21) and adult (age 22 or older) will advance to the state contest to be held December 2 and 3 in Minneapolis.

A number of area high schools have been cooperating in the program through their home economics classes, Mrs. Peterson said. Entries from schools in the area include the following: East Grand Forks Sacred Heart, 15; Bagley, 7; Fisher, 6; Oklee, 4 ;Humboldt-St. Vincent, 4; Clearbrook, 4; McIntosh, 3; Stephen, 3; Bemidji 2; Argyle 2; Mahnomen, 2; Carr Lake, St. Hilaire, Red Lake Falls, Waubun, Thief River Falls, Middle River, Fosston, Crookston and Warren, one each.

Girls in the senior division who have participated in the contest previously and will be entering again this year are now attending school at Bemidji State college, University of Minnesota, Moorhead State college and Minneapolis vocational school.

To date West Polk county has the largest number of entries with 22, Mrs. Peterson said. Clearwater county has 13 entries and Marshall county has 10 entries in the contest.

Contestants will be judged on modeling and the way in which the garment suits and fits their age group, the district director said. The garment itself is also judged for construction and general effect.

District I competition in Thief River Falls has grown over the years with several local winners also ranking high in state competition. Several years ago JoAnn Odegaard of Gonvick placed first in national competition and won an air trip to Hawaii. National competition is sponsored by the National Wool Growers association.

Schools To Close Early Wednesday

Thief River Falls public schools will dismiss at 2 p.m. on Wednesday for the annual Thanksgiving holiday, according to M. R. Hankerson, superintendent of schools. Schools will be closed Thursday and Friday and will reopen at the regular time on Monday, November 29.

Men Injured As Building Falls At Mandt Farm

Two Oklee men were injured Friday, November 12, when a frame building under construction at the Lyle Mandt egg factory northwest of Oklee collapsed in a high wind. Hospitalized at Thief River Falls were Oscar Flateland and Ted Lolland.

Flateland suffered head and arm injuries with a possible concussion and Lolland received back injuries. Both are in satisfactory condition.

The building, of an "A-frame" type of construction, measured 312x40 feet with 78 rafters spaced four feet apart. The men were on the roof when the collapse began at one end and followed through the length of the building. The materials in the building were not badly broken up and reconstruction is under way.

Turkey Growers Will Ballot on Promotion Order

Russel G. Schwandt, Minnesota commissioner of agriculture, has announced that a referendum will be held among Minnesota turkey growers to determine whether the Minnesota turkey promotional order, adopted after a public hearing on November 3, by an advisory board of turkey growers, will go into effect.

The order provides for a comprehensive program of turkey research and market development through advertising promotion participation in national turkey promotion campaigns, research on new turkey raising methods, and other means, and will be paid for by contributions from turkey growers.

The program will be administered by the Minnesota Turkey Research and Market Development Advisory board, a body elected by Minnesota turkey growers under a law passed in the 1965 session of the Legislature.

Copies of the order and ballots in the referendum will also be mailed December 3 to all Minnesota turkey growers known to the department of agriculture. Anyone who does not receive a ballot in this mailing may obtain a copy of the order and ballot from his county extension agent, a member of the Turkey Advisory board, or by writing the Minnesota Department of Agriculture, 530 State Office Building, St. Paul, Minnesota, 55101.

Ballots must be marked and mailed or delivered to Schwandt's office on or before Dec. 13, 1965. If ballots are mailed, they must be postmarked no later than that date. The order will not be adopted unless approved by 65 per cent of the growers voting, representing 51 per cent of Minnesota's turkey production. Any grower who marketed 200 or more turkeys for human consumption during the marketing year which ended Feb. 28, 1965, is eligible to vote.

Leo Hagl Killed In Tractor Mishap

Leo Hagl, 58, life-time resident of the Red Lake Falls community, was killed Friday when a tractor which he was driving overturned and pinned him beneath it. The accident happened within the village of Red Lake Falls.

Hagl was reportedly hauling a load of wood down a steeply-inclined street when the tractor jackknifed and slid off a 15-foot embankment, Dr. Peter Leonardson, Red Lake county coroner, stated that death was almost instantaneous.

Funeral services for Leo Hagl will be held Tuesday with a requiem Mass at 8 a.m. at St. Joseph's Catholic church with Rev. Wm. Keefe officiating. The body will lie in state from 3 p.m. today (Monday) at the Petterson Funeral home where the rosary will be recited tonight at 8 p.m. Interment will be made in the church cemetery in the spring.

Hagl was born May 3, 1907, at Red Lake Falls and lived in that community all his life. He was never married.

Survivors include three sisters, Mrs. Joseph (Marie) Loeffler, rural Thief River Falls; Mrs. Laura Vatthauer and Mrs. Helen Febro, Red Lake Falls; and three brothers, Frank, Paul and George, all of Red Lake Falls. One brother preceded him in death.

PEDESTRIAN Safety Citation was presented to the city of Thief River Falls by the American Automobile association in cooperation with the Minnesota Safety Council at an AAA travel party Wednesday night in Lincoln high school. The award was presented to the city for not having had a pedestrian fatality in the past four years. Holding the plaque are Mayor Orin J. Green (left) and Police Chief Elton Cummings. Representing the two organizations presenting the award are (left to right) Glen Krenz, AAA sales representative for the Thief River Falls area; O. M. Mattson, Warren, area director for the Minnesota AAA unit; and Kenneth J. Conant Jr., St. Paul, field representative for the Minnesota Safety council.

251 Passengers Needed To Set Boarding Record

With only grading, grass seeding and some drainage work remaining to be done, work on the Thief River Falls municipal airport project was virtually completed this year. The work was done over a two year period—extended because of bad weather—and its completion will coincide with what may well be a record year for North Central Airlines in operations here.

Boardings out of Thief River Falls for January through October of this year total 1,660—only 251 short of the record 1,911 passengers recorded for 1964. November and December must average only 126 passengers to set a new record. Since North Central began its operations at Thief River Falls in 1953, a total of 16,974 passengers have boarded the planes out of Thief River Falls.

The airport project initiated by the Thief River Falls city council in cooperation with federal and state authorities has a total cost of $272,000. Work completed this year included net extension of the main runway by 1,200 feet to a total of 5,100 feet, rebuilding and surfacing of the apron, surfacing of the taxiway, entrance road and a parking lot between the administration building and Rantanen Flying service shop, extending back 66 feet south from the fence bordering the apron. New lighting was also installed on the entire runway.

Improvement of the airport was accomplished with heavy state and federal financial participation. The move was made to have the airport ready for larger aircraft than the DC3 planes currently operated by North Central on the route which includes Thief River Falls. North Central is moving toward the use of larger Convair aircraft which require a longer runway than was previously available here.

In its first year of operation at Thief River Falls, North Central enplaned 420 passenters with July being the largest month with 92 passengers. Passenger use increased steadily with gains each year until 1960 when 1,785 persons used service out of Thief River Falls. Passenger numbers dropped slightly to 1,648 in 1961 and 1,664 in 1962 before mounting to 1,766 in 1963 and a record 1,911 last year.

A monthly record for North Central in Thief River Falls was also set this year when 202 persons

May Form Concert Association Here

To discuss the possibilities of forming a concert association in Thief River Falls, a public meeting will be held tonight (Monday) at 8 p.m. in the cafeteria at Lincoln senior high school. Invitations have been extended to a number of persons believed to be interested, but an invitation is not required to attend. Any interested persons from the Thief River Falls area are encouraged to attend the session.

The meeting has been called by the educational and cultural committee of the Thief River Falls Chamber of Comerce with Justus Larson as committee chairman. Other committee members are Dr. George Martin, Dr. J. W. Ewing, Dr. Roland K. Anderson and Bryant Ulseth. It is expected that the business of the meeting can be covered in about one hour.

In connection with Chamber of Commerce efforts to bring cultural entertainment to Thief River Falls, a concert by the Console Piano Quartet of Minneapolis has been scheduled in this city for Wednesday, February 16. Arrangements for the concert were made by the educational and cultural committee.

Members of the piano quartet—Elsie Wolf Campbell, Helen Grotte Keidel, James S. Allen and Theodore Bergmun—are concert pianists and teachers who have studied with renowned pianists both in the United States and abroad. They formed the quartet five years ago and are considered unique in that they use console spinet pianos rather than grands. The result has been praised by critics as giving "a new dimension in sound that is reminiscent of the original pianoforte".

The Console Piano Quartet has been featured with the world-famous Apollo club and have been heard in concert in Chicago, Minneapolis, St. Paul and other cities throughout the midwest. The concert program is designed to meet a wide variety of musical tastes from light music to classical numbers.

Organization of a concert association is expected to extend beyond Thief River Falls into the rural area and other towns in the surrounding territory. Persons interested in such an association are invited to contact any of the members of the educational and cultural committee and express their interests.

Strandquist Man Fired Upon When Driving in Truck

A Strandquist man was hospitalized in Grafton Thursday with wounds in both arms suffered when a passenger in a passing automobile fired a rifle shot at him on N.D. Highway 17 about 11 miles east of Grafton Wednesday.

Rudolph Rogus, 28, who had been trucking potatoes from Strandquist to the starch plant at Grafton, said that as he was returning home about 5 p.m. Wednesday a car pulled abreast of his truck as he neared the bridge over the Red River on Highway 17. He said he saw a rifle barrel pointed out the car window as the car drew even with him and the shot was fired.

Rogus suffered wounds in both arms caused by metal from the door torn away by the .30 caliber bullet. The slug tore a hole in the door about two inches in diameter, narrowly missed Rogus, struck the door on the opposite side, denting it deeply, and fell to the floor, reported Walsh County Sheriff Orville Olson.

Rogus flagged down a car and was taken to the Grafton hospital, where his condition was reported good despite considerable loss of blood.

Rogus described the gunman as young, as was the driver of the car, with long dark hair. He said he believed the car to be a 1949 Plymouth with Minnesota license plates. No motive for the shooting has been determined.

Police Dep't. Issues Warnings About River Ice

Two announcements were issued today by the Thief River Falls police department which should be of interest to community residents. Parents are warned to keep their youngsters off the river where ice is definitely unsafe due to soft spots now obscured by snow. Street department crews will be clearing snow from avenues in the residential areas this evening and residents are asked to park their cars on streets in order to have the avenues clear.

BSC Will Offer Winter Quarter Course in City

Bemidji State college will offer a winter quarter extension course in special education at Thief River Falls dealing with the study of the exceptional child. First class meeting will be at 6:30 p.m. January 4. Three quarter hours of graduate and undergraduate credit will be offered. Plans for extension courses at other off-campus centers during spring quarters are being considered.

The extension course will be held in conjunction with two on-campus courses to be held during the winter term which starts January 3. Directing the special education program at BSC is Mrs. Christine Janda, a graduate of the University fo Nebraska at Lincoln.

Students or teachers interested in the program should contact Mrs. Janda at Room 202, Laboratory School, Bemidji State college, Bemidji, Minn.

Money Provided For Youth Corps On Reservation

Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz today approved a new Neighborhood Youth Corps project in Red Lake which will be administered by the Red Lake Tribal council. Sixty-eight young people will be aided by this project: 50 in-school and 18 out-of school. The total cost will be $31,080—all paid by the federal government.

This project in Minnesota is one of 13 new Neighborhood Youth Corps projects approved by the secretary, which will help 1,774 young people in eight states. Of these youths 1,601 are in school and 173 are out of school.

These youths will work full or part time in a variety of public service jobs, which will enable them financially to continue their education, or give them work experience to help them get future employment.

Total cost of these 13 projects is $1,535,254, of which the federal portion is $1,281,462.

Since the Neighborhood Youth Corps went into operation in 1965, a total of 1,247 projects have been approved to provide 436,826 jobs for young men and women. A total of 309,509 jobs have been provided for young people who are in school, while 127,236 jobs have been given to those out of school. Federal funds totaling $247,093,073 have been allocated for all projects.

Anderson-Gjovik Vows Exchanged At Karlstad

Large sprays of ferns and tall slendar white tapers formed the setting for the wedding of Miss Sandra Eileen Anderson and James R. Gjovik on Saturday, October 2, at 8 p.m. at the Gospel Tabernacle, Karlstad. The Rev. J. A. Riveness officiated at the double ring ceremony and the Rev. Bob Dierking of Strathcona gave the pastoral meditations.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence E. Anderson of Halma and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Gjovik of Strathcona.

Music was provided by sisters and brothers of the groom with Miss Carole Gjovik presideng at the organ. During the service, "Wedding Prayer" was sung by Renae Gjovik and "The Lord's Prayer" by Bob Gjovik. Renae then joined Bob in singing "As We Travel This Life Together". As the couple knelt at the altar for the blessing, Grant Gjovik sang, "Near to the Heart of God".

The bride's floor-length gown was fashioned of Alencon lace over a hooped skirt of net and taffeta. Styled with long sleeves that tapered to a point over the wrists, the fitted bodice, that dropped in the front and back to form a V, was attached to a three-tiered skirt. Iridescent sequins enhanced the edges of each tier and outlined the square neckline. Her double illusion veil was attached to a cluster of net petals trimmed with sequins and pearls. She also wore white kid slippers, no jewelry and carried a cascade bouquet of yellow roses and stephanotis.

Marilyn Erickson and Mrs. Jack Bjerk, both of Minneapolis and cousins of the bride, attended the bride as maid of honor and bridesmatron, respectively. Bridesmaid was Janice Melvie of Thief River Falls, friend of the bride, with Judy Anderson, sister of the bride, as junior bridesmaid. They wore gold colored, floor-length, Empire sheath gowns styled with brocade bodices and featuring brocade train attached in the back at the waistline. They carried cascades of yellow, white and brown mums and their gifts from the bride were heart-shaped pendants of white gold centered with rhinestones. The junior bridesmaid's gift was a white gold cross on a slender chain.

Attending the groom as best man was his brother, Grant Gjovik. Groomsmen were Bob Gjovik, also a brother, Wesley Gjovik, a cousin of the groom, and Don Anderson, a brother of the bride. Ushers were Curtis Anderson, brother of the bride and Leif Hartmark of St. Paul, a friend of the groom. The attendants and ushers received black ties and white silk handkerchiefs from the groom.

For the wedding the mother of the bride wore a three-piece black and brown suit with brown hat and black accessories. The groom's mother was attired in a avacado green woolen dress with matching hat and black accessories. Both mothers wore corsages.

A reception was held in the church parlors with aunts of the bride, Mrs. Evelyn Erickson of Minneapolis as hostess and Mrs. Loyal Anderson, also of Minneapolis, registering the guests. Mrs. Harold Johnson of Strandquist and Mrs. Alice Hamness of Strathcona; aunts of the bride and groom, respectively, cut and served the wedding cake. Pouring coffee were Mrs. Vergil Poole of Lake Bronson, aunt of the bride and Mrs. Ansel Driscoll of East Grand Forks, assisted by Mrs. Grant Gjovik and Ruth Bagnas. The punch was served by Mrs. Dick Elie of Minneapolis, cousin of the bride and Mrs. Wesley Gjovik of St. Paul. Those in charge of opening and arranging the gifts were JoAnne Riveness, LuAine Knutson and Marcia Lorenson all friends of the couple.

The bride is a graduate of Karlstad high school and is employed as secretary by Attorney Robert A. Wurst of Thief River Falls. The groom is a graduate of Greenbush high school and is employed as truck driver for Robert Brule of Crookston. Both are members of the "King's Messengers" choir.

Mr. and Mrs. Gjovik are now residing at 307½ East First Street in Thief River Falls.

Eagles Aux. Sends Birthday Gift To Adopted Son

A letter was read from the Crippled Children's Clinic thanking the auxiliary for their donations and support.

Members of the auxiliary balloted on two candidates, Mrs. Helen Duke and Mrs. Dione Lund, who will be initiated into the Eagles auxiliary at the next meeting, December 6. The president requested that all officers wear formals for the occasion. Entertainment chairmen Ruth Onkka and Shirley Ehrenstrom, reported that plans were completed for a special fund raising program to be held that evening with the proceeds to go to families in this community and that Marie O'Hara would be present to give a demonstration on making Christmas decorations.

Auxiliary members also voted to send a birthday to Leonard Rising Sun, their adopted boy at the Home on the Range, will observe his 15th birthday November 23. The birthday song was also sung for those having their birthdays in November.

It was reported that in reply to a request from Mabel Rude for blood donations for her sister-in-law, donations had been given by Ruth Onkka and Shirley Ehrenstrom. It was also stated that more blood was needed and anyone interested in donating could contact Mrs. Herman Rude.

Dorothy Poolman was the recipient of the special prize and Helen Dahl won the attendance prize. Shirley Ehrenstrom and Ruth Onkka were in charge of the entertainment and the hostesses serving refreshments at the close of the evening were Gladys Hogenson, Iris Bacon and Ella Larson.

Home Economic Career Day Is Planned by HEIH

At the meeting of the Home Economists in Homemaking on Tuesday, November 9, at the home of Ruth Legvold in this city, plans were discussed for a home economic career day to be held the early part of March. The object of this day would be for graduate home economists to provide information to any high school girl in the area interested in home economics and the varied job opportunities in this field.

Several films featuring floral arrangements, courtesy of Mostue's Gifts and Flowers of Thief River Falls, were presented by Peggy Stahl and Jan Brelland. The point of this program was an elegant display of 100 carnations provided by the Colorado Carnation Growers of Denver, Colo. At the close of the meeting, the arrangement was divided by those in attendance.

Attending the meeting from Thief River Falls were Marion Adams, Jan Brelland, Melvine Dagg, Jean Hellquist, Ruth Legvold, Annette Matts, Leah Peterson, Beth Schollin, Kathy Spengler, Peggy Stahl and Beverly Tveito.

Those from out-of-town were Janice Fitzsimons and Ferial Abrahms of Argyle, Marjorie Espe and Ruth Milstein of Middle River, Marlys Kolhase of Warren and Myrna Erickson of Red Lake Falls.

The next meeting of the HEIH will be held in January at the Melvine Dagg home in this city.

John Ericksons Honored on Their 40th Anniversary

In observance of their 40th wedding anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. John Erickson of Thief River Falls were guests of honor at an open house held Sunday, November 7 in the church parlors at the Mission Covenant church in this city. Hosting the event were their six children, who were all present, and their families, Mr. and Mrs. Mendell Erickson of Karlstad, Mr. and Mrs. Nels (Edla) Holmberg, Mr. and Mrs. Archie (Pauline) Ptacek and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Erickson all of Thief River Falls; Mr. and Mrs. John (Genevieve) Bowmen of Soudon and Mr. and Mrs. James Erickson of Champlin.

To mark the occasion, Mr. Erickson presented his wife with a corsage and he wore a boutonniere. The guests were greeted upon their arrival by James and Charles Erickson, sons of the couple while pictures of the day's events were taken by a grandson, Mark Erickson of Karlstad.

A program was presented with Mendell Erickson, oldest son of the couple, in charge. It included a song by the grandchildren of the couple and a tribute in behalf of the grandchildren by Allan Holmberg, a grandson. A greeting was also read from Paul Erickson, oldest grandson, who is attending Bethel College in St. Paul and was the only grandchild who was unable to attend.

A tribute to the parents from the children was given by Mrs. John (Genevieve) Bowmen. She also read an original poem written by Mrs. Alton Sackett, sister of Mrs. Erickson and one of the bridesmaids 40 years ago. The daughters-in-law, Mrs. James Erickson, Mrs. Charles Erickson and Mrs. Mendell Erickson, sang "Jesus Lead Them All the Way". Mr. and Mrs. James Erickson and Mrs. Charles Erickson sang "Trusting Thee More", Mrs. Rodney Brodin, pianist, accompanied all the singers.

Greetings were given by Mrs. Erickson's brother Clarence Tangquist of Viking, who was one of the attendants at the wedding, in behalf of Mrs. Erickson's family and the Rev. John Lind, pastor of the Mission Covenant church, in behalf of the congregation. The program was recorded on tape by Donald Thyren and presented to the honored couple by their children. Presentation of the gift, along with the other gifts from the children and friends, was made by Charles Erickson.

For the reception following the program, ruby, the 40th anniversary color, was used in decorations. Repeating the ruby color were the roses on the anniversary cake, the candles adorning the tables. The head table were the honored couple and their attendants were seated, was centered with a large floral arrangement, a gift from the friends of the couple.

Sisters of Mrs. Erickson, Mrs. Alton Sackett and Mrs. David Drotts, cut and served the wedding cake and Mrs. Aleck Anderson and Mrs. Henry Sustad, poured. Sons-in-law, Nels Holmberg, Archie Ptacek and John Bowmen, were in charge of making the coffee.

Approximately 175 guests attended the celebration and were registered by Mrs. Archie Ptacek. They arrived from Dassel, Karlstad, Warren, Champlin, Soudan, Viking, Thief River Falls and surrounding areas.

Mr. and Mrs. Erickson were married Nov. 4, 1925 at the home of Mrs. Erickson's mother, Mrs. Emma Tangquist, at Viking with the late Rev. Verner Drotts officiating. In addition to Mrs. Sackett and Clarence Tangquist, the couple were attended b ya niece and nephew of Mr. Erickson, Mrs. Stanley Dean and Elmer Lundquist, both of Minneapolis, who were unable to attend the anniversary celebration but sent greetings and best wishes.

Preceeding the open house Mr. Erickson hosted his wife and family to a dinner at the Rex Cafe. Other guests attending the dinner were the Rev. and Mrs. John Lind and David.

25th Anniversary Noted by Herman Christophersons

Over 200 relatives and friends helped Mr. and Mrs. Herman Christopherson of rural Thief River Falls observe their 25th wedding anniversary at an open house held at their farm home on Sunday, November 7. Among the guests were Mr. Christopherson's brother, Carl, who was an attendant at their wedding 25 years ago. A sister of Mrs. Christopherson, the late Amanda Fosholm, was the other attendant.

For the event Mrs. Christopherson was presented with a corsage of roses and carnations and Mr. Christopherson was given a white carnation boutonniere.

A short program was presented in the afternoon with the Rev. Harold Peterson in charge of the devotional meditations. Musical numbers included two solos by Mrs. Oscar Fosholm, a duet by Faith and Becky Heieren and a trio composed of Carol and Joyce Peterson and Mrs. Donald Rupprecht, sang one number. The group participated by singing two hymns. Mrs. Harold Peterson at her portable organ, acompanied all the singing.

For the reception served, the table was centered by a four-tiered decorated anniversary cake topped with a silver anniversary emblem. Crystal candelabra with silver candles were on either side of the cake.

Cutting and serving the cake were Mrs. Ted Ness and Mrs. Paul Anderson, sisters of Mr. and Mrs. Christopherson, respectively. Presiding at the silver service were Mr. Christopherson's sister-in-law, Mrs. Melvin Christopherson, and his sister, Mrs. Thorvold Myhrer while nieces of the couple, Carol Peterson, Mrs. Irwin Johnson and Janet Heieren were in charge of the guest book and gift table.

Relatives and friends attending from a distance were from Hillsboro, Grand Forks, Grandin, Fargo and Park River, N.D.; Halstad, Detroit Lakes, Hoyt Lakes and Schaffer. Many guests attended from the surrounding area.

Hostesses were Mrs. Frank Heinz, Bernice Knutson, Laura and Olg aLund, Geneva Overum and Mrs. Gilfred Sannes.

Thanksgiving Dance Sponsored By Falls Squares

Guests from Grand Forks, N.D., Gonvick, Goodridge and Oklee joined the members of the Falls Squares dance club at the Thief River Falls city auditorium on Saturday evening for their annual Thanksgiving dance. Ed DeLap of this city called the tips. To add variety to the dancing, he included a broom dance and a mixer.

Among the guests attending were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Nelson of Grand Forks, N.D., who have been frequent guests at the local square dances. They announced that they are leaving soon to make their home in Washington, D.C., and New York. Upon request from the dancers, they favored the group by dancing the number one hit tune on the current round dancing list, "Albama Waltz".

Using the Thanksgiving motif in table setting, lunch was served by Mr. and Mrs. Leon Bischel and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Vaudrin.

The next dance to be sponsored by the Falls Squares will be held December 4 with Sam Porter of Thief River Falls as caller.

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

Features from the Kitchen of

MRS. WILLIAM RUPPRECHT

With the approaching holiday season, homemakers are beginning to check recipes and menus needed for their entertaining. This includes the "something sweet" to serve with coffee when unexpected guests arrive. Today's recipe will solve the later problem.

Another prize winner at the Pennington county fair, the nut drop cookies entered by Mrs. William Rupprecht are definitely in the "fancy cooky" category and yet are surprisingly very simple to make.

NUT DROP COOKIES

1 cup shortening
2 cups brown sugar
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup nuts
1 teaspoon cream of tarter
1 teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon salt
3 cups flour

Method: Cream shortening, brown sugar, eggs and vanilla; add chopped nuts. Sift together dry ingredients and add to the creamed mixture. Mix well and drop from spoon on greased cookie sheet. Bake for about 12 minutes in 350 degree oven.

The William Rupprechts live on a farm about 21 miles northeast of Thief River Falls. They have five daughters, Sharon a Spanish teacher in the Chicago Heights junior high school; Judy, a sales clerk in a store at Rochester, Mich.; Joan, a student in tenth grade at Lincoln high school; Wendy attends kindergarten at Mark Twain elementary school and three-year-old Candice, who has reached the "why-stage", is at home.

When questioned about hobbies, Mrs. Rupprecht stated that church work was her main hobby. They are members of the Silver Creek Lutheran church and Mrs. Rupprecht is president of its Ladies aid. She is also counselor of the Silver Creek homemakers club and the girls are active in 4-H club work.

Another 4 Inches Of Snow Added During Past Week

Four inches of snow have fallen at the Thief River Falls municipal airport since Wednesday, bringing the total snowfall for the season to 10.3 inches. Some melting has occurred, however, and the airport is now recording a ground depth of four inches. Temperatures have remained moderate, with highs ranging in the 20's.

Mostly cloudy skies with scattered light snow flurries are forecast today, along with slightly colder temperatures for northern areas. Variable cloudiness is predicated tonight and tomorrow. Highs today will be in the 20's; lows tonight will range from 15 to 24.

Temperature and precipitation readings recorded since Wednesday are as follows: 26 and 1 on Wednesday; 27 and 12 on Thursday; 22, 16 and two inches of snow with .20 inch water content on Friday; 25, 1 and two inches of snow with .08 water content on Saturday; 30 and 20 on Sunday; and a low so far today of 24.

CORRECTION

Two typographical errors occurred in one case report in the municipal court proceedings of Wednesday's Times. The case involved the removal of the light on the water tower in St. Hilaire which is used to guide air traffic. The defendant was Richard Boman rather than Richard Oman and was the fine was $50 rather than $5.

Airport Project Complete; Airline Nears New Record

used the airlines in July. The previous high was 189 set in June with other peak months including 186 in August of 1964, 181 in April of 1965 and 180 in July of 1963. Only once since June of 1958 have boardings dropped below 100 per month—and that was in March of 1962 when 98 passengers boarded the planes. The mark of 100 or more passengers in a month was first reached in September, 1956, when 103 persons used the service from the municipal airport. See the accompanying chart for monthly boardings.

With the move toward using the fastest method possible for mail service—including the use of air transport for first-class mail—Thief River Falls will be in a good position to have the service available here.

G. Hemmingson, 90, Lake Bronson Pioneer, Dies

Gust Hemmingson, 90, a pioneer resident of the Lake Bronson community and the brother of Mrs. Walter Peterson of this city, died Thursday, Nov. 12 at the Karlstad Memorial hospital.

Funeral services for Gust Hemmingson were held Tuesday at 2 p.m. at the Community Covenant church in Lake Bronson, with the Rev. William Peterson officiating. Interment was made in the Riverside cemetery.

Gustaf Daniel Hemmingson was born in Smaland, Sweden, Oct. 6, 1875, a son of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Hemmingson. In 1879 he emigrated to this country with his parents, living for one and a half years near Lake Minnetonka, before homesteading near Kennedy in Jupiter township, Kittson county, where he attended rural school and grew to manhood.

He opened the Enok store eight miles east of Kennedy in 1897 and also served as postmaster of that community. During those early pioneer days, he also held a steam engineer's license and operated steam engines used during the threshing seasons.

In 1904 he homesteaded in Percy township, Kittson County. The following year, he married Miss Emily Anna Westerberg and they lived on that farm in Percy township until 1949 when they retired and moved into the village of Lake Bronson.

Mr. Hemmingson was a charter member of the Community Covenant church in Lake Bronson. As an active member, he held several church offices and for several years served as Sunday school teacher of the Swedish class. He also served on the Percy township board, the Lake Bronson school board and the creamery board for many years.

Survivors are one son, Joel Hemmingson of Lake Bronson; two daughters, Mrs. Harley (Ethel) Hemmingson, Grants Pass, Ore., and Mrs. Harry (Edna) Erickson of Lake Bronson; three grandsons, Lloyd, Larry and Harley Erickson; three great-granddaughters;

Also three brothers and two sisters: Joe Hemmingson of Minneapolis, Oscar of Crookston, John of Lake Bronson, Mrs. Walter (Marie) Peterson of Thief River Falls and Mrs. Anna Lundquist of Minneapolis.

He was preceded in death by his wife in December 1955, two brothers and one sister.

Henry G. Hallick Rites To Be Held At Newfolden

Funeral services for Henry George Hallick, 85, a resident of Newfolden who died Wednesday morning at Northwestern hospital were held Saturday at 2 p.m. in the Bethlehem Lutheran church south of Newfolden. The Rev. T.J. Weltzin officiated and interment was in the church cemetery. Green Funeral home was in charge of funeral arrangements.

Henry Hallick, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Hallick was born March 6, 1880 in Grand Forks, N. D., where he attended school and grew to manhood. He was united in marriage to Gina Haraldson of Elbow Lake on June 20, 1934 at Grand Forks.

Mr. Hallick farmed and operated a threshing rig north of Grand Forks until 1944 when the family moved to Grand Forks where he was employed by Dakota Mill and Elevator. In 1946 they moved to New Solom township, Marshall county where they farmed until the past year when Mr. and Mrs. Hallick became residents of the village of Newfolden.

He was a member of the Bethlehem Lutheran church.

Survivors include his wife, Gina; one daughter, Mrs. Milo (Darlyne) Windahl of Newfolden; two sons, Gorman and Harold Hallick, both of Grand Forks, N. D.; and six grandchildren. Among the several nieces and nephews surviving is Mrs. Edwin Docken of Grand Forks, N. D.

He was preceded in death by five sisters.

Mrs. Albert Berg, 57, of Grygla, Dies Sunday

Mrs. Albert (Belvia) Berg, 57, a resident of the Grygla community since 1933, died Sunday at Northwestern hospital in Thief River Falls.

Funeral services for Mrs. Albert Berg will be held Wednesday at 2 p.m. in the Grace Lutheran church in Grygla. The Rev. S. J. Sigurgeirson and the Rev. David Wolfe will officiate. Interment will be in St. Olaf's cemetery near Grygla.

The body will lie in state at the Green Funeral home from Tuesday noon until 10 a.m. Wednesday and at the church for one hour before the time of services.

A complete obituary will be in the Times on Wednesday.

George Johnson, 64, of Newfolden, Dies at Greenbush

Funeral services for George George Johnson will be held Tuesday at 2 p.m., in the Bethlehem Lutheran church at Newfolden. The Rev. Loren Nielsen will officiate and burial will be in the Opdahl cemetery.

The body will lie in state at the Green Funeral home until 10 a.m. Tuesday and at the church for one hour prior to the time of services. A complete obituary will follow in a later issue of the Times.

Area Players on NW School Team

Glenn Amiot of Thief River Falls and Bruce Nelson of Goodridge are listed as members of the "A" squad at the Northwest School of Agriculture this basketball season. The team opened its season Friday and Saturday at the Fort Garry invitational tournament at Winnipeg, and will play at Red Lake Falls on Saturday, December 4.

The Aggie wrestling team will open its season tonight against Coach Ed Krystosek's grapplers from Thief River Falls on the Northwest School mat.

Kurowski Family Escapes Death in Car-Train Crash

A Karlstad family narrowly escaped death Saturday noon, November 14, when they scrambled from their stalled automobile just before it was smashed by a southbound Soo Line freight train.

Mrs. August Kurowski, several of her children and Shirley Spilde, daughter of Mrs. Cora Spilde had gotten into the car about noon, but the vehicle wouldn't start, so another motorist gave the car a push. As the roads were slippery, they turned east out of Halma to find a gravel road to obtain better traction for the tires.

The car stalled on the railroad tracks, and while they were trying to move it, someone saw the train bearing down on them. They scrambled free just before the locomotive struck the car and heaved it 125 to 150 feet. One of the children was still so near the collision that she absorbed a portion of the blow, probably having been hit by the bumper of the car, and she was knocked unconscious for a time. No one else was injured but the car was demolished.

Two Area Women Get Garden Prize

Mrs. Orlando Chervestad of Oklee and Mrs. Albert Lokken of Newfolden are 1965 winners of Award of Merit certificates from the Minnesota State Horticultural society, according to E. M. Hunt, executive secretary of the society. They are among 27 winners of honorary awards selected from nominees in all parts of the state and will receive special recognition for outstanding gardening achievement.

TRF Bank Debits Down Slightly

Bank debits in Thief River Falls during October were down less than one per cent from the same month a year ago, according to statistics released by the Federal Reserve Bank of Minneapolis. In dollars, the city's bank debits volume during October was $10,818,000. In the same month of 1964 the total figure was $10,835,000. During the frist 10 months of 1965 bank debits amounted to $94,827,000, an increase of eight per cent from 1964.

For Minnesota and October volume of bank debits for reporting cities increased four per cent from October of last year. Debits for the first 10 months of 1965 increased 10 per cent from the same period in 1964.

The volume of bank debits reported by the total sample of Ninth Federal Reserve district cities for October increased four per cent from a year ago. The cumulative total for the first 10 months of 1965 indicated a nine per cent increase from the comparable 1964 period.

Bank debits are mostly checks against depositors' accounts and thus represent payments for goods, services, debts, etc. They also include transfers of funds which of themselves have no business significance. Bank debits mainly include all debits against checking accounts of individuals, partnerships and corporations, and of states and political subdivisions. They do not include debits to the accounts of other banks, the United States government and savings accounts.

Prowlers Win Opener In District Jamboree

Winning three of the four "games" on the program, and rolling up an aggregate point total of 112 points, the District 31 teams defeated the district's subdistrict's team, 112 to 83, in the third annual basketball jamboree held in East Grand Forks' senior high school gymnasium on Saturday night.

Coach Whitey Olson's Prowlers opened the "four-game" event by scoring a 29 to 16 win over coach Orv Bergman's Oslo Bobcats. The Prowlers will open play on their 1965-66 schedule on Friday night, when at 8 p.m., they meet coach Alan Taylor's Grafton Spoilers on the Lincoln high school court. In a preliminary game, coach Lee Swanson's rangy Prowler 'B' squad will meet the Spoiler 'B' squad, with the tipoff slated for 6:45 p.m.

In other games in Saturday night's jamboree at East Grand Forks, the Crookston Pirates defeated the Fisher Flyers, 28 to 21; coach Irv St. John's Warren Ponies bested the defending District Huskies, 38 to 26; and in the finale, coach Oliver Czech's Red Lake Falls Eagles surprised a favored East Grand Forks team, winning by a 20 to 17 margin. The Eagles received a fine all-round performance from Tim Kuiper, and six-foot five-inch Paul Walker provided backboard strength in the defensive contest.

The Prowlers, getting a 12-point effort from veteran Mark Stromberg, and with Tommy Cummings, another starter from last season's club, adding eight points, handled the Oslo squad with considerable ease. Bobby Brodin notched seven points for the Prowlers, and reserve Harold Overbye looped in a field goal late in the game. The Prowlers' limited the Oslo team to but three field goals, with Greg Farder, Don Nordling and Roger Farder tallying the two-pointers for the Bobcats.

Coach Craig Johnson a former Concordia college cage star, making his debut as a coach in District 31, saw his Crookston Pirates, after trailing by a 10 to 8 score after eight minutes of play, rally to edge out the Fisher Flyers, 28 to 21.

Coach Irv St. John's Warren Ponies, with the largest scoring total of the evening, defeated coach Glen Peters' Goodridge Huskies, 38 to 26. The Ponies, with stellar Pete Gilbert directing the offense and defense, lead by a 19 to 9 score at the half-way mark. Gilbert scored eight points for the winners, who gave indications of being one of District 31's top-rated teams.

IN THE VIKING HUDDLE

By Coach Norm Van Brocklin

I was fortunate in being a good friend of Bert Bell, former Commissioner of the National Football League and founder of the college draft, and I'm firmly convinced that the draft made the NFL.

By allowing the last-place club to select first, and so forth, it has kept a good balance within the league and kept one team from dominating the game.

In our case, being a new club, we needed help immediately and urgently from our first draft, back in 1961, and from it we landed such players as Rip Hawkins, Francis Tarkenton, Tommy Mason and Ed Sharockman.

Atlanta's new team, the Falcons, get even a better headstart. They will be permitted to pick first each round (as we did) and then will get an additional pick in each of the first five rounds. So they get, five more very fine players.

Of course, you have to sign them. Otherwise, the whole theory behind the draft goes out the window, and more and more, a player's availability is becoming as important as his ability.

We'll be drafting this weekend, as you undoubtedly know. We have 18 of our 20 choices, and have given away none of our higher selections, so we go into it in excellent shape.

Our job these next few days will be to find out everything we can about the players we're most interested in, because it's important to our future to sign them. At the same time, we can't disrupt the morale of our team by going way out of reason in bonuses and salaries. The only way you can accomplish both is to draft the right kind of player: one who is solid, who loves the game and wants to play at the best possible level.

The player we must stay away from in the draft is the one who who places money No. 1. This kind will try to run the price up, and then go to the club who offers him the most in cold cash. He's not the kind we want on our football team.

You'll hear the term "future" mentioned frequently this time of the year. This designates a playclass in college, due to laying out a season for one reason or another. He can be drafted in the year he normally would be a senior in playing eligibility - no other underclassmen can be picked.

For instance, take two University of Minnesota Seniors, John Hankinson and Aaron Brown. Hankinson was eligible to be drafted last year, and we picked him on the 8th round as a future, because he laid out a year with injury and otherwise would have played his senior season with the Gophers in 1964.

His teammate, Brown, wasn't eligible last year, because he is "on schedule" at the University. Needless to say, he will be drafted this weekend.

Young Hunter Is Knocked Down by Bullet Saturday

Fourteen-year-old Mathew Mickelson of Baudette was initiated to deer huntnig in a frightening way Saturday morning. While hunting with his father, Matt Mickelson, some friends the boy was struck in the upper right leg and knocked down by what was apparently a spent rifle bullet or one that had been slowed by contact with brush.

The slug failed to penetrate, but caused a bruise. The group was standing in a field near the edge of some woods a couple of miles southwest of Baudette when the incident occurred. Several other rifle bullets struck the ground near the party.

A deer had passed between the group and the hunter who may have fired the shots, who was an approximate quarter-mile from the Mickelson party. Despite the narrow brush with death or serious injury, the group, including young Mathew, continued to hunt.

In the Grey Cup

Coach Harry Peter (Bud) Grant's Winnipeg Blue Bombers, after failing to reach the western Canada football playoffs last season, capped a fine comeback effort this year by defeating the Calgary Stampeders on Saturday afternoon at Calgary. As a result of their win over the Stamps, the Blue Bombers won the western Canada finals, two games to one, and will represent the west in Canada's Grey Cup on Saturday.

The Grey Cup game will be played at Toronto, and the Hamilton Tiger-Cats, representing eastern Canada football, will be the Bombers opponents. The game will reach this area via television.

In Saturday's final at Calgary, the bombers erupted for a pair of touchdowns in the third period to overcome a Stampeder lead and go on to win. One of the plays was a 109-yard pass and run, from quarterback Ken Ploen to end Ken Nielson. Ploen, who hails from the hamlet of Lost Nation, Iowa, population about 500, was an All-America quarterback for the Iowa Hawkeyes and led Iowa to a Rose Bowl win in 1957, 35 to 19, over Oregon State. This season Ploen was named as western Canada's outstanding quarterback.

Says coach Grant: "Ken's got what all good quarterbacks have; a computer brain. You tell him something and you can see his brain absorbing the knowledge."

The Bombers trailed Calgary, 8 to 4, at the end of the first half of Saturday's game against the western conference leaders, but a pair of touchdowns, via Ploen to Nielson, turned over the game, with Winnipeg winning 19 to 12.

An Indication

That the Minnesota Twins held a marked edge over the other nine teams in the American League is indicated by the All-Stars selected by the "Sporting News", and with the balloting controlled by the players. Seen through the eyes of their rivals—no player was permitted to vote for anyone on his own club—the American's stars for '65 were: First base—Fred Whitfield, Cleveland; second base — Bobby Richardson, New York; third base—Brooks Robinson, Baltimore; shortstop—Zoilo Versalles, Twins; left field—Carl Yastrzemski, Boston; center field—Jimie Hall, Twins; right field—Tony Oliva, Twins; catcher, Earl Battey, Twins; and pitchers, Jim Grant, Twins, and Mel Stottlemyre, New York. That's five Twins that are honored.

But when you note the National League's All-Star team you can observe that the baseball talent in that loop is pretty well divided. The league champion Los Angeles Dodgers, winners of the World's Series, gained but two places, pitcher Sandy Koufax, and shortstop Maury Wills. The second place San Francisco Giants won three places in first baseman Willie McCovey, center fielder Willie Mays, and pitcher, Juan Marichal. The Ciney Reds placed a pair in second baseman Pete Rose and third baseman Deron Johnson. And the Milwaukee Braves also had two All-Stars in right fielder Hank Aaron and catcher Joe Torre. And Pittsburgh placed left fielder Willie Stargell.

But can you imagine a National League team that omits such players as the Cubs' Billy Williams or Ernie Banks, Pittsburgh's Roberto Clemente, the Phillies' Richie Allen, or the Cards' Jackie Flood or Bob Gibson? And now, to the distress of Russ Embury, the Chicago Cubs have obtained the services of Leo Durocher as manager!

A Cloudy Crystal Ball

I must have been using a cloudy crystal ball when I picked the Notre Dame team to beat Michigan State, and Princeton to beat Dartmouth.

The Big Ten champion Michigan State team handled the Irish of Notre Dame with more ease than the 12 to 3 score would indicate. And I dropped a small wager on that outcome. And Dartmouth's Big Green, with a versatile attack directed by quarterback Mickey Beard, defeated Princeton, 28 to 14, in Princeton's Palmer stadium. The win closed out an unbeaten season for Dartmouth, and gave coach Bob Blackman's team undisputed possession of the Ivy League football title.

As for the Notre Dame vs. Michigan State game, I was half right, for the Irish held a 3 to 0 lead at the intermission. But unfortunately the two teams played an entire game, and that 3 to 0 lead melted quickly in the second half. I better add an extra snap to my coin purse!

State Publishes Big Game Book

A new book giving detailed information on Minnesota big game animals has been prepared by the research section of the state game and fish division, the conservation department announced this week.

The 231 page book entitled "Big Game in Minnesota" sells for $2.50 per copy and is available from the Minnesota Documents Section, Room 140, Centennial Office Building, St. Paul, Minnesota 55101.

It contains chapters on white tailed deer, moose and bear as well as on big game animals now rare or extinct in Minnesota such as elk, caribou, bison and pronghorned antelope.

The book was written under the general direction of game research biologist Bernard A. Fashingbauer, formerly of the conservation department and now curator of the St. Paul Science museum.

The life history and habits of the animals, their relationship to the lands they inhabit, their management and hunting are included in addition to a sumary of past hunting regulations. Minnesota's nearly 300,000 deer hunters should find the book to be particularly informative and helpful.

Says State Has Money For Highway Program

"The State of Minnesota can match all of its federal highway allocations for the next several years, take care of its highway department operating expenses and still have almost $15 million a year left over to spend on state roads not participating in federal financing," states Robert T. Thornburg, executive secretary of the Minnesota Petroleum council.

He took sharp issue with a recent bulletin of the Minnesota Good Roads organization, which claimed that the state will not have enough funds, under present financing, to meet its road needs.

Thornburg called the bluletin "an inaccurate, distorted and misleading picture of the state's highway finances." "Error has been compounded upon error," Thornburg charged, "as the bulletin overstates federal highway allocations, overestimates the state matching requirements for federal money and neglects altogether to provide for any normal incremental growth of highway user revenues."

The "Good Roads" bulletin claimed that state matching requirements for federal aid highway projects would average $32 million annually and non-federal work would average $53 million annually, with a total annual cost to the state of $85 million. Against this the bulletin estimated highway revenues of only $78.7 million annually, for a deficit of more than $6 million per year.

Thornburg, on the other hand, said that an up-to-date analysis of all highway - connected finances shows this picture for the years 1966 through 1972 (the end of the current federal highway program): Annual average federal aid matching requirements, $20.5 million and annual non-construction expenditures, including maintenance and administration, $49.7 million, for a total annual cost to the state of $76.2 million.

And, against this, Thornburg stated, the analysis shows anticipated state revenue from highway user levies and other sources of more than $91 million annually. This would leave the state approximately $15 million per year which could be used either on state construction projects not on the federal system, or to meet possible increases in construction, maintenance or administrative costs.

Thornburg said his association's analysis was made from official government documents and that revenue estimates were made from official state figures projected at a conservative rate of growth.

He said the "Good Roads" bulletin badly overstimated annual construction requirements, partially "perhaps by separating right-of-way expenses from construction expenses, whereas right - of- way costs are already included in federal construction figures."

Another major error, he continued, was made by the bulletin when it considered revenue would remain static, ignoring normal growth rates. Further, the bulletin failed to take into account the approximate $5 million annually which comes to the highway budget from miscellaneous non-highway-user sources.

"In all," Thornburg concluded, "the bulletin gave a seriously distorted view of the state's financial capacity to continue its highway program. The truth of the matter is that the program is in good financial shape, and certainly not in need of any kind of 'doctoring' which could only mean higher taxes."

November Most Dangerous Month For Pedesetrians

November, with its sudden changes from mild to cold, snowy or icy weather is one of our most dangerous months for walking, according to Chief Elton Cummings of the Thief River Falls police department.

In bad weather, people hurry at the expense of caution. Footing is often poor and pedestrains are usvision is blocked by a turned-up collar, scarf or pulled-down cap, he said.

Last November, 11 pedestrains were killed in traffic. Over the past five years, 61 pedestrains have been killed in traffic during November. The fall over the years has proven to be the most dangerous period for the pedestrain and the danger can be at its worst in November.

"Everyone knows the rules of safe walking and there is no need to repeat them here," he said. recognize the danger for what it is, he wil follow those rules."

He pointed out that drivers have a special responsibility to watch for those classes of pedestrains who need extra protection. They are the young, the elderly and the blind.

"All of them—not only the blind—are impaired to a degree. The young often don't think about the danger and the elderly often are impaired in sight and hearing," he said. "All that it requires on the driver's part to protect them is a little extra patience."

Wheaton Man Is Named District DFL Chairman

Greg Powers, 54, of Wheaton has been named acting chairman of the 7th District DFL by the district executive committee, according to Mrs. Henry (Kay) Peterson of Karlstad, district chairwoman.

Powers will fill the vacancy created by the October 31 death of A. O. (Spot) Reierson, Fosston, veteran party leader of the 23-county congressional district in northwestern Minnesota.

"The selection of Greg Powers as chairman will be submitted to the 7th District DFL Central committee for its approval at a meeting to be called soon," Mrs. Peterson said.

In explaining the selection of Powers, Mrs. Peterson said the district constitution calls for the elevation of one of the three district vice-chairmen to the chairmanship by the executive committee if the chairman is unable to serve.

"A poll of the 20 member executive committee resulted in the unanimous selection of Greg Powers," she reported. "However, we feel that the entire central committee should participate in the decision, as the new chairman will need the unqualified support of all 7th district DFL'ers if he is successfully to continue the work of building a strong organization."

"DFL district party officers' terms currently run until the next district party convention next spring. Members of the central committee include the executive comittee, all county chairmen and other representatives from the 23 counties.

Powers is a Wheaton farmer and business man. He is a native of Chokio and moved to Wheaton in 1939. He has been active in Traverse county DFL politics for several years and served five years as a county commissioner.

A Time To Remember Who We Are

This is the time of year when Americans traditionally observe a day of thanksgiving for their blessings. It is good that we should do this.

But is it not also fitting that on the day—so reminiscent of our origins—we should be mindful of our heritage and the trust it imposes on us. The price the Pilgrims paid for survival. The bloody feet at Valley Forge. The thunder at the Alamo, Gettysburg, the Argonne, Midway, Bastogne and Pork Chop Hill.

Yes, let us remember who we are. For a little pride is the wellspring of courage. Let us endure unflinchingly whatever sacrifices we are called upon to make to defend our free institutions from the night of communism, which is bent on undermining our faith in ourselves. Let us rely not only on the gold in our vaults, but the iron in our blood. And let us cling like ivy to the faith of our fathers until, in God's good time, all men are free.

"The human race has an incredible capacity to hear what it wants to hear, see what it wants to see, and find the data to support what it is already committed to. Nothing terrifies men so as an idea that may involve their restructuring thought."

—Leo Rosten

Subversion, Anyone?

In another legal step which virtually defies imagination, the U. S. Supreme Court has handed out shovels for undermining the stability of the United States of America. The high court has ruled that communist party members can not constitutionally be forced to register with the government because of the risk of self-incrimination.

It is our personal opinion that the Supreme Court of our land is comprised in general of a bunch of knuckle-heads. Over the past few years this group has seen fit to misinterpret the constitution of the United States to such an extent that the founding fathers of our nation would scarcely recognize their intent if they were alive today. Certainly law must be more than words and justice must be more than freedom from punishment for wrongful acts.

This "self-incrimination" bit is getting a little more than a little out of hand. Lawbreakers called on the governmental carpet may be shown to be as guilty as a blood-spattered wolf in a flock of slain sheep but investigators are stymied by the repetitive intonation of "I refuse to answer on the grounds that the answer may tend to incriminate me." Senate investigators must cry themselves to a fitful sleep every night from sheer frustration.

We good-hearted people of the United States certainly wouldn't want to run the risk of self-incrimination of communists, would we? Certainly it is the freedom-loving, generous, sacrificial Americans who join the communist party in the United States. Their intentions must be honorable or certainly the Supreme Court would not be so concerned about protecting them from the punitive laws in our land.

Nuts!

In its arbitrary action the supreme court has further loosened the plug which prevents freedom from draining out of our nation. It is running interference for the communist party, and its 11-page opinion is one of the plays being used to score against democracy. It is difficult to have faith in our legal system when the highest court in the land seems not only lacking in basic intelligence but eager to destroy the foundation upon which our country has been built.

Sen. James O. Eastland, Mississippi Democrat and chairman of the Senate Judiciary committee, said the decision by the high court "is not the first which has overthrown a provision of the law enacted by the Congress as protection against subversion. Either our government has the power to protect itself against subversion or it faces inevitable destruction."

We are sure the parents of our fighting men in Viet Nam are shaking their heads—if not their fists—about the court decision. It does seem rather stupid to have our young men give thier lives in Southeast Asia to halt the advance of communism while our nation's highest court embraces the advance of communism within our own shores. The situation can be compared to a tie baseball game with bases loaded and nobody out in the last of the ninth when a tapper to the mound is thrown to first base while the winning run scores at home.

Gus Hall, chairman of the communist party in the United States, was said to be elected by the decision. He said his party will publish a basic political program within two weeks, call its first public national convention since 1950 and take steps to enter candidates in the 1966 congressional elections.

We believe in personal freedom as much as anyone. We don't believe, however, that this abuse of freedom should be permitted in our nation. It is easier to crush the scorption than to treat the victim after it has stung. We must recognize that communism is not consistent with a free America and that communists are not good citizens but menaces to society. Personal freedom should not include the freedom to destroy our nation and the very freedom which it provides.

Sights to See

Princess Margaret of Britain and her husband, the Earl of Snowdon, are being given a sight-seeing tour of the United Stat They are whisked about the huge metropolitan areas of the two coasts, shown the relics of the nation's history, escorted to the final resting places of famous Americans and provided with a swirl of social night life. When they leave this county they will not have seen America.

The heart and life of America lies in its people—men, women and children who work and play as individuals and as families in the thousands of communities and millions of homes in our country. Except for the curious throngs which crowd the thoroughfare wherever the royal party goes, Princess Margaret and her husband will likely have no contact with the soul of our nation.

Nor will the crowded metropolitan areas give an accurate picture of our country. To visit the United States and not see the waving grain and quality livestock of Red River Valley is like going blindfolded to the Rose Bowl parade. To miss the serenity of a Minnesota lake or the silence of our wooded areas is to miss much of the reason why Americans have a deep-rooted pride in their nation.

We would wonder if the Princess and her husband will be given a tour of a large pharmaceutical laboratory where private enterprise is finding causes and cures of medical problems at an astounding rate. We wonder if they will talk to any of the nation's outstanding men in the medical profession and hear their opinion of socialized medicine.

America is many things to many people. It is next to impossible to find out about America in depth while skimming the shallow surface of society, politicians, metropolitan masses, shrines, museums and art galleries.

We feel sorry for our royal visitors. They will return to their country after a long trip in the United States and they will nave not have seen America.

Farm-City Week

National Farm-City Week is being observed this week and will end on Thursday, Thanksgiving day. The observance is designed to emphasize the importance of rural and urban people to one another and to help each understand the problems of the other.

To communities like Thief River Falls the observance is significant in that it officially recognizes a process which takes place every day of the year. Residents of communities in rural areas readily recognize the importance of agriculture. Many of them come from farm families or work dirtly with farm families in the course of their business.

The importance of agriculture must be given more emphasis in the larger cities where many people haven't seen a real cow, pig or sheep or truckload of grain. On the other hand, there are those in the rural areas who have not experienced the metropolitan crush of civilization with its six-lane traffic, flashing lights on places of entertainment and wall-to-wall houses.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, who has an opinion on everything, had this to say about farm-city week:

"In this age of change, rural and urban Americans do need to understand one another still more, to learn more about each other's problems. . .It is important that there be genuine two-way communication. . .The fact is, that as America's economy advances to ever higher levels of growth, it becomes more complex. Farm and city are increasingly interdependent. Their destiny is inter-twined—economically and from every other standpoint; mutuality of interest does require close collaboration."

A publication of the American Meat Institute stated the following:

"It would be difficult to exaggerate the importance of an observance such as this. In the complex, fast-moving world in which we live and work we tend to become totally immersed in our own concerns. We give too little thought to the problems, aspirations and achievements of others, so envies and jealousiess tend to arise.

"From the modern farm, with its highly advanced production techniques, comes the meats, the vegetables, the fruits, the grains and dairy products that make us the best fed people on the earth. They are consumed, with gusto, in the towns and cities. The farmer and the urban dweller are partners in the broadest sense of that word. The more they know about each other, the better off the nation will be. And that is what makes National Farm-City Week so outstanding an event."

The Lap of Luxury

Financial columnist Sylvia Porter writes: "For the first time in world history, a nation has emerged in which families on average soon will be spending more than 50 cents of each after-tax $1 on luxuries—rather than on the traditional basic necessities of food, shelter, clothing and fuel. This nation is our United States."

The statistical record, as Miss Porter presents it, is an amazing one. In 1875, 94 cents of each family's spending went for the basic necessities, leaving but six cents for other things. In 1929, the comparative figures were 59 cents and 41 cents. In 1954, they were 56 cents and 44 cents. And in 1964, the proportion spent for necessities was down to 52 cents, with 48 cents going for nonessentials.

This is a testimonial to the productive genius of this nation—and of the superiority of the free competitive enterprise system which supports it, strengthens it, enriches it, and sustains its public and private institutions. It is also a testimonial to something we all take for granted—the principle of mass distribution which governs almost all of American retailing. The most efficient factory on earth, obviously, would be of small value unless there were an equally efficient method of transferring its products to the hands of consumers. Mass distribution, with its emphasis on big turnover of goods at very small unit profits, provides that method.

Mass distribution is comparatively young—the chain stores developed it within this century. But it is as thoroughly established as the oldest of enterprises. Retailing American-style is being emulated throughout the world. To it belongs much of the credit for our living standards.

A man who never seemed to please his wife told her one Sunday that he would fix her breakfast just like she wanted it and serve it to her in bed. She requested a glass of orange juice, two pieces of toast, two slices of bacon, one hard-boiled egg, and one scrambled egg. Her husband fixed everything and carried her tray to her. She looked at it and said, "Just as I expected! You scrambled the wrong egg!" —The Rotarian

Doings of week at Rosewood

Mrs. Bert L. Kron, Rt. 1, Newfolden, Minn. 623-2233

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Rooker, Debbie and Dale of Grand Forks visited over the weekend at the James Rooker and Elmer Rooker homes.

Wendy Nelson of Thief River Falls spent the weekend at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Nelson. Friday evening they visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Olaus Mattson.

Last Saturday Mrs. Victor Ranstrom and Mrs. Willard Erickson and Debbie accompanied Mrs. Maynard Moisknes, Janet and Susan to Grand Forks on a shopping trip.

Thursday evening Mrs. Emil Hellquist attended a jewelry party at the home of Mrs. Maynard Waldron in Thief River Falls.

The South Circle met at Rindal church last Wednesday afternoon. The short business meeting consisted of planning for the annual business meeting with election of officers and for the Christmas party. The circles have been invited to the home of Mrs. Marie Anderson in Thief River Falls on Wednesday, December 8, for this meeting. A fifty cent gift will be exchanged by all the members and guests that day.

The Rosewood Homemakers will meet Tuesday afternoon, November 23, at the Albert Walker home. Bring supplies to make Thanksgiving favors for residents of the Rest Homes. Any gift suggestions, Christmas decorations or other holiday ideas will be exchanged and plans made for the Christmas Party.

School Activities

Many parents attended Open House in their schools during National Education Week in Thief River Falls, Newfolden, Viking and Holt.

Saturday night Mr. and Mrs. Russell Nelson were guests at the American Legion teacher appreciation dinner held at the American Legion club rooms in Thief River Falls.

Tuesday after school, the Newfolden FHA had initiation of new members into the organization. Supper was planned and served by a committee of sophomore girls. Those taking part in the evenings activities were Deanna Jarshaw, Sandra Dahl, Joy Hodik, Joyce Sabo, Karen Kron, Janet and Susan Holmstrom and Mrs. Bert Kron.

Mrs. William Bulger and Mrs. Hjalmar Aaseby are enrolled in the class of Modern Mathematics being held each Wednesday night at the Vocational School in Thief River Falls.

The Junior class at the Newfolden high school had a roller skating party at the arena in Thief River Falls last Thursday night. Those attending from here were Janet Holmstrom, Joyce Sabo and Sandra Dahl.

The Newfolden Carnival attracted a large crowd of parents, students and fun seekers to their annual event last Friday night. Eugene Beckland and Karen Kron of the senior class were honored by being voted in as Carnival King and Queen this year.

Mr. and Mrs. John Thompson and Harold Sabo spent Wednesday in Grand Forks shopping and attending to some business.

Saturday Albert Hellquist visited at Morris Halvorsons at Viking.

Saturday afternoon Mrs. Rusell Nelson and Wendy Nelson visited at the Harold Sabo home. Sunday visitors there were Mrs. Ferdie Wicklund, Michael and Tammy of Newfolden.

Thursday Mrs. Roger Tunberg and Mrs. Marie Anderson of Thief River Falls visited at the Donald Anderson home and brought birthday greetings and a cake to little Mark Anderson on his first birthday.

Visitors at the home of Mrs. Pete Sabo last Wednesday afternoon were Mrs. Irwin Johnson, Mrs. Clarence Peterson of Silverton and Mrs. Donald Rupprecht, Melodee and Dale of Agder.

Mr. and Mrs. Christ Sostad of Middle River were Thursday dinner guests of Martin Swensons. That afternoon Mrs. Pete Sabo and Mrs. Christ Engen of Holt visited at Swensons.

Last Tuesday night Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lambert returned from Minneapolis where they had attended the funeral of a brother-in-law of Mrs. Lambert's. Mr. Curtis Botseth had been killed in an automobile accident on Saturday so Lamberts went immediately on Sunday to be with the family. Randy and Paul stayed at the Floyd Johnson home in Thief River Falls while Harley and Harvey looked after the farm during their parents absence.

Mr. and Mrs. John Thompson and Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Quam attended the supper and the program on Veterans Day at the American Legion Club.

Deer Hunting Brings Company

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Holmstrom, Ricky, Wayne and Bradley of St. Paul were staying at August Holmstroms during deer season. Saturday night they visited at the Ray Holmstrom home.

Art Holmstrom and daughter, Joan, of St. Paul were also up; Joan spent Saturday and Sunday visiting her cousins at Ray Holmstroms.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Keniston and Rhonda of Coon Rapids, Minn, and Lois Walker of Coon Rapids were weekend guests at the Albert Walker home.

Danny Brouse of Thief River Falls spent the weekend hunting with Harold Overbye.

Mr. and Mrs. Omer Parent of Argyle came to the William Bulger home this weekend for hunting.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Dahl of Moorhead spent the weekend at the Engvald Dahl home. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dahl, Jeff and Brenda of Maple Plaine were also guests there and plan to spend the week hunting.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Jarshaw and children of Drayton were up over Sunday. Mrs. Jarshaw and Norine visited in the afternoon at Ray Holstroms. That evening the family visited with James Jarhsaws and picked up Llewellyn who had been playing that day with his cousins.

Mr. and Mrs. Rolland Hellquist and Paul of Minneapolis were Friday supper guests at the Emil Hellquists enroute to Ross, Minn. where they spent the weekend. Mr. and Mrs. Roger Langlie, Steve and Cheryl of Minneapolis accompanied by Mrs. Vern Melin and Julie of Newport also arrived on Friday at the Emil Hellquist home.

Coffee guests Saturday afternoon at Emil Hellquists were Mrs. John Doran of Detroit Lakes, Mrs. Vernon Holmstrom of Oklee and Mrs. John Ness of Thief River Falls.

Sunday many cousins met together at the Emil Hellquist home for visiting. Present were Mrs. Irwin Schmitke, Greg and Mark, Mrs. John Ness and Janelle, Mrs. Maynard Waldron and children, Mrs. Larry Hall and Ivy Lynn, Mr. and Mrs. Norris Trochmann and family, Mr. and Mrs. Darrel Bakke and Richard Jorde all of Thief River Falls. Also present were Mrs. Clifford Johnson and Barbara, Mrs. Magnus Bakke, Mrs. David Bakke and Mrs. Bertil Peterson and Nancy all of Newfolden.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Ranstrom were recent Sunday dinner guests of Mrs. Clara Langlette in Thief River Falls.

Sunday afternoon Mrs. Ed Hodik accompanied Susan and Sharon Holfstrom, Deanna Jarshaw, Joy and Janelle Hodik to Bethania where the girls sang on the program for the offer-fest. Afterwards they were all luncheon guests at Ray Holmstroms.

The Holmstrom sisters, Joy Hodik and Joan Holmstrom attended Youth Night at Our Saviors church in Thief River Falls on Saturday.

Visiting on Monday with Mrs. Roger Langlie at Emil Hellquists were Mr. and Mrs. Albin Langlie, Mrs. Dennis Clayton and two daughters, and Mrs. Ralph Giegling and son, Scott. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Melin of Red Lake Falls also visited there and Mrs. Vern Melin and Julie returned with them for a few days visit.

QUESTIONS Answered for VETERANS

Q—Is it true the federal government pays pension to widows of confederate veterans as well as Union veterans?

A—Since July 1, 1958, widows of Confederate veterans have been participating in the pension program administered by the Veterans administration. There are approximately 600 of these widows on the rolls today.

Q—What is the final deadline date for both World War II veterans and Korean conflict veterans for GI loans?

A—The World War II GI loan program comes to an end on July 25, 1967. The Korean conflict final deadline is January 31, 1975.

Q—Do veterans and their surviving dependents have a choice of pension plans?

A—Not in all cases. Veterans or surviving dependents of veterans who have come on the rolls since June 30, 1960, are under the current pension plan (PL 86-211). Those veterans or dependents who were already under the existing pension law before July 1, 1960, have the choice of remaining under that pension plan or electing to come under the current plan.

Q—The new Federal Housing Act of 1965 gives veterans certain housing benefits under FHA. Does this bring to a close the GI home loan program?

A—The Federal Housing Act of 1965 has no connection with the GI home loan program which continues until January, 1975 for Korean conflict veterans and until July, 1967, for World War II veterans. The FHA benefits you speak of are available to those veterans only who have not availed themselves of the GI home loan benefits.

Q—Does the recent closing of some six VA hospitals lessen the number of beds provided for veterans or the care administered the veterans?

A—No. The number of beds remains the same since an equal number of beds were opened at the remaining 162 VA hospitals for those lost through the closing of six older, more obsolete hospitals. There will be no change in the extent or quality of hospital care for Veterans.

Q—How many veterans of the Spanish-American War are living today? Is some ceremony planned for the "last man?"

A—There are more than 15,000 veterans of the Spanish-American War alive today. Such a ceremony would appear to be many years away.

Q—My son is leaving for military service. Can he purchase a government life insurance policy?

A—Yes. Under recent legislation, he will be automatically covered by a $10,000 oplicy and a certain sum will be deducted from his monthly pay unless he specifically states in writing that he does not want all or part of this full $10,000 insurance coverage.

Q—What is the age limit (deadline) for applying for the total disability income rider on National Service Life Insurance policies?

A—Until Jan. 1, 1966, application must be made before the insured's 60th birthday. On and after Jan. 1, 1966, application must be made before the insured's 55th birthday.

Q—I receive a pension from the Veterans administration as well as Social Security benefits. I have received a special check covering the adjustment payment due for January through August, authorized by the Social Security agency. When must I report this to the VA?

A—Report it immediately if it makes your income for the year excessive for the pension rate you are receiving. You may wait until the regular end of the year if the increase is not enough to make your income excessive for the pension you receive.

Appearing in newspapers of the Minnesota Editorial Association through the cooperation of the U.S. Soil Conservation Service and the University of Minnesota Institute of Agriculture

When man has too much or too little water, chances are he has gambled with nature and lost. He has risked living or farming in a floodplain or has depended on rainfall or runoff that didn't happen as he expected.

This kind of a probability problem faces a community or area in planning water control facilities according to Franklin Hoeft, civil engineer with the U.S. Soil Conservation service in St. Paul.

He says, that man's basic problem is to use all water efficiently while barring the great destruction that sometims occurs. One way of doing this is through the small watershed program, involving assistance to local sponsors from the SCS.

A case in point is the south Zumbro watershed at Rochester. Here is a city built at the confluence of several small streams. But these streams are not small in the eyes of local property owners along their routes when floods occur.

A flood has its impact on urban people and the surrounding agricultural community. Fences, tons of top soil, and road culberts and ditches may be swept away along with crops in ravaging flood waters.

One answer may be flood water retarding dams. Another might be channels to carry the water past the area being flooded. And probably the best answer is the combination of both, with dam and channel each designed to do its share.

How do you decide what structures to use and how big they should be?

In general, it is rarely possible for a dam or structure to accommodate any possible flood to which it might be subjected. Thus, SCS hydrologists study rainfall records, compute runfoff amounts, and help design structures to be affective not against all odds, but against reasonable odds at reasonable cost. An exception is where a failure would result in great human suffering—loss of life or tremendous property damage.

Each dollar spent must show at least a dollar return. Therefore, hydrologists must determine overbank inundation and resulting damages under existing conditions. Also, flows under future conditions must be determmined. The difference between damages from present flooded areas and damages from future floods areas is the amount of benefit which you use to justify the proposed construction.

Other benefits occur and must be studied along with engineering, geologic and other problems. Vision, planning, public education and understanding, local leadership and expenditure of local as well as non-local funds must be used to bring these projects to completion, Hoeft concludes.

In general, where are farm earnings higher in a county close to a booming metropolis, or in a more remote rural area? The answer seems to depend on which part of the U. S. you ask about. And for Minnesota and the West, the relationship isn't what many people expected.

East of the Mississippi, the closer a county is to a center of industrial-urban growth, and the larger the center, the higher the level of earnings of farmers in that county. West of the Mississippi, however, the reverse is true. This finding is one from a study by W. K. Bryant, agricultural economist at the University of Minnesota, and is based on 1960 census data.

Economists previously had expected that, in general, income level of farmers in a community would be higher the closer they were to a big industrial city.

Their reasoning centered around the fact that economist development centers are primarily industrial-urban in compositoin. In recent years, agriculture near these centers has adjusted through the release of labor and the increased use of capital and credit.

But, there has been a "lag" in this adjustment process. Farmers near large and diverse labor, capital and credit markets located in industrial-urban concentrations find it easier to adjust quickly than do farmers who are further removed.

Furthermore, some economists have felt that other economic factors tend to favor farmers and farm families located near large cities.

At any rate, Bryant found that the expected relationship did ocur in the eastern half of the United States, but in the western half—including Minnesota—the relationship seemed to be in the opposite direction.

How are these patterns to be explained? While all the factor Bryant suggests one line of interpretation. He says the initial reasoning assumes that markets important to agriculture are located in centers of industrial and urban growth. This assumption is probably close to the truth in eastern U. S. areas, where cities are large and close together. These cities are surrounded by larger milk shed areas, and have truck and vegetable farms on the fringes of these cities.

Such a pattern, however, is not so common in the western U. S. There, counties on the average are much farther from the industrial-urban areas, and the standard metropolitan statistical areas are smaller, than on the average, than is true in the eastrn states.

Still more important, however, is the fact that more agriculture in the western part of the U. S. has national rather than local markets. This, Bryant points out, holds for wheat, corn, cattle, irrigated cotton, vegetable and citrus areas.

True enough, agriculture close to large western centers may be proing for the product market of those centers. But as you move farther away from cities, the large western farms and ranches produce no more for western cities than they do for large eastern centers.

Finally, because of the remote locations of most counties in the western half of the nation, local labor markets are probably more influenced by local agriculture than the reverse.

Otto Saugen left by plane Monday morning for Minneapolis, where he joined a group of 25 men and women on a people to people good will tour to Hawaii and the Orient, traveling by jet. They left Minneapolis at 2:30 Monday afternoon and arrived in Los Angeles at 4:30. They expected to be in Hawaii Tuesday evening and would be visiting experiment stations, botanical gardens and also the wettest spot in the world where they have over 20 feet of rainfall a year. From Hawaii they planned to fly to Japan, and would also be stopping in Hong Kong, Formosa, the Philippines and other places of interest. They plan to stop in Hawaii again on the return trip and expect to arrive in San Francisco, Dec. 6. Before returning home Otto plans to visit his sister Inga and her husband at their home in San Francisco for a few days. This tour is sponsored through the University of Minnesota. A retired instructor from the University is in charge of the tour.

House guests at the Saugen home from Wednesday to Friday last week were their cousins, Gwen Kleppe and his wife from Williston, N. D. and Mrs. Anna Zodrasow from Minot.

Gilfred Sannes and John and Douglas Olson Jr. returned a week ago Sunday from Tampa, Fla. where they had visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Sannes. Gene who is in the Air Force left Saturday for overseas duty. Mrs. Gilfred Sannes and Mrs. Gene Sannes returned home Monday evening. Mrs. Gene Sannes will be living with her folks, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Olson, in Thief River Falls until her husband returns to the United States.

How's Your Health?

(Prepared in the public interest by the Minnesota Medical Ass'n)

Are you superstitious? Of course you are. Everyone knows that when night falls on October 31 the atmosphere suddenly becomes alive with ghosts, goblins, witches and gremlins. Just ask any child eight to 80. Fortunately with the stroke of midnight the coast is suddenly clear and all of our superstitions are suddenly packed in the attic trunk for another year.

Superstitions dealing with medicine and health don't vanish quite so easily. In fact, many superstitions and old wives tales which have long been disproved scientifically still continue to persist even in so-called enlightened circles. A superstition has been defined as a false belief that governs our actions, and medical superstitions are almost countless.

If you belive, for instance, that a dark or dirty sock hung around the neck will prevent colds from going down into the chest you are on the wrong track. Hot goose grease and camphorated oil applied to the chest have little therapeutic value in treating a chest cold. Chestnuts, dried bumble bees and molasses or urine will do little for croup. Sage tea won't cure a canker sore.

Cough medicine brewed from a concoction of sugar and moss taken from the north side of a maple tree won't do the trick. Nor will a cough syrup made of yellow or red clover or sun flower seeds cure a cough. You may be futher endangering the recovery of a whooping cough patient if you put your stock in a concentrate derived from red clover or elderberries. Including barks in your diet won't prevent high blood pressure.

Elderblossom, catnip or peppermint tea won't cure a cold. It is fantastic but true that tuberculosis victims were actually buried face down wih the belief that this would prevent other members of the family from getting the disease. There are many people who still believe that tea made of such herbs as sage or catnip have the power to cure a fever.

Wearing a length of red yarn around the neck will do absolutely nothing to prevent a nosebleed; neither will a piece of nutmeg on a string around the neck. It's absolutely absurd to believe that red clover will cure a fibroid tumor. Liverwort won't do a thing for liver or heart disease. Wormwood tea will not aid the treatment of an intestinal disorder.

Superstitions are fun, except when they involve your health. Take a look at your superstitions, and forget about those which may lead you to make decisions which could have devastating consequences, concludes the Minnesota State Medical association.

Rheumatism is a term which has been used for many years to describe a large number of aches, pains and disorders involving the joints and the structures and tissues around the joints, says the Minnesota State Medical association.

Arthritis and so-called soft muscular tissue rheumatism are included in this general category. Contrary to what many persons believe, rheumatism is not a single disease. Because one or more of a large variety of rheumatic diseases are present.

Many times rheumatism is mild and of short duration and the affected person does not bother to get medical help. This is one of the reasons why studies of rheumatism have been incomplete in the past. However, it is a safe guess that relatively few people go through life without an occasional stiff or painful neck, or lumbago or stiff, aching muscles.

Recent surveys, including one from the United States Public Health service, establish the fact that arthritis is one of the top disabling diseases in our nation today. It has been estimated, for instance, that there are nearly 12 million persons who are suffering from varying degrees of disability resulting from arthritic and rheumatic diseases.

The aches and pains which accompany rheumatism can be caused by a number of factors. Gout, which is one form of rheumatic disease, occurs when there is a certain chemical unbalance in the body. On the other hand, rheumatoid arthritis—which is our main crippling disease—has no known cause. Osteoarthritis, another relatively common form, is largely the result of wear and tear on the joints.

A survey conducted recently in Great Britain, showed that arthritis and rheumatic diseases in some form or other affect a major portion of the population. This survey also led to the conclusion that if the adult population were x-rayed over half would be found to have the beginning of osteoarthritis.

Pain is the most frequent manifestation of rheumatic and arthritic diseases. Disability may develop, although not in every instance. Fortunately every ache or pain does not mean that arthritis or rheumatism is developing. Pain may be an important warning signal, however; if a pain in a joint or surrounding area persists beyond a reasonable length of time a doctor should be consulted, concludes the association.

Thanks to the insulin era, diabetics can now eat and enjoy most of the same foods with the exception of sugar, advises the Minnesota State Medical association.

Today—if he knows the rules and follows them—he can eat most of the foods he enjoys. In fact the diabetic diet has sometimes been referred to as "the perfect diet", one that most people could follow to their benefit. And the "rules" allow for such a variety of dishes that the whole family may be quite happy with the menus planned for the member of the family who has diabetes.

People with diabetes do have to limit the amount of sugars and starches in their daily diet, because their supply of insulin is able to convert only a limited amount of carbohydrate to energy. Also—like a great many nondiabetics—they should know the number of calories they require per day. This depends on such individual factors as their age, their body weight, and the amount of physical exercise they get. But within these limitations they can enjoy a tremendous variety of foods by learning to use a simple but ingenious system of food "exchanges".

As a basis for these exchanges, foods are divided into six major types—milk, vegetable, fruit, bread (and other starchy foods), meat and fat. Light, leafy vegetables like spinach are called "A" vegetables. Heavier vegetables like pumpkin, are known as "B" vegetables. The diet plan of a person with diabetes determines the number of "exchanges" of each type which should be included each day for satisfactory nutrition.

When about variety? Well, when you wish to include eggs, fish, cheese, peanut butter, or other essentially protein food, you only have to know what amount of each "equals one meat exchange". Quantities of other foods are calculated in the same way by relating them to one of the other five main exchanges.

Eating in a restaurant need not be a problem for a diabetic. By selecting foods from the list of six food "exchanges" in moderage amounts, the diabetic can ordinarily avert trouble.

What about sugar substitutes? A large variety of sweetening agents which do a very excellent job are commercially available. The products which are very sweet and tasty have little calorie value, concludes the Minnesota State Medical association.

The old corn broom really got a workout back in the "good old days". It was the only way to clean the carpet, and the poor carpet suffered, too. Today's versatile electric vacuum cleaner not only cleans the carpet thoroughly, but dusts furniture, picture frames, drapes, wood floors, and anything else you have around! This is just one of the many changes brought by dependable rural electricity.

The Library Corner

by Virginia Gjernes

"Be Prepared" has served the Boy Scouts of America well for these many years. . .and it is certainly an excellent motto to have hanging around in your brain cells for this time of year. The holidays are just over the hill and around the bend. Are you prepared? If not, stop by your library and talk over your needs and wishes with the librarian. She'll help you choose skits and novels and true stories. She'll help you select books which will give you suggestions on what to make and tell you how to make it, or them, whichever the case may be; and if decorations for inside, outside and side table are troubling you . . .there are books about those things, too. Come in, soon, while the selection is excellent. Do your Christmas library 'shopping' early, too!

And while you are thinking about the holidays you might try reading some of the newest (or the oldest) available for your pleasure, information and relaxation. . .not to mention education. "The History of Jesus Christ" by R. L. Bruckberger is like no other book ever written on the life of Christ. The author attempts to convey the human aspect of the story of Christ and to explain the teachings of the church and the promises held for the confused mind of modern man.

The phrase "the confused mind" brings forth another title. "the Dropout--Causes - Cures" by Lucius F. Cervantes. This volume is unique in that the currently called "dropout" speaks for himself. He tells how he sees himself. He explains his reasons. He views are then compared with those of a high-school graduate with the same I.Q., similar social and economic background. This is an excellent, well-rounded study of the youth of today. This is one you shouldn't miss, especially if you're interested in our tomorrows.

Do you have prudence, justice, fortitude and temperance? Why not read "The Four Cardinal Virtues" by Josef Pieper. . . . .then let your conscience be your guide. The author's well-known ability to use the abstract and thus make his point hit home is obvious in this collection of the four volumes on each of the virtues he discusses, those which by ancient philosophy are deemed basic to correct conduct.

Claude Brown tells of the first northern urban generation of Negroes, about their experiences and about their searching, dreams, sorrows, rebellions and their endless battle to establish themselves. The name of the book in which he does this so expertly and interestingly is entitled "Manchild in the Promised Land". It is not a pretty, glossy story, to be sure, but it is one every American should read for it is the story of our heritage. . .and our future.

The story of St. Nicholas is the story of only one in "Saints in Folklore" by Christina Hole. The author also tells the stories of St. George, St. Joseph, St. Christopher, St. Blaise, St. Catherine and others.

If you haven't yet taken home David Halberstam's "The Making of a Quagmire" then you've made a big mistake. The N. Y. Times Pulitzer prize-winning reporter gives an account (and what an account!) of our 'precarious commitment in South Vietnam'. If you've been wondering "why?" about that far-off place this book should straighten out some of the kinks in your thinking. . .or else curl it a little more!

Fictionshelf shoppers will look for "Watch On The Wall" by Hallie Burnett, a story of Berlin today. Then there is "No Heaven For Gunga Din" by Ali Mirdrekvandi Gunga Din (different and enthralling). "The Silent Sky" by Allan W. Eckert is the story about the incredible extinction of the Passenger Pigeon. If you're a Wilfrid Sheed fan you'll want "Square's Progress" and if Jack Bennett is a leader on your author list then "The Hawk Alone" will go home with you.

If Christmas is your interest. . . see your librarian first! If reading is your interest, see your librarian. You just can't find a better place to shop awhile than your library.

Dairy Seminar Begins In TRF on Wednesday

Eight experts in various phases of dairying will conduct an intensive and extensive series of programs at a dairy seminar series to begin Wednesday, December 1, in Thief River Falls. Sessions will be held from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Wednesday and Thursday, December 1 and 2 and December 15 and 16.

All dairymen in Pennington, Marshall and Red Lake counties are invited to participate in the seminar and may register in advance at the Pennington county extension office in Thief River Falls. A fee of $2 will be charged materials.

Speakers at the seminar will include C. L. Cole, head of the dairy department at the University of Minnesota; J. B. Williams, dairy science professor; Kenneth Thomas, farm management economist; Donald Bates, agricultural engineer; Martin Christiansen, marketing economist; Ralph Wayne, extension dairymen; John Lofgren, extension entomologist; and Raymond Solac, extension veterinarian.

The four-session seminar will be the most extensive and complete program of its type ever to be held in Thief River Falls. Virtually all phases of dairying and dairy problems will be covered in the program by specialists who have gained knowledge in their particular fields.

Principles of nutrition and how a cow utilizes the needed components of her ration; economical rations, levels of grain feeding, high silage or hay rations, getting the cow ready for calving, special feeds and adjusting the feeding program to the individual cow;

Also calf raising with emphasis on basic principles of nutrition and management including rations and disease problems; buildings for dairy cattle of all ages with discussion on conventional, loose housing and free stall housing;

Also dairy cattle parasites and their control with emphasis on use of pesticides and insecticides and their concern to the dairyman; dairy cattle diseases and their control and future disease problems of the dairyman;

Also a look at future dairy markets with trends in food consumption as they affect the demand for dairy products; economic considerations in expanding the dairy operation and information drawn from the experiences of 50 farmers who have made substantial increases in herd size.

EMPHASIS at the Region I meeting of the American Dairy Association of Minnesota was placed on membership and the promotional program of the ADA. Posters proclaiming that the ADA is "putting power into pennies to catch dairy food customers" were much in evidence at the meeting. Officers reelected for the coming year are pictured above with Princess Kay of the Milky Way, Mary Ann Titrud of Clarissa. Standing is Sheldon Erickson, Badger, Region I chairman and delegate to the state organization. Seated are Donovan Bruggeman, left, vice chairman and alternate delegate, and Bert Thompson, McIntosh, secretary-treasurer of the regional association.

Board Elected To Direct Local Concert Ass'n.

Nine directors were elected to conduct activities of a local concert association at a meeting of interested persons held Monday evening in Thief River Falls. Justus Larson, chairman of the education and culture sub-committee of the Chamber of Commerce, presided at the session which was attended by 45 interested people.

Named to the board of directors were Robert Reeve, Rev. Paul Biegner and Mrs. George Martin, three-year terms; Justus Larson, Mrs. Max Jensen and Mrs. L. B. Hartz, two-year terms; and Francis Hamerlinck, Dr. Edward Nelson and Norman Peterson, one-year terms. The board will meet November 30 to elect officers and further discuss work of the association.

Monday evening's session was devoted to discussion of types of concerts available and methods of financing such concert in the city. Survey sheets indicating preference for various types of concert were completed by those attending and will be reviewed by the directors to guide their actions in the future.

Zion Lutheran To Give Concert

Zion Lutheran church Christmas concert will be held December 5 at 3 p. m. under the theme, "Of the Father's Love." Children's, chapel and senior choirs will participate. The public is invited. Coffee will be served after the concert.

Langen Addresses First Convocation

"The future of America depends to a great extent on how well you learn your lessons today in this new college, and how well other young people learn their lessons in similar schools across this nation," Congressman Odin Langen told the student in the newly-established junior college at Thief River Falls today.

Appearing at the first convocation of the new school, Langen explained the workings of Congress and outlined some of the complex operations of the federal government. "It soon will be your responsibility to run that government," he said, "and you must be fully prepared to not only understand how government operates but to assume a ful role in directing governmental functions."

To illustrate his point, Congressman Langen pointed out that there are no more than a handful of Americans who completely understand the federal budget and the nation's fiscal problems, as well as today's most complex international policies.

"But it must be understood by an increasing number of persons in the years ahead if the great economic gains made by the United States are not to be lost. It may at times seem like tedious study, but the role of national and world leadership falls upon the shoulders of those who can venture intelligently into the unsure atmosphere of the pursuit of peace throughout the world and with greater economic security and hope for freedom to all mankind."

Langen had praise for the new junior college, saying that the demands for education in the years ahead will require many more such facilities for advanced learning. "This school repesents the progress being made in educational facilities today," he said, "and the contribution being made by the many local communities throughout the nation that are responding to the growing need for such facilities if our growing number of young people are to be properly educated to meet the challenge of this scientific society."

Adventist Church Adopts Largest Program Budget

Rev. Gary Schwarz, pastor of the Thief River Falls Seventh-day Adventist church, received word this week that the denomination's top executive comittee in Autumn Council action has voted the largest budget in the history of the church.

Rev. Schwarz said the 1966 budget for the church's world program has been set at $39,445,742, or an increase of $4,699,371 from the budget voted last year. Of this amount, $24,904,000 is earmarked for the denomination's overseas mission work, which is carried on in 189 countries.

Among items listed on the budget was $80,000 for a servicemen's center in Washington, D.C. Many of the Adventist servicemen are stationed at Washington during part of their military service due to their close association with the medical branch of the armed services, the pastor explained.

Other items ranged in scope from $200 for classroom equipment for the mission school in Gitove, Africa to $73,800 toward a new hospital building in Ethopia.

Other actions of the council included a stepped-up program of recruitment for nurses and other medical personnel to staff and Adventists' world-wide chain of hospitals and clinics.

Plans are being laid for expansion of vocational and technical training at the junior college level on denominational campuses. To provide such training, some of the church's larger academies and junior colleges will be expanded.

The council restated its stand on equality of the races. Dialogues and pulpit exchanges are to be added to the existing integration program of the church.

CoOp Store At Grygla To Hold Annual Meeting

The annual statement of the cooperative will show total sales of $130,722 for the past year with cooperative store has inventories of $34,541 in merchandise, total current assets of $52,553 and total assets of $85,327. Liabilities total only $4,718.

Former Residents Purchase Airport Near Las Vegas

Two former Thief River Falls residents, both of whom were Lincoln high school Prowler athletes, have purchased Thunderbird Field, the main general airport at Las Vegas, Nev. They are Ralph Engelstad, general contractor and land developer at Las Vegas, the Homer Matheson of Cupertine, Calif.

Although the purchase price was not disclosed, the airport is said to be valued at $2,075,000. It had been held for several months by First Western Savings and Loan corporation at Las Vegas. The new owners will take over the airport on December 15.

Engelstad said a corporation is being formed to operate and develop the field into "one of the best private facilities in the country for private and executive aircraft." Both Matheson and Engelstad are licensed pilots and owners of private planes.

Legion Launches Campaign To Show National Support

"Operation Show Your Colors" was launched today by Ecklund-Holmstrom Post 117 in Thief River Falls, according to James Cuppett, post commander. The operation is part of the American Legion's nationwide campaign to answer in a dignified way the anti-Viet Nam and anti-draft demonstrations springing up across the nation.

More than 1,000 small metal U. S. flags were distributed Tuesday to students and faculty members at Lincoln senior high school, area vocational-technical school and junior college. Also distributed were cards stating, "Americans are serving the cause of freedom in Viet Nam. I wear my country's flag to show that I support their efforts."

Additional flags will be distributed today to local Legion and auxiliary members and members of civic groups. Commander Cuppett stated the following about the local drive:

"Purpose of Operation Show Your Colors is to show that the vast majority of our citizens, both young and old, support our nation's policies regarding the draft and Viet Nam. We ask that each person wear a flag proudly in the days to come as a symbol of the solidarity behind our nation's fight for freedom in Viet Nam."

Jodi Martin

Jodi Martin Will Tour Europe in Concert Chorus

Jodi Martin, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. George Martin of Thief River Falls and junior at Lincoln senior high school, has been accepted for participation in the third good-will European tour by students of the International Music camp. The 60-voice chorus will make the tour next summer.

The tour is sponsored by the International Peace Gardens Music camp which is operated near Bottineau, N.D. Miss Martin became eligible for the tour by attending the camp for one week last year, and was selected on the basis of her work at the camp and a taped recording of her singing of two assigned numbers. Linda Reeve was her accompanist on the tape recording.

The 60-voice choir was selected from among 400 who auditioned for the tour. A 70-piece tour band will also make the trip and is comprised of musicians from the United States and Canada.

The choir and band will tour major cities in Canada, England, Denmark, Holland, Belgium, Norway, Sweden and the United States. The groups will assemble at the Peace Gardens on Sunday, July 24, for a four-day training period. The musicians and vocalists will then leave on the tour, presenting final concert at Bismarck, N.D., on August 21.

Miss Martin is in her second year in the concert choir at Lincoln high school, sings in the glee club, is a member of the debate team and newspaper staff, has been a class officer and this year had the lead in the junior class play. She is also a member of Job's Daughters, holds the curved bar award for Girl Scouts, is a member of the Community Methodist church choir and northwest district secretary for the Methodist Youth Fellowship.

Mrs. Anton Johnson and Shirley of St. Hilaire attended the funeral services in Minneapolis for Mrs. Johnson's sister, Mrs. Winnie Young. Returning with them for a visit was Mrs. Johnson's sister, Mrs. Rose Lyon of Forest Lake.

Dairy Farmers Picket Local Stores Tuesday

DAIRY FARMERS GET ONLY 7c PER QUART 2c LESS THAN 1953

PICKETS carried placards in front of Thief River Falls supermarkets Tuesday to protest prices being paid dairy producers for their milk. Picketing began Tuesday in all major cities in the 34-county area of the Red River Valley Milk Producers pool. A spokesman for the pool said that the move is an attempt to gain support for farmers in their efforts to secure contracts with "non-cooperating processors." Pool members plan to picket stores handling the products of these processors from 9 a.m. until closing time for an indefinite period.

Picketing of major stores in major cities of 34 counties in Minnesota and North Dakota—which are handling products of diary processors not cooperating with the Red River Valley Milk Producers pool—began on Tuesday. Pickets carrying placecards appeared Tuesday in front of Hartz supermarket, Otto's Red Owl and Piggly Wiggly supermarket in Thief River Falls.

Pool members are picketing to call attention to prices farmers are receiving for milk at the producer level, a spokesman for the pool told the Times Tuesday. Pickets are talking with people on the street and beginning today are handing out brochures to people passing by.

Picketing is being conducted in East Grand Forks, Crookston, Detroit Lakes, Moorhead, Fergus Falls and Bemidji in addition to Thief River Falls in Minnesota; and Grand Forks, Fargo, Valley City and Jamestown in North Dakota. The spokesman said that up to 100 people are expected to work in shifts in Thief River Falls, carrying signs in front of the stores from 9 a.m. to closing time each day for an indefinite period.

Ultimate goal for the pool is the signing of contracts by processors which will guarantee farmers an increased price for milk at the farm. Signs carried on Tuesday proclaimed "Dairy Farmers Are Forced to Sell Milk Below Cost and Go Broke", "Dairy Farmers Get Only Seven Cents Per Quart--Two Cents Less Than 1953", and "All The Dariy Farmers Are Asking Is a Fair Price."

Merle Lundeen of Trail one of the four farmers issued a restraining order requiring them to sell milk to Land O'Lakes Creameries, Inc., under terms of a marketing agreement with the cooperative, said that the picketing began simultaneously throughout the 34-county area Tuesday. The decision to picket was made at a meeting in Fargo Monday afternoon.

Lundeen, together with Olaf and Orlan Stolaas of Oklee and Darrow Lundeen of Trail, were issued the restraining order by district court in Thief River Falls in mid-September. The order restrained the producers from selling their milk to other processors than Land O'Lakes. The four farmers were co-defendants in a suit scheduled for trial at the fall term of district court in Thief River Falls, but the suit was dropped by the cooperative before it came to trial.

"We plan to go entirely according to the letter of the law in our protest action," Lundeen told the Times today. "We will provide shoppers with our informational brochures but will in no way interfere with shoppers in the purchasing of products at the stores. It is our intent to merely call attention of the public to the situation dairy farmers face today and

Changes Made in Tax Assessment

Owners of real estate are advised by E. Clarence Weckwerth, assessor for Pennington county, that the forthcoming assessment of real property will be made as of January 2 instead of May 1. The change in the date of assessment of real estate was enacted by the legislature in the 1965 session.

The legislative action affects not only the time of determination of value, but also the matter of classification and exemption, Weckwerth said. He emphasized that the classification of each description will be governed by the circumstances that prevail on the date of assessment. These classifications include rural, urban (all other), seasonal recreational, tree growing, homestead and non-homestead.

Determination of homestead ownership and occupancy must follow the date of assessment. Persons who have been accustomed to filing declarations as of May 1, in previous years, will now find it necessary to make their declarations as of January 2, the county assessor noted.

Tax exempt agencies and institutions are also affected by the change in the assessment date. The exempt status of real estate owned and used for the purposes of the institution will be determined as of January 2 instead of May 1.

It was pointed out that the actual determinations as of Jan. 2, 1966 will be made as of the following day because January 2 falls on a Sunday. Taxpayers are also reminded that the personal property assessments are not affected by the new law and will continue to be made as of May 1.

Junior College Choir in Concert

Thief River Falls junior college choir, directed by Bryant Ulseth, will make its public debut Sunday, December 5, at 8 p.m. with a concert in the Lincoln senior high school cafeteria. The public is invited to attend and there will be no admission charge. Lunch will be served following the concert.

Mrs. Elmer Wick and Kathy of Minneapolis visited relatives and friends in this city last weekend while Mr. Wick was hunting near Grygla. Other hunters in the party were Henry Peterson, Clifford Thompson, Roger and Virgil; Dale Henry and son, Jif, of Minneapolis and Richard Thompson of St. Paul.

95 Enter Wool Sewing Contest Here on Friday

Ninety-five entries have been received for the District I Make It Yourself with Wool contest to be held Friday at the Thief River Falls municipal auditorium. Registration and judging will take place in the morning with a public style show and presentation of awards to begin at 1:30 p.m.

Entries include 10 in the subdeb division, 35 in the junior division, 41 in the senior division and nine in the adult division, according to Mrs. G. Milford Peterson, Crookston, district director.

Pennington county entries include Mrs. Alvin Horning, Goodridge; Debbra Nesland, Oklee; Mrs. Lloyd Noreen, Lynell Sande, Bonnie Finstad and Frances Moen, all of Thief River Falls.

Contestants who will be assisting in announcing the style revue include Maureen Crummy, Argyle; Bonnie Finstad, Thief River Falls; Nancy Pastier, Clearbrook; Robin Shalde, Perley; Mrs. Wilbur Hallstrom, Red Lake Falls; and Patricia Gaddles, East Grand Forks.

Modeling tips will be given to contestants by Miss Betty Taus and LeAnne Juve, Miss Crookston of 1965, who will also be in charge of the style show. Organ music will be provided by Miss Sharon Wold of Thief River Falls.

County leaders who have assisted in the contest are Mrs. Gunder Legvold, Pennington; Mrs. Andy Hagen, East Polk; Mrs. Willard Purath, Red Lake; and Mrs. John Taus, West Polk. District winners in the junior, senior and adult divisions will advance to the state contest in Minneapolis December 2 and 3.

Battles Named to Study Committee

Representative Everett Battles of Warroad was appointed to a four-man sub committee by Sen. Popp, Chairman of the legislative building commission, to make an extensive study for the needs of the 15 new junior colleges and report to the full committee by July 1, 1966.

Indecent Exposure Case Investigated By Police Dep't.

Thief River Falls police have failed to obtain further information in the investigation of indecent exposure complaints in Thief River Falls last week. Object of a search has been a man estimated at 19 to 20 years of age with shaggy brown hair, dark-rimmed glasses and driving a two-tone brown car believed to be a 1958 or 1959 Ford.

According to police, the man first stopped a young girl returning home from school on November 15, at about 5 p. m., asked her directions and offered her a ride which she refused. He then drove away.

At about 8:15 p. m. the same man reportedly approached two girls, and shortly thereafter approached three other girls, asking directions to start conversation in all cases. When he asked an obscene question of the latter group of girls, they fled.

Two other girls were stopped about 8:45 p. m. a man fitting the same description. The man reportedly made suggestive remarks and exposed himself before driving away in the car.

Police said the case is still under investigation and urged parents to again remin their children not to accept rides from strangers.

Joppru-McNatton Vows Spoken At Zion Lutheran

Miss Barbara Diane Joppru, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Joppru of Thief River Falls exchanged marriage vows with Dean McNatton, son of Mrs. Henry Johnson of Halma, at 8 p.m. October 30 at Zion Lutheran church in this city.

The Rev. Leland Steen officiated at the double-ring ceremony and organist, Jerry Joringdal played a program of organ music as the 200 guests were ushered to their seats. He also accompanied the groom's sister, Mrs. Loren Germanson of Karlstad, as she sang "The Song of Ruth" and "The Lord's Prayer". Palms and lighted candelabra decorated the chancel, autumn flowers graced the altar and the pews were marked along the inside aisle by white satin bows.

Judy Czeh of Minneapolis attended the bride as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Jean Czeh and Nancy Norness, both of Minneapolis and friends of the bride and Louella Lund of Grand Forks, N.D., cousin of the groom. Jan Joppru, sister of the bride, was junior bridesmaid. They wore identical floor length Empire sheath gowns of jade green satin fashioned with chiffon overlay, matching shoes and short white gloves. Each attendant wore a pearl pendant, a gift from the bride, and each carried a tangerine colored rose.

Flower girls were Cindy Joppru of Thief River Falls and Ann Marie Germanson of Karlstad, nieces of the bride and groom, respectively. They wore white satin gowns fashioned like the bridal gown and each carried a miniature bouquet styled similar to the bride's bouquet. Ringbearers, Danny Joppru, cousin of the bride, and Neil Germanson, nephew of the groom, were attired in black tuxedos.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Joppru wore a royal blue velvet dress with white accessories and a corsage of tangerine roses and yellow carnations. The groom's mother wore an emerald green velvet dress with cinnamon colored accessories and a corsage identical to the one worn by the bride's mother. Honor guests attending the wedding were the grandparents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Olaf Hagen of Thief River Falls. For her granddaughter's wedding, Mrs. Hagen wore a blue suit with black accessories.

A reception was given in the church parlors by the parents of the bride and served by the members of the Grace circle of the ZLCW. Autumn flowers in tangerine, yellow and green graced the tables and centered the table set for the bridal party.

Highlighting the serving table was a double-three tiered wedding cake joined by an arched bridge. Topping the one section was a miniature bride and groom while across the bride on which stood a miniature pair of bridal attendants, was a lighted church. Poised on the lower tier were the other miniature attendants. All the miniature bridesmaids were dressed in jade green, similar to the bridal party.

Cutting and serving the cake were Mrs. Willie Hagen and Annabelle Davis, aunts of the bride and groom, respectively, while Mrs. Marvin Johnson and Mrs. Percy Hagen poured. Mrs. Nathan Britten ladled the punch and distributed the groom's cake, that was baked by the mother of the groom and tied in jade green net to form a wedding bell.

Mrs. Don Joppru, sister-in-law, of the bride, registered the guests who attended from Iowa, Watertown, S.D., Grand Forks and Fargo, N.D., Karlstad, Halma, Hallock, Lake Bronson, Minneapolis, Kennedy, Moorhead, Alexandria, Lake Park and surrounding towns.

Waitresses were Fran Swanson and Connie Winters Moorhead; Betty Lommen, Lake Park and Cathy Oppel of Alexandria. They wore dainty white aprons that were trimmed with lace wedding bells. Arlene and Karen Joppru were in charge of opening and displaying the wedding gifts.

For travel, on the wedding trip, the bride wore a camel tan ensemble with brown accessories. The bride is a graduate of Lincoln high school and was employed at Joppru Meat Service. The groom is a graduate of the Karlstad high school and is employed at Watertown, S.D., where the newly-weds are at home at 421½ Second Avenue South.

Birthdays Noted By Rev. and Mrs. Knute Gjesfeld

Many friends gathered at Our Savior's Lutheran church in Thief River Falls on Thursday, November 18, to honor the Rev. Knute Gjesfeld on his 90th birthday. The pastor of the church, the Rev. Marius Haakenstad was in charge of the devotional service with Sheldon Mortrud, chairman of the congregation, speaking in behalf of its members. The group participated by singing the hymn "Blest Be the Tie that Binds'." Gifts in the form of an envelope shower were given to the honored guest.

The yellow chrysanthemum plant which served as the centerpiece at the reception was a gift from a son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ellif Gjesfeld of St. Paul Park, Minneapolis. The birthday lunch served featured a birthday cake, baked and decorated in the shape of an open Bible by Mrs. Myrtle Olson.

The Rev. Knute Gjesfeld was born in Hjelmeland, Ryfylke, Kristiansand, Norway. He came to the United States in 1902. A graduate of the Augsburg Seminary in 1908, he was ordained into the ministry of the Lutheran Free church that same year. Altho retired, the Rev. Gjesfeld is often requested to conduct services in Thief River Falls and in parishes where he formerly served as pastor.

The previous Friday, November 12, Mrs. Gjesfeld who observed her birthday November 10, was honored by members of the local WCTU unit when they met for their regular meeting at Our Savior's Lutheran church. She too, was the recipient of a greeting card and envelope shower.

Sharon Lian and Curtis Hovet Exchange Vows

Miss Sharon Christine Lian, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Palmer Lian of Grygla and Curtis Dale Hovet, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Hovet of Goodridge, exchanged marriage vows recently at the Grace Lutheran church at Grygla. The Rev. A. B. Heltne officiated at the double ring ceremony and Mrs. Elaine Askeland presiding at the organ, played the traditional nuptial music. She also accompanied Mrs. Dalton Anderson and The Lord's Prayer". Lighted candelabra and baskets of white gladioli and yellow chrysanthemums graced the chancel for the ceremony attended by approximately 200 guests.

Escorted to the altar by her father and given in marriage by her parents, the bride wore a floor-length gown of chantilly lace over taffeta and tulle. The gown was styled with a basque bodice with long sleeves that tapered to a point over the wrist. Seed pearls enhanced the scalloped portrait neckline plunging to a V in the back. The bouffant tiered skirt, fashioned by deep cascading tiers that swept back to form a chapel length train, featured a bustle back with a large bow of silk organza. Her veil of silk illusion fell from a crown of seed pearls embellished with crystallites and she carried a cascade style bouquet of yellow sweetheart roses, stephanotis and camellia foliage arranged on a white Bible, a gift from her parents.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was her friend, Eileen Johnson of Minneapolis. Bridesmaids were Diane Sunsdahl, friend of the bride and Beverly Johnson, cousin of the bride. They wore identical street-length gowns of sapphire blue satin, styled with modified belled skirts, elbow-length sleeves scooped necklines dropping to a V in the back and featuring hemline trains. To complement their attire they wore matching circular veiled headpieces and white gloves and carried arm bouquets of yellow roses and salad foliage. The bride designed the gowns worn by the attendants.

Dressed like the bridesmaids were the little flower girls, Jodie Lian, niece of the bride and Jacqueline Rieck of St. Paul, cousin of the bride. They carried white baskets of scattered autumn flowers along the aisle. Timmy Anderson, cousin of the groom and Kevin Hovet of Milwaukee, Wis., nephew of the groom, were ring bearers carrying pillows of white satin lace.

Ronald Hovet attended his brother as best man. Groomsmen were Gary Lian, brother of the bride and Lynn Anderson, cousin of the groom. Ushers were Richard Lian and Vernon Hovet, brothers of the bride and groom, respectively. The men of the wedding party wore white dinner jackets, black trousers and yellow carnation boutonnieres.

The reception following the ceremony was given in the church parlors by the parents of the bride with members of the Sarah circle in charge of the serving. Mrs. Adrian Johnson, aunt of the bride, was hostess. Decorations consisted of blue and white streamers and white wedding bells. The square, three-tiered and pillared wedding cake, decorated with roses and topped with white satin bells, was baked and decorated by Mrs. George Hovet, mother of the groom, and Mrs. Orvin Anderson, aunt of the groom. Flanked by candles, the top tier later served as centerpiece for the bridal table.

Cutting and serving the wedding aunt of the bride and Mrs. Leo Langevin, sister of the groom. Mrs. Duane Lian, sister-in-law of the bride and Mrs. Arthur Bassett, sister of the groom, poured. The guests were registered by Mrs. Richard Lian, sister-in-law of the bride while Mrs. Mike Carlson and Sharon Brandt, cousins of the bride, served the punch. Waitresses were Betty Gilbert and Beda Brandt, cousins of the bride, Lorrine Anderson, cousin of the groom and Linda Haugen. Opening and displaying the gifts were Mrs. Gordon Hovet, Mrs. Duane Hovet and Mrs. Vernon Hovet, sisters-in-law of the groom and Gwen Johnson of Minneapolis.

Guests attending were from Milwaukee, Wis.; Fargo, Hillsboro, and Cummings, N.D.; Minneapolis, St. Paul, Duluth, Moorhead, Roseau, Thief River Falls, Plumer, Goodridge, Middle River, Gatzke and surrounding areas.

The bride is a graduate of Goodridge high school and Ritters school of cosmetology in St. Paul. The groom is also a graduate of the Goodridge high school and is employed with Bucyrus Elere in South Milwaukee, Wis., where the newly-weds are making their home at 1832 Rowson Avenue.

Mary Lou Torvinen And Charles Thorstad Wed

The Little Norway Lutheran church of Fertile was the scene of a candlelight wedding on Saturday, October 23, when Miss Mary Lou Torvinen and Charles Thorstad were united in marriage. The Rev. Thomas Gabrielson officiated at the double ring ceremony. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Emil Forsythe of Fertile and Mr. and Mrs. Jess Thorstad of Thief River Falls.

Mrs. Harry Dale was the organist and played "Lohengrin's Wedding March" as the bride was escorted up the candlelit aisle by her father. Soloist, Richard Ramsey of Fertile sang, "O Perfect Love" as the bridal party assembled at the chancel and "The Lord's Prayer" as the couple knelt at the altar.

For her wedding, the bride wore a white floor-length gown fashioned with a Chantilly lace bodice, featuring a scalloped neckline and Mary Stuart sleeves. The skirt, fashioned of slipper satin, was styled with deep pleats and a modified chapel length train. A tiara secured her elbow length veil. The gown and veil were designed and fashioned by the bride. Her bridal bouquet, carried on a white Bible, was of white carnations and yellow sweetheart roses with white streamers. Her only jewelry was a pearl necklace and wedding bell errings which had previously been worn by her mother and sister at their weddings.

Mr. Richard DeRuyter of Fertile was her sister's only attendant. She wore a floor-length gown of gold gloves, and a golden cross pendant on a chain, both gifts from the bride, and carried a bouquet fashioned of yellow fugi mums, bronze and gold baby mums and autumn colored leaves.

Serving as best man was John Larson of Thief River Falls, friend of the groom. Ushers were Roger Lappegaard of Grand Forks, N.D., friend of the groom and Richard DeRuyter, brother-in-law of the bride. The groom and his attendants wore dark suits and white carnation boutonnieres.

Mrs. Forsythe chose a two-piece suit of royal blue with cranberry red accessories for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Thorstad, the mother of the groom, was attired in a teal blue suit with black accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of yellow and bronze baby mums.

Special guests attending the wedding were the grandparents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Elias Stahlback of Menahga and Ella Ellegard of Fertile. Mrs. Stahlback wore a blue two piece suit and Ella Ellegard wore a two-piece green suit, both with black accessories.

Immediately following the wedding, a reception was held in the church basement. The serving table and the bridal table each carried out the gold and yellow color theme of the bride's chosen colors. Centering the gold net covered serving table and flanked by four tall white candles was the three-tiered wedding cake decorated in gold and white and topped with a miniature bride and groom. Cutting and serving the wedding cake, baked and decorated by Mrs. Morris Overland of Fertile, was Mrs. Art Piri of Menahga and Miss Esther Sorum of Los Angeles, Calif., aunts of the bride and groom, respectively. Presiding at the silver coffee service were Mrs. Matt Puliu of Menahga and Mrs. Albin Dahl of Goodridge, also aunts of the bride and groom while Mrs. James Larson of Montana, sister of the groom, was seated at the guest book. The waitresses, wearing gold net aprons gifts from the bride, were Sue and Nancy Nephew and Diane Gullickson and those in charge of opening and arranging the gifts were Darlene Tradewell, friend of the bride, and Peggy Torvinen and Bonnie Forsythe, sisters of the bride. Assisting in the kitchen were Mrs. Harold Larson, Mrs. Oscar Bakke, Mrs. Ervin Gullickson, Mrs. Art Rongen and Mrs. Arnold Larson.

For going away the bride wore an aqua laminated knit suit with an aqua fur collar and cranberry red accessories. Her corsage of white carnations and yellow sweetheart roses was from her wedding bouquet.

The bride, a graduate of the Fertile school and from the Cosmotology department of the Thief River Falls area vocational-technical school, was employed at the Blue Diamond Beauty Salon in Twin Valley. The groom attended school in Thief River Falls and is employed at Red Lake Falls. Mr. and Mrs. Thorstad are now at home in Thief River Falls.

Mayor Orin Green Speaks At Local BPW Meeting

Thief River Falls Business and Professional Women met Tuesday, November 16, at the Rex cafe for their regular dinner meeting with 19 members present. In the absence of Inga Geving, chairman of the program committee on Legislation, co-chairman, Elsie Hilgem, introduced the guest speaker, Mayor Orin Green. He explained the functions of the city government, what has been accomplished in the past and what they hope to do in the future. Accomplishments listed for the past year were the improvements made to the city streets, the purchasing of a new fire truck, the construction started on the new library and the reduction of the light and power rates.

Bertha Hastad, librarian at the Carnegie Public Library, gave a brief report on the 50-year history of the library from its beginning in May 1915. She also displayed and explained the plans of the library under construction.

Plans were made for the annual Christmas party to be held Tuesday, December 14, at the home of Mrs. Roger Tunberg at which time a pot-luck dinner will be served. It was also decided that the regular Christmas donation will be taken for some needy child in Thief River Falls and that the secret pals would exchange gifts valued at one dollar.

Tables set for the dinner-meeting were decorated in the Thanksgiving motif with a horn-of-plenty, overflowing with fruit, centering the head table. Pilgrim candles, surrounded by colored foliage, completed the decorations.

Following the adjournment of the meeting, several members of the local BPW attended the regular meeting of the Thief River Falls city council.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rustvold and Jeffrey of Fargo, N.D., and Mrs. Julia Williams of Moorhead were last weekend guests at the R. Thompson and Matt Wick homes. They also visited at the Connie Haugen home.

Mrs. Payne Joins Merry Sunshine Homemakers Club

Eight members answered roll call by naming their favorite television program when the Merry Sunshine Girls homemakers club met Thursday evening at the Elvon Hamilton home. President Mrs. Gust Torgremson presided at the short business meeting and welcomed a new member, Mrs. Wallace Payne, into the club.

Plans were made for the Christmas party to be held December 6, at the Ole Prestebak home where a pot-luck lunch will be served and home made gifts, each valued at one dollar, will be exchanged. Each member was also reminded to bring two dozen sweets for the boxes that are to be distributed to the shut-ins.

The evening was spent making illuminated poinsettia plants with Mrs. Melfred Hanson and Mrs. Torgremson giving the lesson. Lunch was served by Mrs. Hamilton and co-hostess, Mrs. Lawrence Neuschwander.

Committee Makes Plans For Square Dance Convention

The Steering committee of the Minnesota State square dance federation convention met Sunday evening at the Fireside Room with chairman, Randall Noper, presiding. Purpose of the meeting was to draft a rough sketch of the registration blanks to be submitted to the State Board committee which meets Sunday at Little Falls.

Jehovah Witness Group Plans for Convention Here

Convention supervisors converged on Bagley recently from many points in northern Minnesota to confer with an official from Brooklyn, N.Y. headquarters of Jehovah's Witnesses. Discussed were convention arrangements for the coming gathering to be held in Thief River Falls December 10-12 at Lincoln Senior high school.

Clifford R. Hooten, New York-based circuit supervisor, presided over the two-hour meeting. John Snyder, presiding minister of the Virginia, Minn. congregation and convention manager, commented, "A feature of our assemblies is the cafeteria arranged for the convenience of the delegates." Snyder stated that Maynard Kircher, minister from the Bagley congregation, has been named to manage this department at Thief River Falls.

Department heads discussed and coordinated their needs and resources Snyder said that the cost of a non-profit assembly of this size is greatly reduced by the services volunteered.

Joppru-McNatton Vows Spoken At Zion Lutheran

Miss Barbara Diane Joppru, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Joppru of Thief River Falls exchanged marriage vows with Dean McNatton, son of Mrs. Henry Johnson of Halma, at 8 p.m. October 30 at Zion Lutheran church in this city.

The Rev. Leland Steen officiated at the double-ring ceremony and organist, Jerry Joringdal played a program of organ music as the 200 guests were ushered to their seats. He also accompanied the groom's sister, Mrs. Loren Germanson of Karlstad, as she sang "The Song of Ruth" and "The Lord's Prayer". Palms and lighted candelabra decorated the chancel, autumn flowers graced the altar and the pews were marked along the inside aisle by white satin bows.

Judy Czeh of Minneapolis attended the bride as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Jean Czeh and Nancy Norness, both of Minneapolis and friends of the bride and Louella Lund of Grand Forks, N.D., cousin of the groom, Jan Joppru, sister of the bride, was junior bridesmaid. They wore identical floor length Empire sheath gowns of jade green satin fashioned with chiffon overlay, matching shoes and short white gloves. Each attendant wore a pearl pendant, a gift from the bride, and each carried a tangerine colored rose.

Flower girls were Cindy Joppru of Thief River Falls and Ann Marie Germanson of Karlstad, nieces of the bride and groom, respectively. They wore white satin gowns fashioned like the bridal gown and each carried a miniature bouquet styled similar to the bride's bouquet. Ringbearers, Danny Joppru, cousin of the bride, and Neil Germanson, nephew of the groom; were attired in black tuxedos.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Joppru wore a royal blue velvet dress with white accessories and a corsage of tangerine roses and yellow carnations. The groom's mother wore an emerald green velvet dress with cinnamon colored accessories and a corsage identical to the one worn by the bride's mother. Honor guests attending the wedding were the grandparents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Olaf Hagen of Thief River Falls. For her granddaughter's wedding, Mrs. Hagen wore a blue suit with black accessories.

A reception was given in the church parlors by the parents of the bride and served by the members of the Grace circle of the ZLCW. Autumn flowers in tangerine, yellow and green graced the tables and centered the table set for the bridal party.

Highlighting the serving table was a double-three tiered wedding cake joined by an arched bridge. Topping the one section was a miniature bride and groom while across the bridge on which stood a miniature pair of bridal attendants, was a lighted church. Poised on the lower tier were the other miniature attendants. All the miniature bridesmaids were dressed in jade green, similar to the bridal party.

Cutting and serving the cake were Mrs. Willie Hagen and Annabelle Davis, aunts of the bride and groom, respectively, while Mrs. Marvin Johnson and Mrs. Percy Hagen poured. Mrs. Nathan Britten ladled the punch and distributed the groom's cake, that was baked by the mother of the groom and tied in jade green net to form a wedding bell.

Mrs. Don Joppru, sister-in-law, of the bride, registered the guests who attended from Iowa, Watertown, S.D., Grand Forks and Fargo, N.D., Karlstad, Halma, Hallock, Lake Bronson, Minneapolis, Kennedy, Moorhead, Alexandria, Lake Park and surrounding towns.

Waitresses were Fran Swanson and Connie Winters Moorhead; Betty Lommen, Lake Park and Cathy Oppel of Alexandria. They wore dainty white aprons that were trimmed with lace wedding bells. Arlene and Karen Joppru were in charge of opening and displaying the wedding gifts.

For travel, on the wedding trip, the bride wore a camel tan ensemble with brown accessories. The bride is a graduate of Lincoln high school and was employed at Joppru Meat Service. The groom is a graduate of the Karlstad high school and is employed at Watertown, S.D., where the newly-weds are at home at 421½ Second Avenue South.

Birthdays Noted By Rev. and Mrs. Knute Gjesfeld

Many friends gathered at Our Savior's Lutheran church in Thief River Falls on Thursday, November 18, to honor the Rev. Knute Gjesfeld on his 90th birthday. The pastor of the church, the Rev. Marius Haakenstad was in charge of the devotional service with Sheldon Mortrud, chairman of the congregation, speaking in behalf of its members. The group participated by singing the hymn "Blest Be the Tie that Binds". Gifts in the form of an envelope shower were given to the honored guest.

The yellow chrysanthemum plant which served as the centerpiece at the reception was a gift from a son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ellif Gjesfeld of St. Paul Park, Minneapolis. The birthday lunch served featured a birthday cake, baked and decorated in the shape of an open Bible by Mrs. Myrtle Olson.

The Rev. Knute Gjesfeld was born in Hjelmeland, Rytylke, Kristiansand, Norway. He came to the United States in 1902. A graduate of the Augsburg Seminary in 1908, he was ordained into the ministry of the Lutheran Free church that same year. Altho retired, the Rev. Gjesfeld is often requested to conduct services in Thief River Falls and in parishes where he formerly served as pastor.

The previous Friday, November 12, Mrs. Gjesfeld who observed her birthday November 10, was honored by members of the local WCTU unit when they met for their regular meeting at Our Savior's Lutheran church. She too, was the recipient of a greeting card and envelope shower.

Sharon Lian and Curtis Hovet Exchange Vows

Miss Sharon Christine Lian, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Palmer Lian of Grygla and Curtis Dale Hovet, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Hovet of Goodridge, exchanged marriage vows recently at the Grace Lutheran church at Grygla. The Rev. A. B. Helme officiated at the double ring ceremony and Mrs. Elaine Askeland presiding at the organ, played the traditional nuptial music. She also accompanied Mrs. Dalton Anderson and 'The Lord's Prayer'. Lighted candelabra and baskets of white gladioli and yellow chrysanthemums graced the chancel for the ceremony attended by approximately 200 guests.

Escorted to the altar by her father and given in marriage by her parents, the bride wore a floor-length gown of chantilly lace over taffeta and tulle. The gown was styled with a basque bodice with long sleeves that tapered to a point over the wrist. Seed pearls enhanced the scalloped portrait neckline plunging to a V in the back. The bouffant tiered skirt, fashioned by deep cascading tiers that swept back to form a chapel length train, featured a bustle back with a large bow of silk organza. Her veil of silk illusion fell from a crown of seed pearls embellished with crystallites and she carried a cascade style bouquet of yellow sweetheart roses, stephanotis and camellia foliage arranged on a white Bible, a gift from her parents.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was her friend, Eileen Johnson of Minneapolis. Bridesmaids were Diane Sundahl, friend of the bride and Beverly Johnson, cousin of the bride. They wore identical street-length gowns of sapphire blue satin, styled with modified belled skirts, elbow-length sleeves scooped necklines dropping to a V in the back and featuring hemline trains. To complement their attire they wore matching circular veiled headpieces and white gloves and carried arm bouquets of yellow roses and salad foliage. The bride designed the gowns worn by the attendants.

Dressed like the bridesmaids were the little flower girls, Jodie Lian, niece of the bride and Jacqueline Rieck of St. Paul, cousin of the bride. They carried white baskets of scattered autumn flowers along the aisle. Timmy Anderson, cousin of the groom and Kevin Hovet of Milwaukee, Wis., nephew of the groom, were ring bearers carrying pillows of white satin lace.

Ronald Hovet attended his brother as best man. Groomsmen were Gary Lian, brother of the bride and Lynn Anderson, cousin of the groom. Ushers were Richard Lian and Vernon Hovet, brothers of the bride and groom, respectively. The men of the wedding party wore white dinner jackets, black trousers and yellow carnation boutonnieres.

The reception following the ceremony was given in the church parlors by the parents of the bride with members of the Sarah circle in charge of the serving. Mrs. Adrian Johnson, aunt of the bride, was hostess. Decorations consisted of blue and white streamers and white wedding bells. The square, three-tiered and pillared wedding cake, decorated with roses and topped with white satin bells, was baked and decorated by Mrs. George Hovet, mother of the groom, and Mrs. Orvin Anderson, aunt of the groom. Flanked by candles, the top tier later served as centerpiece for the bridal table.

Cutting and serving the wedding aunt of the bride and Mrs. Leo Langevin, sister of the groom. Mrs. Duane Lian, sister-in-law of the bride and Mrs. Arthur Bassett, sister of the groom poured. The guests were registered by Mrs. Richard Lian, sister-in-law of the bride while Mrs. Mike Carlson and Sharon Brandt, cousins of the bride, served the punch. Waitresses were Betty Gilbert and Beda Brandt, cousins of the bride, Lorrine Anderson; cousin of the groom and Linda Haugen. Opening and displaying the gifts were Mrs. Gordon Hovet, Mrs. Duane Hovet and Mrs. Vernon Hovet, sisters-in-law of the groom and Gwen Johnson of Minneapolis.

Guests attending were from Milwaukee, Wis.; Fargo, Hillsboro, and Cummings, N.D.; Minneapolis, St. Paul, Duluth, Moorhead, Roseau, Thief River Falls, Plumer, Goodridge, Middle River, Gatzke and surrounding areas.

The bride is a graduate of Goodridge high school and Ritters school of cosmetology in St. Paul. The groom is also a graduate of the Goodridge high school and is employed with Bucyrus Elere in South Milwaukee, Wis., where the newly-weds are making their home at 1832 Rowson Avenue.

Mary Lou Torvinen And Charles Thorstad Wed

The Little Norway Lutheran church of Fertile was the scene of a candlelight wedding on Saturday, October 23 when Miss Mary Lou Torvinen and Charles Thorstad were united in marriage. The Rev. Thomas Gabrielson officiated at the double ring ceremony. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Ernil Forsythe of Fertile and Mr. and Mrs. Jess Thorstad of Thief River Falls.

Mrs. Harry Dale was the organist and played "Lohengrin's Wedding March" as the bride was escorted up the candlelit aisle by her father. Soloist, Richard Ramsey of Fertile sang, "O Perfect Love" as the bridal party assembled at the chancel and "The Lord's Prayer" as the couple knelt at the altar.

For her wedding, the bride wore a white floor-length gown fashioned with a Chantilly lace bodice, featuring a scalloped neckline and Mary Stuart sleeves. The skirt, fashioned of slipper satin, was styled with deep pleats and a modified chapel length train. A tiara secured her elbow length veil. The gown and veil were designed and fashioned by the bride. Her bridal bouquet, carried on a white Bible, was of white carnations and yellow sweetheart roses with white streamers. Her only jewelry was a pearl necklace and wedding bell errings which had previously been worn by her mother and sister at their weddings.

Mr. Richard DeRuyter of Fertile was her sister's only attendant. She wore a floor-length gown of gold gloves and a golden cross pendant on a chain, both gifts from the bride, and carried a bouquet fashioned of yellow fugi mums, bronze and gold baby mums and autumn colored leaves.

Serving as best man was John Larson of Thief River Falls, friend of the groom. Ushers were Roger Lappegaard of Grand Forks, N.D., friend of the groom and Richard DeRuyter, brother-in-law of the bride. The groom and his attendants wore dark suits and white carnation boutonnieres.

Mrs. Forsythe chose a two-piece suit of royal blue with cranberry red accessories for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Thorstad, the mother of the groom, was attired in a teal blue suit with black accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of yellow and bronze baby mums.

Special guests attending the wedding were the grandparents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Elias Stahlback of Menahga and Ella Ellegard of Fertile. Mrs. Stahlback wore a blue two piece suit and Ella Ellegard wore a two-piece green suit, both with black accessories.

Immediately following the wedding, a reception was held in the church basement. The serving table and the bridal table each carried out the gold and yellow color theme of the bride's chosen colors. Centering the gold net covered serving table and flanked by four tall white candles was the three-tiered wedding cake decorated in gold and white and topped with a miniature bride and groom. Cutting and serving the wedding cake, baked and decorated by Mrs. Morris Overland of Fertile, was Mrs. Art Piri of Menahga and Miss Esther Sorum of Los Angeles, Calif., aunts of the bride and groom, respectively. Presiding at the silver coffee service were Mrs. Matt Pullu of Menahga and Mrs. Albin Dahl of Goodridge, also aunts of the bride and groom while Mrs. James Larson of Montana, sister of the groom, was seated at the guest book. The waitresses, wearing gold net aprons gifts from the bride, were Sue and Nancy Nephew and Diane Gullickson and those in charge of opening and arranging the gifts were Darlene Tradewell, friend of the bride, and Peggy Torvinen and Bonnie Forsythe, sisters of the bride. Assisting in the kitchen were Mrs. Harold Larson, Mrs. Oscar Bakke, Mrs. Ervin Gullickson, Mrs. Art Rongen and Mrs. Arnold Larson.

For going away the bride wore an aqua laminated knit suit with an aqua fur collar and cranberry red accessories. Her corsage of white carnations and yellow sweetheart roses was from her wedding bouquet.

The bride, a graduate of the Fertile school and from the Cosmotology department of the Thief River Falls area vocational-technical school, was employed at the Blue Diamond Beauty Salon in Twin Valley. The groom attended school in Thief River Falls and is employed at Red Lake Falls. Mr. and Mrs. Thorstad are now at home in Thief River Falls.

Mayor Orin Green Speaks At Local BPW Meeting

Thief River Falls Business and Professional Women met Tuesday, November 16, at the Rex cafe for their regular dinner meeting with 19 members present. In the absence of Inga Geving, chairman of the program committee on Legislation, co-chairman, Elsie Higem, introduced the guest speaker, Mayor Orin Green. He explained the functions of the city government, what has been accomplished in the past and what they hope to do in the future. Accomplishments listed for the past year were the improvements made to the city streets, the purchasing of a new fire truck, the construction started on the new library and the reduction of the light and power rates.

Bertha Hastad, librarian at the Carnegie Public Library, gave a brief report on the 50-year history of the library from its beginning in May 1915. She also displayed and explained the plans of the library under construction.

Plans were made for the annual Christmas party to be held Tuesday, December 14, at the home of Mrs. Roger Tunberg at which time a pot-luck dinner will be served. It was also decided that the regular Christmas donation will be taken for some needy child in Thief River Falls and that the secret pals would exchange gifts valued at one dollar.

Tables set for the dinner-meeting were decorated in the Thanksgiving motif with a horn-of-plenty, overflowing with fruit, centering the head table. Pilgrim candles, surrounded by colored foliage, completed the decorations.

Following the adjournment of the meeting, several members of the local BPW attended the regular meeting of the Thief River Falls city council.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rustvold and Jeffrey of Fargo, N.D., and Mrs. Julia Williams of Moorhead were last weekend guests at the R. Thompson and Matt Wick homes. They also visited at the Connie Haugen home.

Mrs. Payne Joins Merry Sunshine Homemakers Club

Eight members answered roll call by naming their favorite television program when the Merry Sunshine Girls homemakers club met Thursday evening at the Elvon Hamilton home. President Mrs. Gust Torgremson presided at the short business meeting and welcomed a new member, Mrs. Wallace Payne, into the club.

Plans were made for the Christmas party to be held December 6, at the Ole Prestebak home where a pot-luck lunch will be served and home made gifts, each valued at one dollar, will be exchanged. Each member was also reminded to bring two dozen sweets for the boxes that are to be distributed to the shut-ins.

The evening was spent making illuminated poinsettia plants with Mrs. Melfred Hanson and Mrs. Torgremson giving the lesson. Lunch was served by Mrs. Hamilton and co-hostess, Mrs. Lawrence Neuschwander.

Committee Makes Plans For Square Dance Convention

The Steering committee of the Minnesota State square dance federation convention met Sunday evening at the Fireside Room with chairman, Randall Noper, presiding. Purpose of the meeting was to draft a rough sketch of the registration blanks to be submitted to the State Board committee which meets Sunday at Little Falls.

Members in attendance were Mr. and Mrs. Randall Noper, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Duke, Mr. and Mrs. L. Bischel, Mr. and Mrs. Chris Saustad, Mr. and Mrs. Herb Hartje, Mr. and Mrs. Mel Simon and Mr. and Mrs. Ed DeLap.

Members Of The DeCor Club Make Yule Decorations

Members of the DeCor club met early Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. J. Arthur Johnson in order to spend more time in making Christmas novelties. There also was an exchange of Thanksgiving recipes and ideas and a dessert lunch was served by the hostess.

Those attending were Mrs. Ralph Hauswirth, who joined the club at a previous meeting; Mrs. Millard Peterson, Mrs. Ed Leyden, Mrs. T. E. Aasland, Mrs. Joe Dostal, Jr., Betsy Legvold and Geneva Overum.

The next meeting will be held December 2nd at the home of Geneva Overum.

Jehovah Witness Group Plans for Convention Here

Convention supervisors converged on Bagley recently from many points in northern Minnesota to confer with an official from Brooklyn, N.Y. headquarters of Jehovah's Witnesses. Discussed were convention arrangements for the coming gathering to be held in Thief River Falls December 10-12 at Lincoln Senior high school.

Clifford R. Hooten, New York-based circuit supervisor, presided over the two-hour meeting. John Snyder, presiding minister of the Virginia, Minn. congregation and convention manager, commented, "A feature of our assemblies is the cafeteria arranged for the convenience of the delegates." Snyder stated that Maynard Kircher, minister from the Bagley congregation, has been named to manage this department at Thief River Falls.

Department heads discussed and coordinated their needs and resources Snyder said that the cost of a non-profit assembly of this size is greatly reduced by the services volunteered.

Former Minister Here Considered For New Position

Rev. Gjermund S. Thompson, pastor of Trinity Lutheran church in Thief River Falls from 1941 to 1954, is one of four nominees to ey positions in the Lutheran Council of the United States of America, a cooperative agency that is being established for joint theological study and Christian service.

Rev. Thompson currently serves as executive secretary of the division of welfare of the National Lutheran council which will be superseded by the new and broader agency on Jan. 1, 1967. He has been selected as candidate for the post as executive secretary of the the division of welfare services of the new council.

Rev. and Mrs. Thompson have lived in Manhattan since 1963, making their home in a 20-story apartment building. The former pastor here notes the following in a letter to the Times:

"My work in the new council, which will include the Missouri Synod, will not begin until January 1, 1967. In the meantime my work embraces the welfare programs of the American Lutheran church and the Lutheran Church in America. When the LCUSA is formed, it will associate 95 per cent of the Lutherans in the U.S. and will number at least 8½ million constituents.

"I enjoy my work immensely, although it entails a lot of traveling. Our son, John, is presently living with us, having returned recently from his stint with the army and two years in Okinawa. David, who married Otto Stenberg's daughter, Marilyn, is a pastor and is moving next month from Green Bay, Wis., to Northfield. Fred, our youngest, is a junior at Concordia college in Moorhead. John finished two years of college before enlisting, and is currently employed as an elevator operator at the Waldorf Astoria until he returns to college."

Several Accidents Listed in Police Report This Week

Several accidents during the past week were reported by the Thief River Falls police department. In all cases the accidents results were confined to property damage with no personal injuries.

Last Wednesday evening a car driven by Danniel Ness was traveling north on Arnold avenue and making a right turn on Seventh street when it struck a parked car owned by Even Ose, city, crossed the curb and struck a clothesline pole. Police were notified of the car and pole being struck and later contacted Ness who admitted driving the car which did the damage estimated at $75 to the Ose car and $25 to the pole. He was charged with careless driving.

At about 8:50 p.m. Thursday a car driven east on Eighth street by Robert Manning turned to avoid hitting a car backing out of a driveway and struck a stop sign on Red Lake Blvd. Damage was estimated at $50 to the car and guessed at $25 to the sign.

On Saturday about 1 p.m. Glennis Scott of St. Paul reported the larceny of a 30-30 rifle valued at $81 from a car parked in front of 216 Duluth av. S. The theft is under investigation.

On Monday at 8 p.m. a car driven by Frank Blazek, city, was traveling west on Eighth street, stopped for the stop sign at Main avenue and was struck by a vehicle driven by Lloyd Howick, rt. 1, which was going north on Main made a right turn onto Eighth, and slid into the Blazek car due to the icy conditions of the street. Damage was estimated at $210 to the Blazek car and $65 to the Howick vehicle.

At 5:30 p.m. Monday a car driven by Verna Schmitz, city, was going north on Main, made a right turn onto Fourth street and collided with a vehicle driven by Philip Schiller Argyle, which had started from a parked position on the corner and was also making a right turn onto Fourth. The Schmitz car was damaged to the extent of $85; no damage was done to the Schiller vehicle.

Dairy Farmers Picket Stores in TRF This Week

to gain support in our efforts to secure contracts with non-cooperating processors."

Lundeen said it was pure coincidence that the picketing began the same day as the Region I meeting of the American Dairy Association of Minnesota was held in Thief River Falls. Picketing began Tuesday throughout the area, he said, and pool members were not even aware of the regional meeting scheduled here.

In their picketing procedure the pool members are not making reference to particular brands or processors. It is comon knowledge, however, that Land O'Lakes Cooperative and Fairmont Creameries have both refused to sign contracts with the pool. Land O'Lakes spokesmen have contended previously that the cooperative is prohibited by its laws from offering a guaranteed price. The cooperative markets milk for its members and returns the price received to them, less the costs of processing and distribution, Land O'Lakes officials have said.

Missionary Film Will Tell Story Of Paul Carlson

Under the sponsorship of a number of area churches, "The Paul Carlson Story" film will be shown November 3 at 8 p.m. in the Lincoln high school auditorium in Thief River Falls. The film was produced by the Evangelical Covenant Church of America.

Paul Carlson was a missionary doctor in the Congo who was killed on a Stanleyville street as Belgian paratroopers engaged in a giant rescue operation. "In November of 1964, the attention of the entire world was drawn to the name of Paul Carlson, who in the last weeks of his life became a twentieth century symbol of courage and dedication," states a news release regarding the film.

The 53-minute, 16mm color film is said to be "one of the great missionary films of our times" and tells the inspiring story of God's love meeting the spiritual and medical needs of the people of the Congo through Dr. Paul Carlson."

Through "the words of family, friends, colleagues and a United States government official", the news release states, "we are able to see Dr. Carlson as a husband, father and brother; as co-worker, student and friend; but more than these, we see him as a churchman, witness and martyr; a man whose life marked him as one upon whom the entire world's respect and admiration has been focused."

Hearing Slated On Requests for Carrier Permits

Hearing before the Minnesota Railroad and Warehouse commission on the application for carrier permits by five applicants will be held Wednesday, December 1, at the Pennington county courthouse in Thief River Falls. The hearing will begin at 9:30 a.m., and all interested parties will be given an opportunity to be heard.

Applicants for carrier permits include the following:

Area People Will Attend Conclave Of Farmers Union

Minnesota Farmers Union will hold its 24th annual convention Sunday through Tuesday in St. Paul. Among those attending from this area will be Mr. and Mrs. Roy Rude of rural Thief River Falls; Mrs. Roman Radniecki of Oklee; and Mrs. Lynn Hanson, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wiseth and Mrs. Bernie Svanjord of Goodridge.

Mrs. Hanson is the instructor of a folk dancing group composed of Tamera Brown, Lana Lundeen and Karen Peters, all of Goodridge, who will present a talent number in the Sunday evening convention program.

Also attending will be Carl R. Anderson of Red Lake Falls, who is serving on the state executive committee, and Ferdinand Mandt of Brooks, member of the resolutions committee. Honored at the convention junior night program for having completed five years of senior youth study and projects will be Harley Lind of Newfolden, Sheryl Gunderson of Oklee and Georgia Anderson and Marilyn Morken of Grygla.

Theme for the 1965 convention will be "Peace, Parity and Progress." Among the major items of business will be the adoption of the "target program" of legislative priorities for 1966 on the national and state levels, the election of state officers and the election of delegates to the National Farmers Union convention next March in Denver, Colo.

Washington figures on the convention program will be Orville L. Freeman, secretary of agriculture; Robert G. Lewis, administrator of the USDA rural community development service; and senator Walter F. Mondale.

Edwin Christianson, state president, said the adoption of farm policy recommendations next week will be particularly important. "The 1965 farm act is not the climax, but just a good beginning," he said. "From the resolutions coming from the grass roots, it is clear that farm people want to stress the legislative needs for a better dairy program, a more adequate program of emergency farm credit, a system of family farm identification and, on the state level, personal property tax relief for farmers and retail businessmen without a sales tax."

Additional Locals

Those who visited Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Magner and Mayme were Mr. and Mrs. Morton Brown of Denver, Colo.; Mr. and Mrs. Larry Teblelius and family of Boden, N.D.; Mr. and Mrs. Glen Magner and Mr. and Mrs. Art Skadsem and family, all of Newfolden and Mr. and Mrs. Dale Magner and family of Thief River Falls. Mrs. Brown is a niece of Mrs. H. W. Magner.

QUESTIONS Answered for VETERANS

Q—I applied for and have been accepted for the newly reopened National Service Life Insurance. I now find that the payments for $10,000 are too expensive for me. Can I reduce this amount?

A—Yes. You can reduce it to any amount in excess of $1,000 in multiples of $500.

Q—Can you please tell me where I may obtain a record or discharge of a man who was in the Navy during the years 1915 to 1918?

A—You might write to the Officer in Charge, Discharged Enlisted Personnel Records Branch, U. S. Naval Records Management Center, 9700 Page Boulevard, St. Louis, Missouri.

Q—Could you tell me if my husband is eligible for a GI loan? He was inducted into the service in March, 1943 and was discharged in February, 1946.

A—He would appear to be eligible. By adding, according to the formula, ten years to his date of discharge (February, 1946 to February, 1956) and then one year for each 90 days he was on active duty (there are 11 such 90-day periods in his two years and 11 months of service) we reach February, 1967 as the expiration period for his entitlement. However, he should check with his VA regional office to make this more explicit by using the actual dates of induction and discharge.

Q—Would you tell me if a 100 per cent disabled veteran can take out a loan on the new GI insurance now on sale until May 2, 1966, and if so how much could he obtain?

A—Yes. After the first year, when the cash reserve builds up, the insured can borrow up to 94 per cent of the cash value.

Q—I have one dependent and receive pension under the new pension law. What are the income limits for the various rates of pension?

A—With annual income of not more than $1,000, the pension rate is $105 monthly; with income of not more than $2,000, the rate is $80 and with income of not more than $3,000, the rate is $48.

Q—I recently moved and wish to file a change of address for delivery of future VA compensation checks. Can I use the change of address form on the envelope containing my last payment?

A—Yes. But do not forward the change of address to the Treasury Department. Mail it to the VA office having custody of your records as a veteran.

In Memoriam

In memory of our loving son, Monti who passed away 6 months ago, May 21, 1965.

Children's laughter, grown-ups chatter
'Tis that season here once more.
But our house holds missing member
Waits beyond the Golden Shore.
Though our table will be empty
With that certain "someone's" smile
We will feel his ever presence,
Ever with us, All the while.
Yes! We know our son is happy,
And no longer bears his pain,
Our hearts shall give Thanksgiving
When we're with him once again.
So give thanks, you eager people
Whether Blessings, large or small
Cause we know not when our Master,
Our dear loved ones
He will call!

Sportsmen Club Makes Plans for Annual Meeting

Membership drive and election of officers were top items of discussion at a brief regular meeting of the Pennington County Sportsmen club held Wednesday night in the city auditorium. Christ Haugen, Alan Paulson and Jerry Nelson formed a nominating comittee to nominate a slate of candidates for the annual election meeting December 15. At this meeting, a bean feed will be served to members at no cost.

As an added incentive for individual sale of memberships, it was voted to award a prize of $5 to the member who has sold the most memberships by the first of the year. After the meeting, the National Rifle association film, "Trigger-Happy Harry" was shown.

Plummer To Open Cage Season at Oklee Tuesday

Practice for the oncoming basketball season is in full swing at Plummer high school. Coach Larry Perkins, hoping to better last season's record, is currently working out with 12 boys on the "A" squad.

Women's Curling Club Seeks New Members for '66

Thief River Falls women's curling club is looking for new members for the 1965-1966 season as it prepares for the general meeting to be held November 30 at 8 p.m. in the curling building at the Pennington county fairgrounds. All former members and any other interested women are urged to attend.

"The curling season is getting off to a real good start this year," stated Sharon Jorde, publicity chairman for the women curlers, but nothing adds more to the sport than a group of enthusiastic new curlers." Any interested women or girls are asked to call Naomi Monroe at 681-1987 or Lois Mae Amundgaard at 681-1369 between 4 and 6 p.m.

"These women will see that prospective new members receive all the needed information as well as instruction if desired," Mrs. Jorde said. Teams are not organized yet so new members are asked to call as soon as possible to be placed on a team."

SCORING two of his 12 points in a 16-minute game Saturday, Mark Stromberg of the Prowlers fires from just outside the lane over the outstretched hand of Greg Farder of the Oslo Bobcats. Stromberg's 12 points paced the Prowlers to a 29-16 win over Oslo in the game which was the opener of the third annual District 31 basketball jamboree in East Grand Forks. Other Oslo players in the photo are Don Nordling (31) and Richard Dahlstrom (23).

Red Lake ARC in Midst of Drive To Raise Funds

Association for Retarded Children (ARC) which is now conducting its Friendship Campaign fund drive in Red Lake county, works at three levels—local, state and national—to help mentally retarded persons.

"It is sometimes difficult to realize how something that takes place in New York or Washington, in Minneapolis or St. Paul, concerns us here in Red Lake county," declared Glen St. Ives, county campaign chairman, 'but it is something important to remember if we are to fully understand the work of the association.

The growth of special education classes in Minnesota, which tripled in number during the past eight years, is an example of cooperative action at the three levels and of how one program depends on an other, St. Ives explained.

Impetus for the rapid increases in the number of classes were laws enacted by the 1957 state legislature requiring school districts to provide special class services for all educable retarded children, permitting school districts to establish classes for trainable children and increasing state aids for special education teachers.

One of the continuing problems in establishment of special education classes has been a lack of trained teachers, St. Ives pointed out. The local, state and national ARC's have been working to alleviate this problem by providing scholarships, sponsoring workshops and training institutes, working for federal and state legislation, providing grants to aid the training of such teachers and conducting information programs that have heightened interest among high school and college students in entering the field of special education.

Another major part of the ARC program is the support of research into causes and prevention of retardation, methods of diagnosis and teaching and alleviation of social problems.

63,300 Campers Use State Forest Camping Areas

A total of 63,300 campers used state forest campgrounds during 1964, the Minnesota conservation department reported today. The figure includes only visitors to primitive type campgrounds within state forests and does not include those using state park facilities.

Three new campgrounds were opened during the year, making a total of 25 state forest campgrounds. Another new campground was opened at Willow River during late summer of 1965 and facilities were expanded at many previously established camping areas.

Seven new campgrounds are planned for the coming year in addition to three canoe landings scheduled for the Big Fork river. Income from camping fees, permits and leases of state forest lands amounted to over $50,000 for fiscal year 1965.

Nine land exchanges involving exchanges of state land for federal or private lands were completed during the fiscal year, and 20,000 acres of land were appraised by the state forestry division for future exchanges.

Over eight million trees were planted on state-owned lands during fiscal year 1965, the report said.

Lundgren To Head Marshall County Cancer Campaign

Clinton E. Lundgren of Warren will head the 1966 American Cancer society crusade in Marshall county. He was appointed Tuesday by Ralph Erickson, president of the Marshall county division of the Society.

"We feel very fortunate in securing the volunteer services of Mr. Lundgren for this important part of our work in combatting this dread disease," Erickson said. "We urge all residents of the county to cooperate by volunteering their services and making contributions during the crusade this coming spring."

The Home Opener.

Prowler basketball fans will get their first look at the 1965-66 squad on Friday night when coach Whitey Olson's blue-and-gold cagers meet the Grafton Spoilers on the Lincoln high school court. Game time for the varsity tilt is at 8 p.m. The preliminary game, between the Prowler B's and the Spoiler B's, is slated for 6:45 p.m.

The Prowlers opened their basketball season on Saturday night when they participated in the District 31 Jamboree held at East Grand Forks. And the locals looked pretty good in gaining a 29 to 16 win over the Oslo Bobcats in a 16-minute "game".

Last season the Prowlers opened the schedule by playing the Spoilers at Grafton, and coach Alan Taylor's squad, who were the defending champions of North Dakota Class A basketball, scored a 55 to 49 win over the Prowlers. The score at the half was 24 to 24, but in the second half, with guard Ron Knutson leading the attack, the Spoilers pulled away for their six-point win.

The game developed into a two-man scoring duel between the Prowlers' Tommy Cummings and the Spoilers' Knutson. Knutson tallied 10 field goals and four free throws, while Cummings scored 10 field goals and a pair of free throws. Knutson has been graduated so the blond sharpshooter won't be appearing in the Grafton lineup. The Prowlers, though, have the services of Cumings as Tommy is a senior this year.

The Grafton coach is reported as expecting a stronger club there this year. The Spoilers are bigger, more experienced and have impressed coach Taylor with their hustle. Seven returning lettermen, including a pair of starters from last season in Dan Selness and Steve Mihulka, gives the Spoilers a solid background of talent.

And to return to the action of Saturday night's jamboree. Eight of the 11 teams in District 31 were in action—Alvarado, Pummer and Climax were not there—and it appears that the district title race is "wide open". As impressive as any club in action on Saturday night was the performance of coach Irv St. John's Warren Ponies. The Ponies defeated the defending district champion Goodridge Huskies, 38 to 26 rolling up the evening's highest score. The Ponies will make an early appearance here, meeting the Prowlers on the Lincoln court on December 10.

It will perhaps be in order, too, to watch the play of the Red Lake Falls Eagles, who upset East Grand Forks, 20 to 17, and coach Norm Wagner's well-balanced Fisher Flyers.

Miscellany.

Football statistics released by the Moorhead State College Dragons reveal that Marv Walter, the former Plummer Cardinal all-round athlete, was third in yards gained by rushing this past season. Marv, in 44 carries, picked up 171 yards, which figures out to 3.9 yards per try. And he received four passes for a total of 61 yards. It must be remembered, too, that Marv was below par physically during the early part of the season, being the victim of mononucleosis, a debilitating blood disease. . .Basketball captain at Moorhead State college for the 1965-66 season is Nathan (Cactus) Warner of Halstad. Warner, a guard, is well-known to local cage fans as the Halstad Pirates have played here a number of time. The Prowlers vs. Pirates game has been a late-season fixture for past 10 or more years . . . Coach Alan Adam's local junior college basketball squad could surely make good use of the former Bemidji Lumberjack who is attending vocational school here. This is referring to the Jacks' center of last season, Duane Sheets. The six-foot five-inch center isn't eligible for junior college play . . . One of the candidates for the Moorhead State college cage team is Jerry Cook, the former Warren Ponies' guard. Cook is a junior at MS . . . Dale Messner, who was a center on the East Grand Forks Green Wave basketball team, last season and a graduate last June is reported as having been drowned after a boating mishap on the Frazer River in British Columbia Messner was enroute to visit with his father, who is employed by a mining firm in that area, when the accident occurred.

Wardens Arrest 537 Violators for Game Infractions

Violations of state and federal waterfowl hunting regulations accounted for over one-half of all arrests made by Minnesota game wardens during the month of October, the conservation department reported this week.

Of a total 537 arrests for the month, 273 were for various infractions of the waterfowl regulations. Shooting during closed hours brought 108 arrests. Wardens arrested 45 persons for having more than three shells in their guns. Fifteen hunters were found with more than the legal limit and 26 were arrested for hunting during closed season.

Other waterfowl violations encountered by wardens included hunting in open water, placing blind or decoys out before the season and hunting without a license or duck stamp. An additional 31 cases were reported of hunters who were found guilty of taking illegal ducks during the special teal season held in September.

There were 48 arrests for violations of the big game laws, most of them for deer shining and attempting to take deer during a closed season.

Thirty-seven arrests were made for infractions of the fishing laws and 20 for small game violations. Transorting loaded or uncased firearms or strung bows in a motor vehicle or motor boat resulted in 122 arrests.

Miscellaneous violations of the hunting and traing laws accounted for the balance of arrests for October, the report concluded.

Veterans Should Check Listing Of Beneficiaries

Many veterans in Minnesota are negelecting to keep up to date their listing of a beneficiary for their GI insurance policy proceeds. Because of this, the insurance proceeds may not be paid to the individual nor in the manner the veteran would wish.

John R. Murphy, manager of the Veterans Administration center, St. Paul, said a divorced wife or wealthy parent may take precedence over a present wife or children since the VA must pay the proceeds of the insurance policy to the beneficiary designated by the veteran himself.

Murphy said that a recent sampling in which a group of veterans were asked if they wished to change the beneficiary brought six out of 10 affirmative replies. Necessary forms for these changes may be obtained from the VA center at Ft. Snelling in person or by correspondence.

Federal Income Tax Questions Answered

Q—A friend of mine is still liable for his federal taxes even though he went bankrupt. Why does he still owe for taxes and not for anything else?

A—The law provides that although commercial debts of a legally declared bankrupt are dissolved, federal taxes remain a legally collectible debt.

Q—I've been told that you can save on estate taxes by using the marital deduction. How does this work?

A—The law provides that the total value of the taxable estate may be reduced by that portion of the estate that has been left, generally by will, to the surviving spouse. However this total reduction is limited to one-half of the adjusted gross estate (the total estate less certain expenses).

Q—I regularly purchase U. S. Savings Bonds for my daughter to pay for her college education. If these bonds are registered in her name, does she have to file tax returns reporting the accrued interest each year even though it is her only income and is less than $600?

A—No. Generally interest income from bonds purchased by a parent with his own funds for minor children is taxable to the parent. This would apply in the case you cite where the child is made co-owner of the bonds. Savings bonds interest should be reported for the year in which the bonds are cashed, unless you choose to report the interest as it accrues each year.

Q—Can I still claim my kids as exemptions for withholding purposes even though I am divorced and my wife got custody?

A—You may claim them as exemptions for withholding tax purposes only if they will qualify as your dependents. Generally, this means that you must provide more than one-half their total support for the year. This subject is explained in detail in Document No. 5013, "Personal Exemptions and Dependents," available free at your Internal Revenue office.

Q—When I sold my house last year, I thought I was going to buy another within a year. But we decided to live in an apartment instead. Should I report the profit that I made on the sale on this year's return, or do I file an amended return for last year?

In a situation like yours, when there is a question of whether you will be buying another home, it is better to report the gain and pay the tax in the year the sale is made. If you buy another home within a year after the sale, you may file a claim for refund of the tax you paid on this gain.

When you file an amended return to report the gain and to pay additional tax, you will be charged interest. If you had reported the gain in the year of sale, you would receive interest with your refund.

Q—My fiancee and I are planning a December wedding. Will that entitle us to file jointly as a married couple for the entire year?

A—Yes it will. Marital status is determined as of the last day of the tax year.

Q—How long do you have to keep stock to qualify for a long-term capital gain?

A—More than six months.

Q—I just got a job through an employment agency. Will the fee be deductible when I file my Federal income tax return?

A—Yes, it is a deductible expense if you itemize deductions.

Preparation for Winter Storms Advised for Farm

Winter storms are about to make their annual visit to the Upper Midwest. They will cause inconvenience in the cities but could be dangerous to people living in rural areas. Clifton Halsey, rural civil defense agent at the University of Minnesota, advises farmers to prepare now for winter storms.

Fuel and livestock feed can become critical when roads are blocked by drifts. Halsey advises that a week's supply should be kept in reserve.

Most farm families have plenty of food for emergencies. However there may be a member of your family who needs special diet foods and there should be enough special diet items to feed that person for a week.

Every family should have a least one member skilled in first aid. All members of the family should be immunized against preventable diseases such as tetanus and diptheria. If someone requires a certain medicine, there should be a week's supply on hand.

Auxiliary generators are insurance against electrical faulure. Farmers who keep generators in good shape will not have problems with well pumps and milkers if lines go down in an ice storm.

Flashlights, spare batteries and camp stoves can be useful. Halsey urges rural people to plan ahead and store fuel, food and medicine. Halsey said that if these precautions are taken, rural people will not have to ask someone to possibly risk his life because they did not plan for their own emergencies.

New Insurance For Veterans on Sale Until May 2

Less than six months remain for eligible veterans to take advantage of the new GI insurance which will remain on sale until midnight May 2, 1966.

John R. Parrish, director of the VA center in Fargo, said the insurance is open to those veterans originally eligible for GI insurance between Oct. 8, 1940 and Jan. 1, 1957, and who failed to take it out or, having purchased it, let all or part of it lapse.

To secure this new GI insurance the veteran must have a service-connected disability.

VA insurance officials point out that while a full $10,000 policy may be taken out the veteran may take out as little as $1,000 or $2,000 in coverage and thus provide protection for his family for only a few cents a week.

The VA center in Fargo, N.D., can furnish full information about the new insurance program.

Airman Erickson Participates in Naval Exercise

Aviation Fire Control Technician Airman John E. Erickson, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Erickson of Thief River Falls is participating in the U. S. First Fleet's training exercise "Range Bush" November 18-24, while serving with Fighter Squadron 161.

The week-long exercise off the coast of Southern California involves ships of the First Fleet and several naval air units, comprising "friendly" forces, in aerial reconnaissance, anti-air and anti-submarine warfare operations against the "enemy" air, surface and subsurface units portrayed by other Navy units. The exercise will increase the combat readiness of the First Fleet.

Exercise "Range Bush" is under the overall command of the First Fleet Commander, Vice Admiral Lawson P. Ramage, USN. His squadron's primary mission is to missiles, attack surface targets, escort "friendly" aircraft and perform other air operations.

Editorials . . .

"If we dreamt the same thing every night, it would affect us as much as the objects we see every day. And if a workman were sure to dream every night for twelve hours' duration that he was a king, I believe he would be almost as happy as a king, who should dream every night for twelve hours on end that he was a workman." —Lord Halifax

With Grateful Hearts . . .

We citizens of the United States who have been blessed with a free nation, the highest standard of living in the history of the world and an accumulation of knowledge such as history has never known, must approach Thanksgiving day as a people with grateful hearts. We must reflect that there are millions of other people in the world today who would be overjoyed at only a fraction of the wealth and freedom which is ours.

These thoughts were more impressively brought to mind this week with a news release issued jointly by Catholic Relief Services, Church World Service and the United Jewish Appeal. Each of these organizations seeks support during the Thanksgiving season to help alleviate the suffering of people less fortunate through gifts of clothing and other necessities.

"We Americans think of the 20th Century man in terms of the comfortable, and often affluent, life around us," the release states. "But there are huge pockets of the world's population where another kind of man virtually fights for his life from the day he is born.

"He lives in a mud hut and plows three acres of land with a crooked stick. Most of the time he is hungry. Most of the time he is sick. His mind and body are heavy with fatigue. His spirit is heavy with discouragement.

"As he harvests his thin crop of millet with an ancient sickle, he moves so slowly that he must work 15 hours a day. There are years when he is too sick or weak to hold the sickle, so his crop rots in the field. His life expectancy is less than 30 years.

"Where this man lives there are no schools or doctors. When one of his children is dying, he watches helplessly. He has never learned to read or write his own name. He is ashamed of his ignorance and knows that many take advantage of him—the rich landlord who takes two-thirds of the crop for rental of the land, the money lender who charges him heavy interest. He is always hopelessly in debt, and his yearly income is seldom more than $50."

This year our grateful hearts should lead us to a desire for sharing. We will find that there is warmth in the knowledge that we can help others and in the effort extended to give that help.

Making Comparisons

In one of his recent "Reports to Minnesota", Sen. Walter F. Mondale plays with percentages in making comparisons between federal spending and state and local spending. According the the junior senator, federal spending isn't as bad as it may seem.

"Compare, for example," the senator says, "federal budget expenditures from 1953 to 1963 with those of state and local governments. Federal budget expenditures during this ten-year period grew from $67 to $97 billion—an increase of 45 per cent. State and local expenditures, on the other hand, went up 182 per cent—three times as much—from $28 to $65 billion."

That sure sounds bad for the home folks. Look at it this way, however. Federal budget expenditures increased $30 billion while state and local expenditures rose $37 billion. That spread isn't quite so wide. Percentages can be deceiving; 10 per cent of a thousand dollars is no less than 100 per cent of a hundred dollars.

"The net debt of the federal government has risen 14 per cent," the senator also notes, "but state and local debts shot up 178 per cent, rising from $28.6 to $79.5 billion." Sen. Mondale doesn't mention what the net public debt of the federal government is—leaving room for question about this playing of percentages again.

We are not so concerned about the increasing expenditures on state and local levels. In general the taxpayers receive a dollar's worth of value for tax dollars invested in state and local government—considerably more than the value they get from an often wasteful federal bureaucracy.

In many instances the state and local budgets have increased due to the efforts of state and local governments to secure "matching" funds with which to become eligible for federal money—taxpayers' dollars returned to the state and local level less the usual deductions for expensive administration.

Furthermore, the federal government's efforts to move people off the farm and into the urban centers have caused costly problems for states and the municipalities. These problems are in the forms of unemployment, welfare programs, increased traffic requiring more and better roads, sanitation facilities, municipal engineering, school buildings and salaries and many others.

Senator Mondale explains the federal situation like this: "Federal taxes fall mainly on incomes, and they are progressive—this means that when total national income rises, receipts will rise even faster. . . So the way to solve the federal revenue problem is not to raise the tax rate, but to raise the economic growth rate. And this is exactly what the present administration has done."

What the senator refers to as the "economic growth rate" is referred to by other observers as "inflation". The President's council of economic advisors estimates that at our present growth rate of more than five per cent, Washington's revenues would rise by more than $7 billion a year at constant tax rates.

If this is fact rather than fantasy, we begin to wonder why some of this excess cash can not be applied to the national debt rather than being tagged for squandering in vast bureaucratic programs which are both untried and unsound. We imagine the economic advisors have a calculated answer for that, too. And the chances are, in making comparisons, they will speak in percentages which can mean just about what anyone wants to believe they mean.

Research Problem

The following editorial was taken from the Waseca Herald:

The war in Viet Nam, the spread of communism, the need for better distribution of food to hungry people, are all problems that require thought and study.

But in the face of all these trying problems the Food and Drug Administration is wasting its time trying to find out what percentage of peanuts should go into peanut butter.

What difference does it make? Peanut butter is not going to hurt anyone whether it is 80 per cent peanuts or 100 per cent peanuts.

The FDA attorneys think that peanut butter should be at least 90 per cent peanuts. A good natured grandmother is thumping for 95 per cent. The industry wants 87 per cent.

The Food and Drug Administration will probably say that they are trying to protect the buyer of peanut butter. So they spend the taxpayers money rather lavishly by importing some professional witnesses like Dr. Prince Harrill, who testified he wrote his doctoral thesis on the synthesis of polycylic aoromatic hydrocarbons as potential anticarcinogins. With that background the FDA scored heavily until the attorneys on the other side got the admission from Dr. Harrill that despite all his thesis regmarole he had done nothing with peanuts.

We wish official Washington would study the problem before it starts an investigation. We are not interested in the number of peanuts in peanut butter. We would like o know what makes the stuff stick to the roof of our mouth.

"So Help Me God"

Materialism of Americans is growing, and is one of the impressions made on foreign visitors to our nation. Citizens of the United States have a great heritage of spiritual freedom, but the spiritual is being pushed aside by the material in our affluent society. In several cases, the courts have added an extra push. Consider the following editorial in the U.S. Press Association newsletter from Washington, D.C:

"If you have ever served on a jury, you'll be interested in a recent decision of the Court of Appeals in the State of Maryland. That court has set aside several jury verdicts on the grounds that the members of the jury had been required by State law to affirm theirbelief in a Supreme Being. Such a belief is implied, of course, whenever anyone takes an oath which includes the words "So Help Me God."

Thus, the stage is set for a lot of convicted criminals in this country to demand new trials on the same grounds. And, prospective jurors have been provided a ready-made escape from jury duty; admission, or mere profession, of a belief of God will soon be sufficient grounds for disqualifications of a prospective juror if the accused or his attorneys so desire.

Before the full implications of that decision could be realized by the legal profession, a Pentagon psychologist added fuel to the fire. He finds, in a paper just published, that jurors who attend church regularly, believe in God and adopt conventional religious beliefs are more likely to find defendants guilty in court than those who are unencumbered by such attitudes. And further, says the Pentagon professor, such jurors tend to exact punishments that are more harsh, to accept the representations of the prosecution over those of the defense attorneys, and to be less willing to accept pleas of insanity.

The innocence of the accused until proved guilty is a foundation of our jury system. and tampering with that jury invitesa prettysevere penalty in our society, But, if God-fearing men who believe there is a difference between right and wrong are to be excluded from jury duty in the future, we have some fearsome justice in prospect. The mere matter of impaneling a jury of "peers" may require a whole battery of lawyers, to say nothing of psychologists, psychiatrists and sundry other experts on what a prospective juror may have ingrained in his consciousness. Otherwise, who is to say that a juror has not concealed, even unwittingly, a sublimated belief in a Supreme Being? If such a man can't serve on a jury, who can? What manner of jury tampering would that be?

If future juries in our Great Society are to be selected on these guidelines, eliminating those who affirm a belief in a Supreme Being, truly it will be the accused who will need to invoke the words "So Help Me God."

Borrowed Nonsense . . .

On the job application blank was the question: "Have you ever been arrested?" The applicant put "No."

The next question was "Why"—meant for those who had been arrested. Not realizing this, the applicant put down, "Never been caught."

Strandquist . . .

Mrs. Ed Stennes, Strandquist, 597-9646

Robert Kline of Aurora is spending the Thanksgiving holiday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Laurel Kline.

Sunday dinner and afternoon guests at the Otto Paulson home at Lancaster were Mr. and Mrs. Wm Wikstrom.

Pastor and Mrs. Harvey Jackson, Mrs. Wallace Larson and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Stennes took a group of Hi-Leaguers to Warren Sunday afternoon where they met a group from the Salem church to enjoy a few games of bowling, before attending the Bible Teaching Mission Vesper service at Our Saviors of The American Lutheran church. The guest speaker was Rev. Wilson Tagerberg, Dean from the Lutheran Bible Institute in Minneapolis. The roads were pretty slippery coming home from the rainfall that evening.

Legion Auxiliary

The American Legion Auxiliary met Thursday evening, Nov. 11 at the school with only 5 members present. We decided to send a donation of $5.00 to the Roseau Children's Home and $1.00 to the Dollar Bill Shower for Vets.

For Education week we served a 4 o'clock luncheon to the Strandquist School faculty and their wives at the school.

The cookies baked for the Veteran's party were never delivered as icy roads prevented us from joining the Thief River Unit.

We will have our annual Christmas Party at the Charles Kranz home on Thursday eve, Dec. 9, at 8 o'clock. Members will exchange 75 cent gifts and bring something for pot luck lunch.

Our meeting was adjourned and our hostess Mrs. Julius Kilenwachter served a delicious lunch.

Mrs. Morris Lindstrom

Nutritionist From U of M Gives Tips On Turkey Use

What's the best way to thaw the Thanksgiving turkey? Is it safe to stuff it the night before? Can it be partially cooked one day and finished the next?

These are questions that come from homemakers every year, reports Verna Mikesh, extension nutritionist at the University of Minnesota.

Here are her answers:

The refrigerator is the ideal place to thaw a turkey. Leave it in its plastic bag. Allow about three days to thaw a 20-pound bird in the refrigerator. If it thaws out a day or so earlier than you anticipate, keep it refrigerated; it will still be perfectly safe. To thaw a bird in several hours, keep it in its plastic bag and place it under cold running water. Refrigerate it or cook it as soon as it is thawed.

It is not safe to stuff poultry the night before cooking it. There is a definite food poisoning hazard in stuffing poultry that far in advance. The turkey acts as insulation for the warm dressing, which spoils easily. But you can save time in preparing the dressing by combining the ingredients the day before then refrigerating them. Then it's a simple matter to stuff the turkey just before popping it into the oven.

Partially roasting the Thanksgiving turkey the day before will actually not save time. The bird will still need time to heat through and to finish roasting. Because of the long warming up and cooling down period, the stuffing and interior of the turkey will stay in the danger zone, inviting the growth of bacteria. Furthermore, partial roasting beforehand may produce a drier bird and a warmed-over flavor.

Remember, too, the university nutritionist warns, that the roasted turkey should be refrigerated immediately after the festive meal. Remove any dressing and refrigerate it and the gravy. If you want to freeze some of the leftovers, do so as soon as possible after dinner. Package sliced meat for sandwiches in freezer foil or in cellophane bags. Turkey will keep longer in the freezer if it's frozen with gravey or some sauce. But don't keep it in the freezer over a month or six weeks.

U.S. Coast Guard Seeks Applicants For Its Academy

United States Coast Guard academy, the only U. S. military academy which appoints its cadets solely on the basis of competitive examination, is seeking applicants for the class convening July 12, 1966. Deadline for the applications is Dec. 4, 1965.

The application deadline coincides with the December Entrance examination board tests which will be the basis for the competition. There are no congressional appointments or geographical quotas.

Applicants must be unmarried high school seniors or graduates who have reached their 17th but not their 22nd birthday by July 1, 1966. They must have earned 15 units by June 30, 1966, including: three in English, two in algebra and one in plane geometry.

They must be in excellent physical condition, between 64 and 78 inches in height with proportionate weight, and must have at least 20-30 vision in each eye, correctible to 20-20.

The four-year course at the academy lends to a bachelor of science degree and a commission as ensign in the regular Coast Guard.

Additional information and application forms may be obtained from high school guidance counselors or by writing to the Director of Admissions, U. S. Coast Guard Academy, New London, Con; 06230.

Difference Noted Between GI Loan And New Program

Peace-time veterans have a definite advantage under the Federal Housing administration mortgage insurance for veterans provided by the new Public Law 89-117, but war veterans will benefit more under the GI Loan Guaranty program.

John R. Murphy, manager of the Veterans Administration center, St. Paul, said war veterans who still have entitlement for a GI loan are not required by law to make a downpayment. They pay an interest rate of only 5¼ per cent with no mortgage insurance premium. They pay no prepayment fee and the VA encourages extensions and-or reamortization when needed to help a veteran keep his home.

Under the FHA plan Murphy said, downpayments are required on a graduated scale running from none for a loan of up to $15,000 of appraised value to 10 per cent of the next $5,000 and 15 per cent of the next $10,000. The interest rate, like the GI loan rate, is only 5 per cent but an additional one-half per cent mortgage insurance premium is required.

"However, the peace-time veteran, who is not eligible for the provisions of the GI loan guaranty program, will find he has a definite advantage over the non-veteran under the FHA program," Murphy said.

World War II veterans with maximum eligibility will have until July 25, 1967, to take advantage of the GI Loan Guaranty program. The VA center of Ft. Snelling will be glad to figure out any veteran's remaining eligibility by use of the established fromula, the manager said.

The formula adds 10 years to the date of the veteran's discharge from active wartime service and then adds one additional year for each three months of service to reach a date that becomes the terminating deadline for that particular veteran's entitlement.

Murphy said that Korean conflict veterans with maximum entitlement will have until Jan. 31, 1975, to take advantage of a VA GI loan. War veterans who have not used their GI entitlement but who have already passed their eligibility deadline will find the FHA mortgage insurance plan to their advantage, he said.

Philipp, Newton To Attend TALC Youth Conference

Gloria Philipp and Nancy Newton of Thief River Falls are among 21 students from Concordia college who will attend the 1965 TALC student conference Thursday through Saturday at Wartburg seminary in Dubuque, Ia.

The conference will feature guest speakers Dr. Richard Luecke, director of studies at the Urban Training center for Christian Mission, Chicago; Rev. Thomas Heany, pastor of St. Thomas the Apostle parish, an integrated church in the Hyde Park area of Chicago; and Rabbi Arthur Gilbert, director of the Department of Inter-religious Curriculum Research for the Anti-Defamation league of B'Nai Brith.

Speakers and participants of the conference will focus their attention on aspects of poverty in America today, especially from the church's point of view.

Business Activity in District is Favorable

Business activity in the Ninth district continued its favorable upward trend during the third quarter of 1965—much as it proceeded during the first part of the year, the Federal Reserve Bank of Minneapolis reported in its monthly review of economic conditions.

District industrial production, as measured by the indices of industrial use of electric power and of production worker manhours, advanced strongly in each of the first eight months, the bank said.

Employment gains, too, were consistent with the forward push, with nonagricultural employment averaging an annual growth rate of 2.6 per cent. The level of help wanted advertising in the district rose sharply during the first eight months, indicating a brisk demand for labor. The bank attributed part of the gain in employment to construction activity in the taconite industry.

"As might be expected from observation of industrial production and employment records," the bank said, "the district unemployment rate dropped substantially: it averaged between 3.7 and 4.2 per cent during the first eight months of the year." Although this was a record somewhat better than that recorded for the nation, it was more a reflection of sluggish district growth rate in the labor force than of a better-than-U.S. employment record.

According to the bank, another indication of brisk economic activity was indicated by a high level of district bank debits (a measure of checkbook spending). Debits increased from Jan. 1, 1965, at an annual rate of about 10 per cent.

Retail sales, too, expanded, reflecting not only the higher level of consumer spending but also of higher incomes and a significant increase in consumer credit use.

The income of district farmers, as reflected by cash marketing receipts, displayed significant improvement during the first eight months of the year. These receipts totaled $2.16 billion, six per cent above the corresponding period of 964.

During the third quarter Federal Reserve member bank loans rose at an above-seasonal pace. Country banks provided most of the push—loans advanced by nearly twice as much at these banks as they did in the third quarter of 1964. City bank loans registered only a mild rise.

Snow Vehicles Not Intended For Use On Public Roads

Snow mobiles and similar vehicles that are designed for use on ice and snow covered hills and fields have no place on the public roads, says the Minnesota highway patrol. Manufacturers intend them for off-highway use. They are not equipped in accordance with law for operation on highways and streets.

There is no law that says a person cannot operate a snow mobile on a public road, but if it is to so used it must meet certain requirements. If it does not meet the requirements, the operator is violating the state traffic laws, the highway patrol says.

First, if used on any public road or street, ditch, shoulder or any other part of a highway right of way, it must be fully equipped as a motor vehicle in accordance with state law. This means it must have at least two headlamps, a taillight, horn, bumpers, adequate brakes and other safety equipment.

Second, the vehicle must be registered as a motor vehicle and license plates must be displayed thereon.

Third, any person who operates such a vehicle on the public roads must have a valid driver license.

Holiday Driving Means Extra Care For Safe Travel

This Thanksgiving holiday give all of your attention to traffic safety wherever and whenever you drive, suggests the Minnesota highway department. Holidays are notorious for high traffic accident rates, and this one bad aspect often overshadows the many good things about holidays, the department pointed out.

During the Thanksgiving weekend in Minnesota last year, there were 1,433 traffic accidents. These collisions resulted in six fatalities and 855 injuries. The deaths were not unusually high for a holiday period, but the number of accidents and injuries was far above normal. In 1963, a total of 866 accidents resulted in 11 deaths and 55 injuries.

Contributing factors that led to the accidents last year were numerous, but three of them were far ahead of the others: failure to yield right of way, illegal or unsafe speed and following too closely. These three violations of law of safe driving rules are the leading causes of accidents year after year.

During this holiday period, and for the rest of the year, the department advises all motorists to drive defensively by obeying the law, showing courtesy at all times and by anticipating the actions of other drivers around him.

Be ready to meet any emergency situation now and for the rest of the winter, the department says. Expect the worst from the weather, and remember that when the road is slippery from ice or snow, stopping distance can increase about 10 times, and control of a motor vehicle can be highly unpredictable.

Langen Speaks Thursday Night At Warren Dinner

Congressman Odin Langen told a public dinner audience in Warren Thursday that far-reaching changes in the United States are in prospect once the long list of new social programs enacted by Congress during the past year are in full operation.

Reporting on the just-completed session of Congress, Langen said that "the Congress in January has the choice of taking a long, hard look at the maze of legislation that was pushed through Congress, or can dash headlong into another round of programs without bothering to adequately debate their value or effect on the future of the nation.

"The choice is whether all of these new laws will help or hinder the economy. They can help if the congress accepts the responsibility of seeing to it that they are administered properly and that the moneys actually are spent for the purposes intended."

Langen said that rural America has a particular stake in how the new programs are administered. "Areas such as Marshall county and communities such as Warren have too often been shortchanged when federal funds are dispensed," he said. "Congress must direct more consideration to the needs of rural areas rather than handicap our people with curtailed postal services and elimination of other valuable assistance."

Congressman Langen noted that at least one program adopted by Congress last year is aimed at helping Marshall county. "I'm happy to report that the Tamarac Watershed project was approved during the closing days of the session. The moneys needed to proceed are now available," he said.

Earlier in the day, the Congressman, accompanied by Mrs. Langen, visited in other Marshall county communities with stops at Stephen and Argyle.

Christmas Tree To Be Erected On Capitol Lawn

Minnesota's official Christmas tree will be in St. Paul on November 23 and will be placed in its customary position in front of the state capitol, the conservation department announced this week.

The tree, a 71 foot tall white spruce, was purchased from a private landowner in Itasca county by the North Grange and donated to the state. The tree is being donated in honor of John Noggle, past master of North Grange and well-known civic leader.

The official Christmas tree is being cut and brought to St. Paul by the state forestry division and was located through the efforts of state forestry and state park personnel. Other statistics on the tree are: diameter (Breast high) 26 inches, age 65 years, crown spread 34 feet, wieght 6,900 pounds.

We dare not forget that when our forefathers celebrated the first Thanksgiving Day they weren't at all sure that their meager harvest would be adequate to sustain the little community through a long hard winter. About all they could give God was thanks!

Gratitude for our blessings in time of abundance discovers a new dimension. We can become partners with the Almighty in His mighty aims.

For the very season in which Christians give thanks to their Lord is the season in which they plan their stewardship—their support of the Church's continuing work.

If you are a church member, demonstrate your thanksgiving in earnest commitment to your congregation's spiritual opportunity. If you are not a church member, express your thanksgiving by discovering your own spiritual opportunity.

Spiritual dedication is about the only life resource of which we do not have more than we absolutely need!

ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Side Line Observations

BY BILL DAHLQUIST

Our Canadian neighbors are friendly and the Canadian Press seldom is critical of what we do on our side of the international boundary. We may therefore be properly concerned about the critical attitude of the Winnipeg Tribune in expressing its views on our refusal to discuss peace terms with North Viet Nam a year ago as proposed by U Thant, secretary general of the United Nations.

Our refusal to enter into such a discussion at that time may now be accepted as an admitted fact. President Lyndon Johnson didn't want to discuss such matters at that time because it might confuse the presidential election. Discussing the matter editorially, the Winnipeg Tribune states that:

"U Thant so far has diplomatically avoided any direct confirmation but in a speech Tuesday night he told an audience of 150 diplomats that had bold steps been taken as late as 1964 much of today's tragic developments in Viet Nam could have been avoided." According to the Tribune, in a subsequent effort after the election, U Thant again managed to gain the acceptance of North Viet Nam but once more the United State refused. States the Tribune:

"As these peace attempts were made before the outright participation of American forces in the Viet Nam war, the belated admission of the State Department obviously demands a more satisfactory explanation than 'We didn't think the North Vietnamese were serious'." Then concludes the Tribune,

"How serious do you have to be these days in discussing war and peace? It is apparent that matters are rather serious now for the war is taking a toll in excess of 1,000 lives a week—and it's still escalating."

This is the reaction of our friendly Canadian neighbors and deserves our most serious concern. In recent years we have lost the confidence of too many nations that at one time thought well of us. Under the present administration we are losing the good will of our neighbors with whom we have enjoyed good relations over a period of many years.

Many, many years ago, Victor Hugo predicted that in the Twentieth Century war will be dead, hatred will be dead, the scaffold will be dead, frontier boundaries will be dead, dogmas will be dead, and man will live. Victor Hugo was very optimistic. There may come a time when war will be effectively outlawed and when there no longer will be hatred and selfishness. But the prospect for those good things coming to the world in our time is not hopeful. Let's hope that Victor Hugo guessed wrong only by 100 years. Maybe the 21st Century will bring to mankind the perfection he predicted. Victor Hugo's dream is an objective we should strive for.

The New York Times Service, reporting from Moscow, tells us that the Soviet leadership has unleashed a harsh broadcast attack on Communish China. An identical article appeared in Pravda and Izestia, the official press of the Soviet Communist party and government, was an official reply to a detailed Chinese accusation that the Soviets were in secret collaboration with the United Sates over Viet Nam. According to the New York Times Service report:

"The Soviet article gave Russian readers their first detailed information about the bitter accusations that have been issuing from Peking with increasing frequency in recent weeks.

"Tuesday's article was credited in both cases to the Pravda correspondent in Peking, ostensibly as a news report of the sweeping Chinese declarations of Nov. 10. The dispatch was dated Nov. 13.

"The apparent delay of three days in publishing this dispatch provided extra evidence that a high - level decision had been taken to break with the policy of silence that has prevailed since the downfall of former premier Nikita S. Khruschev.

"Diplomats consider the publication of this article marks the end of a phase in Soviet policy that tried to portray the difference with China as only transitory."

"The first and best victory is to conquer self; to be conquered by self is, of all things, the most shameful vile."—Plato.

4-H CLUB NEWS

Smiley 4-H

Smiley 4-H club met Wednesday evening, November 10, at the Smiley hall with president Arlo Rude, presiding. Roll call was answered by naming a favorite song.

Council report was presented and a date was set for planning the program for this year. This meeting will be held at the Herman Rude home at 2 p.m. Saturday, November 26. All junior leaders and adult leaders are to be present. All project leaders were notified of the leader's training meeting to be held January 12 at 1:30 p.m. in the courthouse.

The December leaders council meeting was discussed and members were reminded to think of something that the club could present for the program that evening. Adult leaders to be in charge of the refreshments are necessary. Mrs. Maurice Newton made the presentation of awards.

Club Christmas party will be held on the regular meeting date which will be Wednesday, December 8, at 7:30 p.m. It was decided that members exchange gifts again as in the past. Each boy is to bring a boy's gift and a girl should bring a girl's gift. The tree was to be purchased by Norma Belswenger and later given to St. Paull church for further use.

Donald Dean Knutson, reporter

Kratka 4-H

At the November meeting plans were made for our Christmas party and club members exchanged names for giving of gifts.

Adults were appointed to attend various project meetings in January. After the adult leader, Mrs. Rufus Olson, gave the report from leader's council, she congratulated the club members who received special awards at the 4-H banquet.

JoEllen Erickson gave a project talk on fallout, Lyle Olson spoke on how to care for a dairy calf, and Brattie Mickelson gave a demonstration on how to make yeast rolls.

Curtis Lindblom, reporter

Sanders 4-H

The November 10 meeting of the Sanders 4-H club was called to order by Barbara Wold, president.

It was discussed whether the club would sell Christmas wreaths and if so, to have teams to see who could sell the most. Plans were made for a Christmas party to be held at the next meeting.

Barbara Wold gave a demonstration on how to make date cookies. A project talk was given by Sandy Wold on conservation. Lunch and games followed.

Public Opinion

Thanksgiving

What does it mean to you or to me?

Have you really thought about it?

A Turkey grown, cleaned, yes, even stuffed by someone else, an assembly line, in fact, ready for you or me to pop in the oven. Canned sweet potatoes, cranberries frozen pumpkin or mince pie and many other delicacies that you like or can afford. Covenient, oh yes, but is it really anything to be thankful for?

What brought this line of thinking on, I suppose you wonder. I'll tell you and if it helps even one person to think about what he can really be thankful for I'll have one more thing to be thankful for.

A few weeks ago, when it rained day after day after day and every nite, we thought tomorrow will be different, the sun has got to shine, but it didn't. The farmer was getting more desperate and depressed, the crop that he had such a hard time getting in last spring lay swathed, waiting for the sun to shine just long enough for him to combine.

The potatoes and sugar beets were ready to harvest but you couldn't get them out. Surely, we all thought, they'll rot in the ground. All that labor and costly seed for nothng. A deep killing frost was getting closer everyday. Then, one morning I looked up from my work and the sun was streaming thru the window. I stood there almost spellbound. Somehow this sunshine looked different—like it just might last. Thank God, I said, not really thanking him at first, merely an expression, but the next day it shone again and for over one glarious week it did not rain. Everyone took heart, the sun was shining.

Farmers helped each other as the higher land dried out enough to be worked and they salvaged a lot of grain they never hoped to get. Friends and neighbors pitched in and picked potatoes by hand when it was too wet to get the harvester in the field. The street construction crews worked day and nite to finish a job that was weeks over due, and people in that area could once again drive up their streets without driving in muck.

Thank God, "I said one day as I delivered a grocery order in that area, but again it was more or less a figure of speech.

Then one day when I said to someone, "Isn't it a beautiful day" they answered, "Its about time", it struck me. Yes, it was about time, in fact, just in time, but who did we have to thank for it? Not you or I, we couldn't make the rain stop or the sun shine hard as we hoped for it or maybe even prayed for it we couldn't stop it. Suddenly I found myself saying, "Thank God," and this time I meant it.

This, I thought, must have been how the pilgrims felt when they first thanked God for letting them harvest their merger crops to keep them from starving over the long, cold hard winter ahead. I could almost see them as they dressed in their very best clothing, children and all, taking perhaps more than they could spare of their precious food supply and going to their place of worship, to give Thanks to God and to share with the less fortunate. This was really "Thanksgiving."

Wouldn't it be wonderful, I thought if each and everyone of us would take even a little of the profit we made, Thanks to God", to our place of worship to give thanks and to share with the less fortunate? Not only the farmer, the beet and potato growers, the contractors, but each and everyone of us in business. The salesman, each and every man that works for a living, even the man in the bread lines, for when one hurts we all hurt.

For the first time in a long time "Thanksgiving" is going to mean more to me than a turkey and all the trimings. Thank God for the many blessings we receive every day. The sun, the air we breathe, the health and happiness of ourselves and families, all the things we take for granted, for if God is not willing we could all very quickly perish from His earth.

"Happy Thanksgiving."

WINTER came early to Thief River Falls this year, as shown by this Christmas card scene taken Saturday morning at Oakland Park. Four inches of snow fell previous to that time, and the lack of wind kept the trees mantled with snow, making the city's parks a mecca for scenery photographers. Total snowfall for this season is 10.3 inches, and if this is an indication of things to come, folks of this area can look forward to a white Christmas and a tough winter.

AT KENNY REHABILITATION INSTITUTE, Minneapolis, operated by the American Rehabilitation Foundation, rehabilitation is a special kind of caring—and a special kind of care. Here an institute patient, braced with special equipment and a smile, practices walking with the help of a Kenny physical therapist. Your help is needed, too. Your support of United Funds, Community Chests, and independent Kenny fund drives makes it possible for Kenny to provide treatment for chronically ill and physically disabled patients. The campaign is now going on in this area. Please give generously.

Sunday callers at the Orlan Stolaas home were Mrs. Darrow Lundeen and children and Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Olson.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Frey and girls of Platte, S.D. arrived at the Raymond Gordon home on Friday for a weeks visit at her parental home.

GOOD THINGS come in threes, according to an old saying. Directors of American Dairy Association of Minnesota would be the last to argue the point as they accepted awards from three separate organizations for ADA's new "Beauty in Butter" sculpture exhibit at the 1965 Minnesota State Fair. The three citations, formally accepted at ADA's final state board meeting of 1965 in Minneapolis, Oct. 26, included the Western Fairs Association's "Blue Ribbon Award," the Dairy Processors, Inc., (buttermaking industry) "Certificate of Meritorious Service" and the Minnesota State Fair's "Extraordinary Exhibitor" plaque. The award-winning exhibit involved sculpting the likenesses of the 11 Princess Kay of the Milky Way finalists in 68-pound blocks of butter as a daily attraction at the Fair. Shown comparing the awards are directors Melvin Kern of Wadena (left), ADA Region III, and L. M. Hysell of Browerville, North Star Dairies, while Princess Kay Mary Ann Titrud of Clarissa offers an appropriate salute — with buttermilk.

How's Your Health?

(Prepared in the public interest by the Minnesota Medical Ass'n)

"Fumes from faulty stove kill two hunters" "Carbon monoxide blamed in death of motorist". Each year as the days grow colder during the fall and winter the number of news stories devoted to poisonous gas accidents show a marked increase.

Carbon monoxide gas is the number one culprit. This colorless, odorless, tasteless gas—whether it is expelled by the exhaust of an automobile or the faulty flue from a hot water heater—is poisonous and kills its victims.

Before you realize what i shppening you get drowsy and begin to doze. For the driver behind the wheel of an automobile this can be doubly hazardous. If the gas itself doesn't kill, the resulting crash into a tree, bridge rail or an oncoming car might finish the job.

If you feel sleepy on the highway at night it might be the late hour or it might be carbon monoxide. Whatever the cause, get off the road and away from the car and take a nap. It might save your life.

The Minnesota State Medical association lists the following basic safety rules to cut down the danger of carbon monoxide poisoning by motorists:—Leave at least one window open slightly, even on bitterly cold days. If there is leakage of gas, the fresh air will dispel most of it.—Keep the front vents closed when driving in bumper-to-bumper traffic. Your vent can suck in exhaust fumes from the car ahead of you.—If you park for more than a minute or two with the motor running; open a window several inches. Wide open is safer.—Most important is to make certain that exhaust, muffler and manifold are tight and free of leaks. It is worth a few dollars you pay to a mechanic to guard against gas poisoning.

Keep the garage doors wide open if the car motor is to be run indoors even for a few minutes. If the car motor is to be run indoors for any length of time an extension such as used by commercial garages should be placed on the exhaust pipe and it should run directly outside.

To prevent the danger of carbon monoxide poisoning from home heating systems— and this includes fish houses, hunting lodges and mobile homes—carefully check for faulty heating equipment. Authorized dealers, utility companies or fuel suppliers are your best sources of standards for proper functioning of heating equipment. Use only the type of fuel specified for the heating unit. Don't operate furnaces, fireplaces, water heaters or other heating appliances without an adequate supply of fresh air to replace the air lost or exhausted through burning, concludes the association.

AGRICULTURAL EXTENSION SERVICE

The time to put your home orchard to bed for the winter is right now. A few chores properly done now before winter sets in will make the home orchard look better and will put it in the best conditions to survive winter.

Raspberries and strawberries will produce best if protected from the winter elements. A four to six-inch layer of hay, straw or similar weed-free material placed over the strawberry row will prevent low temperature injury to the strawberry crowns and roots. Raspberry canes are protected by bending them to the ground and covering them with soil.

Be sure the mouse guards around your fruit trees are intact and in place. Rodent damage (eating of the bark of the tree) can be prevented by placing a cylinder of ¼-inch hardware cloth, about six inches in diameter and 18 inches in length, around the trunk of the tree. Set this cylinder about one to two inches into the ground.

A clean, neat orchard is usually a trouble-free orchard. First, mice and other rodents will not be attracted by rotting fruit or other debris which may otherwise be left on the ground. Also, mice do not find nesting sites when long grass and weeds are removed from the orchard. Secondly, cleaning up the fallen fruit, foliage and other debris from the orchard floor will eliminate a source of insect and disease problems for the coming year.

Fruit trees are best equipped to withstand the stresses of a cold winter if the tissues of the plant are fully dormant and hardened off before the cold weather begins. Practices which encourage late growth such as watering, fertilizing and pruning should be delayed at least until after a few killing frosts. Then you will be sure the plant is fully dormant and will not begin growth during warm days in early fall.

The root system of a dwarf fruit tree may not be fully hardy. It should be protected from the winter by applying an organic mulch six to eight inches deep around the trunk of the tree and under the branches. But do not apply this mulch for a few weeks. If applied too early, rodents will use this mulched area for a nesting site.

Evaluation Program Helps Driver Habits

Have you ever been called in by the Minnesota highway department to discuss your driving record? If so, you are one of the lucky ones. In other words, it means that the driver license people feel that you may rate another chance—depending on your record and your attitude toward driving and the law.

Under the policy now followed by the state, drivers with certain violations charged against them may be asked to appear for an interview. Last year, of the 11,500 drivers interviewed, a high percentage of them were given another chance. All of those could have had their licenses suspended.

The new program began back in 1958, beause highway officials felt that perhaps not all drivers with a couple of convictions for speeding or for careless or reckless driving needed a license suspension to improve their driving habits. Minnesota's was among the first of these programs in the country.

The main idea of the program was and still is to hear the driver's story, to observe him personally for obvious physical or mental defects and to attempt to evaluate his attitude toward his own driving behavior, the law and the overall highway safety program. The program is designed to help those who can and want to be helped. It is not for the habitually dangerous driver with a long record of convictions, suspensions and revocations.

The driver evaluation program is administered by one supervisor and seven interviewers. Interviews are held in the central office of the highway department in St. Paul every working day, and at various other locations throughout the state on at least a four-week cycle. Every effort is made to bring the interview as close as possible to the driver's home.

The drivers interviewed usually fall into one of four categories: minimum risk, fair risk, questionable risk and poor risk. The first two are usually given another chance; the third will have a limitation imposed on his license; and the poor risk usually receives a suspension.

Naturally, the driver who accepts the fact of the violation, recognizes the danger of violations, realize the necessity for improving his driving habits, beliefs in obedience to the law and is honest and sincere in his efforts to improve his driving will be given another chance.

The driver who is willing to accept only part of the blame for his violations, thinks that his driving habits are good or better than most and is not sincere in a future effort to improve his driving habits will usually end up with restrictions on his license or even suspension.

Although they do occasionally encounter a belligerent driver, the interviewers unanimously agree that most drivers called in are cooperative, rsponsive and grateful for the opportunity to discuss their problems. This is borne out by the fact that most of those who face the interviewers come away without a suspension.

"We are much more interested in salvaging a driver who has run into a little trouble than in arbitrarily suspending licenses," says G. A. Hatfield, director of driver licensing. "Most intelligent people, if afforded the opportunity to discuss the problem, will come away with a healthier attitude toward their own driving habits and their responsibilities to others. Few drivers really want to violate the laws or endanger others."

Adjust Driving To Conditions, Department Warns

A Minnesota winter tests the skill and patience of every driver, but it gives the most trouble to those who do not take the time to adjust their driving to winter conditions, says the Minnesota highway department.

Most important the driver has to understand the change in stopping distance. On dry pavement at 20 miles per hour it takes only 21 feet to stop in an emergency; but on glare ice with regular tires it takes 195 feet to stop at the same speed, the department said.

The motorist can greatly improve stopping with snow tires, studded tires or tire chains. But even with these devices it still takes longer to stop in ice than on dry pavement and the driver should test stopping distance when it is safe to do so.

Also, the driver must adjust to the change in traction. Here again, snow tires, studded tires and tire chains are a great help. With or without these devices, it is always best to start out on snow or ice in the highest drive position or, with a manual shift, in second gear and feed the gas slowly.

Finally, the driver has to get the feel of the road and not let the wheel deceive him. The driver may think he has complete control of the vehicle on ice or snow, until he has to stop or turn in a hurry.

The department also suggested increasing the following distance. The extra-margin of safety may prevent a collision if the car ahead should stop suddenly—and the car ahead may be equipped with studded tires or chains, premitting a stop in a shorter distance than your car, if not similarly equipped.

Pennington DHIA Lists Top Herds During September

Orville Peters, supervisor of the Pennington County Dairy Herd Improvement association, lists the following herds as the top ten in the association for the month of September:

	Pounds Milk	Pounds Fat
Clyde Christensen	993	39.4
Curtis Johnson	1056	39.4
Myron & Myle Carlson	935	36.6
W & L Hamrick	998	35.2
Mordy Morrison	1042	34.4
Mehrkens Farms Inc.	943	33.2
Wallace Relerson	838	31.8
Bernard Wells	946	31.6
Carl and Kermit Finstad	894	30.8
A. Peterson	915	30.1

The herd averages are affected by the number of dry cows in the herd. The amount of milk or butterfat produced is averaged out over all the cows. This gives the farmer a record of the earing power of the herd for the month. If too many dry cows are included in the herd, the average for that month may be low even though the cows which are milking produce a lot of milk.

There were 25 herds on test with a total of 748 cows and an average of 30 cows per head during September with the Pennington association; 80 per cent of which were milking. The average amount of milk produced per cow was 753 pounds which tested 3.7 per cent fat. This amounted to 27.8 pounds of butterfat per cow.

Five cows finished with over 500 pounds of butterfat during the testing year, in a 365-day or less lactation. They were owned by the following:

	Days	Milk	Fat
Mordy Morrison	331	14,240	501
Mordy Morrison	319	16,980	569
Wallace Relerson	316	14,600	539
Wallace Relerson	327	16,550	616
Martin Hanson	319	16,960	554

Cropland Program Offers Long Term Use of Land

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman today announced details of a program aimed at long-term land use changes on millions of acres—with major benefits to both farm and non-farm people.

The Cropland Adjustment Program—authorized by the Food and Agriculture Act of 1965—is aimed at removing from surplus production up to 40 million acres for periods of five to 10 years. Emphasis will be on shifting this land into public benefit uses which also conserve soil and water to meet future needs.

The Cropland Adjustment Program, which supplements the yearly commodity programs, will reduce overall program costs by obtaining acreage diversions at lower rates over extended periods of time. Long-term agreements afford farmers more stability and thus better opportunity for planning adjustments in land use.

The secretary said that the Cropland Adjustment Program is consistent with the administration's objective of "conservation for use", of "using rather than idling land." He added that: "Our natural environment includes much more than the air, soil and water which are essential to life. It also provides beauty, the opportunity for outdoor recreation, the protection of wildlife and a host of other natural values.

"If those of us who are dedicated to conservation are to properly serve our growing population, as well as later generations, we must provide or the multiple use of our resources in ways that use.

"Nearly three-fourths of the United States mainland is in private ownership, and it follows that a big opportunity for conservation lies with farmers, ranchers and other rural landowners. The C.A.P. will give us a chance to shift some really significant acreages to public benefit uses."

The new program is designed to protect local communities by limiting the amount of land that can be put under the program. In any county or community, no more than 10 per cent of the allotment or base acreage for any crop or of total cropland will be contracted in any single year and no more than 25 per cent during the life of the program. Exceptions will be made where requested by local governments.

C.A.P. will help farmers divert cropland to protective conservation uses under long-term agreements, the secretary said. Participants will receive adjustment paymnts related to the value of the crops normally produced on the land. They also will be eligible for conservation cost-share

FOUR OF EIGHT speakers who will conduct a four-day dairy seminar to be held in two sections in Thief River Falls are pictured above. The seminar begins Wednesday at 10 a.m. Sessions will be held from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday and again on December 15 and 16. Dairymen in Pennington, Marshall and Red Lake counties are encouraged to attend the session which covers virtually all phases of dairying. Cost of the four-day seminar is $2 to cover costs of notebook and materials. Other speakers in addition to those pictured above are J. B. Williams, dairy science professor; Kenneth Thomas, farm management economist; Martin Christiansen, marketing economist; and John Lofgren, extension entomologist.

Breeders CoOps Merge Operations

Voting delegates and directors of Consolidated Breeders cooperative met recently and voted almost unanimously to merge with Iowa Breeders cooperative of Des Moines, Iowa. Prior to this date, the membership of Iowa Breeders had voted unanimously to amalgamate their assets with thos of Consolidated Breeders to make it one organization. The merged organization will retain the name of Consolidated Breeders cooperative with headquarters at Anoka.

Since Anoka is also the home of Midwest Genes, Inc., which owns all of the sires that serve Consolidated Breeders, Iowa Breeders, Missouri Farmers association and Nebraska Artificial Breeders, there will be no change in the bull stud.

Dr. Greg Raps, presently manager of Iowa Breeders, will become general manager of the new organization. R. W. Seath, who is nearing retirement age, will remain as operation manager of the bull stud.

The merged organization will have a volume of business of approximately 350,000 cows and will employ over 200 technicians located in Iowa, Minnesota, Wisconsin and North Dakota. It will be the major stockholder of Midwest Genes, Inc.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Kelly, Karen, Darlene, Mark and Hal were Thanksgiving day dinner guests at the home of Mrs. Kelly's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Amundson at Fordville, N.D.

Early Mailing Is Again Encouraged By Postmaster

"Last Christmas the post office handled more mail than ever before, yet the operation was the most efficient in history" states R. J. Dryden, Thief River Falls postmaster.

Nationally about 99 per cent of the Christmas mail reached its destination before Christmas Eve.

"Zip Code use and the cooperation of the public in mailing early were the main reasons for our success. With the same or better cooperation this year, we expect to handle an even greater volume of mail with less effort than during the 1964 Christmas rush."

Dryden gave the following advice which would help mailers prepare for the upcoming mailing season:

a. Update last year's address list and include Zip codes. The phone book is usually a good source for local addresses.

b. Prepare a gift list as soon as possible. Shop early to take advantage of full stocks. Be sure to have on hand enough shipping materials; boxes, tape, wrapping paper, etc.

c. Use first class postage on greeting cards. This assures their being forwarded if the recipient has moved or that undeliverable cards will be returned if a return address is on the envelope.

The postmaster emphasized again this year that poorly wrapped and loosely packed cartons are the major cause of parcel post damage. He urged that cartons be packed tightly by using stuffing material to fill up the empty space around the merchandise. He asked also that all mailers make an effort to address their letters and cards and packages as clearly as possible and that they make every attempt to mail often, not waiting until the last minute to deposit all their gifts and greetings.

Farm Bureau Sets Annual Meeting

Pennington County Farm Bureau will hold its annual meeting Friday, December 10, at 9 p.m. in Valhall, located one mile east of the Thief River Falls municipal airport. Among business at the session will be balloting on a change in the by-laws regarding dues. Lunch will be served following the business meeting, according to Mons Engelstad, secretary-treasurer.

Junior College Choir To Stage Concert Sunday

First concert of the Thief River Falls junior college choir will be presented Sunday at 8 p.m. in the Lincoln high school cafeteria, according to Junice Flattum, publicity chairman for the event. "Sing Noel" is the theme for the concert of sacred and secular Christmas music.

The 35-voice choir is under the direction of Bryant Ulseth with Susan Finney of St. Vincent as accompanist. The audience will participate in singing the traditional carols for the Christmas season and will view selected nativity scenes in silhouette in portrayal of the choral renditions.

Patricia Toulouse, president of the choir, is general chairman of the concert. Committee chairmen include Junice Flattum, publicity; Thompson, refreshments; Dave Gustafson and Dennis Lee, stage; Jerome Toulouse, lighting; Erlyce Guenin and Lorne Inman, art design; Ronald Hanson, ushers; Arlene Joppru, tableaux; Neil Jensen and Linda Jensen, costumes; and Harley Lind, special effects.

There is no admission charge for the concert and coffee will be served in the cafeteria following the concert.

Supreme Court Upholds Veto on Reapportionment

In a move which throws the Minnesota legislative situation into a possible mass of confusion, the Minnesota supreme court last week of the legislative reapportionment act by a 4-3 reversal of a lower court ruling.

The veto means there now are no legal districts from which the state's 135 representatives and 67 senators can be elected next year. If this is not changed by the legislature or by the federal courts before next July, it could mean all Minnesota lawmakers would have to run at large in 1966.

Associate Justice Robert Sherun wrote the majority decision. In essence, he said the Minnesota Constitution assignes the job of reapportionment to the legislative "process", not merely to the group of men who make up the legislature. He noted "the veto power is an essential ingredient' of the lawmaking process.

Chief Justice Oscar Knutson wrote the dissenting opinion. "To permit the governor to veto the action of the legislature in performing this function makes it more difficult to accomplish the necessary redistricting and sometimes makes it virtually impossible to reach agreement when the governor and the majority of the legis- Chief Justice Knutson said.

Recognizing the significance of its decision, the majority decision noted: "In a state where the population is both growing and mobile we know that the problem of legislative apportionment will be a recurring one. Our decision here will remain a binding interpretation of fundamental law unless changed or modified by the difficult process of constitutional amendment."

Two Extension Courses Offered By BSC In City

Bemidji State college will offer two extension courses in Thief River Falls during the winter quarter, according to Dr. John Brady director of BSC extension services. Dr. John Warford will teach industrial arts in the elementary school and Christine Janda will teach a graduate course, study of the exceptional child. Both courses will start January 4.

Tuition rate for off-campus courses is $10 per credit hour for both residents and non-residents, and the Minnesota State College board requires a $5 late fee for students registering after the first meeting. Students will not be permitted to register after the second class meeting.

SCS Supervisors Meet Here Today

Annual meeting of soil conservation district supervisors is being held today at the American Legion club rooms in Thief River Falls. Presiding at the session, attended by about 50 people, is Orville Elseth, Newfolden, area chairman and member of the board of supervisors of the Marshall County Soil Conservation district. Election of officers will be held.

School District Adopts Budget; No Tax Increase

TURKEY dinner with all the trimmings was held Wednesday noon in the Thief River Falls VFW club with Land O' Lakes Creameries, Inc. hosting its approximately 140 turkey processing employees. Under the direction of John Lang, manager of the Land O' Lakes turkey processing plant, the large group was well fed, most of them thereby having two Thanksgiving feasts in as many days. The dinner was also a climax to the turkey harvesting season which, Lang said, is about finished for this year.

Increased Aids, Large Balance To Offset Spending

Drawing on the benefits of a carry-over balance of nearly a quarter of a million dollars, the Thief River Falls board of education adopted its 1965-66 budget last Tuesday without an increase in mill levy. Local taxes will remain constant next year at 161.4 mills for non-agricultural property and 136.4 mills for agricultural property, according to Supt. M. R. Hankerson.

Topped by instructional salaries, which are anticipated to exceed $1 million for the first time in the district's history—the budget calls for increased expenditures in nearly every department. Increased state aid, supplemented by other anticipated increased income and a much smaller expected year-end balance, will make it possible for the district to operate without a tax increase this year.

The district completed the 1964-65 school year with a balance of $243,030. The board budgeted for the 1964-65 year on the basis of a five per-cent cutback in state aids ordered by Gov. Karl Rolvaag. When the Minnesota legislature reconvened this year, it ordered payment of the full amount of funds initially appropriated, providing the district with a larger balance than anticipated at the end of the year.

The budget adopted Tuesday calls for anticipated income of $1,876,552 and expected expenditures of $2,003,19 with a budgeted year-end balance of $116,436. In addition, the district has a balance of $201,470 in a special building fund and anticipates spending $100,000 from that fund during the coming year. The building fund balance of $101,470 has been considered by the board for use toward improving the vocational-technical school situation.

Budgeted income for the coming year includes the following: Local taxes, $624,628; adult tuition, $10,100; other local revenue, $29,500; county revenue, $76,100; state and federal aids, $1,042,914; sale of materials and supplies, $4,000; revenue from other districts, $2,300; food services, $83,500; and National Defense Education Act funds $3,500.

Anticipated expenses include: administration, $49,750; instructional salaries, $1,096,650; instructional supplies, $99,000; auxiliary services, $22,508; transportation $77,439; operation of plant, $210,756; repair and upkeep of plant, $ 4,350; fixed charges, $47,225; community services, $21,150; food services, $88,900; National Devense Education Act, $6,500; capital outlay, $62,300; and debt redemption, $186,500.

Supt. Hankerson noted that the $186,500 figure for debt redemption is up $14,500 from the previous year. Of this total, $105,000 will be applied to principal on bond payments with the remainder being used to pay interest charges.

The superintendent also noted that general operation of the district will increase by $226,577 from 1964-65 from $1,442,842 last year to $1,669,418 in 1965-66. To help meet this general fund increase, the school board decreased it levies for capital outlay and debt redemption.

Main increased in expenditures came from addition of teachers and departments in the school system and from salary increases granted by the board prior to the budget meeting. State and federal aids are expected to increase by $118,907 from a budgeted $924,007 last year to $1,042,914 this year, Supt. Hankerson said.

Lincoln Senior Girls Will Take Homemaking Test

Girls of the Lincoln high school senior class will have the opportunity to take a 50-minute knowledge and attitude examination dealing with the duties and rewards of homemaking in today's society Tuesday, December 7.

The girls will be among more than a half million others in approximately 15,000 of the nation's public, private and parochial high schools who have enrolled in the 1966 Betty Crocker search for the American homemaker of tomorrow. At stake are awards ranging from attractive pins for each school winner to $110,000 in scholarships for state and national winners.

Local school winners also will have their examination papers entered in state competition. The highest ranking state homemakers of tomorrow will then receive $1,500 scholarships. Their schools will be presented sets of encyclopedia. State runners-up will receive $500 scholarships.

Lindland To Head TRF Odd Fellows

Obert Lindland was elected noble grand of Young Pine Lodge 221 of the Odd Fellows in Thief River Falls at the annual meeting of the lodge last week. John S. Groff was elected vice grand.

Officers reelected were Millard A. Nelson, recording secretary; Henry Thorson, financial secretary; Leonard C. Henson, treasurer; and Alfred Lungren, trustee. Carry-over trustees are Rene Werner and Harry Lund. Elected and appointive officers will be installed in January.

Peterson Named District Farmer

Farmer of 680 acres in Moose River township, Art Peterson of Gatzke was selected recently as the Marshall-Beltrami Soil Conservation district farmer of the year.

As the 1965 winner he will receive a conservation home sign for his farm driveway and a plaque from the Minneapolis Star and Tribune.

Peterson has been a cooperator with the district since 1956 and had through the district office in 1957. About 565 acres of cropland are included in the 680 acre farm and are included in a conservation cropping plan.

Other soil conservation practices used on the farm are vive miles of field drainage ditches, a farmstead windbreak, improved pasture program, soil testing and use of fertilizer. Most of the farm has been cleared of trees and brush since Art started farming 5 years ago.

The livestock program includes 20 head of Holstein cattle and 30 head of young stock. In addition to proper land use and use of needed conservation practices, he has improved his farm yard. Since 1940 all the buildings now in use have been built.

Peterson is on the Gatzke school board, Gatzke creamery board, Middle River elevator board, Red River Valley Milk Producers Pool board and a member of the National Farmers organization.

Selection of Peterson as conservation farmer was made by the Marshall Beltrami SCD board of

Sen. Walter Mondale

Sen. Mondale To Speak at C of C Report Breakfast

Sen. Walter F. Mondale, appointed as U.S. Senator from Minnesota when Hubert H. Humphrey was elected Vice President, will report on the past session of Congress in Thief Fiver Falls Friday.

The congressional report will be given at a breakfast session from 7:30 to 9 a.m. in the Rex cafe under the sponsorship of the legislative committee of the local Chamber of Commerce. Donald L. Olson is chairman of the legislative committee making arrangements for the event.

The session is open to the public with a charge of $1 to be made for the breakfast. Reservations must be made with the Chamber of Commerce by Thursday in order to attend the program. A question and answer period will follow Sen. Mondale's talk.

Milk Producers Continue Picket Work This Week

Picketing of Thief River Falls supermarkets by members of the Red River Valley Milk Producers pool is continuing this week, according to Merle Landeen of Trail, who is organizing the effort in this area. Headquarters for the pickets is at the Joppru auction market northwest of the city (Phone 681-2256).

Landeen reaffirmed the organization's intent to continue picketing until non-cooperating dairy processors sign contracts with the pool. He also said the pool members are encouraging the public to purchase dairy products from cooperating processors in support of the organization.

Trochman Held on Burglary Charge

Richard Trochman, formerly of Newfolden, is being held in the Wright county jail in Buffalo for the alleged burglary of three Newfolden business places two weeks ago, acording to Oscar C. Erickson, Marshall county sheriff.

Trochman, on parole on a forgery charge, had been in the Newfolden area with a rented car. He was apprehended by state parole agents at Delano where three guns taken from Newfolden, were found in the rented car.

First Real Blizzard Hits Times Area This Weekend

Fifteen inches of new snow have fallen in the past three days as the first full-blown blizzard of the season swept through the area last week-end. Snow first began to fall heavily Thanksgiving evening due to the presence of a low-pressure storm system that has since moved into eastern Canada.

Seven inches of snow was measured the following morning. Six inches fell Saturday, and was whipped into drifts by a northwesterly wind that gusted up to 35 miles per hour. Visibility in the area was reduced to one-quarter mile and drifts appeared on some highways. A number of cars were stalled on highways during the storm, the highway patrol reported, but roads are now generally in good winter driving condition.

A number of week-end activities in Thief River Falls and the surrounding area were canceled due to the weather. Schools were closed today in Karlstad and Argyle due to drifted roads. In Thief River Falls, streets in residential areas running east and west will be cleaned today, and east-west streets in the downtown area will be cleaned tonight. Persons parking in city lots have been asked by the police department to watch for signs notifying motorists of hours when snow will be removed from the lots.

The winds have calmed considerably as a high has centered over the area, but cold Canadian air has pushed the mercury below the zero mark for the first time this fall. Overnight low recorded at 5 a.m. today at the airport was -4 degrees.

Forecast calls for variable cloudiness and continued cold today with scattered light snow flurries. Skies will become fair to partly cloudy tonight and tomorrow. Colder temperatures are expected tonight, but a warming trend is predicted tomorrow. High today will range from 15 to 25; lows tonight from -5 to 5.

Temperature and precipitation readings recorded since Wednesday by North Central Airlines at the airport are as follows: 34, 19 and one inch of snow with .01 inch water content on Wednesday; 26 and 4 on Thursday; 25, 14, and seven inches of snow with .30 inch water content on Friday; 21, 6 and six inches of snow with .20 inch water content on Saturday; 18, 9 and two inches of snow with .08 inch water content on Sunday; and a low this morning of -4.

Kathryn Lynn Anderson Weds Raynold L. Ulrich

Miss Kathryn Lynn Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Anderson of rural Thief River Falls and Raynold Lee Ulrich, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Ulrich of rural Red Lake Falls, exchanged marriage vows on Saturday, October 9 at 8 p.m. at Redeemer Lutheran church in this city with the Rev. Dennis Rodin officiating at the double-ring ceremony. Organist, Mrs. William Halbasch played the traditional nuptial music and Mrs. John Ulrich, aunt of the groom, sang, "O Promise Me" and "The Lord's Prayer". White carnations graced the altar that was banked on either side by baskets of ferns and an arrangement of blue, white and yellow asters adorned the organ.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a floor-length gown of white brocade satin. Styled with a molded bodice that featured bateau neckline and long sleeves that tapered to a point over the wrists, the gown was fashioned with a trim sheath skirt. A rounded, chapel-length, detachable train was secured at the waistline with a matching belt that tied in front with a bow. A peau de soie petal headpiece, outlined with seed pearls, secured her bouffant veil. She carried a cascade of white mums and yellow roses accented by fern foliage and a star of white velvet piping. Her only jewelry was a gold cross on a slender chain.

Claire Ann Dahlen of Goodridge attended the bride as maid of honor and Cheryl Ulrich of rural Red Lake Falls and a sister of the Groom, was bridesmaid. They wore street-length gowns of blue velvet fashioned with bateau necklines and elbow length sleeves. To complete their attire they wore matching shoes and veiled pillbox headpieces and each carried a large white mum accented by large glossy lemon leaves. Their crystal pendants were their gifts from the bride.

The groom was attended by his brothers, Darryl Ulrich of Minneapolis, as best man and Gayle Ulrich of Cook Rapids as groomsman. Ushers were Kenneth Ulrich of rural Red Lake Falls and David Arlt of Minneapolis, cousins of the groom. The groom and his attendants wore black tuxedos and white carnation boutonnieres.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Anderson, wore a two-piece cranberry red knit suit. The mother of the groom was attired in a two-piece cranberry red and beige suit. To complement their ensembles, both mothers wore black accessories and identical corsages of yellow and bronze mums. Also presented with a boutonniere and corsages were the grandfather and grandmothers of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Anderson and Mrs. Martha Swenson.

Approximately 150 guests were received at the reception given in the church parlors by the parents of the bride with Mrs. Paul Furuseth as hostess. Centering the serving table was a pillared, three-tiered wedding cake, decorated with yellow roses, accented by fern leaves and topped by a golden Christogram. Cutting and serving the cake were Mrs. Vernon Lee of Cloquet and Mrs. Lloyd Arlt of Plummer; aunts of the bride and groom, respectively, while Mrs. Herb Swenson of Thief River Falls, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Fred Ulrich of Red Lake Falls, aunt of the groom, poured. Serving the punch were sisters of the groom, Mrs. Renette Hamnes and Bonnie Ulrich. Cousins of the bride, Betty Grandbois, registered the guests, and Sandra Wik, Margie Vik, Darlene Sevre and Mrs. Lyle Pederson were waitresses. The gifts were opened and displayed by Mrs. Daryl Ulrich, Mrs. Richard Lian and Karen Grundhaus.

Guests attending the wedding were from Oklee, Randall, St. Hilaire, Cook Rapids, Radium, Minneapolis, Morgan, Viking, Plummer, Goodridge, Crookston, Pinecreek, Detroit Lakes and Cloquet.

For the wedding trip along the North Shore drive, the bride was attired in a two piece brown suit with black accessories and a gold corsage.

The bride is a graduate of Lincoln high school and is employed at the Union State Bank in this city. The groom is also a graduate of Lincoln high school and attended the Thief River Falls area vocational-technical school. Mr. and Mrs. Ulrich are at home in this city at 423½ North Duluth.

Falls Squares To Display Memento Book At Dance

At a recent meeting of the Falls Squares square dance club, historians, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Bischel displayed a book containing mementoes of the club. They have pictured events and clippings to bring the history of the club up-to-date but they urged members to contribute data as events occur. With the coming of the State Square dance convention to be held June 24-26 in Thief River Falls, the historians will be busy keeping the book current.

Plans are to display the book at each dance, beginning with the next dance on Saturday, December 4th.

Sam Farringtons Once Of Oklee, Note Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Farrington, former Oklee residents and the parents of Mrs. Violet Bendickson of Thief River Falls, celebrated their 65th wedding anniversary November 6, at Eau Claire, Wis.

A party was held at the town hall where 65 members of their family were in attendance. They have eight children. Mrs. Oscar (Myrtle) Hatlell, Mrs. James (Daisy) Radack, Mrs. Ed (Verna) Lawler and LaVerne Farrington, all of Eau Claire; Leo Farrington of S. Milwaukee, Wis., Richard Farrington of Columbia Falls, Mont., Mrs. Violet Bendickson of Thief River Falls and Mrs. Lillian Johnson of Oklee. There are also 29 grandchildren, 48 great grandchildren and two great-great grandchildren. Some of the great grandchildren were unable to attend.

Evelyn Thompson and Sam Farrington were married at Wrightville, Wis., Nov. 4, 1900. Prior to moving to Oklee in 1920, they lived in southern Minnesota. Since 1944, they have made their home at Eau Claire, Wis., where Mr. Farrington was employed for 11 years at the White Machine Works.

Mrs. Lydia Olson Of TRF Honored On Her Birthday

In observance of her birthday, Mrs. Lydia Olson of this city was guest of honor Sunday afternoon, November 21, at the Lloyd Olson home.

Those present to help her mark the event were Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Olson and family, Mr. and Mrs. Duane Olson and family, Mr. and Mrs. Leland Nelson and family, Mrs. Laverne Filipula and family and Miss Gloria Olson.

For the birthday luncheon served by the self-invited guests, the table was centered with a decorated birthday cake. Following the luncheon, the honored guest was presented with many lovely birthday gifts.

Guests at the Mrs. Lydia Olson home that evening to help her celebrate the event were Mrs. Nada Lane, and Mrs. Alma Hanson. Bringing birthday wishes Monday afternoon were Mrs. Olson's sisters, Mrs. Selma Manoles of Valley City, N.D., and Miss Amanda Larson of Thief River Falls.

Barbara Hornseth Guest of Honor At Bridal Shower

Miss Barbara Hornseth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Hornseth, was guest of honor at a miscellaneous shower held Saturday, November 20 at the home of Miss Hornseth's aunt, Mrs. Orville Helgeson, who hosted the gathering and served the lunch.

Friends who attended the shower were Mrs. Larry Gausen, Mrs. Harlan Knutson, Mrs. Marcella Jorde, Mrs. Alma Brown and Susan, Linda Jorde, Mrs. Barb Deschene, Mrs. Marshal Carlson and Bev Larson.

Those who sent gifts but were unable to attend were Mrs. Lawrence Phillip and Gloria, Mrs. Amanda Nelson, Marquita Cummings, Sherry Helgeland, Mrs. Don Kolbo, Lila Hadeland, Mrs. Bernice Goulet, Mrs. Shirley Swanson, Karen Swensgaard, and Rhonda Dahlson.

Chat and Chew Club Adopts Blind Child

At a meeting of the Chat and Chew homemakers club held recently at the home of Mrs. Robert DuChamp, members voted to adopt Delmer Burnett and to remember him throughout the year. Delmer, a blind child at the Brainerd State school and hospital was once a foster child in this area.

Plans were also made for the Christmas Party to be held at the James M. Anderson home.

D. Minske and Marlyn Bjorge Wed at Karlstad

When DaLonna Rebecca Minske, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Minske of Karlstad and Marlyn L. Bjorge, son of Mrs. Anna Bjorge of Thief River Falls and the late Theodore Bjorge, were married Monday, November 22, at the First Lutheran church in Karlstad, it was also the 29th wedding anniversary of her parents and the 49th wedding anniversary of her grandparents.

The Rev. James Query of the Bethel Lutheran church of Greenbush officiated at the double ring ceremony and Mrs. Clarence Englund provided the nuptial music. Johnson, cousin of the bride, as she sang "The Wedding Prayer" and "The Lord's Prayer".

Escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white satin fashioned with a long detachable train edged with chantilly lace, enhanced with crystalettes. Adding interests to the train were two lace insergs along the bottom edge. Lace appliques, hand embroidered with pearls and crystalettes, outlined the scoop neckline, adorned the waistline and train and were scattered across the full skirt. Matching miniature appliques also trimmed the long sleeves that tapered to a point over the wrists. A crystal and pearl crown held her fingertip veil and she carried American Beauty roses cascading with feathered white carnations. The bridal attire had been fashioned and sewed by the mother of the bride.

Mrs. Gary Schrader was her cousin's matron of honor with Jill-ayne Olstad, cousin of the bride, and Grace Olstad, friend of the bride, as bridesmaids. Their sapphire blue velvet floor-length gowns with long tapering sleeves were trimmed with white fur around the scoop necklines. They also wore white fur pillbox hats with sapphire blue veiling and carried white fur muffs adorned with an American Beauty rose.

Pete Bachmeier, friend of the groom, was best man and groomsmen were Jerry Ackerman, friend of the groom, and Bryce Minske, brother of the bride. Dr. John Knauf, friend of the groom, Mylo Minske, brother of the bride, and Lyle Bjorge, brother of the groom, were ushers.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Minske wore a blue brocade dress with silver accessories and the mother of the groom was attired in an aqua-blue dress with black accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of pink baby roses and white mums.

At the reception following the ceremony, Mrs. Arnold Smith, aunt of the bride, attended the guest book, while Mary Ann Hougard, friend of the couple, and Mrs. Mylo Minske, sister-in-law of the bride, presided at the punch bowl. The four-tiered wedding cake, cut and served by Mrs. Clarence Litz and Ellen Hilde, aunts of the bride and groom, respectivelyy, featured the individual tieres resting on champagne glasses invetted over blue roses. Mrs. Ronald Dahl cousin of the bride and Agnes Longren, Thief River Falls, aunt of the groom, poured. Cindy Johnson and Pamela Olstad, cousins of the bride, distributed the groom's cake and served as junior waitresses. Other waitresses were Margaret and Edith Jacobson and Dorothy Broski. Those in charge of the gift table were Mrs. Bryce Minske, sister-in-law of the bride, and Mrs. Lyle Bjorge, sister-in-law of the groom. A church circle catered the reception.

The bride is a graduate of Karlstad high school. The groom is a graduate of Lincoln high school in Thief River Falls and the University of North Dakota. They will be residing in Grand Forks, N.D., where the groom is employed at the Grand Forks Federal Savings and Loan Association.

Zehlian Art Group Hears Report On Major Project

The Zehlian Art group of the Thief River Falls Women's club met Thursday evening, November 18 at home of Mrs. William Holmes.

Mrs. Art Forsberg Jr., conducted the business session. A report was made giving the progress of the Congressional Medal of Honor Grove at Valley Forge, a major project of the General Federation of Women's clubs.

This 52-acre grove amid streams and hills includes sections reserved for each of the 50 states, Puerto Rico and the District of Columbia. Living trees will be marked in perpetuity with the names of 3,209 Congressional Medal of honor recipients. The purpose of this grove is to provide future generations with a permanent reminder of their rich heritage. It will also help to strengthen the ideals of patriotism which will keep America free and provide inspiration to all Americans when too many are blase to the true meaning of patriotism.

Members spent the evening painting and the hostess, Mrs. Holmes, served refreshments.

The next meeting of the Zehlian Art group will be held Thursday at the Rudy Sagmoen home.

W. Cleon Skousen Will Lecture on Communism Here

W. Cleon Skousen

One of the nation's foremost speakers against communism, W. Cleon Skousen, will speak Thursday in Thief River Falls under the sponsorship of the Citizen's Anti-Communist committee. The program will be held at 8 p.m. in the Lincoln senior high school auditorium.

Skousen has been editorial director of "Law and Order", the nation's leading professional police magazine, since 1960. He is the editor of several books, two of which have gained national recognition. They are "The Naked Communist", which reached the national best seller list, and his most recent book, "So You Want to Raise a Boy".

The speaker has a varied background, having served as a missionary for the Mormon church in the British Isles for two years, served in the FBI for 16 years, been a member of the Brigham Young university faculty from 1951 to 1956 and served as police chief in Salt Lake City, Utah. He holds a law degree from George Washington university in Washington, D. C.

Skousen travels and lectures extensively. He has been in 29 foreign countries and 43 of the 50 states during the past two years and has spoken to more than 100 university, college and high school audiences during that period, averaging more than 350 speeches per year.

He received the 1964 special leadership award of the National Management association and the 1959 vigilant patriot's award from the All-American conference in Washington, D.C. He was also appointed by the International Association of Chiefs of Police to serve on a comittee studying organized crime.

Topic for the Thursday evening meeting will be "The Story Behind the Riots". Admission will be 75 cents for adults and 35 cents for students.

Long-Term Use Of Land Set in Cropland Program

payments on diverted land. And those who agree to permit free public access for fishing, hunting, hiking and trapping in accordance with appropriate state and federal regulations, may get an additional per-acre payment.

Secretary Freeman said he would appoint a wildlife advisory board to recommend the most effective procedures for expanded use of surplus crop acreage in fostering wildlife and increasing hunting and fishing recreational opportunities.

In general, operating farms which have been under the same ownership for three years prior to the agreement period are eligible for the program. Exceptions to this general rule are farms which have changed ownership by will or succession due to the previous owner's death, and farms which for three years prior to the agreement have been under the control of the person who will control it for the full period of the agreement. The law also permits farms with ownership changes as late as Dec. 31, 1964, to participate, under certain circumstances.

Farmers who participate will receive payments based on the part ue and the productivity of the land. For land that would otherwise produce wheat, corn, grain sorghum, or barley the annual payment per acre will be 40 per cent of the county price-support loan rate times the farm yield for the crop.

After placing all of his acreage of one or more of the above surplus crops in the program, the farmer may offer other cropland. Rates for this cropland will range nationally from $3 to $7 an acre.

All of the land taken out of production under the program will be put to conservation uses. In additional to conservation practices, wildlife plantings and vegetative cover assistance will be authorized for perserving open space and natural beauty. Other practices authorized for cost-share assistance fall within the general category of preventing air and water pollution and measures to provide better outdoor recreation.

Under another provision C.A.P. may help state the local government agencies acquire cropland for non-farm fues such as preservation of open spaces and natural beauty, wildlife habitat and recreation and the prevention of air and water pollution. The program may also share with these agencies the cost of establishing these practices on the cropland acquired.

County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committees will administer the program. Full details on how the program applies to an individual farm will be available in ASCS county offices in late December or early January.

FIRST BUCK to be contributed to the Salvation Army Christmas Appeal in Thief River Falls this year was dropped in the kettle Friday noon by Gene Gaer, owner of the Ben Franklin store. Ringing the bell is Mrs. Ruth Dow, Salvation Army soldier from Virginia, Minn., who is aiding the drive in this city. Looking on is Lt. Harold Shelby, this city's full-time Salvation Army man.

Services Today For TRF Resident Erick Johnson, 79

Erick Johnson, 79, a resident of Thief River Falls for the past 20 years and a former long-time resident of the Newfolden community, died Thursday evening at his home at 325 South Crocker.

Funeral services for Erick Johnson will be held today (Monday) at 2 p.m. in the Evangelical Free church in this city. The Rev. Wesley Johnson will officiate and interment will be in the Greenwood cemetery. The body will lie in state at the church for one hour before the time of services. Green Funeral home is in charge of arrangements.

A complete obituary will be given in the Times on Wednesday.

Johanna Loen, 98, Once Of This City Dies At Greenbush

Johanna Loen, 98, a former resident of Thief River Falls who had resided for the past year in a Greenbush nursing home, died Tuesday morning in the Greenbush hospital.

Funeral services for Johanna Loen were held Friday at 1 p.m. at the Grace Evangelical church at Strathcona with the Rev. Harvey Jackson and the Rev. Robert Dierking officiating. Interment was made in the Poplar River cemetery at Fosston. Collins Funeral home, Middle River, was in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Loen, the former Johanna Lee, was born Feb. 10, 1867, in Dakota county, near Northfield, where she attended school. At the age of 16 years, she moved with her parents, the late Ole and Ingeborg Lee to Auburn, N.D., where she grew to womanhood.

She was united in marriage to Jacob H. Loen on Sept. 11, 1887 at Grafton, N.D. Following their marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Loen lived at Auburn, N.D., Fosston, Radium, Bagley and Thief River Falls where Mr. Loen was engaged in the grain business. Mr. Loen retired in 1927. After his death in 1929 at Thief River Falls, Mrs. Loen made her home in this city until 1938 when she went to make her home with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Welmer Nelm Newman, near Strathcona.

She is survived by one son, Carl Leon of Detroit Lakes, three daughters, Mrs. Welmer (Charlotte) Newman, Strathcona; Mrs. Josephine Sloan and Mrs. Alfred (Helen) Hammarback, both of Ada; 9 grandchildren and 14 great-grandchildren.

She was preceded in death by two sons, three daughters, one brother and two sisters.

Mrs. E. Erickson Rites Held Today At Donaldson

Mrs. Ella (Otto) Erickson, 74, of rural Plummer, and formerly of the Kennedy area, died early Thursday morning at St. John's hospital at Red Lake Falls.

Funeral services for Mrs. Ella Erickson are being held today (Monday) at 2 p.m. at St. Olaf Lutheran church at Donaldson. Burial will be in the Red River Lutheran cemetery near Kennedy. The Petterson Funeral home of Red Lake Falls is in charge of arrangements.

Born April 20, 1891 at Cannon Falls, she was united in marriage to Otto F. Erickson. Mr. and Mrs. Erickson farmed near Kennedy until August 1954 when Mr. Erickson was killed in a car accident. Following the death of her husband, she made her home with her son, Gordon, at Plumer. For the past three years, she had been a resident of the Hill Crest nursing home at Red Lake Falls.

Mrs. Erickson was a member of the St. Olaf Lutheran church and its Ladies Aid at Donaldson.

Rites Held Friday In Warren For G. Maruska, 80

George Maruska, 80, a pioneer farmer of Tabor township, Marshall county died Tuesday at the Warren hospital where he had been a patient 11 days following a stroke. He had been a resident of the Warren community since 1946.

Funeral services for Mr. Maruska were held Friday at Grace Methodist church in Warren with Reverend John Richardson officiating. Interment was made in the Presbyterian church cemetery in Tabor township near Angus.

He was born September 3, 1885 at Tabor. He married Mary Vavrina at Tabor and farmed in that community until moving into Warren in 1946. He is survived by his wife; two sons, Morris and Harveydale of Angus; two brothers, William fo Warren and Ralph of Angus; two sisters, Mrs. Joe Filipi of Warren and Mrs. Angela Kerr of San Jose, Calif. and seven grandchildren.

Emil Sorenson, 56, of Newfolden, Interred Friday

Funeral services for Emil Oscar Sorenson, 56, a lifetime resident of the Newfolden community, who died Monday afternoon at the Northwestern hospital, Rev. Loren Nielsen officiated and interment was made in the Westaker cemetery. Green Funeral home was in charge of arrangements.

Emil Oscar Sorenson was born June 19, 1909 at Newfolden where he attended school and had since resided. On Dec. 21, 1934, he was united to marriage to Edith Nelson at Newfolden with the Rev. Thorvald Myhrer officiating. Following their marriage they made their home south of Newfolden where they were engaged in farming.

He is survived by his wife, Edith; two daughters, Linda, at home, and Mrs. Reuben (Delores) Stromgren of Lake Bronson; eight sons, Lyle, Minneapolis; Norman, Newfolden, Richard, Jerry and Jimmy, all at home; Roger, Owtonna; Edmond, Thief River Falls and Kenny of Duluth and ten grandchildren.

He was preceded in death by his mother.

Tony Nelson, 51, Local Resident, Dies November 27

Tony Nelson, 51, a resident of Thief River Falls, died Saturday morning at Northwestern hospital.

Funeral services for Tony Nelson will be held Tuesday at 2 p.m. in the Green Funeral chapel. The Rev. Leland Steen will officiate and interment will be in the Greenwood cemetery. The body will lie in state at the Green Funeral home until time of service on Tuesday.

A complete obituary will given in the Times on Wednesday.

Mrs. Mary Jansen, Resident of TRF, Dies November 22

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Jansen were held Friday at 10:30 a.m. at St. Bernard's Catholic church. The Rev. Keough Patoode officiated and interment was made in the church cemetery. Sinding's Funeral chapel was in charge of Mrs. Jansen, the former Mary Merron, was born Jan. 1, 1885 at Stevens Point, Wis., to the late William Herron and Augusta Bavitz Herron. In 1894 she came with her parents to Thief River Falls where she attended public school and later worked as a telephone operator. She was united in marriage to Joseph Jansen on Feb. 28, 1911 at Thief River Falls. The Jansens lived at Viking for 39 years before returning to Thief River Falls in 1950 to make their home.

Mrs. Jansen was a member of St. Bernard's Catholic church and the Women's Order of Catholic Foresters.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Leonard Jensen, Minneapolis, and Mrs. Earl Johnson, Thief River Falls; one sister, Mrs. Ellen Faust, Minneapolis, one brother, Charles Herron, Inglewood, Calif.; five grandchildren and 3 great-great grandchildren.

She was preceded in death by her husband in 1957, two brothers and two sisters.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear husband and father, Morris LaSalle who passed away five years ago November 27, 1960.

We cherish the love you so willingly gave,
Today we bow silently over your grave;
We whisper a prayer and leave a bouquet—
We haven't forgotten today is the day,
We miss you husband and father dear—
Life is so lonely since you're not here,
How we loved you, bless your heart—
Sad was the day you had to depart.

Two St. Paul Men Fined in Warren On Deer Charges

Two St. Paul men each pleaded guilty to two charges of deer hunting violations in Warren justice court last week. Andrew Korpi and Milton Jorgenson, both of St. Paul, were fined $25 and costs on charges of petty larceny of a deer and shooting across a road.

The charges arose from an incident in which Bruce, Leon and Deland Elseth, 19, 17 and 14 respectively, were hunting deer on their New Solum farm. A deer broke out onto one of the fields and Korpi and Jorgenson fired several shots at it from across the road. Bruce Elseth dropped the animal with a neck shot, tagged it and began dressing it out.

Korpi and Jorgenson apporached the boys and claimed that the deer had been killed with one of their shots. After some argument, the two men tore Elseth's tag off the carcass, attached one of their own and drove away with the deer. Their license number was taken, and Sheriff Oscar C. Erickson summoned the two men to appear in court on Friday.

Sheriff Erickson explained that even though there was some question as to which party was rightfully entitled to the deer (investigation showed the animal was hit twice,) the St. Paul hunters were guilty of larceny because of their act of removing a legally-placed tag from the carcass. Proper procedure in a situation of this kind, he said, is to leave the deer untagged until a game warden can determine which party is entitled to the deer. If no such decision can be made, the carcass is requisitioned for state sale.

6 Auto Mishaps In City Result In Much Damage

Six traffic accidents with damage totaling more than $50 in each were reported in Thief River Falls since Wednesday. Police Chief Elton Cummings advised the motoring public to adjust driving habits to the icy conditions prevailing on city streets. Reduced speed and extra caution are necessary to prevent accidents during winter weather.

On Wednesday Russell Holm of Warroad reported that his car was damaged to the extent of about $150 by an unknown vehicle while parked in the central parking lot. The case is under investigation.

At 8 a.m. Friday a car driven south on Main avenue by James Helgeland collided with a car driven by Gordon Fordyce which was leaving Darrell's Mobil station by the north driveway. Fordyce's vision was obstructed by a parked car. Damage was estimated at $115 to the Helgeland car and $20 to the Fordyce vehicle.

At 4:15 p.m. the same day a pickup truck owned by Carl Lee and driven by Robert Rausch, TRF, was traveling south on Main and slowed to make a left turn on to Eighth street when struck from the rear by a car driven by John Alex Taylor of St. Hilaire. Damage was estimated at $5 to the pickup and $165 to the Taylor car. The mishap is under investigation.

At 7:20 p.m. the same day, Frank Larson of Randall was traveling south on Maple avenue when he collided with a car driven by Mary Jane Kildahl which was backing from a driveway at 445 Maple av. S. Damage was estimated at $75 to the Larson car with no apparent damage to the Kildahl vehicle.

On Saturday at 3:15 p.m. a pick up truck driven by Frank Jasnoch, city, was going west on Fifth street when struck by a car driven by Chenny Hruby, Goodridge, which was going north on Horace avenue. Damage was estimated at $200 to the Jasnoch truck and $100 to the Hruby car with the accident under investigation.

At 5:30 p.m. Saturday a car driven north on Main avenue by George Gagner had stopped for a red light at the intersection with First street when struck from the rear by a car driven by Dennis Wayne Anderson, rt. 3, who was unable to stop due to icy conditions. Damage was estimated at $150 to the Gagner car and $50 to the Anderson vehicle.

At Region I Meeting . . .

Urge Support for ADA Promotions

All dairy farmers and plant operators in this area will be urged anew during the next several weeks to support the non-brand dairy promotion activities of American Dairy Association (ADA). This was agreed upon by dairy producers and processors attending the annual business meeting of ADA Region I held here last Tuesday.

The group agreed to an intensification of efforts to achieve full support of dairy farmers for ADA at the rate of two cents per hundredweight as milk is marketed from farm to plant. Increased efforts also will be made to get every plant in the 11 northwest Minnesota counties to cooperate fully in making the ADA "set-aside" and forwarding the promotion investment to ADA state headquarters. ADA participating in Minnesota is voluntary.

"ADA's programs benefit everyone in the dairy industry and they are needed to get our message across to the consuming public," said Sheldon Erickson, Badger dairy farmer, who was re-elected regional chairman and producer-delegate to ADA of Minnesota's state board of directors. "Our competition—those with substitute or imitation products to sell—are spending more money than ever for advertising and promotion so we've got to get ADA participation up to full strength."

Don Bruggeman, Thief River Falls, was re-elected regional vice chairman and alternate producer-delegate, and Bertrand Thompson, McIntosh, was renamed regional secretary-treasurer at the meeting of dairymen from Beltrami, Clearwater, Kittson, Lake of the Woods, Mahnomen, Norman, Pennington, Polk, Red Lake, Roseau and Marshall counties.

Along with discussion of ADA "membership," the group heard reports from state ADA staff personnel on promotion activities of the past year and plans for 1966.

Clif Markuson, ADA of Minnesota manager, reported the just-released results of a twoyear test conducted jointly by ADA and the U.S. Department of Agriculture in six separate markets to determine the effectiveness of non-brand promotion for fluid milk.

Markuson said the results of the test revealed:

An increased milk promotion program at the rate of 15 cents per person per year boosted fluid milk sales an average of 4.5 per cent and returned $1.68 to dairy farmers for each dollar invested in the promotion.

Increased promotion got an additional 12 per cent of people over 15 years of age to drink milk on the average day and, according to 11,000 interviews, the attitude of consumers toward milk was improved dramatically during the promotion period.

Regional and state promotions including Northwest Dairy Day and ADA's triple award-winning "Beauty in Butter" sculpture exhibit at the Minnesota State Fair—were termed "the most successful in history" by Tom Johnson of Bemidji, ADA area representative, and Howard Ryan of Minneapolis-Minnesota ADA public relations director.

Johnson said arrangements were being made to exhibit the life-sized butter sculpture of Princess Kay of the Milky Way, Mary Ann Titrud of Clarissa, at the 1966 Red River Valley Winter Shows at Crookston. Miss Titrud told of her experiences so far as Minnesota's 12th Princess Kay.

In his report, Ryan revealed that arrangements already have been made with the Minnesota Twins baseball club to hold another "Dairy Night at the Met" promotion as a state kickoff event for June Dairy Month, 1966.

Prowlers Lose Opener To Grafton 65 to 60

The Grafton Spoilers, trailing by eight points at the halftime intermission, 34 to 26, rallied in the second half as coach Whitey Olson's Prowlers ran into foul trouble, and in the final three minutes of the game the visitors pulled away to gain a 65 to 60 win here Friday night. All of the Prowler starters—Karl Poppenhagen, Tommy Cummings, Mark Stromberg, Bob Brodin and Wayne Liden—were on the sidelines as the game ended with each of the boys having picked up their quota of five personal fouls.

On Friday night, Dec. 3, coach Whitey Olson will take his Prowler squad to East Grand Forks for a game against the Sacred Heart Eagles.

In last season's game between the two clubs the Prowlers, by a 69 to 59 score, defeated Sacred Heart. The Eagles' Jimmy Hoffert tallied 22 points in the game, and he will be in Gasperlin's lineup on Friday night.

In the first half of Friday night's opener here the Prowlers, with Stromberg scoring four field goals and five free throws, gained a 34 to 26 lead. The Prowlers trailed by one point, 16 to 15, at the end of the first period. The most dramatic field goal of the first half was the side-arm toss, from three-quarters of the court which whipped into the east goal just as the buzzer sounded. A second of play remained as Poppenhagen made his long toss.

The Prowlers became foul-conscious early in the game, and Stromberg and Cummings both picked up three fouls apiece in the first half. Stromberg was out of action in the third period, with Cummings playing the pivot. Stromberg returned to the game in the fourth period and added four field goals to his total to gain the game's high point honors with 21 points. The Spoilers' Roger Mohagen tallied 17 points, and the Prowlers' Cummings notched 16 points.

The Prowlers held a 49 to 41 lead until the final minutes of the third period when the Spoilers, on a rebound shot by Steve Mihulka, a drive-in shot by Mohagen, and a one-handed toss by Mohagen just as the period closed, pared the locals lead to 49 to 47.

Stromberg scored on a hook shot, pushing the Prowlers into a four-point lead, but field goals by Dan Setness and Mohagen knotted the game at 51-all with 6:53 to play. For the next four minutes the two teams were deadlocked several times, and Stromberg, with 2:30 to play, gave the Prowlers a 60 to 59 lead.

Mohagen and Lloyd tallied Spoiler field goals, and with Grafton holding the lead and playing ball-controll, the Prowlers were forced to commit fouls. Setness and Butch Jorgenson added the game's final points on free throws.

Grafton "B" Team Whips TRF Quint

The Spoiler 'B' squad led at all the period stops, having a 13 to 6 lead at the end of the first period, a 23 to 10 lead at the intermission, and a 38 to 23 margin at the end of the third period.

While none of the Prowlers reached double figures in the scoring colum, Doug Knutson tallied eight points, all in the second half and guard Tomy Tunberg notched seven points.

Women Curlers To Meet Tuesday

General meeting for the Thief River Falls Women's Curling association will be held Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the curling building on the Pennington county fairgrounds. All former members and prospective new members are urged to be in attendance at the meeting.

AGDER . . .

Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Wold and family were among the relatives who attended the Wold Christmas party at the Hjalmer Hanson home at Winger Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Done Jorde, Murray and Chris of rural Thief River Falls were Friday evening guests at the Jarvis Torgerson home. Mr. and Mrs. John Uggerud of Thief River Falls visited there Sunday afternoon.

BJORKMANS

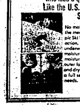
2-layer underwear is for men who lead a quiet life. Like the U.S. Olympic Ski Team.



No matter how the winds howled, and how low the mercury dropped at Innsbruck, the U.S. Olympic Ski Teams stayed warm and dry and ready for action. The reason: Duofold's patented 2-layer underwear. Soft, itch-free cotton skinside absorbed moisture, air space between served as insulation, moisture evaporated away from the skin at an outer layer of wool/nylon/cotton. You stay warm and dry outdoors . . . comfortable indoors. We have a full selection of styles and warmths to suit your needs.

The New York Mets' Manager

The New York Mets of the National baseball league signed Wes Westrum, formerly of Clearbrook, to a one-year contract to manage the team. The signing of Westrum, who had his greatest years as a player when he was catcher for coach Leo Durocher's New York Giants, was not unexpected.

When the colorful Casey Stengel suffered a fractured hip last season and was fored to retire as the Met's manager, Westrum took over the reins as temporary manager.

It's unfortunate that the late Gust Krueger, at one time the Soo Line depot agent at Plummer, couldn't have lived to see the appointment of Westrum as manager of the New York team. Krueger, back in the early 1940's or perhaps in 1938 or 39, was manager of the Plummer Red Sox. At that time Wes was making his start in organized baseball, being a the master of the Crookston Pirates of the Northern league. But Wes would play Sunday baseball with the Plummer team, and Krueger took a proprietary interest in the Clearbrock youth. And from then on, into Westrum's big league career with the Giants, Wes was one of "Krueger's boys".

I have always had the impression that Wes' younger brother Lyle, now an insurance agent in Erskine, has as much, or more, baseball potential than Wes. Lyle, also a catcher, was with Joplin of the Western league at the time that the Yankee's Mickey Mantle was a wild-throwing shortstop on the club. Lyle then put in a stint with the Army in Korea, and since that time he never did follow organized baseball. He belonged to the Yankees, and the New York club had Yogi Berra and Elston Howard, so Lyle's prospects weren't too bright. He did play semi-pro baseball in Minnesota, being a member of the Fergus Falls team the year that club won the state amateur title. Lyle was a fine hitter.

The Bombers Lost

In a game played on a day that wasn't even fit for duck hunting, with the winds gusting to fifty or more miles per hour, coach Bud Grant's Winnipeg Blue Bombers, by the marching of the three safeties that they conceded, were defeated by the Hamilton Tiger Cats, 22 to 16. Those three safeties, six points, provided the Hamilton club with their winning margin.

The game was viewed in this area through CJAY Winnipeg. In one play, the Bombers' kicker attempted a punt against the wind, and the kick ended up as being a minus five yards try. But the Tiger Cats deserved the victory as they played in the same wind and under the same weather conditions. Winnipeg, though, can rate this as a successful season and great come-back effort.

An Interesting Opener

Coach John Kundla's Minnesota Gophers, who have been rated as the nation's seventh-ranked team in pre-season predictions, will open their 1965-66 season on Wednesday night when they meet coach Bill Fitch's rangy North Dakota Sioux in Williams arena on the Minnesota campus.

North Dakota, the defending North Central conference champions, will have a veteran lineup to send against the Gophers. But it is doubtful if the Sioux have the all-round speed to cope with coach Kundla's squad. You wager, though, that the Sioux will be primed for the game and will perhaps be "in" the game for a couple of periods, or until Minnesota's speed begins to take its toll.

It will be interesting to note the duel between North Dakota's Phil Jackson and Minnesota's Paul Presthus. During the high school days, with Jackson at Williston and Presthus at Rugby, the two boys were redhot basketball rivals. Jackson, at six-feet-eight, will have a height advantage of three inches over Presthus. And, too, the North Dakota captain Paul Pederson, formerly of Minot, will be anxious to make a good showing against the Gophers. Pederson attended Minnesota U for a year and then transferred to North Dakota where he has gained Little All-America basketball honors.

Middle River Has 4 Lettermen Back

The Middle River Skoppers, coached by Jerry Snyder, will have four returning lettermen in their lineup as they open their 1965-66 season on Tuesday when they entertain the District 31 champion Goodridge Huskies at Middle River. Answers Questions on Federal Income Tax

Q—What is the difference, if any, between an exemption and a dependent?

A—A dependent qualifies as an exemption deduction but there are other reasons besides dependency for which exemption deductions are given. Every person who files a return gets a basic $600 exemption. Someone 65 and over is entitled to an additional $600 exemption because of age. A blind person is also entitled to an additional $600 exemption. The $600 personal exemption allowed for a wife is not a dependency exemption because, for income tax purposes, spouses are not considered dependents.

Q—This Thanksgiving my church is collecting food for needy families. If I give food to this drive will it be deductible?

A—Yes. Gifts of merchandise as well as cash gifts are deductible when made to a qualified organization. The fair market value of the food is the amount that may be listed as a charitable contribution. Generally this is the price you paid for the food.

S—Do I have to wait until the end of the year to file a return? I'm a full-time student and worked only during the summer.

Q—My mother becomes eligible for Social Security benefits this month. Will I lose her as a dependent this year if she applies for these benefits? So far this year, I've been her sole support.

A—Since the year is nearly over it is doubtful that any Social Security benefits she might spend for her support would disqualify her as your dependent for this tax year. Assuming that your mother otherwise qualifies as your dependent, the Social Security benefit and any other amounts she spends on her support would have to be more than the amount you have contributed to her support before you would lose her as a dependent for any year.

Q—What's this I've been reading about tickets bought for a charitable benefit not being tax deductible? As I recall, these tickets have always been deductible in the past.

A—Only that portion of the ticket price that represents a contribution will be considered deductible. If it is a ticket to a dance or a show, only the amount above what it would normally cost to attend a similar dance or show will be deductible.

For example, suppose you spent $10 for a dinner given for chairty. If the comparable established value of such a dinner was $3.50, then you may list $0.50 as the amount you have contributed to chairty.

Malting Barley Should Not Be Mixed With Feed

It has come to the attention of Malting Barley Improvement association that recent market receipts of barley indicate that good malting barley is being down-graded by admixtures of barley severely damaged by weather. Much of the barley which was caught in the prolonged wet harvest is useless for malting purposes because of low germination, field sprouting, mold and severe discoloration. Mixing this damaged barley with good malting barley can only result in destroying the value of the good barley for malting.

High, vigorous germination is an essential requirement in malting barley and is checked on a routine basis by maltsters. Because of the current undesirable practice, much of the barley now being considered for malting purposes is being bought subject to a guaranteed germination basis that will comply with established standards. Shippers are cautioned against running the risk of losing the malting premium by spoiling good malting barley with mixtures of barley with low germination and severe weather damage.

It is unsafe to store barley at a moisture content of over 13.5 per cent. Storage of high moisture barley will result in mold growth, with resulting loss in germination. Maltsters are generally opposed to using artificially dried barley. However, barley that is still sound but too high in moisture for safe storage can be dried safely without serious injury to germination or quality if proper temperatures are used in the dryer.

Research conducted at North Dakota State university on drying of high moisture barley showed that barley containing below 20 per cent moisture could be dried safely without loss in germination with ingoing air temperature of 100 degrees F or lower. Remember, it is 100 degrees F air temperature going into the grain and not the temperature of the grain itself that is essential for safe drying. Barley harvested with initial moisture above 20 per cent dried with either heated or unheated air did not have satisfactory germination for malting.

41,290 Veterans To Have Increase In Disability Pay

More than 41,290 Minnesota veterans with service-connected disabilities will receive higher compensation payments beginning in January, according to John R. Murphy, manager of the Veterans Administration center, St. Paul.

The bill increasing compensation payments was signed into law October 31 by President Johnson who said: "The nation has no greater obligation than its debt to those nearly two million Americans who have been maimed in mind or body while in the service of their country."

The increase in payments will go into effect on Dec. 1, 1965, and will appear first in the compensation checks to be mailed at the close of that month. This is the second increase in compensation payments in three years. In 1962 the increase totaled approximately $120 million.

Murphy said the present increase is expected to total $176 million annually, and will go to almost two million veterans. Individual increases will range from $1 a month for those veterans adjudged to be 10 per cent disabled to $50 a month for those who are classified 100 per cent disabled.

Murphy said that even more substantial increases are provided under the new law for more seriously disabled veterans (for example, those suffering multiple amputations, etc.) whose monthly compensation payment may total more than $800. For veterans whose disabilities exceed 50 per cent, the law also provides increases of approximately 10 per cent in the additional allowances provided because of dependents.

Murphy said that other changes affecting dependents that are brought about by the bill increase from 21 to 23 years of age limit of a child attending school on whose behalf a dependency allowance may be paid. The additional allowance payable to the veteran-parent for these school children has been increased to a monthly maximum of $40. The new law also removes the age requirement for Medal of Honor winners who may seek the established $100 a month payment.

"As singular and unexpected as the spectacles offered to our eyes may be, they never surprise us completely there is within us an echo which replies to all impressions; either we have seen a given thing at some other place, or else all possible combinations of things are prepared in advance within our brain. When we encounter them in this passing world, we do no more than open a compartment of our brain or of our soul." —Eugene Delacroix

The Farmers March

Pickets on Thief River Falls streets somehow look as out of place as Queen Elizabeth in overalls. The pickets which appeared in front of Thief River Falls supermarkets Tuesday are members of the Red River Valley Milk Producers Pool—an organization seeking higher prices for milk on the farm level. There is no doubt that they make their case quite clear by the placecards they carry.

While they may seem out of place in our quiet rural community, no one can deny the right of the pickets being there. For that matter, they are causing no disturbance and are merely demonstrating an orderly protest against what they believe to be an inequitable situation. Dairy prices have failed to keep pace with other prices on the economic escalator, and as a result the dairy farmer has been left in the basement while other people in the economy have been elevated to thee higher floors.

Beginning on Wednesday the pickets distributed hand-out brochures to people passing by on the street. These brochures bring forth a number of pertinent items which the pool would like to have called to public attention. We can not vouch for the "facts and figures" as stated in the hand-outs, but the problem is clear even if the statistics are ignored. Dairy farming, for the bulk of farmers milking cows, is not a profitable venture at present costs and prices.

Pickets are not mentioning specific brands or processors in their work which is reported to continue indefinitely. It is apparent, however, that the main targets are Land-O'Lakes Creameries, Inc., and Fairmont Creameries. Although pickets will not say so, it apparently is their desire that the picketing will gather enough public support to force processors into some type of contract negotiation.

In the case of Land O'Lakes, at least, the farmers will have to bargain with are members of the organization which markets the produce of the farm, returning the sale price less costs of processing and distribution. Through restrictions in its by-laws, the cooperative itself can not guarantee a price in advance to its member producers. This one fact makes contract negotions on the present level virtually impossible.

If the farmers are to obtain their goal of increased income from milk production, an increase in price on the consumer level will be necessary. While we like a bargain as well as anyone else, there should be no complaint against a modest increase in milk prices for producer benefit. Prices have increased in the past, but the producer has not seen them in his check. He is entitled to a raise in pay; he has already proved his efficiency, although more dairymen could do a better job on that score, too.

Since the price of milk affects virtually every household in the area, we believe interest is sufficiently high to reprint in full the brochure circulated by pickets. Opinions stated therein are those of the pool and, as stated earlier in this editorial, we can not verify any of the facts and figures quoted:

"Through the past years dairy production in the United States has soared to great heights. The annual average production of dairy cows has risen steadily, until today milk production per cow has reached as much as 25,000 pounds of milk per yar. Of course, this is unusual, with the average production about 10,000 pounds annually. In other words, production wise, the dairy farmer has kept pace with population growth, and with modern industrial efficiency. But today, the American Dairy Farmer finds himself in serious trouble.

"The cost of producing milk on a modern, efficient dairy farm is on a continuous increase. Fifteen years ago, milk was hauled to town in a $6 milk can. Today, a Grade A dairy farm must have a refrigerated stainless steel bulk tank costing the dairy farmer approximately $2,500. When the farmer was hauling milk to the creamery in the $6 cream can, he was paid 9 cents a quart.

"Today, the same farmer with a regularly inspected Grade A dairy installation, including the bulk tank and the stainless steel pipes, pumps and equipment to meet strict sanitation codes, is receiving just 7 cents a quart for milk. Wouldn't you agree it would only be fair that the dairy farmer receive the same for milk as he did in by-gone years?

The actual profit on milk in many retail stores amounts to as much as 30 per cent, when rebates, kickbacks, volume bonuses, or whatever they're termed are figured in.

"The amount receivedby the dairy farmer has caused hundreds upon hundreds of dairy farms to be foreclosed, many others have left before they lost the farm. In one count of dairy farm auctions in the Red River Valley area, 1,345 dairy cows were auctioned. If half the milk production from those cows is lost to the dairy industry, it means a cut in annual production of 10,670,000 pounds.

"If such losses continue, milk shortages will soon be noticeable in many areas of the nation. When such shortages occur, the retail price you pay will be sharply affected. Of course, the processor and retail store will retain their margin of profit. It will be the consumer and the dairy farmer who will be hardest hit by inflated retail prices.

"What is causing the decrease in milk production? Thousands of dairy farmers are being forced to quit their farming business, many others are being foreclosed only because they are not receiving a fair price for their product.

"The Red River Valley Milk Producers Pool seeks only a price that will meet their cost of operation. It is folly to continue in the dairy farming business and receive just 43 cents an hour for your labors as do the dairy farmers. And this young organization of dairy farmers wants the public informed as to the manner the dairy market is manipulated.

"Large retail food stores are enjoying kickbacks, or volume discounts as they call them, to the extent where they are making up to 34 per cent on the dairy department . . .the second most profitable department in a grocery store.

"The dairy farmers of the Red River Valley Milk Producers Pool are sincerely concerned. They do not want to hurt the public, nor do they want the future prices to be dictated by shortages. . .or, as recently predicted by a food authority. . .they want to help avert a famine. The pool believes in are doing, and want to make it possible to their industry. . .they like doing what they provide their families with good homes, and opportunities for their future.

"Thank you for reading this article. Let a friend read it also. We appreciate your support, and ask that you write your congressman and to the Secretary of Agriculture asking support for the farmer in the supportsthe laboring man."

The Big Blackout

Electric power authorities are still scratching their heads over the power failure which plunged 30 million people in eight northeastern states into darkness a couple of weeks ago. It got so dark in New York City that even the criminals had trouble operating at normal levels.

A number of things were indicated by the power failure. One is this nation's utter dependency upon electric power which is taken for granted by the bulk of the population. Another is the importence of the country when this source of power is stopped. Yet another is the magnitude of such a situation resulting from the interconnection of lines serving large areas.

One other thing indicated by the big blackout is the vulnerability of the electric system to enemy attack or sabotage. In essence, this makes all industry dependent to any extent on electricity as vulnerable to work stoppage as the interruption of electric service itself.

We concur with the comments made by the Grand Rapids Herald-Review:

"The experience of the outage may have widespread effects. For one thing it will result in action which will make it even less likely that such a widespread blackout can occur again. It will also alert people to the need for being prepared to go for some time without electricity in case of an outage caused by war or other catastrophe.

"Perhaps the most valuable lesson of the outage is that it reveals the vulnerability of Ten hours without electricity produced serious troubles for people and important industries. One can hardly imagine the overwhelming problems of 10 days or months without electricity, which could happen in event of war. The outage may well accelerate programs for decentralization of essential industries and of people themselves.

"With modern communications and transportation, there is no reason that Americans should live and work in big ant-hill communities which are vulnerable to concentrated trouble while large, desirable areas of the country have few residents and industries. Big cities will not be abandoned. But as the nation and industry developed, fresh interest may well be shown in geographical dispersion.

"The electrical power outage was undoubtedly caused by the failure of equipment or mistakes in the judgment of men. While no system can be developed which will guard completely against these possibilities, the record of electrical service has been sensational. The fact that 30 million people were ill prepared for an electrical outage indicates the rarity with which it occurs on an extensive scale. A similar outage may not occur again for many years unless due to sabotage or war. But we must be prepared for these possibilities as well as for occasional accidental human or mechanical failures which apparently produced the recent trouble."

Borrowed Nonsense . . .

A woman who was very active in club and charity work came home one evening to find her husband busily engaged in darning a pair of his own socks. She watched him for a minute and then said, "You men think you know everything, but you never learn. You've got that thimble on the wrong finger."

"I know," replied the husband grimly, "It should be on yours." —The Rotarian

Mrs. Vernon Iverson, Goodridge [illegible]

The Ekelund ALCW will meet Wednesday December 1st at 1:30 p.m. for a short session, after which the annual meeting of the congregation will be held in the church. The aid will serve lunch. All members whose last names begin with the letters "L" through "Z" will serve.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Stucy, Norman and Ronald attended a family dinner Sunday at the Tom Cullen home near Goodridge. This was in observance of the birthdays of Bonnie and Terry Cullen and also Thanksgiving. Attending besides the Stucys were Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Cullen and family, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Cullen and family, Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Cullen and family, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Kuznia and family and John Cullen.

Mr. and Mrs. Erling Dahlen, Kelly, and Donna visited Tuesday evening at Willie Goods. Robert Mosstrom was also a caller.

The Parish League of the Goodridge Parish met Sunday evening at the parsonage. Bible study was the main activity of the evening and officers for the New Year were also picked. The new officers will be Jimy Johnson, president; Elaine Iverson Vice President; Lana Ellingson, Secretary; and John Hamer, treasurer. The next meeting will be the Christmas party at Bethany on December 12th.

Jimy Johnson came home Friday after spending a week at Northwestern hospital in Thief River Falls following an emergency appendectomy last Sunday evening.

Sunday afternoon coffee guests at Ludvig Johnsons were Mrs. Hazel Omlid and Elaine of Thief River Falls, Mrs. Erling Dahlen, Donna and Carolyn.

Marlyn Haugen and Orlan Stolnas were Sunday evening supper guests at Gust Iversons.

The Star Homemakers met Friday afternoon at the Robert Parnow home at which time officers were elected. Mrs. Parnow was chosen as counselor, Mrs. Henry Hovet as secretary and Mrs. Jesse Anderson as group chairman. Sewing lessons and lesson topics for the coming year were discussed. Several Christmas ideas were presented. Mrs. Edward Stucy won the market basket and a pot luck lunch was served after the meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Tigue of Minneapolis visited Wednesday evening at LeRoy Johnsruds, Thursday afternoon at Vernon Iversons and Thursday evening at Erling Dahlens. The Tigues left for their home Friday morning after spending a week here with friends and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Sjulstad and family helped their grandson, Jerry Tharaldson celebrate his 2nd birthday Sunday Nov. 21st. Other guests were Cynthia and Darwin Eidelbes.

A baby shower was given Monday at the Robert Parnow home for Mrs. Parnow and son Ross. The afternoon was spent socially and several games were played. Ross received a large number of useful gifts from those in attendance and several ladies who were unable to attend also sent gifts. Lunch was served by the hostesses for the day who were Mrs. Henry Hovet, Mrs. Orlin Hanson, Mrs. Harold Anderson and Mrs. Edward Stucy.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Stucy visited Sunday at Henry Hovets.

Mr. and Mrs. Arne Markuson and Mrs. Gladys LaSarge of Grand Rapids were Monday afternoon visitors at LeRoy Johnsruds. Mrs. LaSarge is an aunt of Mrs. Johnsrud.

Mrs. Vernon Iverson was a Monday evening coffee guest at John Hoffmans.

Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Johnsrud and children were Sunday dinner guests at Arne Markusons.

Recent guests at Gerald Sjulstads were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dahlow of South Dakota, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Elg, Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Eidelbes, Cynthia and Darwin.

Ardith Hovet was a Friday overnight guest of Fern Hanson.

Sunday afternoon callers at Gerald Sjulstads were Mrs. Torval Dahle, Mrs. Lloyd Waine, Lowell and Lonnie; Mrs. Edward Sjulstad, Gregg and Ginger, Edwin Sjulstad and Cynthia and Darwin Eidelbes.

John Hammer of Smiley was a Saturday overnight guest at Erling Dahlens and did some hunting with the Dahlens on Sunday.

Recent passage of the taconite amendment and the subsequent construction of magnetic taconite processing facilities give an air of blossoming prosperity to the Minnesota iron mining industry.

However, James Lawver, director of the mines experiment station at the University of Minnesota, points out that the key to the long-range future of the industry in this state lies in the vast reserves of nonmagnetic taconite—rather than in the magnetic.

Lawver says, "It is a popular misconception that the passage of the taconite amendment has solved all the problems affecting the future mineral development of the state."

World iron ore prices have dropped in recent years as new deposits have been discovered—and the huge new ocean carriers up to 80,000 tons have cut transportation costs from foreign mines.

High grade ores are a must in modern steel-making if foreign competition is to be met. Low grade taconite processed into high iron content pellets is a most economical ore for modern blast furnaces.

The demand for low cost ore is emphasized by the high cost of Great Lakes shipping Lawver points out. Lake vessels are restricted to about 22,000 tons because of channels and the Soo Locks. This smaller capacity puts the ton-mile cost of lake shipping at roughly 25 times the ton-mile cost of ocean shipping.

Lawver says that the new developments on the Minnesota iron ranges have not relieved the truly depressed communities in the western part of the range, because many people there have investments in presently unsalable real estate and cannot afford to move to the new centers of the industry. Furthermore, the skills required for employment in the magnetite taconite industry are different than the training of many of the unemployed people in the depressed areas. Thus, although new employment is being encountered with the new construction, most of this employment is not being filled by previously unemployed personnel in the depressed areas.

The tremendous reserves of nonmagnetic taconite in these areas offer hope of rehabilitation for the depressed economies and a continuing source of state tax revenue.

To date the greatest barrier is the difficulty and expense of processing the nonmagnetic ore into a high-grade comercially acceptable form. Lawver cites the need for research in this area and proposes several methods which are alrady being tested.

Electrodynamic concentration is one method of upgrading "off spec" concentrates. It utilizes the difference in electrical conductivity between the ore and the gangue. This has been successfully laboratory tested and is now being tested on the pilot level.

A second method now at pilot stage involves the use of extremely powerful magnets to separate the feebly magnetic hematite without changing the hematite into a strong magnetic state. This magnetic concentrate is further upgraded by froth flotation and then pelletized to produce a product comparable to magnetite taconite pellets.

The roasting method which has been partly successful metallurgically and has been under development for years is prohibitively costly at this time.

Should a process be developed which will yield the high grade ore demanded by steel makers, the nonmagnetic taconite could lead the Minnesota iron mining industry into a vary promising future, Lawver says.

QUESTIONS Answered for VETERANS

Q—I now have $10,000 National Service Life Insurance on the term plan which I obtained during World War II and plan to convert this to modified life. Is there a deadline for converting to this plan?

A—There is no deadline for converting to the modified life plan of insurance except that it cannot be done after you have attained insurance age 61.

Q—Where can I obtain a list of qualified insurance companies so I may convert my new Serviceman's Group Life Insurance to an individual policy?

A—Eventually from the Prudential Life Insurance company or the Veterans administration, but the list of qualified companies is not presently available, and will not be for several weeks.

Q—I would like to know where I may obtain my discharge papers. I served on active duty from January 1955 to January 1957. I then had a six-year inactive reserve obligation. My discharge date should have been about January 27, 1963.

A—You should request a discharge from the branch of the service with which you served.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Frolland, Bennie Frolland, Mrs. Severt Benson, Mrs. N. C. Liddberg, Mr. and Mrs. Sigurd Grothe all of Thief River Falls attended the funeral services held here last Monday for John Hagen. Bennie Frolland visited in the afternoon at the Art Frolland hoe.

Wm. Hoflus of Appelton, Wis. and Mrs. R. H. Pahlen and children were Saturday supper guests at the Gordon Hoflus home.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Roy of Thief River Falls visited Saturday evening at the David Ostby hoe.

Mr. and Mrs. Gust Konickson and children and Arthur Leining Jr. visited Sunday afternoon at the Miss Mina Hagen of Seattle spent fro Monday to Thursday at the Wm. Wright home.

Mrs. Clayton Larson visited Saturday afternoon at the home of her sister the Wesley Myhres at Brooks.

Mr. and Mrs. Art Halle and her mother Mrs. Mickelson wnet to International Falls Monday to attend the funeral services for a relative.

Mr. and Mrs. Lud Halvorson visited Sunday afternoon at the Morris Halvorson home at Viking.

Sunday callers at the George Rewertz home were Virgil Patnode and Bobby of Red Lake Falls, Mr. and Mrs. Darryl Skallet and sons of Minneapolis, Wm. Hoflus of Appelton, Wis. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Wilkens and Daryl of Brooks, Mr. and Mrs. Alton Carlson and Lona and Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Wilkens and Paula of Thief River Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. Reynold Ulrick of Thief River Falls, Mrs. Wm. Ulrick of Red Lake Falls, Mrs. Henry Konickson of St. Hilaire and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Greenwald spent Sunday evening at the Arnold Arlt home.

The Mary Circle of the Immanual Lutheran church met last Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Olaf Skatvold. The Bible study was led by Mrs. Arlan Koskela and the business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Jesse DuChamp after which lunch was served by the hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Darryl Skallet and sons left Sunday afternoon for their home in Minneapolis after spending a week here with relatives and friends while he was deer hunting.

Senior Class Play

Friday, Nov. 19, the Senior class of Plummer high school presented their class play "Out of this World". The play, under the direction of Scott Hammond, turned out to be a big success and was witnessed by a large crowd. The Senior Class presented Mr. Hammond with a gift for his work and guidance. The Senior class wishes to thank all those who attended their presentation."

Mrs. Bert L. Kron, Rt. 1, Newfolden, Minn. 623-2233

Ole Rye of International Falls visited with his sister, Mrs. Albert Lappegaard last week. On Saturday Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lappegaard, Ole Rye and Terry Bottem drove to Tioga, N.D. to visit with the Julius Wellins. They returned by the way of Devils Lake where they visited a niece, Mrs. Vern Keolh, and also at Webster, N.D. to visit another niece, Mrs. Ray Snyder and family.

Wednesday evening Mrs. Bertil Peterson and Nancy were super guests at the Emil Hellquist home. Later that evening Mr. and Mrs. Henry Melin returned Mrs. Vern Melin and Julie to the Hellquist home after they had spent some time visiting with them at Red Lake Falls.

Mrs. Alvin Olson and family visited Sunday afternoon with Ray Sourdifs.

Wednesday Mrs. Percy Hagen and Paul visited with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Williams. Thursday evening Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Myers, Eldon, Daryl, and Jerold visited at Percy Hagens and helped Paul Hagen celebrate his second birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Jablinske and family of Thief River Falls visited Sunday at Albert Lappegaards. On Tuesday Mr. and Mrs. Pete Smith of Red Lake Falls visited there.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Peterson, Carol and Joyce visited Sunday afternoon at the Irwin Johnsons and were supper guests there.

4-H Club Is Busy

The New Solum 4-H club met Wednesday for the regular monthly meeting at the Rosebank School with the new president, Douglas Johnson, presiding. The club decided to have their team party on Friday night, November 26 with the losing team making all plans. The junior and adult leaders were to meet Wednesday evening at the Ed Hodik home to plan the yearly program and get the booklets ready for distribution. In lace of the monthly meeting, the club will have a Christmas party in December with the junior leaders in charge of arrangements. The achievement pins were passed out to those honored at the banquet, the club received its god seal and seals were presented to junior leaders who had been active for more than one year.

The evening's program was arranged by the junior leaders with the folowing numbers being given: a project talk on freezing foods by Janet Holmstrom, Thanksgiving and seasonal readings by Keith Kron, Harley Lambert, and Garret Relerson, a demonstration on making a turkey Thanksgiving centerpiece or favor by Joy Hodik and some jokes by Donald Johnson. Lunch was served by Mrs. Harold Lambert and Mrs. Bert Kron.

Please note that the club voted at the last meeting to change the regular meeting date to the third Wednesday of the month instead of the third Thursday. At that meeting the new members were also admitted to the club by a candle lighing cremony performed by the junior leaders. New members welcomed were Timothy Bulger, Steve, Danny and Gary Walker. Sharon Holmstrom was presented with a graduation gift from the club. Members recognized for perfect attendance at meetings the past year were Randy Lambert, Harley Lambert, Keith Kron, Sandra Dahl and Laura Kron. The girls presented with gifts for having the most points in their team contest were Susan Johnson and Laura Kron. The "high" boys given gifts were Keith Kron and Harley Lambert.

Working as adult leaders during the coming year will be James Jarshaw, Mrs. Elmer Kron and Mrs. Bert Kron. Project leaders will be Mrs. Hjalmar Anseby in sewing, Mrs. Ray Holmstrom in cooking projects, Harold Lambert in shop and Hjalmur Anseby in automotive. The club wishes to thank these parents who are willing to give of their time to make the 4-H club program successful in our community.

Friday Mr. and Mrs. Art Holmstrom and Joan arrived from St. Paul for more deer hunting. Saturday afternoon Joan Holmstrom, Wayne Holmstrom, son of Wallace Holmstroms and Mrs. Ray Holmstrom celebrated their birthdays together at the Ray Holmstrom farm. Sunday Mrs. Florence Myers and girls and Mrs. LeRoy Bruggeman and family came to wish Mrs. Ray Holmstrom a happy birthday.

Jerome Lappegaard of St. Paul accompanied by his employer, and Duane Lappegaard and Tom Lynch, also all from St. Paul, arrived at Albert Lappegaards home Friday night on their way to Grygla for deer hunting.

Harold Oberbye had Danny Brouse as his hunting guest again last weekend.

Mrs. George Solney, Wesley and Ross made a business trip to Crookston last Saturday. They were accompanied from Red Lake Falls by Mrs. Florence Hartman who visited there that day. They also visited with Mrs. Eddie Derosiere at Crookston.

Mr. and Mrs. Olnus Mattson visited with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Halder in Thief River Falls Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Rafteseth visited with Mr. and Mrs. Holterman Olson for awhile last Wednesday afternoon and then they all went to Newfolden to visit with Mrs. Ida Hanson.

Thursday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Rafteseth and Mrs. Minnie Mellem were visitors and supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Mellem in Thief River Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Anderson and family vsited in Grand Forks Saturday afternoon with the Art Overbye family.

Mr. and Mrs. Art Swenson of Red Lake Falls visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Anderson.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Nelson spent the weekend in Minneapolis visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Nelson and family. They also brought birthday greetings to their little grandson, Robbie, who was two years old.

Company coming to the Albert Walker home to help Gary celebrate his tenth birthday on Sunday were: Mr. and Mrs. Frank Srnsky and Sharon and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Srnsky, Greg, Brenda and Wesley of St. Hilaire, Mrs. Vernon Rooker, Debbie and Dale of Grand Forks, Jim Srnsky and Ronald Kealston of Coon Rapids, Minn., Mrs. Elmer Rooker, Janeen and Jimy and Douglas Relerson. Gary enjoyed two birthday cakes that afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dahl, Jeff and Brenda of Maple Plaine, visited at Percy Hagens Saturday night.

Wednesday afternoon Mrs. Roger Langlie, Cheryl and Steven of Minneapolis, visited with Mrs. Jarvis Torgerson and family and had a reunion of several other of their girl friends and their families. Mr. and Mrs. Roger Langlie and children, accompanied by Mrs. Vern Melin and Julie, returned to the Cities on Friday.

Mrs. Vern Melin and Julie of Newport spent Sunday afternoon and were overnight guests at the Maynard Waldron home in Thief River Falls. Monday afternoon they visited with Mrs. Rolland Sando.

How's Your Health?

(Prepared in the public interest by the Minnesota Medical Ass'n)

Medical science has fairly well established what cancer really is. However, the "hows" and "whys" as well as some of the other facts about cancer are still somewhat of a mystery says the Minnesota State Medical society.

Actually, cancer is a disturbance of growth and growth control. It is common knowledge that the body starts to grow at the time of conception and continues to grow until about the age of 20 years. This growth means the cells are becoming larger. There is an acumulation of more cells and a development of cells for specialized functions. After the age of 20, most individuals do not grow in this sense. They may add weight but this is just upholstery, not growth in the true sense of its meaning.

There is, however, a form of growth which continues after the age of 20. This is the growth which is necessary to replace cells which have been lost. For example, we lose cells from the surface of the skin which die slowly having performed their function as covering for the body. These cells must be replaced by cells which grow up from the bottom layers of the skin. If for some reason there should be a loss of growth control in this skin-replacing process or in some other localized tissue in the body, which is growing without serving any useful purpose, cancer may be suspected. Should the diagnosis be cancer, immediate steps must be taken to halt the growth of these uncontrolled cells if the life of the patient is to be saved.

It is important to understand that cancer is not a single disease. There are many kinds of cancer. In fact, it might be said that there is at least one kind of cancer for every tissue in the body and many of these tissues may have several kinds of cancer. All have varying characteristics. Some grow rapidly others progress more slowly, but the ultimate result of this unchecked growth is dath of th patint. Some forms of cancer which look alike under a microscope can affect two patients in extremely different ways. In other instances, a cancer may develop and grow at a certain rate for a while and a year later may grow quite differently, depending upon some of the problems which have occurred during that time.

Because cancer means many different diseases which grow at different rates and which affect individuals and their body in so many diferent ways, it is not likely that the cancer problem will b solved with a singl vaccin as in the case of smallpox or polio. Early diagnosis and prompt treatment are still the only positive methods of controlling cancer in any of its forms, concludes the association.

"Is it broken?" is the first question which is likely to be asked when there has been a accident or injury to someone's arms or legs. This is as it should be, advises the Minnesota State Medical association. Fractures or suspicious of fractures are a series matter and should not be dealt with lightly.

"See if you can walk on it", isn't a very wise thing to tell someone who has just suffered a leg injury. If there is a possibility that a bone has been broken the injured limb should be carefully and gently supported. Although broken bones require immediate and proper attention the doctor is as much concerned with deep injuries to muscles, tendons and blood vessels. These can present complex problems of treatment and many involve the most delicate forms of painstaking surgery.

Muscles may be cut, torn or ripped loose from their attachments to tissue and joints. Unless they are repaired carefully, the handicap to the injured person can be much greater than that resulting from the haphazard knitting of fractured bones.

In cases of deep, severe muscle injury, it is necessary to the physician to remove surgically all devitalized muscle tissue since such tissue is a potential site of dangerous infection.

Tendons also may be torn or wrenched loose from their functioning positions. Tendon repair, especially, is a serious surgical problem and cannot be handled successfully in the presence of infection.

Following such tendon suturing, it is imperative that the patient understand he must move the involved limb as soon as he can, even if it hurts some. Exercise of the "spliced" tendon is essential if good function is to return.

Arteries and veins, like muscles and tendons, may also suffer damage. They may be torn, stretched, bruised or cut. Modern medical advice is to forget about tourniquets. It has been found that most bleeding, even severe bleeding from an artery, can be stopped or lessened by direct pressure on the wound through a sterile dressing.

When the doctor faces the problem of severe bleeding, he usually will ligate—clamp or tie off—the individual bleeding vessels, or will use a packing of surgical dressing to stop the flow, concludes the association.

Childhood croup is a disease or group of diseases which has a sudden onset with a very loud barking cough, says the Minnesota State Medical association. The cough is very frightening to family members when they hear it. Frequently croup starts in the middle of the night and is generally associated with difficulty in breathing. In addition to the bark-like cough symptom the child seems to be struggling to get enough air.

There are really two forms of croup. Spasmotic croup as a rule starts very suddenly without apparent symptoms of the presence of any other type of illness other than a slight cold or runny nose. This is a transient type of infection and will not last beyond a period of several hours.

The second and more serious form of croup is known by the formidable title of Laryngotracheobronchitis and can be very distrubing to the parents and quite serious to the health of the child. This form of croup involves a swelling in the windpipe very often accompanied by thick secretions which the child can't cough out. As this secretion acumulates in the windpipe the air passage area becomes increasingly narrow and it becomes very difficult for the child to breathe. In some cases the obstruction becomes so great that the only way the child can be saved is to do a tracheotomy which is a surgical incision in the neck. Placing a tube in the windpipe facilitates breathing.

Getting adequate steam or humidity in the room and reassuring the child who becomes easily frightened with the difficulty in breathing usually produces relief within a half hour to an hour. The family who does not have readily available a humidifier can produce the desired effect by sitting in the bathroom with the child with the shower turned on to hot to produce moist vapor.

If relief does not come within the length of time suggested for spasmotic croup, the more serious form of disease should be suspected and a doctor should be called. A croupy type cough may also be a symptom of a form of diphtheria which involves the larynx. This, concludes the association, is another reason why parents should make certain that their children are properly immunized against diphtheria including periodic booster shots.

HOLT . . .

Guests at the Johnny Ness home at Thief River Falls on Thanksgiving day were Mr. and Mrs. Orville Ness, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Ness and Conley and Elner Ness. They also celebrated Conley's birthday which is this month. He is home on a leave from the Navy.

Gully . . .

Mrs. Kenneth Peterson received the sad news her brother Ted Helgeson age 68 had been crushed to death. He was working on his car in his garage in Grand Forks when the accident happened. He was apparently attempting to repair a rod in the car's engine, when it slipped off a jack and fell on him.

Billy Freelander, Mr. and Mrs. Emery Smith of Chicago, Mrs. Donald Johnson and Robin of Dutton, Montana spent the weekend at the Oscar H. Johnson home. They were taking Mrs. Johnson home after and extended visit in Chicago.

Thanksgiving dinner guests at the Orville Calhoon home were Joe Calhoon Sr. of Bagley and Mr. and Mrs. Wally Matton and girls.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Krogstad and Debbie spent Thanksgiving at the Dick Krogstad home at St. James, they returned home Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Petsck of Minneapolis and Mrs. Lewis Torgerson of Fosston called at the C.M. Knudson home on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Rutkowski spent Wednesday to Monday at the George Rice home at White Bear Lake and the Wally Rutkowski home in St. Paul. Thanksgiving, they were dinner guests at the Kenneth Forsberg home in Minneapolis.

Hesse Serves in Antarctic Navy

Aviation Electronics Technician Second Class John D. Hesse, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence L. Hesse of Thief River Falls is serving in Antarctica with Air Development Squadron Six.

His squadron, the Navy's "Antarctic Airline", is working to support Operation "Deep Freeze", which supports the United States Antarctic research program.

Air Development Squadron Six provides aerial support, supplies various stations on the Antarctic continent, conducts aerial photo-mapping missions, performs search and rescue duties and provides aerial reconnaissance and trail support for scientific field parties.

Hunter Death Rate Is Less Than from Autos

Recent hunting fatalities and proposals on how to reduce their number brought comments today from Ted Shields, Minnesota game and fish director. Shields said he shared the concern of those who have deplored the accidental shootings, but added that hunting fatalities must be considered in relation to the accidental death rate involved in other activities.

During the "four years 1961 to 1964 a total of over one million deer hunters pursued their sport in Minnesota's forests," Shields said. "During that time 17 were killed, for a death rate of 1.7 per 100,000.

"This figure is certainly not high when compared with similar rates of 10.1 for falls, 23.4 from automobile accidents, 10.0 from fires, 4.0 from drowning and 1.8 for poisonings.

"Even more significant," said Shields, "is the fact that throughout the nation the number of hunting accidents has decreased 13 per cent since 1950 despite a 50 per cent increase in the number of hunters."

He also pointed to a recent five year study by the Travelers Insurance company showing 777 claims from hunting acidents and 4,318 from football.

Shields said Minnesota has one of the finest firearms safety training programs in the country and is a leader in the field of enacting legislation aimed at making hunting a safer sport.

He called attention to the requirement that hunters and trappers afield during the deer season wear blaze orange or bright red caps and outer-coats. He pointed out that Minnesota game laws make it unlawful to hunt while under the influence of drugs or alcohol or to shoot within 500 feet of any building or across improved roads.

"But even more significant," said Shields, "is the firearms safety training program which is training 20,000 young people a year in the methods of safe hunting and gun handling.

"A tribute is due the 3,500 volunteer instructors who train these youngsters and are largely responsible for reducing the accident rate among young hunters."

Under a law passed by the 1965 legislature, firearms safety training will become mandatory in 1968 for all persons under 16 who desire to hunt. Today such training is optional unless the youngster wishes to hunt without being accompanied by a parent or guardian. Under the mandatory provision an estimated 30,000 youngsters will be trained annually.

"Through the years," said Shields "various suggestions have been made for ways to further reduce hunting fatalities. One has been to ban the use of rifles, restricting all deer hunting to shotguns with slugs."

He said statistics and a study of hunting accidents show that such a law would have little or no effect in reducing acidents, particularly in Minnesota's heavily wooded deer country.

"Only 12 per cent of all hunting victims are over 100 yards from the gun, 25 per cent are between 50 and 100 yards and 50 per cent are 10 to 50 yards. Thirteen per cent are less than 10 yards from the gun when shot," sad Shields.

Eliminating the use of rifles might reduce the number of victims shot at long range, he said, but close range accidents might increase since modern high velocity rifle bullets tend to deflect or break up when striking even a small twig, while a shotgun slug will plow its way through to the target.

"Furthermore," said Shields, "a rifle is more accurate and a complete switch to shotguns could result in more victims killed by slugs that wandered off course."

He said increased penalties for hunting under the influence of alcohol, another often heard suggestion, could be expected to have an unmeasurable effect on hunting accidents since statistics show that less than one per cent of hunters responsible for a hunting accident were under the influence.

Another suggestion, that hunters be required to take eye tests and be checked for color blindness, faces the problem of how to determine the standards to be met by a hunter.

Shields said, "Most persons who have studied the problem agree that nervousness and excitability are greater physical weaknesses than poor eyesight. Such hunters are so anxious to get a deer that they shoot before they are sure of what they are shooting at or before they check to see that nothing is in the line of fire."

It would be impossible to screen out these persons from among the over 250,000 deer hunters who purchase a big game license each year.

Shields said that in his opinion, the most effective method of achieving a reduction in hunting accidents would be to reduce the number of hunters in the woods at any given time. His suggestion is to lengthen the deer season in the northern part of the state and spread out the hunting pressure over a longer period.

"With a 20 or 30-day season," he said, "some hunters would elect to hunt early in the season, some would hunt in mid-season and others would choose to hunt late. This would reduce hunter density and should have the effect of reducing hunting fatalities."

Game management experts who have studied and compared the effects of long and short seasons in terrain similar to Minnesota believe that a longer season would not significantly increase the annual kill of deer, said Shields.

But even if it did, he said, the northern Minnesota deer herd could sustain an increase in the kill without harm.

Suggestions for Better Service Offered by VA

The Veterans administration offers these suggestions to veterans for more efficient VA service:

When first seeking a benefit; bring a copy of your discharge.

Always give full name and address when writing to the VA.

When writing about benefit claims give your "C" number.

When writing about insurance, give your policy number.

Report changes of address promptly.

Keep your list of insurance beneficiaries up to date.

Dependents or beneficiaries of veterans should remember that when they write regarding pension or compensation checks, they should give the name of the deceased veteran and his "XC" number.

When they write regarding insurance, they should give the policy number and their name in full. They should also report change of address promptly.

Silverton Club Among Best in State for Safety

By cooperating with their community, 4-H clubs in Freeborn county were able to carry out their safety activities and win top placing in the state 4-H safety contest. Silverton 4-H club of Pennington county was among the top 10 clubs in the state.

A plaque will be given to the Freeborn county extension office in recognition of the safety work of the 4-H clubs, according to Earl Bergerud, assistant state 4-H club leader at the University of Minnesota.

Ten individual clubs were also cited for their safety activities. These clubs will be awarded certificates for their safety programs: Leavenworth Up To The Minute 4-H club, Brown county; Preble Pioneers, Fillmore county; Beckla Busy Builders, Hubbard county; Roseland Rosebuds, Kandiyohi county; Riverside Rockets, Lac Qui Parle county; Island Lake Zeps, Lyon county; Silverton 4-H club, Pennington county; Sacred Heart Indians, Renville county; Subettes 4-H club, North St. Louis, county; and the Wykeham Willing Workers 4-H club, Todd county.

The safety project 4-H'ers in Freeborn County worked with the Albert Lea-Freeborn County Safety Council and sold 360 slow-moving vehicle emblems during Farm Safety Week. The PTA and the Daughters of the American Revolution sponsored the 4-H'ers on six radio programs emphasizing safety. Ten clubs worked with pesticide safety.

The major group activity of the Leavenworth Up To The Minute 4-H club was a 118-car safety check held in Sleepy Eye with the cooperation of the city police and the Minnesota Highway department. The 22 4-H'ers also made floor plans of their homes and studied the best escape route to use in case of fire.

Adding to their list of safety activities for the eighth year, the Silverton 4-H club equipped cars with first-aid kits. An old-time basket social sponsored by the 4-H'ers raised enough money to buy slow-moving vehicle emblems for every combine in the community.

Conquest Barley Not Tested for Malting Purposes

Malting Barley Improvement association has announced that the new Canadian blue kerneled barley variety, Conquest, has not been tested sufficiently in the United States to determine its suitability for malting and brewing purposes.

Arrangements have been made by industry to conduct pilot scale malting and brewing tests on a number of samples of Conquest grown for this purpose in North Dakota and Minnesota in 1965. Plant scale tests will also be needed before the acceptability of Conquest for malting and brewing can be determined.

Analysis of comparable barley samples of Conquest and other malting varieties grown in several years under the same conditions in the midwest show that Conquest is somewhat higher in protein content.

Malting Barley Improvement association recommends that the blue kernel variety Parkland be grown in 1966 to meet the good demand for this type of malting barley. Blue malting barley should be marketed in pure variety lots and must not be mixed with white malting barley to get top market premiums.

C of C Ballots Must Be Returned To Office Today

Ballots mailed to members of the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce must be returned today in order to be counted in the annual election returns of the organization, according to Richard Hamilton, executive secretary.

Six of 12 candidates for directorship in the organization are to be elected for two-year terms. Candidates include K. E. Gigstad, Justus Larson, Roy Lee, Sid Lieberman, Robert Mattson, Rudy Mehlhoff, Jon Matusalem, Donovan Narverud, Kenneth Onken, Phil Prichard, Harold Rasmussen and S. E. Sinding.

Olson Will Seek State Presidency Of County Ass'n.

Donald L. Olson, Pennington county commissioner from the second district, will be a candidate for president at the 56th annual meeting of the Association of Minnesota Counties which begins today at the Radisson hotel in Minneapolis. Chairman of the Pennington county board, Olson currently is serving as first vice president of the state association.

Attending the state meeting in addition to Olson will be Odin Hanson, TRF, first district commissioner; Carl L. Anderson, Red Lake Falls, third district commissioner; Merle Lindberg, Thief River Falls, fourth district commissioner; Glenn Tasa, Trail, fifth district commissioner; and C. W. Rodekuhr, Pennington county auditor. More than 450 county commissioners and county officials are expected to attend the convention.

The meeting will feature speakers and panels which will cover the future role of counties in community and industrial development, planning and natural resources, intergovernmental relations and county needs to be able to adapt to new responsibilities.

Gov. Karl F. Rolvaag will deliver his address, "A Governor Comments on County Government", on Thursday morning. Phil S. Duff Jr., editor of the Red Wing Daily Republican Eagle, will keynote the convention Thursday with a talk entitled, "Counties and the Challenge of the '60's".

Other convention speakers will be Albert V. Hartl, president of Otter Tail Power company and University of Minnesota regent; Rep. Salisbury Adams, Wayzata; John R. Jamieson, highway commissioner; William B. Randall, president of the Minnesota county attorneys commissioner of corrections; and Russel G. Schwandt, commissioner of agriculture. Panel discussions and study committee reports will also be included in the program.

Oklee Creamery To Distribute Large Dividend

More than $16,000 in dividends will be distributed to members of Inc., at its annual meeting Friday at 2 p. m. in the Oklee community hall. The dividends represent patronage of 1954, 30 per cent of 1955 and 30 per cent of the current year.

Two directors will be elected to fill the expiring terms of Gustav Gunstenson and Walter Anselin. The meeting will be preceded at 1 p. m. by the annual meeting of the Oklee Co-op Shipping association.

Milk Picketing Stops While Ag Dep't. Holds Meetings

Picketing of Thief River Falls supermarkets by members of the Red River Valley Milk Producers pool has been suspended in compliance with a request from the Minnesota Department of Agriculture. Local organizers said the pickets were told to return home at noon on Tuesday but to be ready to return to action if considered necessary at a later date.

In a news release received by the Times Tuesday, Ed Richter, pool chairman, stated that an official of the agriculture department requested that the pool abandon the picketing of supermarkets in the 34-county area of the Red River Valley milkshed. Pool members complied with the request.

"The request was made by the department as the governor and commissioner of agriculture were in the process of conducting a series of meetings in the Minneapolis area to raise the price of raw fluid milk to the dairy farmer," Richter stated in the release.

"Governor Rolvaag and the commissioner both felt that a raise in producer prices in the Minneapolis area would also be reflected in the price paid to farmers in the Red River Valley."

Richter also noted the state official has said that the department was getting a great deal of pressure from various chain stores as a result of the picketing carried out by pool members throughout the Red River Valley. The pool chairman said that the pool "was only attempting to gain back two cents a quart for the farmer which was lost to him 15 years ago.

In noting that the pool would temporarily abandon its picketing to aid the governor's efforts and to see what could be done to improve conditions on northwest dairy farms, Richter also said picketing would be resumed if the results were not satisfactory.

"Our only aim," Richter stated, "is to make the farming end of the dairy industry worthwhile. If the American public wants to see a big jump in dairy prices, the present decline of dairyfarms will do just that. No other segment of the American economic structure would operate a dairy farm on such a small return. There is no reason why the dairy farmer should be forced to such a meager existence."

Larson Elected To Head Local Concert Ass'n.

Justus Larson was elected president of the Thief River Falls Concert association at the initial meeting of the board of directors Tuesday in the Rex cafe. The board was elected from a group of interested persons at a general public meeting held a short time ago.

Other officers elected at the meeting yesterday were Francis Hamerlinck, vice president; Richard Hamilton, secretary; and Mrs. George Martin, treasurer. Other directors are Robert Reeve, Rev. Paul Biegner, Mrs. Max Jensen, Mrs. L. B. Hartz, Dr. Edward Nelson and Norman Peterson.

First concert will be presented by a piano quartet on February 16 in the Lincoln high school auditorium.

Senator Mondale To Speak Friday At Morning Meet

Sen. Walter F. Mondale will be the guest speaker Friday at a breakfast session scheduled by the legislative committee of the Chamber of Commerce at 7:30 a.m. in the Rex cafe in Thief River Falls. Sen. Mondale will speak briefly prior to a question and answer period at the meeting scheduled to conclude at 9 a.m.

The session is open to the public with a charge of $1 to be made for the breakfast. Reservations must be made with the Chamber of Commerce by Thursday in order to attend the program. Donald L. Olson is chairman of the legislative committee.

Efforts Continue To Harvest Crop In Spite of Snow

While it would seem that fall field work is a thing of the past this year, some efforts are still being made to salvage the crop. Lloyd Watne of rural Goodridge told the Times this week that he had combined Friday on the Homme farm near Thief River Falls.

Flax and oats have been straight combined after the snow with moisture running about 14 per cent, Watne said. The last ditch effort is being hampered by soggy fields which are not frozen enough to carry the weight of the combine, resulting in deep ruts where the machine is able to move.

Watne said he has flax, oats and sunflowers yet to combine in several parts of the area.

10th Sewing Event Draws 70 Entries

Seventy contestants entered the 10th annual Make It Yourself with Wool contest held at the Thief River Falls city auditorium Friday. Nine entered in the sub-deb division, 24 in the junior division, 27 in the senior division and 10 in the adult division, according to Mrs. G. Milford Peterson, Crookston, district director.

Winner in each of the four divisions will advance to the state contest to be held Thursday and Friday in Minneapolis. Winners are as follows: Virginia Johnson, Oklee, sub-deb (age 10 to 13); Karen Offerdahl, Bagley, junior (age 14 to 16); Carol Nordlund, Clarbrock, senior (age 17 to 21); and Mrs. Elaine Bruneau, Warren, Adult (age 22 and older).

The event was carried out with the cooperation of the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce, which sponsored a luncheon for the girls at noon. Jim Frey and Russ Embury, both Chamber members, assisted in the judging.

Other judges included Mrs. Marion Sarver, Ada; Mrs. Bernadine Albrecht, Humboldt; Mrs. Marlys Anderson, Thief River Falls; Sister Rose Marie, East Grand Forks; Mrs. Margaret Garr, East Grand Forks; and Miss Beverly Tvelto, Thief River Falls.

J. J. Womack, president of the Chamber of Commerce, gave the welcome address. Miss Crookston, LeAnn Juve gave modeling tips. Directors of the contest were Mrs. Gunder Legvold, Thief River Falls; Mrs. Andy Heggen, Erskine; Mrs. Harold Copp, Warren; and Mrs. Willard Purath, Red Lake Falls.

The event was climaxed by the afternoon style revue. Participants were Bonnie Finstad, Thief River Falls; Maureen Crummy, Argyle; Nancy Postier, Clearbrook; Robin Shade, Perley; Mrs. Wilbur Hallstrom, Red Lake Falls; and Patricia Gaddie, East Grand Forks.

Co-Op Elevator Meeting Slated

Postponed annual meeting of Farmers Cooperative Grain and Seed association will be held Saturday, December 11, at 1 p.m. in the basement meeting room of the city auditorium in Thief River Falls. Two directors will be elected for three-year terms, a speaker is scheduled and lunch will be served, according to Roy Wiseth, secretary.

Goodridge Junior Class Sets Play

A new full-length dramatization of Mark Twain's "Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court" will be presented by the junior class of Goodridge at Grygla on Thursday, December 9, and at Goodridge on Saturday, Decemeber 11. Both productions are at 8 p.m.

Junior College Choir in Concert

"Sing Noel" is the theme of the first concert of the Thief River Falls junior college choir to be held Sunday at 8 p.m. in the Lincoln senior high school cafeteria.

There is no admission charge for the concert and the public is invited to attend. Coffee will be served in the cafeteria following the concert.

Council Holds Line on City Budget at 40 Mills

City taxes will remain at 40 mills for the coming year—the same as 1964—as a result of action taken by the Thief River Falls city council Tuesday evening. Meeting at an adjourned session, the city fathers gave final approval to a total budget of $1,973,103 for the coming year—a decrease from the $2,094,554 budget adopted a year ago.

Main items resulting in the decreased total budget this year were last year's inclusion of $75,000 for library construction and a reduction in electric rates which will be noted more heavily in the city's financial picture during the coming year. The city's valuation for 1965 has been fixed at $2,631,439—an increase from $2,588,095 a year ago. The city's 40 mill levy will produce $105,257.56 in tax revenue.

Budget picture of the city is somewhat obscured by the revenue-producing operations of the municipality which not only pay their own expenses but produce income for the city. These include the water, electric and garbage departments and the municipal liquor dispensary.

The 40 mill levy adopted for the city will be divided as follows: 1 mill for firemen's relief association; .5 mill for armory; .5 mill for cemetery; 1.5 mills for police retirement association; 6.96 mills for general operation; and 30.44 mills for debt retirement.

Total budget of the city includes $479,016 for the general fund; $190,535 for debt retirement; $510,000 for the municipal liquor dispensary; $784,557 for public utilities; and $8,995 for trust and agency funds. The revenue-producing units of the city are expected to contribute $140,074 to other phases of city operation in addition to paying their own expenses. The city also anticipates income of $65,000 in state taxes and $48,000 in special assessments.

Budgets and anticipated profits of the revenue-producing departments are as follows: Water department, $100,000 budget and $28,605 profit; electric department, $610,000 budget and $342,953 profit; garbage department, $34,500 budget and $8,036 profit; and liquor dispensary, $510,000 budget and $62,480 profit.

William Fahey, city clerk, noted that three-fourths of the total tax levy is earmarked for debt retirement and less than seven mills are available for general operation of the city. Tax collections of $105,257 are only a small fraction of the total budget of $1,973,103, he said.

Dairy Seminar Postponed Here

Postponement of the start of the four-day dairy seminar scheduled to begin in Thief River Falls today was announced Tuesday to the Pennington county extension office. The postponement was due to illness of one of the speakers scheduled for the opening session.

Meetings planned for Wednesday and Thursday, December 15 and 16, will be held on schedule, however, and dates for the postponed meetings will be announced later. According to the local extension office, approximately 50 farmers in Pennington, Red Lake and Marshall counties had registered for the seminar.

Municipal Court Hears 12 Cases Here on Monday

Twelve cases were brought for trial before Judge Stanley N. Morterson in Monday's session of Thief River Falls municipal court. Five cases were turned in by the highway patrol, three by the sheriff's office and four by the city police.

Highway patrol cases included Winston Reny, TRF, speed, $19 bond forfeited; Richard Burgess, Winnipeg, Man., speed, $15 bond forfeited; Donald Ecker, rt. 5, Anoka, speed, $15 bond forfeited; Emil Sjoholm, rt 4, failure to heed stop sign, $15 fine with $5 suspended; and Joseph Brown Chatham, Ont., over legal length on auto carrier, $49.55 bond forfeited.

Charged by the sheriff's office were Carl Norkrid, TRF, disorderly conduct, $25 bond forfeited; Archie Lull TRF, issuing worthless check, 30 days in jail of which seven days have been served, balance suspended on conditions, placed on probation for six months; and one drunk who forfeited $15 bond.

City police cases included Ernest Delorme, rt. 2, TRF driving while under the influence of liquor, $100 fine, driver's license revoked; Richard Booen, TRF, allowing dog to run at large, $10 fine with $5 suspended; also keeping unlicensed dog in the city, $10 fine with $5 suspended; and Dennis J. Pederson, rt. 2 careless driving, found guilty after trial, $35 fine.

Area Republican Meet Here Thurs.

Area meetings are scheduled this week and next for county Republican leaders in the 7th Congressional district to review guidelines with state party officers on preparations for the party precinct caucuses slated next February.

This Thursday county leaders in Area 1—Kittson, Roseau, Lake-of-the-Woods, Marshall, Beltrami, Polk, Pennington, Red Lake and Clearwater counties—will meet at 7 p.m. in Thief River Falls.

FRAMEWORK for the Jaycees Nativity scene was constructed Tuesday night by this group of volunteers from the chapter. Glenn Peterson, veteran nativity scene engineer, drove the last spike into the roof beam after the roof was raised. Raising the roof was no easy job, since it measures 10x20 feet and weighs several hundred pounds. Other men pictured are, from left, Arve Moser, Lt. Harold Shelby, Jim Carlson, Ron Alby and Rick Contos. The roof was built and loaned to the chapter by the Lampert Lumber company. Wallace Relerson loaned 45 hay bales which help support the roof and enclose the scene. Due to the great size of this year's scene, it is located on the courthouse lawn, rather than the post office lawn as in past years. After the figurines are added, the scene will be ready for its lighting ceremony at 8 p.m. Thursday. Mayor Orin J. Green will plug in the lights, and the program will be provided by Rev. Wesley Johnson of the Evangelical Free church and his youth choir.

Jaycees Sponsor Lighting Contest

Attempting a project which has not been conducted for a number of years, the Thief River Falls Jaycees will conduct a Christmas lighting contest in the city this holiday season. Art Heinze is chairman of the project which will require entry in order to have judging done.

Three divisions of competition have been arranged for the contest - best religious display, best non-religious display, and most original display. Plaques will be awarded to first place winners in each division and two honorable mention acknowledgements will also be made in each division, Heinze said.

The chairman added that only individual home decorating will be judged in the contest and that group projects will not be eligible. He also noted that persons desiring to enter the contest must notify the committee of their desire to have their display judged. Only blanks have been received will be judged.

Entries in the contest should be mailed to Christmas Lighting Contest, P. O. Box 53, Thief River name and address of the entrant a indicate in which of the three divisions the entrant wishes to compete.

"There are two main reasons for sponsoring the contest," Heinze

Thomas R. Perrier

Thomas Perrier To Manage Local NW Bell Office

Northwestern Bell Telephone company today announced the appointment of Thomas R. Perrier as Thief River Falls manager. He succeeds James M. Wilson, who has resigned to accept a position with another firm in St. Paul. The appointment is effective immediately.

In his new assignemet, Perrier will assume responsibility for customer records for Thief River Falls, Roseau, Warroad and Baudette.

A native of Coleraine, Perrier joined Northwestern Bell at Hibbing in June of 1951. A year later, he was inducted into the U.S. Army where he spent two years, including 20 months in Korea.

Upon his discharge, he rejoined Northwestern Bell in Grand Rapids as a lineman. He advanced through various positions in Virginia and Hibbing before being named as business representative in Duluth in 1960, a position he now leaves to accept his new assignment in Thief River Falls.

He and his wife, Donna, and three children, Cathy, 6, Thomas, 4, and William, 3, will move to Thief River Falls in the near future.

While in Duluth, Perrier was active in the American Legion, Knights of Columbus, United Fund, Retail Credit Men's association, National CreditManagement association and as a Junior Achievement advisor.

Christmas Choir Cantata Slated At Zion Church

Annual Christmas cantata will be presented by the chapel, children's and senior choirs at Zion Lutheran church on Sunday at 3 p.m. at the church in Thief River Falls. Theme of the cantata will be "Of the Father's Love" and will include scriptural narration, art work, familiar and lesser known music.

Directed by Ruth Steen with Mrs. Phyllis Dalager as accompanist, the senior choir will feature Marilyn Moren as soloist on "Blessed Is He Who Cometh". Other senior choir numbers will include "He is Born", "Now Praise We Christ the Holy One", "'Twas Gold They Offered Him", "Carol of the Questioning Child" and "Sing Gloria".

Mrs. Neil Hendrickson will direct the chapel choir with Mrs. Ethel Sanders as accompanist. Numbers by this choir will include "Hosanna", "While Shepherds Watched Their Flocks by Night", "Thy Little Ones, Dear Lord, Are We", "Rejoice All Ye Believers" and "Prepare the Way, O Zion".

Directing the children's choir will be Mrs. Ronald Engen with Miss Sharon Vigness as accompanist. Songs by the children's choir will include "The Little King of Came to Town", "O Sing, O Sing This Blessed Morn", "Sleep, Baby Sleep", "O Sing a Song of Bethlehem" and "Go Tell It on a Mountain".

Rev. Leland Steen and Neil Hendrickson will be narrators for the cantata with Jerry Joringdal as organist. The public is invited to attend and remain for coffee after the program.

Winter "Storms" Into Area During November

by Jim Wills
Times Reporter

Winter took northern Minnesota "by storm" early this year in the most severe November in recent years. Nearly 27 inches of snow fell in the Thief River Falls area during November, and at month's end the snow depth at the airport measured 18.5 inches. Snow fell in measurable amounts on 12 days during the month.

The first week of November was a continuation of the generally mild fall weather of October, but by the end of the week it was decidedly time to put on the long johns and snow tires. First snow of the season fell on the night of November 7, which accumulated to an inch in this area and two to four inches farther north.

Deer hunters found plenty of snow for their needs on the opening week-end of November 13, with about four inches on the ground. Along with this blessing, however, nimrods had to face near-zero temperatures and high winds. Throughout the season, deer hunting trips took on the nature of arctic expeditions.

Climax of November's wintry weather came during the month's last week, when a four-day snowstorm threatened to bury the entire upper midwest. Seven inches of snow fell on the 26th. On the following day, six more inches came down and a wind gusting up to 35 miles per hour roared in from the northwest. It was the season's first full-blown blizzard, with quarter-mile visibility and drifted roads causing many area activities to be canceled or postponed.

Mean temperature for the month was 23.9, or 2.4 degrees below the average November mean of 26.3. Average high was 33.1; average low 14.7. Snowfall totaled 26.8 inches, which melted down to a precipitation total of 1.18 inches. This figure tops the average November total of .94 by .21 inch.

Sherack-Ueland Speak Vows At St. Bernard's

St. Bernard's Catholic church, Thief River Falls, was the scene of the marriage of Miss Margaret Anne Sherack of Thief River Falls and Gene R. Ueland of Lockhart on Saturday, Oct. 16, at 3 p.m. The Rev. Keough Painodo officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Two baskets of white gladioli and blue tinted carnations graced the sanctuary of the church. To conclude the ceremony, the bride placed three white roses at the altar of the Blessed Virgin Mary as the Choir sang "Ave Maria".

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Marie Sherack of Thief River Falls and the late Frank J. Sherack and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gust Ueland of Lockhart.

The bride was attired in a gown of her own creation styled in satin with lace covered bodice and lace overskirt. The floor-length gown featured long tapered sleeves, rounded neckline, princess styled bodice and a slightly gathered skirt. Her headpiece was a crown of seed pearls secured to a finger tip veil and she carried an arrangement of white roses.

As her only attendant, the bride chose Miss Rita Pfeifer of Thief River Falls. She was attired in a street length light blue lace sheath dress. To complement her gown she wore matching circular headpiece, blue shoes and white elbow length gloves and carried a bouquet of blue tinted carnations and white daisies.

Earl Hedde of Buxton, N.D. attended the groom as best man. Seating the guests were James and John Sherack, brothers of the bride. The men of the wedding party wore black tuxedos with white carnation boutonnieres. The groom's boutonniere was a white rose.

A luncheon at the Dine-O-mite cafe followed the ceremony with a reception given later in the day for the guests at the home of the bride's mother.

The bride is a graduate of Warren high school and the St. Francis hospital school of practical nursing at Crookston and is employed at Northwestern hospital in Thief River Falls. The groom, a graduate of the Halstad high school and the Thief River Falls Area vocational-technical school, is employed in Moorhead.

Mr. and Mrs. Ueland will be making their home at Moorhead.

Mrs. Inga Geving To Head Sow and Hoe Garden Club

At a recent meeting Mrs. Inga Geving was elected president of the Sow and Hoe garden club. Other officers elected were Mrs. Frank Heinze, vice-president; Janet Heleren, secretary and Mrs. Martin Gulbranson, treasurer.

The annual Christmas meeting of the Sow and Hoe garden club will be held Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Nordvall with Mrs. Inga Geving as program chairman. Roll call will be answered with a Bible verse pertaining to Christmas. Slides on the Holy Land will be shown and a pot-luck lunch will be served.

Elderly Women To Be Guests at WMS Meet

Elderly Women will be special guests at the meeting of the Women's Missionary Society at the Evangelical Free church of this city Tuesday, December 7, at 2 p.m. The program theme "Christmas in Norway" will feature a film on Norway. Refreshments will be served and everyone is welcome to attend this annual event.

Odd Fellow-Rebekah Supper Is Postponed

Pot-luck supper planned by the Odd Fellow and Rebekah lodges for December 9 has been postponed until Tuesday, December 14, at 6:30 p.m., at the local Odd Fellows hall. Entertainment, consisting of community singing and card playing, will follow the supper.

Open House Held For Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Osness

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Osness of this city, who were married Nov. 26, 1920 in Thief River Falls, were guests of honor on their 45th wedding anniversary at an open house held at their home Sunday afternoon, November 21. Hosting the event were their son, Odean Osness, and their daughter and her family, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace (Minnie) Stinar.

To help them mark the event a corsage of yellow roses and mums was presented to Mrs. Osness and a yellow carnation boutonniere was given to Mr. Osness. Corsages of yellow mums and carnation boutonnieres, all gifts from the hosts and hostess, were also worn by the children and grandchildren of the honored couple and by those who assisted with the reception.

Helping to make the room festive was a buffet centerpiece, a gift from Merle and Jimmy Stinar, only grandchildren of the honored couple, and a floral arrangement received from a niece and her family, Mr. and Mrs. William Gibson of Knoxville, Tenn.

Centering the linen covered table and flaked by tall golden tapers, was a three-tiered anniversary cake, decorated in white and gold and topped by a golden cross entwined with the double-wedding ring symbol.

Mrs. Olaf Pederson of Thief River Falls cut and served the cake and Mrs. Marie Knutson, also of this city, poured. Both are long-time friends of the honored couple. Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Stinar greeted the guests as they arrived while Odean Osness was in charge of the guest book and the gifts. Friends assisting with the serving were Mrs. Winton Knutson, Mrs. Mrs. Winton Knutson, Mrs. Werner Jacobson and Mrs. John Flatland.

Among the 100 neighbors and friends who helped Mr. and Mrs. Osness celebrate their anniversary was Oliver Ronning of Rock Falls, Ill., a brother of Mrs. Osness.

Sam Porter To Call Tips At Square Dance

Sam Porter of this city will call the tips at the regular square dance sponsored Saturday evening in the Thief River Falls city auditorium by the Falls Squares. Round dancing will be featured from 8 to 8:30 p.m. when squares will be formed and square dancing will continue until 11 p.m.

Lee Bis hel will have the Historian book on display. The Christmas issue of the Roundup magazine will be available for viewing with subscriptions to be handled by Mr. and Mrs. Curt Harris who will also register the arrivals. Lunch will be served, and everyone is welcome.

Open House To Honor Mrs. Mary Parnow

Open house honoring Mrs. Mary Parnow of Thief River Falls on her 80th birthday will be held Monday, December 6, at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Patton at 503 North LaBree. Hours will be from 2 to 5 p.m.

Hosting the event with the Pattons are Mrs. Parnow's sons and daughters-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Parnow and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Parnow. No cards are being sent and everyone is welcome to attend.

Jun Goplin and David Durgin To Wed in Dec.

Mr. and Mrs. Sanford O. Goplin of Warren announce the engagement of their daughter, June Carol, to David Norman Durgin, son of Mrs. Ralph Dowers of Thief River Falls and the late Vernal Durgin.

Miss Goplin, a 1964 graduate of Warren high school, is a graduate of the cosmetology department of the Thief River Falls area vocational technical school. Mr. Durgin is a 1962 graduate of Lincoln high school and is a senior at Bemidji State college.

A December wedding is planned.

Mr. and Mrs. Duane Taggart and family of Sioux Falls, S.D., spent the Thanksgiving weekend at the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Art Christianson and Mr. and Mrs. Lester Taggart.

Clara Thompson Celebrates Her 93rd Birthday

Friends and relatives gathered at the Valley Rest home Saturday to help Mrs. Clara C. Thompson celebrate her 93rd birthday. Due to the stormy weather conditions many members of the family who had planned to attend the party were unable to do so.

Those present were her sons and their wives, Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Haugen and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Haugen, all of Middle River; her son-in-law and daughter Mr. and Mrs. John V. Olson of this city; granddaughters and their families, Mr. and Mrs. Arne Espeseth, Keith, Steven, and Gayle and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Gibson, Judy, Kent, Christi and Robert and long-time friends, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Brandon of Middle River and Mrs. Clara C. Boomquist of this city.

A decorated birthday cake centered the serving table and the self-invited guests served assorted breads to all the residents at the home.

Unable to attend but calling to extend best wishes were a son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Olaf Anderson of Argyle and several members of her family; her brothers, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Willer of Fergus Falls and William Willer and daughters of Fordville, N.D., and a granddaughter, Virginia Myhrer of Thief River Falls who was attending the Luther League convention at Fergus Falls.

Mrs. Thompson, who is a member of Trinity Lutheran church was also honored a few days previously when members of the Martha Circle arrived at the home and honored her with a birthday party. They also served cake to all the residents at the home.

On Thanksgiving day, the day of her birthday, those helping her observe the event were her daughter, Mrs. John V. Olson and Mr. and Mrs. Arne Espeseth. Pictures were taken that day to mark the event.

Carolyn Stanina, Once Of TRF, Weds At Osseo

Miss Carolyn Stanina, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Stanina of Osseo and once of Thief River Falls, and Jerry Babcock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Babcock, also of Osseo, exchanged marriage vows, recently at St. Vincent de Paul Catholic church at Osseo. The Rev. Leonard Bertrand officiated at the double ring ceremony attended by approximately 200 guests.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a floor length de-lustered satin gown enhanced with sequins and seed pearls and featuring a swallow-tail chapel length train. Re-embroidered Alencon lace trimmed the sabrina neckline and emphasized the scissor pleated A-line skirt. A petaled Alencon lace headpiece, outlined with pearls and sequins, held the elbow length veil and she carried a white bridal bouquet of mums and stephanotis, accented by green foliage.

Nancy Nornes of Minneapolis and formerly of Thief River Falls, attended the bride as maid of honor. She wore a floor-length gown styled with moss green brocade bodice and a green and gold brocade sheath skirt fashioned with a contrasting gold band at the waistline.

Other attendants were Mrs. Darrell Winhelmann of Minneapolis as brides matron, Barbara Cameron of Minneapolis as bridesmaid and Amy Stanina of Osseo, sister of the bride, as junior bridesmaid. They were attired like the maid of honor and each attendant wore a tailored bow headpiece to match the waistband and carried a bouquet of gold mums. Their single strand of pearls was their gift from the bride.

Flower girl Sherri Olson of Osseo wore a gold peau de sole floor length gown styled with a belled skirt and a matching bow headpiece. Craig Stanina, brother of the bride, was ring bearer.

Rawland Trombley of Osseo attended his friend as best man. Groomsmen were Darrell Winhelmann, Minneapolis and Elgin Olson of Osseo and the ushers were Tim Seidenkranz and Tom Rougier, both of Osseo. The men were attired in black tuxedos with white carnation boutonnieres.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Stanina wore a beige and brown knit suit with beige hat and brown accessories. The mother of the groom wore a gold brocade sheath dress with matching coat and moss green accessories. Honor guests attending the wedding were Mrs. Agnes Hanson of Minneapolis, and Mrs. Lewis Brandt, of Bloomington, grandmother and godmother respectively, of the groom. Mrs. Carol Rohn of Golden Valley served the bride as her personal attendant.

Approximately 200 guests attended the reception given in the American Legion hall at Osseo by the parents of the bride. Centering the serving table was a three tiered wedding cake trimmed with gold and green and topped by a miniature bride and groom. Rose Stanina, sister of the bride, and Elaine Pfeifer served the punch while Mrs. Glen Rux of Osseo and Mrs. Lewis Brandt poured. Mrs. Elgin Olson registered the guests and those displaying the gifts were Barbara Hering of Minneapolis and Delores Klatt and Marge Konghorn, both of Osseo.

Guests attending were from Winnipeg, Man. Canada; Dresser, Wis.; Chicago, Ill.; Thief River Falls, Newfolden, Clara City, Minneapolis and St. Paul.

The bride is a graduate of Osseo high school and is employed at North Memorial hospital at Robbinsdale. The groom, also a graduate of Osseo high school, is employed by Minnesota Mining at New Brighton. Mr. and Mrs. Babcock are at home at 513 Third Avenue Northwest, Osseo.

Legion Auxiliary Members Attend Fall Conference

Fall conference, the annual school of instruction for past and unit officers and key committee chairmen of the American Legion and its auxiliary, will be held Friday and Saturday at the Pick-Nicollet hotel in Minneapolis.

The women of Zion will present a skit, "God's Love Gift". Lunch will be served and everyone is welcome to attend.

Alfin Jordes Are Feted Here On 25th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Alfin Jorde of Blooming Prairie were guests of honor Saturday evening at the Elton C. Cummings home where approximately 30 relatives and friends gathered to help them celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary.

A social evening was spent with gifts and cards presented to the honored couple and refreshments were served. Centering the serving table was a three tiered wedding cake with pink roses and topped with a 25th anniversary emblem, baked and decorated by Mr. Jorde's sister, Mrs. Cummings. Mrs. Don Jorde, sister-in-law of Mr. Jorde, cut and served the cake while a sister, Mrs. Ed LaPoint of Minneapolis, poured. Mrs. Clifford Jorde was in charge of cutting and serving the bell centered ice cream.

Homemakers Club To Have Christmas Party

Side Line Observations

—BY BILL DAHLQUIST—

James Reston, Associate Editor of the New York Times, sums up our Viet Nam problems, along with our errors, very effectively in a recent editorial page comment. He states:

"The Johnson administration has assumed that the Communists would tolerate what it obviously would not tolerate itself—an enemy base of operations, capable of destroying the security of the nation. If the Chinese Communists had an expeditionary force of almost 200,000 men in southern Mexico and an air force capable of wiping out every city in the United States, we would oppose it for a century, if necessary, but we have assumed that Hanoi and Peking would do otherwise.

"This is a highly relevant and even critical question now, because the American casualties have been much more serious than the official description of "moderate" suggests, and the pressure is on now for another shift in policy to bomb the industrial installations around the North Vietnamese capital of Hanoi and the maritime and other transportation facilities in the port of Haiphong.

"The United States assumed that its air attacks on North Vietnam, then its commitment of 150,000 men to the battle, then its successful hunting of the Communist monsoon offensive would persuade the Communists to negotiate an honorable settlement, but these assumptions also proved to be false.

"If we ask, therefore, as we must, where we went wrong in Vietnam, we have to examine these popular assumptions. It is a bore to dwell in a crisis on past mistakes, but unfortunately the lesson of these mistakes has still not been learned.

"The President is still confusing popularity with policy, and this could easily lead us deeper into the bog."

The taconite amendment that was so controversial for a number of years is now producing the promised results. The United States Steel Corporation is now well along with its construction program at Mountain Iron. Operation of the expanded facilities is scheduled to start in 1967.

This greatly expanded operation will provide increased employment and greater stability for the iron range area of our state, and the entire state will benefit by the increased tax revenue. Looking back it does seem strange why so simple a problem should have been so controversial. Politics would be much less confusing if it were not for the politicians.

It is to be expected that the government's anti-poverty program will be very wasteful in its early stages. We will make progress by a trial and error process, and the errors will be both numerous and costly. But as the Christian Science Monitor points out:

"The time is coming when there will have to be carefull reappraisals to see which programs are working well and which are not. Some will doubtless have to be radically revised and others, perhaps, discontinued.

"The public needs to know whether those who most need these programs are being reached and whether existing programs are in fact helping them to overcome poverty and reestablish themselves in the community. And taxpayers need to know whether financial controls are adequate and whether existing programs are the most efficient way to do the job that has to be done."

Jaycees Sponsor Lighting Contest For Christmas

said. 'One is to assist in beautification of the city during the holiday season and the other is to officially recognize the individuals who put forth so much effort to make the outside of their homes attractive during the festive occasion."

Lt. Harold Shelby, chairman of the nativity scene committee of the Jaycees, directed the erection of the scene Tuesday evening in preparation for an official lighting Thursday evening. The scene has been an annual Christmas activity project of the local Jaycee chapter, and will be located this year on the courthouse lawn.

PUBLIC OPINION

To the Editor:

We are soon going to have a re-apportionment, and a re-arrangement of our legislative districts, but it seems at this time that the governor and the legislative leaders are not going to be able to agree on any plan of re-districting. I would therefore like to make a suggestion to the governor, and the legislature, and the people of this area in regard to this matter.

As the matter now stands, it is quite likely that there will be a re-arrangement of boundaries of legislative districts, and probably several new legislative districts will be created. So long as there is going to be some re-districting, I would like to suggest that Pennington and Marshall counties be made into one legislative district. These two counties would have about the right population to satisfy the courts.

The people of the entire Eastern Half of Marshall County, consisting of 24 townships have always ben closely tied to Thief River Falls, and Pennington county. The people of the entire eastern Marshall county have always come to Thief River Falls to trade and to do their business generally of all kinds over a period of 60 or 70 years. They have come here for hospital and medical care. In fact, so far as I can remember, the people of Pennington and eastern Marshall county have always been very closely associated and tied together. Their interests are pretty much the same, and they belong in the same legislative district. Marshall and Pennington counties would make an ideal legislative district.

I would suggest that the people of these two areas let their wishes be known to the governor and the members of the legislature. After all, the people should have something to say about this redistricting and re-apportionment and not leave it all to the courts.

I hope the editor will find space for the publication of this suggestion, so that it may be brought to the attention of the people of these counties.

Yours very truly,
— H. O. Berve

Services Held November 30 For Tony Nelson, 51

Funeral services for Tony Nelson, 51, who died Saturday morning at Northwestern hospital in this city, were held Tuesday at 2 p.m. in the Green Funeral chapel. The Rev. Leland Steen officiated and interment was in Greenwood cemetery.

Tony Nelson was born April 4, 1914 at Newfolden where he attended school. He was drafted into the United States Army, trained for six months in the States and was sent to New Guinea. There he served as Staff Sergeant in the Signal Corps for four years receiving the President's citation among many other service awards. Upon his discharge, he remained in the Reserves and was recalled to serve for over a year in the Air Corps stationed at Detroit, Mich.

Following his army service, he attended the Dunwoody Institute in Minneapolis, completing his training as an Electrical technician. He also took a course at LaSalle Extension university, LaSalle, Ill., studying law for approximately two years. He was employed for several years at the Power plant by the city of Thief River Falls, leaving here for Pickstown, S. D., where he worked six years as an electrical technician at the Fort Randall Power dam. The past four years, he had resided in Thief River Falls, spending much of that time in Army hospitals.

Survivors include four sisters, Mrs. John (Myrtle) Hanson of Honolulu; Mrs. David (Dorothy) Murphy of Denver, Colo., and Mrs. Lewis (Isabelle) Peterson and Mrs. K. Russell (Delores) Anderson, both of Thief River Falls.

He was preceded in death by his parents and one sister, Adeline.

Rites Held Mon. For City Resident, Erick Johnson, 79

Erick Johnson, 79, a resident of Thief River Falls for the past 20 years and a former long-time resident of the Newfolden community, died unexpectedly Thursday evening at his home at 325 Crocker Avenue South.

Funeral services for Erick Johnson were held Monday at 2 p.m. in the Evangelical Free church, Thief River Falls. The Rev. Wesley Johnson officiated and interment was in the Greenwood cemetery. Arrangements were by the Green Funeral home.

Erick B. Johnson, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Nels Johnson, was born Nov. 20, 1886 in Marshall county. He attended school and grew to manhood in Newfolden township, Marshall county. On Dec. 20, 1911 he was united in marriage to Thilda Holt of Hoople, N. D. After their marriage, the Johnsons were engaged in farming in Newfolden township until 1944 when they retired and moved to this city. While living in the Newfolden community, he had served for several years on the school board and the township board.

He is survived by his wife, Tilda; one daughter, Mrs. Lloyd (Esther) Ellenson of Warroad; 8 grandchildren, 14 great-grandchildren and two sisters, Mrs. Anna Brandt of Detroit Lakes and Mrs Mary Mattson of Roseau.

He was preceded in death by one sister and two brothers.

W. G. Olbekson, 47 Of Rural Euclid Found Dead Sat.

William G. Olbekson, 47, of rural Euclid was found dead in his car Saturday. He suffered a stroke according to Dr. H. E. Nelson, Polk County coroner.

Funeral services were held Tuesday at 1:30 p.m. at the Houske Funeral chapel in Crookston with the Rev. Stanley Johnson officiating. Burial will be made in Monto, N. D., with military rites by the Warren American Legion Post.

William G. Olbekson was born April 25, 1918 at Monto, N. D. He was a World War II veteran having served in the United States Army. He married Agnes Morrison at East Grand Forks, January 11, 1941 and for the past eight months he and his wife had lived at Euclid. He was employed in Grand Forks, N. D., as an electrician.

Survivors include his wife, Agnes and two sisters, Mrs. Leslie Hart of Grafton, N. D., and Mrs. Emma Hutchison of Minneapolis.

Mrs. Albert Kagg, 82, Of Viking, Dies November 28

Funeral services for Mrs. Albert Kagg will be held Thursday at 2 p.m. at the Zion Lutheran church in Viking with the Rev. T. J. Waltzin officiating. Interment will be made in the Greenwood cemetery at Warren.

A complete obituary will be published next week.

Cancer Society Fieldman Named For This Area

Kenneth Umbehocker

Appointment of Kenneth S. Umbehocker as northwestern Minnesota field representative for the American Cancer society was announced today by Lee Berglund, executive vice president for the Minnesota division.

Counties in Umbehocker's district are Becker, Beltrami, Benton, Cass, Chisago, Clay, Clearwater, Crow Wing, Hubbard, Isanti, Kanabec, Kittson, Lake of the Woods, Mahnomen, Marshall, Mille Lacs, Morrison, Norman, Otter Tail, Pennington, Pine, Polk, Red Lake, Roseau, Stearns, Todd and Wadena.

Umbehocker will assist the 27-county American Cancer society units in his district with their year-round cancer control educational programs and service to cancer patients. He will also help recruit and train volunteers to carry out these programs and the April Cancer Crusade.

He has had considerable experience in public service activities with the Episcopal church, Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Shrine. He was associated with the Episcopal church at Hallock and Virginia. In 1964 he received the distinguished service award from the Virginia Jaycees for his participation in community programs. A life member of Aad Temple of the Shrine, Duluth, he is a former state officer of the Knights Templer and Royal Arch Masons.

A native of St. Paul where he resides, he is a graduate of Vanderbilt university, Nashville, Tenn.

Cross-Compliance To Operate Under '66 Crop Program

In response to numerous inquiries regarding cross-compliance under the various crop acreage program, the U. S. Department of Agriculture has recently announced that it intends to make no basic changes for 1966 in cross-compliance features of farm programs. New farm programs will be effective under the Food and Agriculture Act of 1965.

Marcel Dahl, chairman of the Marshall county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee, has outlined how cross-compliance will operate under the 1966 feed grain program.

To be eligible for program benefits, feed grain producers will reduce their feed grain acreage, put the feed grain diverted acres to a conserving use and maintain the normal conserving acreage plus any diverted acreage for other crops. In addition, participating farmers may not exceed the feed grain base acreage on other farms in which they have an interest in the feed grain crop; however, these other farms need not participate in the diversion program. Farmers participating only in the feed grain program need not plant within other crop allotments.

To be eligible for program benefits, farmers electing to substitute wheat acreage for feed grains would participate in both the wheat and feed grain programs on the participating farm and stay within the wheat acreage allotments and feed grain base acreages on any other farms in which they had an interest in the crop.

A feed grain producer who participates in the newly authorized cropland adjustment program will need to keep within any crop acreage allotment or permitted acreage on that farm or on any other farm in which he has an interest and diverted under the cropland adjustment and other programs.

Contest Looms In Election for Union Local 664

According to word received here today, the first challenge of union leadership in Teamsters Local 664 in about 10 years is being made this year. Local 664 is an all public employee union with members working in Anoka, Minneapolis, Thief River Falls, Blaine, Columbia Heights, Spring Lake Park, Lino Lakes, Coon Rapids, Champlin, Bloomington and at the Minneapolis-St. Paul airport.

Ed Burckhardt, candidate for president of the local, said that the members demand a greater role in the running of the union, more prompt attention to the members' grievances and better communication with the members. He added that all members supporting his slate condemn "the recent unsuccessful attempt by the present officers to deprive members of their voting rights by closing a polling place in Minneapolis' north suburbs."

Not an issue, Burckhardt said, is the employment of business agent John Skeate, Minneapolis state legislator, whose contract has several years to go. "However," Burckhardt said, "since Rep. Skeate is a candidate for recording secretary, the question has been raised about the advisability of electing the business agent to the executive board which controls his working conditions and potential wage increases."

Rep. Skeate has been in Thief River Falls a number of times to negotiate for Local 664 with the city council and school board. He was here during the one-day strike of bus drivers several years ago.

Brainerd State Hospital Seeks Christmas Gifts

Christmas gifts are needed for nearly 1,400 residents of the Brainerd state school and hospital, many of whom have been forgotten by family and friends, according to Darrell D. Torrance, volunteer coordinator at the institution.

Gifts are distributed in the "Santa Claus Room" of the institution. They are donated by area fraternal and civic organizations, churches, schools, veterans groups, ARC chapters and individuals. During Christmas 1964, over 8,000 small gifts were given to residents from these groups. Gifts are wrapped by volunteer workers from the area. Interested persons should contact the coordinator.

Suggested gifts for men are pipes, tobacco, toiletries, gloves, belts and billfolds. Gifts for women may include nylon hose, cosmetics, soap, wash cloths, compacts and towel sets. Items suggested for both men and women are handkerchiefs, slippers, recordings and jewelry.

Contributors may send gifts to "Santa Clause Room", Brainerd State School and Hospital, Box 349 Brainerd, Minn.

Valley Holstein Breeders To Meet At Ada Saturday

Plans have been set for the annual convention of the Red River Valley Holstein Breeders association at Ada on Saturday. Conrad H. Kvamme, resident of the association is in charge of general arrangements.

The day's activities will begin with open house at Orbit Dairy Farm (Kvamme and Luchau), located three miles east and one mile north of Ada, from 10:30 a.m. to noon. Dairy refreshments will be served at the farm tour. A noon banquet will be held at 12:30 at the VFW building in Ada.

Annual meeting business activities will begin at 1:30 p.m. with such items of business as election of two directors, Black and White show plans, Junior (4-H and FFA) Holstein awards, and other business.

A main highlight of the convention activities will be a panel presentation entitled "Future Trends In Dairying—Emphasis Holsteins". On the panel are: Lee Baker, PCA, Ada; Erman Uland, Vo-Ag Instructor, Fertile; George Marx, University of Minnesota dairy scientist, Crookston; James Muzzy, dairy farmer, Thief River Falls; Vern Sjoquist, manager, Cass-Clay creameries, Fargo; Martin Von Ruden, dairy herdsman, N. W. school and experiment station, Crookston; and Howard J. Hansen, national Holstein fieldman. Kvamme will be the moderator.

Northwest Dairy Princess, Janice Swanson of Mentor, will be visiting with customers in local grocery stores in the afternoon. Miss Swanson will be passing out cheese on cracker samples, compliments of the Norman County ADA unit.

The convention will adjourn at approximately 3:15 p.m. Dairy refreshments at the close of the meeting will be served.

Wendel Captures 26 Ribbons at Chinchilla Show

Twenty chinchillas entered by Kenneth Wendel of Thief River Falls in the North Star Unit Field Day at Duluth on Sunday captured 26 ribbons for the local breeder. Among these was the reserve champion male of the show which drew 85 entries in spite of poor weather and road conditions.

Ribbons won by the Wendel animals included champion and reserve champion dark male, champion and reserve champion light male, reserve champion medium male and female, and reserve champion light female. He also received three first place, nine second place, three third place and three honorable mention ribbons.

Wendel has been raising chinchillas for nearly three years and now has 60 breeding females and 150 young animals. George Bauer of New Ulm, who has a herd of 2200 animals, copped most of the remaining ribbons in the show, including the grand championship.

The local chinchilla breeders association is planning a show for Thief River Falls in March which is expected to draw a large number of entries.

Police Report Two Accidents And Break-in

Two automobile accidents and a break-in were reported today by the Thief River Falls police department. Dennis Wegge reported Monday morning that the Standard Oil warehouse had been broken into the previous night. Loss is unknown and the case is under investigation.

On Monday at 3:30 p.m. a car driven by Ronald K. Johnson, St. Hilaire, was backing out of a driveway on Second street and backed into a vehicle driven by Victor Rustad, rt. 1, Thief River Falls, which was traveling west on Second. No damage was done to the Johnson car, but the Rustad vehicle was damaged to the extent of about $35. Johnson was charged with failure to yield the right-of-way.

At 10:15 p.m. the same day Lawrence Larson, city reported that his car had been parked on West Sixth street, just east of Knight avenue, and was struck in the right rear fender and hubcap, resulting in an estimated $58 damage. Oscar Johnson, city, stated that he had backed his car out of his garage and hit the Larson vehicle. Damage to the Johnson car was estimated at $25.

State Employment Office To Serve Roseau Residents

R. S. Eldevik, manager of the Thief River Falls office of the State Employment service, announced today that this office will begin regular bi-weekly service in Roseau beginning Tuesday, December 7.

Representatives of the employment service will be at the Roseau city auditorium fro 10 a.m. ed in the early afternoon.

Persons wishing to file unemployment insurance claims are reminded that they must know or bring their Social Security number and should know the full name and address of former employer or employers. They should also know the date they started work and the date the job terminated and to what state their employers paid the unemployment insurance tax.

Warmer Weather Expected Here

Closely following a period of severe winter weather which saw the first sub-zero temperatures of the season, Minnesota residents can look forward to a spell of fair and mild weather which is expected to continue for several days. Above-freezing temperatures are forecast along with fair skies, but with brief periods of cloudiness in northern portions of the area. Highs today will range from 28 to 38; lows tonight from 12 to 25.

High and low temperature and precipitation readings recorded since Monday at the airport are as follows: 12, -7 and one-half inch of snow with .02 inch water content on Monday; 23 and -8 on Tuesday; and a low this morning of 16.

Farmers Advised To Estimate Tax Liability Soon

Farmers are advised to begin estimating their 1965 tax liability, according to Paul Hasbargen, extension economist at the University of Minnesota, who said increased earnings in 1965 will mean increased taxes.

Livestock producers will be particularly affected, according to Hasbargen. The USDA now estimates that the net farm income of all farmers this year will rise 10 per cent to around $14 billion.

When tax liability has been estimated, Hasbargen said that farmers should consider purchases of machinery and equipment in time to receive the depreciation allowance as well as the investment deduction. Purchases of legume seeds, shop tools and repairs can be profitable in high gross income years.

A farmer delaying sales of crops or livestock until after the end of the year should remember that he is not alone, Hasbargen said that the expected high market volume of soybeans, hogs and cattle in January could depress prices in early 1966 and offset tax gains.

Hasbargen said that the outlook for 1966 is even better than for 1965. He urged farmers to consider this projection in planning deductions.

Mrs. Ray Jensen Receives Prizes At Mink Show

Mrs. Ray Jensen of Brooks took first prize out of 76 entries in the standard dark division of the Lake Region mink show November 4-5 at Detroit Lakes. She also took first prize on Steward Pearl "double" and second on Pearl "triple," and at the banquet was presented seven ribbons in addition to her trophies.

On November 12-13-14 Mrs. Jensen attended the North Central mink show at Austin where she received a trophy on her medium double pearl, winning first and third places in that class.

4-H CLUB NEWS

Silverton 4-H

The Silverton 4-H club held a Halloween party and basket social October 30 at the Silverton town hall. At the November meeting of the club, roll call was taken by each member naming his favorite singing group. Five new members joined the club. They are Daryl Myers, Tom and Jane Duke, Richard Hruby and Gary Nelson.

At the December meeting there will be the annual Christmas party and gifts will be exchanged. Each boy is to bring a boy's gift and each girl a girl's gift. The price was set at 35 to 50 cents.

Edward Brard was appointed janitor for the coming year. Archie Ptacek donated a used piano for the club. Awards announced at the annual 4-H banquet were distributed.

Mrs. Silas Hanson talked on farmstead improvement. Ross Hanson gave a demonstration on testing seed for germination. Jennifer Duke gave a project talk on feeding and raising sheep and Renae Ptacek gave a demonstration on finishing of garment seams.

Miss Beverly Tveito, Pennington county home agent, talked on the needs, interests and home situations in projects. Three new projects are indoor gardening, flower gardening and lawn and landscaping. These projects take the place of home yard improvement.

Refreshments were served by the Harder and Ptacek families.

Joyce Peterson, reporter

Good Hope

The monthly meeting of the Good Hope 4-H club was held at the Erling Lundeen home with Mike Hanson presiding.

The business meeting consisted of discussion of a beautifying America project. A program committee with Rosemary Liedberg and Lana Ellingson as members was selected and a decorating committee including Valerie and Vickie Wiseth and Trudy Wiseth was named for the club Christmas party. Names were drawn for the Christmas gift exchange and gift price was set at 39 cents.

New Type Phone To Be Introduced Here Wednesday

A new telephone with an illuminated dial built into the handset will be introduced in Thief River Falls on Wednesday, according to Tom Perrier, local Northwestern Bell Telephone company manager.

Called the Trimline telephone, the new model is designed to make calling easier by incorporating the receiver, transmitter and dial in the handset. It will carry an extra monthly charge.

With the Trimline phone the caller brings the dial to him, making it possible to have the instrument installed in places that would be inconvenient for standard phones. An on-off button located beside the dial clears the line so that calls can be made one after another without reaching to hang up.

Developed by Bell Telephone Laboratories after years or research, the new phone has a base measurement of 3" by 8" and takes up less than half the space required by a standard phone. Improvements in the moving parts also makes dialing smoother and quieter and grip feet on the base prevent slipping or sliding.

Perrier said the Trimline phone handset is equipped with dial and on-off button and weighs only two ounces more than the standard handset.

Name Youngblood As "Farm Editor"

LEGAL NOTICE

November 17-24, December 1, 1965

NOTICE OF FINAL HEARING ON COUNTY DITCH

State of Minnesota
County of Pennington—ss.

In the matter of the Petition of SILAS HANSON AND OTHERS for the establishment and construction of County Ditch No. 77 of Pennington County, Minnesota.

WHEREAS, The petition of Silas Hanson and others, bearing date the 4th day of May, 1965, praying for the establishment and construction of said ditch, has been filed in my office, and

WHEREAS, The Engineer and Viewers duly appointed in said proceedings and the Director have all filed their reports in my office as provided by law.

NOW, THEREFORE, Notice is hereby given of the pendency of said petition, and that the same will be heard and considered before the County Board in the Meeting Room on the 1st Floor in the Court House in the City of Thief River Falls in said County, on the 14th day of December, 1965, at 3:00 o'clock P.M. All persons interested in the establishment and construction of said proposed ditch are invited to appear and be heard at said time.

C. W. Rodekuhr
County Auditor

A general description of the proposed starting point, route and terminus of said ditch, as stated in the petition or subsequently amended on the recommendation of the Engineer, is as follows, to-wit:

Commencing at or near the Northwest corner of Section 21 in Township 154 N., Range 42 W. Hunting Success Believed Better Than 1964 Season

Reports from the Minnesota game and fish division fieldmen indicate that hunting success this fall in the main deer range in northern Minnesota was slightly above last year, the conservation department reported today.

A check of deer camps in the Itasca county area showed a 47 per cent hunter success through the first four days of the nine-day season. In the Bemidji area, hunting camp checks disclosed better than 50 per cent success for the same period.

Opening week end checks in southeastern Minnesota revealed a hunter success ratio about the same as last year.

In the one-day zone in the southwestern portion of the state hunters averaged 23 per cent success. This was lower than the 30 per cent success recorded when the entire region was last open two years ago.

The lower kill in the southwestern counties reflects the fact that the corn harvest was only about one-half completed. Deer were widely dispersed in the unpicked corn fields.

It is expected that the total number of deer hunters afield this season will exceed last year's record of 278,000 and that the kill will exceed last year's record of 122,000 deer.

An accurate figure on the per cent of hunters who bagged deer during the season will not be available until after the hunters turn in their report cards attached to their licenses. Hunters are urged to send in their report cards whether they bagged their deer or not.

Goodridge Coach Faces Rebuilding Job This Season

Head coach Glen Peters and his assistant Bill Blankenfeld are faced with a major rebuilding job as they direct the basketball fortunes of the Goodridge Huskies for the 1965-66 season.

The Huskies, led by their six-foot eight-inch center Lon Szymanski and fine forward Roger Holte, won the District 31 cage title last season, and reached the final of the Region Eight tournament before losing to the Bemidji Lumberjacks.

This season's Goodridge club will have three returning lettermen in Bob Bendickson, Jim McEnelly and Jack Sunsdahl. Bendickson and McEnelly were starters on last season's championship squad.

Also on the squad are LeRoy Vigen, LeRoy Elg, Royal Jorgenson, Marv Foss, Dave Holthusen, Bruce Lillevold, Larry Gralowski and Gene Paulson.

The first home game for the Huskies will be on Friday night, December 3, when coach Norm Wagner will bring his Fisher Flyers to Goodridge.

The Goodridge Huskies' 1965-66 basketball schedule:

Dec. 3, Fisher at Goodridge.
Dec. 10, Red Lake Falls at Goodridge.

Prowler Matmen Stop Warren 36-8

Coach Ed Krystosek's Prowler wrestling squad opened their home schedule on Monday night when, in the Lincoln high school gymnasium, they defeated the Warren Ponies, 36 to 8, in a duel match. The match, a District 31 contest, was originally scheduled for the local gymnasium on February 18, but on that date the District 31 tournament will be held at Crookston and therefore the Prowlers vs. Warren match was moved up to Monday night.

The Prowlers will continue in district competition this week, and on the local mat, when the Crookston Central Pirates will meet coach Krystosek's squad here. The 'B' squad matches will begin at 6:30 p.m. with the varsity squad matches slated for 8 p.m.

In Monday's preliminary matches, coach Dale Folger's Prowler 'B' squad scored a 30 to 14 win over the Warren 'B' squad.

In Monday night's winning effort, the winning margin for the locals was considerable 28 points' but the match was more evenly-contested than that margin would indicate. The Warren Ponies won the opening match when Jim Pokrzywinski pinned the Prowlers' Scott Adolphson in 2:59 in a 95-pound class match.

The only other points garnered by the visitors was in the 165-pound division when Gaylord Johnson scored a 9-4 decision over the locals' Luke Kaushagen. But three of the matches, all decisions in favor of the Prowlers, were decided by a point. Bill Besch, in a 103-pound match, edged Warren's Steve Hoans 6-5; Rocky Wilson bested Warren's Dan Sorenson, 4-3 in a 127-pound match; and Rod Colliver gained the nod over the Ponies' Jim Slusar, 2-1, in a 138-pound contest.

The Prowlers racked up three falls with Myles Olson pinning Bruce Lundgren in 0:39 in a 112-pound match; Dick Brown gaining a fall over Warren's Kent Peterson in 4:29; and Bruce Parnham pinning Warren's Mike Baird in 3:36 in a heavyweight match.

The Summary:

103—Bill Besch (TRF) decisioned Steve Hoans (W), 6-5.
112—Miles Olson (TRF) pinned Bruce Lundgren (W), 0:39.
120—Steve Furuseth (TRF) decisioned Charles Torkelson (W), 4-1.
127—Rocky Wilson (TRF) decisioned Dan Sorenson (W), 4-3.
133—Les Northagen (TRF) decisioned Bruce Fillipi (W), 4-2.
138—Rod Colliver (TRF) decisioned Jim Slusar (W), 2-1.
154—Gary Olson (TRF) decisioned Tom Bro (W), 4-0.
175—Tom Miller (TRF) decisioned Wayne Marek (W), 3-0.

LOOMING LARGE both literally and figuratively, in Prowler basketball hopes for the future is Doug Knutson (42) shown above stretching for a rebound against the Grafton Spoilers "B" team. A 6' 3" sophomore, Doug is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Knutson. After a scoreless first half in the opening game last week, he scored eight points in the second half to lead the scoring for Coach Lee Swanson's Prowler "B" team.

JAMMED together like canned sardines, these players from the Prowler and Grafton Spoilers teams battle for a rebound in Friday night's game won by Grafton 65-60. If a basketball could think, imagine its reaction to dropping into the clutches of such an eager mass of humanity. Also imagine the plight of a referee in detecting fouls under such conditions.

Paul's Statis

Paul Klungness, former Prowler athlete and the starting right halfback for Dartmouth, left the Ivy League championship game against Princeton quite early, receiving a painful thigh injury in the first period. Paul, in a letter home, stated that he was on crutches for a couple of days, but that the injury is responding to treatment. The Dartmouth team defeated the Princeton team, 28-14, to post an unbeaten season and win the Ivy League title with a record of seven wins and no losses. Overall the Big Green had a nine wins and no losses mark.

But to get back to the individual performances. In rushing, Paul carried the ball 64 times for a net yardage of 256 yards, which averages out at four yards a carry. And Paul was one of the prime targets for the passes of quarterback Mickey Beard, and he, Paul, was on the completing end of 12 passes, gaining 231 yards. This total was second to that of end Bill Calhoun, who gained 345 yards in 16 pass completions. On kickoff returns, Paul returned the ball on six occasions, for a yardage of 184, or an average of 30.7 The squad's kickoff return leader was Gene Ryzewicz who made 10 returns for a total of 348 yards. Ryzewicz, who is only a sophomore, boosted his kickoff return in the Princeton game. One return average by a pair of fine returns gained 38 yards, and opening the second half the shifty runner made a 69-yard return. And during the season Paul tallied four touchdowns for the Big Green.

And speaking of football, says Dartmouth coach Bob Blackman: "I am the first to believe that football is minor compared to the objectives of the college. Yet you read so much about the apathy and beatniks among the students today and then see our students so enthusiastic and proud of their college. I believe that this spirit will help Dartmouth in every way including the academic."

Incidentally, the chapel bells on Hanover Plain rang for 25 hours following the Big Green's win over Princeton.

An Attraction

With the Prowler cagers slated to play out of town on Friday, against Sacred Heart at East Grand Forks, local sports fans won't be able to find any better entertainment than that which will be provided by the Crookston Central vs. Prowler wrestlers at the Lincoln high school gymnasium.

The Crookston squad, making an improvement with each year in competition (and the Pirates haven't been engaged in high school wrestling for more than five or six years), will probably be a strong contender for District 31 honors when the tournament is held in February.

Among the Pirate wrestlers with Region Eight tourney experience, and who will merit extra attention on Friday night, are Duane Reitmeier, at 103 pounds; Rick Kaltenberg at 112 pounds; Tyler Maberlik at 120 pounds; and Kent Charron at 165 pounds. Kalentberg will be pitted against the Prowlers' Myles Olson; and Hamerlik will be up against Steve Furuseth, a regional winner for the Prowlers last season.

The Region's Best

Probably. While he isn't eligible for District 31 or Region Eight basketball tournament play, being enrolled in East Grand Forks' Sacred Heart high school, a parochial school, it is doubtful if the Prowlers cagers will face a more talented player than Jim Hoffert of the Eagles. The Prowlers will play Heartteam in East Grand Forks on Friday night.

Hoffert, standing at six-feet five inches, is one of the taller cagers in this area. And he handles his height with ease and finesse. He has the ability to hit from the outside, and he can move in for work around the backboard. Last year, in a game played here, he tallied 22 points against the Prowlers as the locals defeated the Eagles, 69-59. Tommy Cummings was given the chore of handcuffing Hoffert, and Tom did an outstanding job. Cummings scored 22 points for the Prowlers in that game.

But don't believe that coach Gasperline has a one-man team over at Sacred Heart. It's pretty much of a veteran squad, and the Prowlers won't be able to overload on Hoffert.

Curling Season To Be Planned

General meeting for all curlers and persons interested in curling will be held at the Thief River Falls curling club Saturday at 7:30 p.m. Plans will be made for the 1965-66 curling season. All old and new skips are especially urged to attend. Free lunch will be served following the meeting.

Firearms Deaths Lowest Among 8 Leading Causes

Firearms fatalities have decreased 11 per cent since 1936, according to the National Shooting Sports foundation. Statistics recently released by the National Safety council show that firearms ranked last in the eight major causes of accidental death in 1964.

Improper use of firearms accounted for 2,400 of the 105,000 accidental deaths in 1964.

This compares with 47,700 people who died in motor vehicle accidents, 19,100 in falls, 7,700 in fires, 6,700 in drownings, 3,600 of all types of poisonings, 2,600 in railroad accidents, and 16,800 in all other types of accidents, according to the safety council.

CONSERVATION News & Notes

by Bob Farmes
Area Game Manager
Division of Game & Fish—Minn. Conserevation Dep't.

Most of the hunting is now over in this area for this year. We can still hunt squirrels until December 31 and rabbits are legal game until March 1, but few people take advantage of these species in this part of the state. Although goose hunting does not actually close until December 10, about the only place hunters can take advantage of this long season this year is in the southern part of the state.

In analyzing this years hunting we would have to say that except for deer, success was, in most cases, only fair for the average hunter. Except for the opening weekend on geese hunting pressure was down considerably in this part of the state.

The goose opener was a real wild one with hunters flocking to the major goose concentration areas from all over the state. I was at Thief Lake opening weekend and in the 15 years that I have observed the waterfowl opening on this area I have never seen anything like this year.

Hunting pressure was higher than bred of hunter who had little respect for either the law or the other hunter. Game law violations, claiming the other fellow's bird, shooting at ridiculously long ranges, hunting over the other fellow's decoys, trespassing and many other senseless acts were all too common. It appeared that some hunters had never even seen a goose in the wild and were unable to identify the bird they were supposedly hunting.

The goose population was high for the opener but competition was just too much in most areas to make for good quality hunting and success was only fair. Goose numbers gradually dropped from the peak reached around opening weekend, but there were a few good shoots for about two weeks after the opener.

Hunting seasons started this year with the experimental teal season which lasted only two and one-half days. In most of this area very few hunters took advantage were shot; although in the southern of this season and very few teal part of the state quite a large number of teal were taken. It will be interesting to see what the final conclusions will be regarding this season.

Both ruffed (partridge) and sharp tailed grouse seasons opened along with the duck season on October 9. As a result of this joint opening and the relatively low grouse populations in this area, few hunters went after grouse. After the opening weekend grouse hunters are never plentiful, especially sharp tail hunters, and this year the hunting pressure on these birds was next to zero.

We were glad to note that the sharptail population, although still low, was up some from last year. I noted some nice sized conveys of up to 25 in number and one hunter reported seeing a flock of about 100 birds during the deer season. Although a few limits of sharptails were taken, the over all success was low as is expected with a low population and the small number of birds taken during the season will have no effect on the following year's population.

The story on ruffed grouse is much the same as for sharptails in this area, although farther east in the state some pretty fair hunting was reported.

With a limit of only one on mallards and few "bills" stopping over this year, duck hunting was only fair over most of northwestern Minnesota. This year we witnessed the earliest waterfowl migration we have seen in the 10 years of closely watching this interesting phenomenon. By the time the duck season opened the peak of the flight was over and only a few additional birds showed up in October.

The pheasant opening was a mildly pleasant surprise for many hunters who bagged and saw more birds than they expected from preseason reports. I worked in the Wendell area south of Fergus Falls on opening weekend and success in that area of the state was better than we expected. Hunters averaged a bird apiece the first day and this is not a bad average even when the population is higher. Hunting pressure was way down and although the pheasant population is low we saw more birds and success was much better than we expected.

Deer hunter success was high again this year as it has been for the past several years in this area. Hunting pressure was down and this appeared to be largely a result of fewer hunters from other parts of the state rather than would look for a high statewide success figure but a smaller total kill if we had the same general hunting pattern in the remainder of the state. Based on a sample of 480 local hunters hunting largely in this part of the state we found a success of 62¼ per cent.

Rehab Training Is Extended for Many Veterans

Veterans with severe, service-connected disabilities will have an additional 10-years to complete needed rehabilitation training as a result of a new law.

John R. Parrish, VA center director in Fargo said the new law is of particular importance to seriously disabled veterans of World War II who have had long periods of hospitalization and have only recently reached the point where the program of training is possible. The legislation was enacted by the 89th Congress and approved by the President on August 26.

Other veterans who were not considered seriously disabled, and originally did not feel in need of rehabilitation, may now have become unemployable because their service-connected disabilities have worsened. These veterans will also have an opportunity under the new law to enter a planned program of vocational rehabilitation.

Parrish said that even though seriously disabled, many veterans can be made employable by carefully-planned occupational training. Such training capitalizes on remaining abilities and aims for occupations where the veterans' disabilities are no barrier to performing the duties, he said.

Karen Sandland Is Conservation Contest Winner

Karen Sandland of Grygla won the conservation speech contest held last week in Grygla at the regular meeting of the Marshall Beltrami Soil Conservation district. Karen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Sandland of Grygla.

The contest was sponsored by the Marshall Beltrami Soil Conservation district. Schools participating in the contest were Grygla and Gatzke.

Grant Lillivold of Grygla and Nadine Aune of Gatzke tied for second place. Connie Aune of Gatzke won third prize. Cash awards were given to the top three places.

Seventh and eighth grade students were participants in the contest. Subjects of the talks were given "What is a watershed and how may it affect my community" As first place winner, Karen Sandland, will now be eligible to enter the Area 1 contest which includes all of northwest Minnesota.

Local Resident Becomes Citizen

Mrs. Roswitha Leonare Belland of Thief River Falls, a native of Germany, was among four foreign-born residents of northwestern Minnesota who were naturalized as American citizens before Judge H. O. Chommie in district court in Warren November 19.

Judge Chommie administered the oath of citizenship to the group and in a brief talk told the advantages of being a U.S. citizen and emphasized the things a citizen can do for his country.

More Interpretation

At one time there was a popular belief in this nation that right was right and wrong was wrong. A person tried by a jury was either innocent or guilty. Now it seems that it is possible to be only partly right or wrong, almost innocent or guilty only to a certain degree. It is all a question of interpretation of the law.

A recent question put to the Minnesota supreme court was, in effect, "Is it legal for the governor to veto a reapportionment bill adopted by the legislature?" One might expect the court to rule, through its knowledge of the law, that said veto either was or was not legal. And, as one might also expect, this decision would follow the excessive wordage traditionally incident to such legal announcements.

The court ruling was made last week and, although it does give an answer to the question, it doesn't give a great deal of satisfaction. The seven-man court was split 4-3 on the question—indicating to us that there still is no clear-cut "yes" or "no" in the law. The court's decision, as such, only shows that seven men in a position of authority reviewed the situation and the precedents and that each of them saw them in a different light.

By the smallest possible margin, the court has now decreed that the veto was legal and that Minnesota does not now have any legislative districts. The old districts were abolished by a three-judge panel of the U.S. District court which permitted the legislature to attempt to make necessary corrections.

This leaves the state's governmental situation in a state of turmoil. Any one of several things can happen. The legislature can be called into special session to try again. The federal panel of judges can reapportion on its interpretation of the reapportionment laws. Or, worst of all, the next election could have all legislative candidates running at large in a hodge-podge that would be both ridiculous and catastrophic.

The court decision cancels out the many, many days of effort put into working out an apportionment plan on an equitable basis during the past session of the legislature. It was much more fair to the liberals in the legislature than previous reapportionment bills by liberal-controlled legislatures were fair to conservatives. And the whole works will have to be done over again in 1971 after the next federal census.

In view of the Minnesota supreme court decision, and recent U.S. Supreme court decisions, it would seem that we have government by interpretation rather than by law. Sure gets to be confusing, doesn't it?

New National Park?

There are a number of promoters in the state who would like to see the establishment of a national park on the Kabetogama peninsula which extends into Rainy lake. The main argument seems to be that a national park would draw more tourists who would spend more money which would increase the state's economy. This is purely speculation.

We are inclined to agree—while looking at the idea strictly on the surface—With the Red Lake Falls Gazette. A recent editorial in our neighboring town's paper stated the following:

Secretary of the Interior Udall and a few cronies in Washington and Minnesota are still intent on saddling the state with a national park on the Kabetogama peninsula which juts out into Rainy Lake.

Aside from the fact that the state already has more than ample exclusive canoe areas, a national park in that area would serve no useful or unique function.

The area has been a resort, tourist and commercial and private cottage region for the past 70 years, it is now usefully employed by anyone who wants to use it. It is open to everyone by every means. It even helps pay some taxes and contributes to the paper-pulp economy of International Falls since about half of this flat, wooded peninsula is owned by Boise-Cascade. And for the edification of those who haven't seen the area, it is not terribly attractive or unusual.

As a national park, the area would be next to useless for the general motoring public since there are no roads on it and few of the public care to walk or canoe in. Opening up the area to roads would do far more [illegible] it in its present state.

Aside from establishing another federal park payroll, more unnecessary control and exclusion of many citizens from the area who are already enjoying it, Minnesota needs the Voyageurs National Park like it needs two Rolvaags. And don't ask to enlarge on that statement.

So We Did

There seems to be no question now that the snow we have received so early and so bountifully is here to stay for the remainder of the winter. With 15 inches of snow accumulating over the past weekend, there is plenty of it around all over in spite of winds which piled it into drifts.

This brings up the problem which comes around every year—that of keeping sidewalk cleared for pedestrain travel. It seems that each year the county safety council, the city police department and the city council agree that an effort must be made to keep the sidewalks free of snow. Primary concern is the safety of children going to and from school who are compelled to walk in the street when the sidewalks are clogged.

And each year, in spite of the agreement that something must be done, nothing is done in the residential areas. Many citizens accept the personal responsibility for their sidewalks and see that they are shoveled, either by themselves or some hired to do the job. The efforts of these people are appreciated by parents of youngsters using the walks as travel routes to school.

It only takes one or two people in a block, however, to render the work of the others practically useless. These are the people who ignore the snowfilled sidewalks in front of their homes, leaving a plug in an otherwise open passageway along the block.

The suggestion has been made that sidewalks not cleaned by residents within 24 hours after a snowfall be cleaned by the city and the cost assessed to the home-owner. Such a plan might stir some action, at that, but we are not really impressed with the idea. We are sure that if the public understands the reasons walks should be cleared, they will make the necessary effort to cooperate.

Every now and then someone approaches us with the statement, "You should write an editorial about that." So we did.

Processing Complaints

Now that the civil rights act is being put into effect on the mushrooming basis, the Equal Employment Opportunity commission (EEOC) has published its first newsletter. The Noevember issue, Volume 1, Number 1, carries some interesting material—much of which is extremely difficult to swallow.

One thing is quite evident—the EEOC will not be lacking for work if it wants something to do. During the first 100 days of its operation the EEOC received 1,383 complaint charging discrimination—and that's about 14 complaints a day. Of this total, the commission has determined its has jurisdiction over 966. Almost 70 per cent of these 966 are from 11 southern states and 706 of the complaints cite race as a basis of alleged discrimination.

Somewhat surprisingly, 152 of the 966 cases cite sex as a basis of discrimination.

A letter from the commission chairman to an inquiry from an employer was quoted in a newsletter regarding the firing of married women. It states, "The Equal Employment Opportunity commission believes that an employer's rule which forbids or restricts the employment of married women and which is not applicable to married men is a descrimination based on sex prohibited by Title VII of the Civil Rights Act. It does not seem to us relevant that the rule is not directed against all females, but only against married females, for so long as sex is a factor in the application of the rule, such application involves a descrimination based in sex."

It seems to us that a policy of terminating employment upon marriage should be at the discretion of the employer. If the policy is known in advance, it should be a condition of employment as much as wages, hours and duties to be performed. If a woman does not desire to be dismissed because of marriage, she should also expect to work through entire periods of ensuing pregnancy so as not to interrupt the employment routine. This seems to be no more than fair.

We can imagine the furor this "sex equality" can produce. Mabye "Bunny Boys" in Playboy clubs would be atrractive to some Washington officials (remember the Jenkins case) but somehow femininity is not a legislative matter.

BERTHA, YOU WERE RIGHT. NOW THAT I'VE SEEN THE NEW '66 PLYMOUTHS, I AGREE WE MUST HAVE ONE. MAY I PLEASE COME HOME NOW?

Strange. We thought everyone knew about the great '66 Plymouths. About Valiant . . . the car that really lets you live . . . within your budget. That it offers two standard and two optional engines. Each stingy on gas, yet packed with get-up-and-go. About its long-wearing all-vinyl trim and upholstery. About all the items Valiant offers as standard equipment. And especially about Valiant's low price. Now that you know, take a Valiant home.

Intended 1966 Wheat Program Is Announced

To help farmers make plans this fall, Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman has announced highlights of the intended 1966 wheat program. The wheat program is part of the new Food and Agriculture Act of 1965 recently signed into law. The secretary said that farmers who participate in the 1966 wheat program will receive a higher return per bushel in the new program than they did under the 1965 program.

Marcel Dahl and Winton Knutson, chairmen of the Marshall and Pennington county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation comittees, point out that wheat farmers have already been notified of their farm allotments for 1966, based on a national allotment of 47.8 million acres. Also, as announced earlier, there will be no fall signup period for winter wheat growers. Instead, the signup for all wheat farmers will be conducted at the same time as for the feed grain program sometime after the first of the year.

Farm projected yields are now being determined, and each wheat farmer will be notified of his projected yield before signup time. Projected yields are new for 1966; they will be determined for each farm and used for all program purposes. The projected yields will be indicative of the yield per acre expected for each farm using current cultural practices and with normal weather conditions. Previously, farm normal yields have been tied more closely to historical production figures.

Wheat farmers who sign up and participate in the program will be eligible for a national average price-support loan of $1.25 per bushel on all production of their allotted acres plus domestic certificates on 45 per cent of the projected yield for the farm allotment.

The domestic certificates to farmers will be valued at the difference between the national average loan rate of $1.25 per bushel and parity for wheat for October was $2.50.) Options available to participating farmers in deciding on their operations for 1966 include:

Substitution of wheat for feed grains or feed grains for wheat acreage where the farmer is participating in both programs.

Barley will be considered as a feed grain in the 1966 program.

Substitution of wheat for oats and-or rye provided the farmer is participating in the feed grain program. However, an adjustment will be made on a state-by-state basis to allow for the difference in feed units produced per acre.

Overplanting wheat allotments up to 50 per cent and storing the excess production under bond.

Producers may sign up for voluntary diversion of up to 50 per cent of the allotment to conserving uses with a payment rate to be announced later. Farmers with 1966 allotments of 21.7 acres or less may divert their entire allotments for payment. (In 1965, the maximum voluntary additional diversion for payment was 20 per cent of the 1965 allotment or 13.5 acres, whichever was larger.)

The cost of domestic certificates to processors will be 75 cents per bushel, the same as in 1965.

No export certificates will be issued to farmers, but there will be a variable export certificate to be valued daily at an amount necessary to make U.S. wheat available at prices comparable to world market prices.

If U. S. prices are above world market prices, certificates will have no value and an export subsidy reflecting the difference between the U. S. and world price levels will be paid to exporters. If world prices are above U. S. prices, the certificate value will be the difference between the U. S. and world prices, and will be collected from exporters.

A pool will be maintained and any possible net receipts (certificate payments by exporters less government export payments) would be apportioned among cooperating producers at the end of the marketing year. This new provision assures that U. S. wheat producers will receive the benefit of the higher world prices should they occur, while maintaining a competitive relationship for feed wheat and feed grains in the U. S. market.

Land O'Lakes To Distribute Nearly $3 Million Cash

Land O'Lakes Creameries, Inc., Minneapolis, has announced that on Thursday it will begin mailing out checks totaling $2,914,254 to its members and patrons covering retirement of outstanding patronage equities.

This sum represents the remaining 60 per cent of the 1955 patronage equity amounting to $1,903,567, together with 25 per cent of the 1956 patronage equity amounting to $894,584, and an amount of $116,103 of the patronage equities of Dairy Maid Products cooperative, now a part of Land O'Lakes as a result of the merger effected during the early part of this year.

In addition to the equity redemption now being made, Land O'Lakes had earlier in the year paid out $2,189,437 to its 1964 patrons as a cash payment of a portion of the patronage equity earned during that year.

The $5,103,691 total which will be paid out as equity retirement in 1965 is the largest amount ever paid out by Land O'Lakes in any one year. In the past 10 years the members and patrons of Land O'Lakes have received over $26 million in cash from the retirement of outstanding equities of the marketing cooperative.

In making the announcement for Land O'Lakes, F. D. Stone, general manager, noted that these additional cash payments have gone principally to members and patrons in the four-state area of Minnesota, Wisconsin, North Dakota and South Dakota, and that the effect of these additional cash payments should be reflected throughout the business communities within these areas.

Remind Motorists To Clear Frost From All Windows

What the motorists does not see when he is driving can hurt him, but even knowing this does not stop a large number of motorists from driving blind these cold mornings, says Leo M. Smith, chief of the Minnesota highway patrol.

"Obstructed vision is a common cause of traffic collisions, and you can understand why by observing on any morning the number of drivers who drive blind to both sides and to the rear of the car because they haven't taken the time to clear frost from their side and rear windows," Smith said.

State law says that no persons shall drive a motor vehicle with the windshield or front side windows covered with steam or frost to such an extent as to prevent proper vision.

For his own safety, and the safety of others in traffic, the motorist should clear frost, or ice, from every square inch of glass on his car, Smith said. The driver who cannot see what is happening all around him, can hardly protect himself from the mistakes other drivers make or avoid making mistakes himself.

Frost on road surfaces is another problem, and motorists do not give this the attention it deserves either, Smith said. Heavy frost can be just as slippery as an inch of ice. It can just as easily send a car into a skid.

Frost is especially dangerous when it remains standing only at isolated spots on the road—and when the driver is not alert for this danger. This is when it catches the unwary motorist and surprises him into an accident. There are three places to watch for these isolated patches of frost or ice: on bridge decks, where frost is the first to form and the last to melt; beneath bridges, where shade prevents the frost from melting; and in other shaded areas on the road.

Durlyn Rux Gets Navy Promotion

Radioman Second Class Durlyn E. Rux, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer B. Rux of Rt. 4, Thief River Falls, was advanced to his present rate while serving at the U.S. Naval Communication station in Honolulu, Hawaii. His promotion was based on time in service and rate, military appearance, performance of duties and passing the Navy-wide test for promotion.

The station is a link in a world-wide chain of communications stations, and provides major communication support to ships and units of the U.S. Pacific Fleet.

Movement of Eyes Important Part Of Good Driving

A major fault of the average driver is that he does not move his eyes enough while driving, according to the Minnesota highway department.

As a consequence, he does not see enough of what is happening around and ahead of him. This is an important reason why so many drivers become involved in collisions. They often do not see the hazard developing ahead until it is too late to act to avoid a collision.

Right use of the eyes in driving is a basic element in defensive driving tactics as practiced by professional drivers. According to the highway department, defensive driving has proved to be the driver's best means of protecting himself from the mistakes and violations of other drivers.

The most important point to remember about using the eyes is to shift them at least once every two seconds to see what is happening, says the highway department. The driver should never allow any single object to occupy his attention. He needs to develop the habit of shifting his eyes. This would involve checking both mirrors frequently, glancing at the cars in front and on the sides, and watching the situation developing ahead.

A driver should never steer by sighting down the hood or fender of the car or by keeping watch on the left-hand edge of his lane. This is the worst way of using the eyes in driving.

The vehicle immediately ahead should be viewed as a small part of the larger street or highway scene. The driver should look well ahead of his car. He should stay far enough behind the cars in front so that he can watch them with his fringe vision and keep his central vision, or area of clearest vision, sweeping ahead to give him the big picture. This "big picture" should encompass a full block ahead in the city and a half-mile ahead on highways. Still, the driver must always take the time to glance at the area around and directly in front of him.

When the driver sees what is happening up ahead, by keeping his eyes moving, he has the best chance of avoiding any trouble that might develop. He will be in a better position to see in advance the person stepping out of a car on the street side, or a car pulling out from a parking space without warning, or a vehicle making an emergency stop that could affect every other vehicle for a block behind.

Right use of the eyes is indispensible to safety in traffic, says the highway department.

Dennis Kiesow Enlists in Navy

Dennis Oliver Kiesow of Goodridge enlisted in the U.S. Navy's 120-day program November 19 in ceremonies held at the Recruiting Substation, Universal Building, Fargo, N.D. He will begin his active duty tour within 120 days at the recruit training center of his choice, after which he will be assigned to duty with the operating forces at sea or to be a service school.

The new 120-day program permits qualified young men to continue their jobs or education while accumulating service for increased pay, at the same time satisfying their six-year military obligation.

THE GOOD LIFE

ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

When Grandmother and Grandfather Todd came to say their goodbyes before leaving for Florida, we took their picture. Looking at it, I remember them as they were that day, serene and happy, anticipating their trip. To them there are no sunset years but always a new day ahead.

Life has truly been a table spread before them. Oh, there have been sorrows and trouble aplenty, but always His rod and staff have comforted them. Even in the shadow of death God has been with them, for the Lord is their Shepherd.

Such faith may be yours. Your church is the open door through which you may find that fellowship of understanding which has been to my grandparents their greatest treasure.

Attend your church and find there, through worship and prayer, the inspiration you need for religious growth.

AT THE CHURCHES

Evangelical Free church
246 Kendall Ave. North
Wesley Johnson, Pastor

"A Friendly church with a faithful message".

We often complain about the cold and snow, but something that is far worse is a cold heart towards God. As uncomfortable as sitting in a cold building, is being with people who give you a cold reception. But there is always a warm welcome at the Free Church. Worship with us next Sunday.

Wednesday, Dec. 1: 7:15 p.m. Junior Choir rehearsal, 8:00 p.m. Family night Bible study and prayer groups for the whole family. 9:15 p.m. Senior choir rehearsal.

Thursday, Dec. 2: 7:30 p.m. The young people will meet at the church and will sing and the nativity scene lighting down town. They will have their regular meeting afterwards. The theme is "Conformity". Tim Dalzell and Birdell Davies will speak.

Sunday, Dec. 5: 9:45 a.m. Sunday School hour. Knowledge is set as a premium these days. Of all knowledge, the knowledge of God is most important. We will look for you and your family in Sunday School. 11:00 a.m. Morning worship service and Communion service. Pastor Johnson will speak on "Presentation of Christ's Coming as found in the Gospels". 8:00 p.m. Evening Gospel service. The service is broadcast over station KTRF and is know as the "Bread of Life Hour". May we invite you to tune in this Sunday evening.

Monday, Dec. 6: 8:00 p.m. Sunday School staff meeting at the church.

Tuesday, Dec. 7: 2:00 p.m. The Senior Women are invited to the annual Christmas Love Fest sponsored by the Women's Missionary Society. The theme this year is "Christmas in Norway". All ladies of all ages are urged to attend.

THE GOOD LIFE

ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

When Grandmother and Grandfather Todd came to say their goodbyes before leaving for Florida, we took their picture. Looking at it, I remember them as they were that day, serene and happy, anticipating their trip. To them there are no sunset years but always a new day ahead.

Life has truly been a table spread before them. Oh, there have been sorrows and trouble aplenty, but always His rod and staff have comforted them. Even in the shadow of death God has been with them; for the Lord is their Shepherd.

Such faith may be yours. Your church is the open door through which you may find that fellowship of understanding which has been to my grandparents their greatest treasure.

Attend your church and find there, through worship and prayer, the inspiration you need for religious growth.
